have proved absolute failures when appointed to responsible positions. People who get jobs as examiners are often as unfit as the candidates that come before them. The result is that the appointments are not satisfactory. As long as people are swayed by other considerations than the good of the country, the stripe of political faith will make little difference.

AGAIN WE ARE HOPING

Prime Minister Chamberlain again declares his faith in the best means of preserving the peace of Europe. That is by tying up with Germany. There are many thousand's of Canadian people who do not agree with that policy. There are also many who are willing to trust Chamberlain to do what is best for the empire. In any event, the Prime Minister is in the saddle and we are all hoping his policy is the correct one for only a few more or less irresponsible fire-eaters favor war.

If Mr. Chamberlain fails there will be plenty of people to say "I told you so" and to declare they knew all the time he could not succeed. If he does succeed in keeping the Empire out of war, few will remember to admit that he was right and they were wrong.
