Spanish Rebels Continuing Gains

Insurgents Claim To Have Made Further Advances In Battle

One Thousand Square Kilometres of Territory Taken With Sixteen Towns, Many Villages and 7,000 Prisoners

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, December 28: (CP)—Insurgent armies are reported to be continuing their drive into Catalonia on all fronts along a seventy-five mile line between Tremp and Ribarroja on the Ebro River. Insurgent newspapers claim that the six-day old offensive toward Tarragona and Barcelona on the Mediterranean has resulted in the capture of more than one thousand square kilometres of territory, at least sixteen towns and scores of villages and seven thousand prisoners. Fresh gains are reported, especially southeast of Lerida, insurgent base. The amount of ground gained has also been placed at 230 square miles.

Plans are reported to be still proceeding to remove the government capital from Barcelona to a more secure place in the south.

SOUTH HAS SNOWSTORM

Two Feet in Fraser Valley Blocks Roads—Very Cold on Prairies—Blizzards in East

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28: (CP)—A twenty-four hour snowstorm in the Fraser Valley with rain and hail here and on Vancouver Island disrupted communication and transportation services on the lower mainland. After an all night snowfall, there was two feet of snow on the ground in the Fraser Valley yesterday and snow plows were pressed into service in the effort to keep roads open. From the prairies extremely cold weather was reported yesterday with the thermometer dropping to 38 below zero at Edmonton. In Ontario and Quebec heavy blizzards are reported.

THIN ICE: TWO DROWN

Pair of Old Men Perish on Alta Lake in Squamish District

ALTA LAKE, B.C., Dec. 28: (CP)—Two aged men, Ernest Archibald and George Trites, crashed through the ice as they dragged a sled over the frozen lake and were both drowned a week ago, it was learned here today.

NEW MILL STARTS UP

Reward Mining Co. Resumes Grinding of Ore on Porcher Island—55 Employed

The new mill of the Reward Mining Co. Ltd. on Porcher Island has started grinding ore. This mill, a plant of between fifty and seventy-five tons daily capacity, replaces one which was destroyed by fire a year ago and is situated at a more advantageous location on tide-water. There are at present fifty-five men employed at the property and there is enough ore broken for a year's operation.

Ornithologist Loses His Life In Arctic Area

CHURCHILL, Man., Dec. 28: (CP)—Silence cloaking the Arctic was broken yesterday with word that R. J. Bay, 28-year-old ornithologist with a British-Canadian Arctic expedition, was drowned when a small boat was crushed by an ice pack last September.

LEADER OF LABORITES

Sir James Sexton Passes Away In Liverpool at Age of Eighty-Two

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 28: (CP)—Sir James Sexton, veteran labor leader, is dead here. He was eighty-two years of age and had been in frail health since last year. In a weather-beaten gray felt hat, a muffler around his neck like an English laborer and his everyday clothes wrinkled and worn, "Jimmie" Sexton, the Liverpool dock workers' member of parliament, went to Buckingham Palace on February 24, 1931, to be dubbed Sir James Sexton by King George. In this dress, and with his terribly scarred face, the result of being caught in a ship's derrick many years before, he looked anything but the conventional palace visitor in tall hat and morning dress. The dignity of knighthood weighed lightly on this veteran of the British labor movement who was born in the slums of Newcastle in 1856, tramped to London as a lad, ran away to sea, served ten years on windjammers after having been drugged in San Francisco and "shaughled" to Singapore, and later returned to England as a fiery labor agitator. The lord chamberlain's department, the censors of dress at palace functions, was much disturbed, but King George, revealing one of the reasons why he was a revered ruler took Jimmie as he came and sent him away with a knighthood to round out one of the most picturesque and picaresque careers of any member of parliament. "Cut out the 'Sir', I am still 'Jimmie Sexton,' who worked on the docks and was glad to draw his fifteen shillings a week," said the new knight. Proud of Distinction But he was proud of the distinction as being recognition not only from the labor view, but for general public utility, of the service he had rendered through many years, particularly in the port of Liverpool, "in lifting the bottom dog out of the slough of despond."

TO MAKE CHANGES IN PRINCESSES' ROUTINE WHILE PARENTS AWAY

Royal Daughters Will Stay at Home While King and Queen Tour Canada Next Summer

The visit of the King and Queen to Canada next spring will mean making domestic re-arrangements at Buckingham Palace. Not the least of them will concern the two young princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret, who then will be aged 13 and 8½ respectively. The two little girls, who are great devotees of their public, probably will be somewhat forlorn both at the six weeks' absence of their parents and at missing the experience of an ocean trip and an introduction to their Canadian admirers. However, the inclusion of the young princesses in a formal tour of the kind presents practical difficulties while it is understood their Majesties are averse to interrupting the many lessons necessary for Princess Elizabeth as heir-presumptive to the throne. From her earliest years Princess "Lilibet," as she was once known to her playmates, has delighted in appearing before the public. Whenever the royal family drives out her curly head is prominent in the window of the car with smiles and waves for the crowd. One of the earliest stories told of her describes how she was once playing with a small friend in the garden of 145 Piccadilly, residence of her mother and father as Duke and Duchess of York. The little princess noted a group of spectators peering through the railings and presently she stopped the game. She led her friend to the crowd. "This is Mabel," she said. Princess Elizabeth early impressed her family with her high

DJIBOUTI RESTLESS JUST NOW

Nothing Official About Italian Military Movements Around Somaliland

PARRIS, Dec. 28: (CP)—There is no official confirmation, it was announced last night, of the reported massing of Italian troops on the frontiers of French Somaliland as part of a campaign which it was thought might threaten Djibouti which has an important position on the Red Sea in relation to Ethiopia. The Ministry of the Colonies announced today that a detachment of Senegalese troops had been sent to strengthen Djibouti garrison at the request of Governor General Hubert Deschamps to "assist in maintaining order" amid reports of Italian troops concentrating near the French Somaliland port. Colonial authorities did not know the exact number of Senegalese that were en route. The French press and public are inclined to regard the Italian campaign for Djibouti as a bluff and have confidence in French ability to defend colonies.

Railway Tunnel Collapse; Thirty-Nine Lose Lives

TOKYO, Dec. 28: (CP)—Thirty-nine workmen have been killed in the collapse of a railway tunnel at Keicho in Hokudo Province of southeastern Korea.

DEFRAUD BY MAIL

Officials of Continental Credit Corporation of Winchester, Indiana, Are Convicted

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 28: (CP)—A federal jury today convicted five officers of the Continental Credit Corporation of Winchester, Indiana, and associated firms of using the mails to defraud in schemes which the government contended would cost mid-western United States business houses and individuals approximately $1,200,000.

FIVE JAPS BEING HELD

Japanese Girl Was Burned to Death In Furnace But May Have Been Suicide

VANCOUVER, Dec. 28: Five Japanese, friends and relatives of Emiko Yamada, are held for investigation as the police tried to determine whether Emiko was the victim of a slayer or if she committed suicide. Her body was found in the small furnace of the family home yesterday. The autopsy report said she was burned to death but it is not determined whether it was a case of suicide or murder. The girl was alive but possibly unconscious when the flames enveloped her. Those held are not under suspicion, the police officers said, but are merely held pending the completion of the investigation.

Canadian-American Trade Agreement Comes Into Force Next Week

OTTAWA, Dec. 28: (CP)—The new trade agreement between Canada and the United States, which was negotiated in November, will become effective on Sunday. An upswing in trade is expected to be the immediate result following the coming into effect of the more favorable rates. The removal of the three percent excise tax on American goods coming into Canada cannot be actually effected until it has been ratified by Parliament which will probably be in connection with consideration of the budget, probably early in February.

METHOD OF RUSSIAN BUREAU

The method of bringing about changes in laws or regulations in the Soviet Republic is a rather interesting one. Stalin and his advisers let it be known that it would be a good thing to have a change made and those who wish to curry favor with the authorities write letters asking for the change. These letters are published and the newspapers also advocate it and then, after a reasonable time, a decree is issued.

This is what is happening now in regard to placing restrictions on workers leaving their jobs. Hundreds of workers, inspired from the Kremlin, have been asking that floaters and others who tended to disorganize Russian industry be prevented from moving from place to place. The probability is that a decree will be issued soon providing for state intervention to prevent workers leaving the lumber and mining camps of the north for places where working conditions are more congenial.

LEARNING FROM OTHERS

Sometimes we can get hints from other places as how best to do things. For instance this Christmas in Minneapolis in the centre of business activity festoons of greenery are strung along the street from lamp post to lamp post and around the standard of each light are groups of huge red candles. Radio amplifiers are suspended above each store front and the music is so arranged that it plays in front of one store and then switches to the next so that, throughout the days preceding Christmas, carols are heard played softly all day throughout the street. The moment it stops at one store it is picked up at the next.

This may be rather an expensive thing to arrange but, evidently, they find it proves a great attraction in the Minnesota city.

FUTURE PRIME MINISTER

In United States, Canada and Great Britain, Anthony Eden has been spoken of as the future Prime Minister of Britain. The fact that he was allowed to leave the Chamberlain administration under a disagreement with its head does not seem to lessen his standing in the country. The fact that he was a big enough man to continue as a supporter of the government and to act as its special ambassador to the United States still indicates that he retains his position as an aspirant for the leadership. In the meantime he remains loyal to his own leader although disagreeing with him on some matters of policy.

Sisterly Attention

One of the best stories of this kind concerns the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of Kent which for Princess Margaret was her first important public appearance. Princess Elizabeth was a train bearer for the duchess.

Then just four years old, Princess Margaret was seated on a stool that was too short for even her tiny legs. She fidgeted noisily through the service and kept pulling her coat over her knees. Behind the bride and bridegroom at the altar Princess Elizabeth stood stiff and straight as became her role but, from time to time, observers noted her head turning towards the younger child with a reproving stare.

Both children possess a certain grace of address that makes them immediate favorites with most of the grown-ups they meet.

Once, after a visit to the zoo at Whipsnade, Herts, King George and Queen Mary took Princess Elizabeth to tea in the Fellows Pavilion. It was St. George's Day and the table was adorned with a bowl of red roses. Chaffingly, the King asked why she was not wearing a red rose to honor Britain's patron saint. "No thank you," she said "I am of York." (The Yorks are of the white rose).

Boys' Band Again Helps Make Cheer During Christmas

In harmony with the spirit of Christmas, the Prince Rupert Boys' Band turned on Christmas Eve, under the leadership of Bandmaster Robert Greenfield, and rendered selections at downtown street corners. Such favorites as "Adeste Fideles," "New Born King" and "Jingle Bells" were played for a responsive and generous public. On Monday, in spite of the cold, the residential sections were toured and a visit was also paid to the Prince Rupert General Hospital. The music provided by the boys was up to their usual high standard and did much to promote the seasonal spirit of friendliness and good cheer.

Much Pleased With Instruction In Ontario Camp

Lieut. Col. S. D. Johnston, officer commanding the 102nd Battery, who returned at the week-end from taking a course of training at Trenton, Ontario, expressed himself as particularly gratified at being allowed to take this work, most of which was quite new to him and would prove exceedingly valuable to the local unit. Considerable time was spent in the air.

Colonel Johnston was the only officer in British Columbia to take the course. At the end of the period he took delivery of a new car at Windsor and drove back to British Columbia through the United States.

Miss Dorothy Shearman of Kitwanga is leaving for Vancouver to go into training for a nurse at St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver. She was formerly a student at King Edward High School and also took a business course at St. Joseph's Academy, Prince Rupert. She will be accompanied to Vancouver by her mother.

Successful Dances Held In C.L.D.L. Hall

Two very successful dances were held in the C.L.D.L. Hall during the Christmas week-end. The first one was held on Friday night and a record crowd attended. The music was conducted by the Metlakatla Dance Orchestra and a big turkey was given away. The winner was Peter Spalding, Port Essington.

No less pleasant affair was the midnight frolic held in the same hall from 12 o'clock midnight Sunday until 3 a.m. A general holiday spirit prevailed. The hall was pleasantly decorated for the occasion.

Tennyson's Poem Worried Customs

Uncle Sam's Collectors a Bit Bothered by Famous Charge

BOSTON, Dec. 28. (CP)—Mrs. Kathleen Whitman of this city has been hearing stirring recitations of the "Charge of the Light Brigade" from the United States Customs. The occasion was the delivery from London of the silver-mounted hoof of the horse her father rode at Balaklava.

When the customs people notified Mrs. Whitman they were sending along the historic hoof they inquired whether there was such a line in Lord Tennyson's poem as: "Into the mouth of hell 'Rode the six hundred.'"

There was an argument in the office about it with a group holding out for: "Into the jaws of death 'Rode the six hundred.'" The silver band on the Valley of Death hoof says:

CHARGER

"Gallant friend—and generous foe
"A hero of Balaklava
"Died in Halifax, 1883.
"One that was left of them, one of six hundred."

EVERYTHING IS DEFENCE

This is Backbone of Industry in Old Country Today, Declares William Robb

The whole backbone of industry in Great Britain today is defence, says William Robb, who is back in Prince Rupert after spending the past couple of years in Glasgow. Everything is being concentrated on making of armaments and the whole country seems destined to become a veritable fortress, declares Mr. Robb. There were conditions verging on panic during the September crisis, says Mr. Robb.

Mr. Robb is not at all optimistic about the future of the Old Country. He admits that the bottom would fall out of everything if preparations for war and defence should cease of which happening for some time, however, there appears to be little prospect.

Mr. Robb is as loyal to the Old Land as ever but he is constrained to admit that Canada is a better country in which to live during these troublous times.

Hitting Out At Dictator Hepburn

Ottawa Newspaper Points Out Where Former Attempt at Dictatorship Failed

Premier Mitchell Hepburn took it upon himself to tell the citizens of Windsor that they should not have David Croil as their mayor, said the Ottawa Journal recently. The citizens of Windsor proceeded to elect David Croil as their mayor by a majority of 5,000 votes. That may or may not be a gain in the education of Mr. Hepburn. It is a distinct gain for the proposition that, in the management of their local affairs, the people of this province do not want interference from any would-be dictator or from any other outside influence whatsoever.

No more reason existed for interference by Mr. Hepburn in a municipal election in Windsor than existed for interference by Mr. Hepburn in the affairs of Spain. Certain people, however, have a weakness for high and mighty notions about their influence and their power. It is good that, from time to time, such people should be "taken down."

The best way to deal with the dictatorship spirit is to smack it lustily whenever and wherever it attempts to raise its head.

Timely Recipes

HADDIE-POTATO SCALLOP

There are different stories as to how smoked haddock came to be known as finnan haddock but, whatever the origin of the name, Canadian finnan haddock is a flavorful, nourishing food. It may be prepared for the table in a number of ways but one simple recipe runs as follows:

Place a layer of cooked, sliced potatoes on the bottom of a greased baking dish, dot with butter and add seasonings to suit the taste. Then add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and pieces of leftover cooked finnan haddock. Repeat the layers of potatoes and fish until the dish is full and cover the top with fine bread crumbs dotted with butter. If, in its first cooking, the finnan haddock was not creamed or cooked in a cream sauce, add layers of white sauce or some milk to the scallop. Bake the scallop in a moderate oven until the potatoes and fish are thoroughly heated and the bread crumbs well browned.

TWO FILMS SHOW HERE

"Rascals" and "Gateway" Are Mid-Week Offering at Capitol Theatre

"Rascals," a romantic comedy starring Jane Withers, and "Gateway," a dramatic story of Ellis Island, comprise an interesting mid-week double bill program at the Capitol Theatre here.

In "Rascals" Jane Withers is a breezy little tom-boy in a story about a young heiress who has stumbled into a gypsy camp after an auto accident. A young college man, seeing the world, is in the camp and a love affair blossoms under Jane's impish guidance. How she unravels the complications arising out of an unwanted suitor and a jealous admirer develop as a gay and breezy story. Rochelle Hudson and Robert Wilcox play the romantic leads and Borah Minevitch is Jane's principal accomplice in the comedy.

There is more than romance in "Gateway" in which Don Ameche is a home-coming newspaper correspondent who meets beautiful Arleen Whalen among the second class passengers. The counter plot surrounds the activities of many kinds and conditions of fellow passengers. Important members of the supporting cast are Gregor Ratoff, Binnie Barnes, Gilbert Roland, Raymond Walburn, John Carradine, Maurice Moseovich, Harry Carey, Marjorie Gatenon and Lyle Talbot.

KINCOLITH, Dec. 28.—The Naas River native village of Kincolith celebrated Christmas appropriately. The entire village was decorated for the season and the Christmas Day activities started in the morning with the council delivering greetings to every house. In the afternoon there was a parade by the Young People's Improvement

Rev. Oliver Thorne, the resident missionary of the Anglican Church, directed Christmas services in the church, these featuring special music appropriate to the occasion. The morning speaker was Matthew Gurney. Matthew Stone and Eddie Haines read the lessons and Samuel Stewart and Chief Councillor Doolan led in prayer. There was a violin solo by Simon MacKay. James E. Stewart conducted the evening service. James Stewart and Percy Barton read the lessons.

Kitsegukla 'Xmas Concert Enjoyed

KITSEGUKLA, Dec. 28.—On Friday evening last the school concert for the Christmas closing was held in the United Church. Those assisting the teacher in the training of the children were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wesley and Mr. and Mrs. Mattias Wesley who rendered invaluable help in preparing necessary material and construction for scenery, etc.

The concert consisted of the usual recitations, dialogues and reading by the children. Christmas carols were sung and a number of old folk songs rendered in character.

The people who were present will long remember Old King Cole and his musicians. Good St. Nicholas and Old Black Joe after seeing these characters in costume and action.

The local band assisted and the quartette party gave a beautiful rendering of "Silent Night."

Santa Claus appeared at the close with a sled load of presents for the children. Every child, both those of school ages and those under, received a present, a bag of candies and an apple.

Refreshments were provided by the Ladies' Aid and the Home League. Everybody present went away happy.

KITSEGUKLA

A house warming celebration was held on Thursday when Freddie Howard, one of the promising young men, had a supper to celebrate the building and opening of his fine modern new house. Among the invited guests were most of the native chiefs and some of their wives. Other guests were the Rev. B. Black, United Church minister and teacher, also Capt. More, a native officer in the Salvation Army at Naas River. After a sumptuous banquet the chiefs and visitors expressed appreciation of the work done and congratulated both the father and son as well as the family.

Captain More, Salvation Army, is the guest for a week of Moses Jones. He is holding Gospel Services in the Army Hall, conducting one service on Friday afternoon.
