Cabinet to Meet in Emergency Session Tomorrow - British, French and German War Games Are Intensified

LONDON, August 29: (CP)—While Europe was confronted with the gravest crisis since 1914, Sir Neville Henderson, ambassador to Germany, today gave Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax his studied reply to the question on every man's lips—will Hitler march into Czechoslovakia? Recalled Henderson for consultation with the government leaders, Henderson returned from Berlin on Sunday. The consultation is a prelude to an emergency session of cabinet ministers tomorrow. London's next step is a warning to Chancellor Hitler contained in Sir John Simon's speech Saturday, is believed to depend upon the ambassador's judgment as to how far Germany is prepared to go.

Caution On Pegging Prices of Agricultural Produce, Says Hon. J. G. Gardiner

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 29: (CP)—Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, speaking here Saturday, said he did not think it would be possible for the federal government to set a minimum price for eggs or agricultural products generally. Pointing to the present price of wheat as compared with the pegged price of 80c, Mr. Gardiner stated that the government stood to lose from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. The government could not go absorbing losses in this way through setting of minimum prices. Fine Gardens Are Measure Of Good Citizenship Says Prof. Buck, Judge Of Flower Show

"There are in Prince Rupert some very fine gardens. These gardens indicate a measure of good citizenship. However to make Prince Rupert really garden-conscious all public bodies and institutions will have to co-operate in beautifying the city." This was the opinion of Professor F. E. Buck as expressed in an address to those attending a dinner Saturday night given by the Prince Rupert Horticultural Society. He urged that the members of the society bring all possible pressure to bear upon the public bodies to induce them to take up this matter.

"What happens in the mind of a judge when he goes out to view the gardens?" inquired Professor Buck. He sees on the score card that 25 marks are to be given for design and layout. Design is a very real thing. It demands an artistic temperament. The landscape art has been defined as the art of improving land for human use and enjoyment in order to produce a maximum of utility and a maximum of beauty." Some of the gardens Prof. Buck saw here fell down in not having produced a maximum of utility. Paths should be where paths were needed. It involved good taste and a recognition of the fitness of things. The gardener should exercise restraint. He should not want to grow everything. He should set up an 'ideal' and stick to it.

In regard to the second part of the score card "grouping and color" the judge said that nature was on the side of those desiring marvelous grouping and color effects. The judge was apt to be led away on the basis of judging a garden only as it was at the present time and not as he could see it had been. He should give credit for what he could see had helped to give a good effect throughout the year. Under the heading Freedom from Weeds and Neatness the professor said he never judged gardens where there were fewer weeds and where there was neater work than at Prince Rupert. Neatness was the prevalent note.

In marking for Quality of Plants and Flowers, the judge said nature had done much and he found the plants here well chosen. There were many novelties and pleasing effects. In judging the lawns he said he had to consider the function of the lawn as an outside carpet and as a canvas on which the picture was taken. It had to fit in with its surroundings.

Public Co-Operation

Professor Buck then reverted once more to the matter of public co-operation. He said he was much pleased with the efforts that had been made here such as in the grounds at the police station, the fire department and the totopark. This would be beneficial to the tourist industry as well as being a source of satisfaction and enjoyment to the people of the city. He suggested that the members of the society and the people of the city should try to visualize what the city might be and then work to that ideal. He then gave examples of what was being done in other places.

At Greenfield Hill, a village with one hundred inhabitants in Connecticut state where they had poor roads and no highway near, the lanes were now choked with cars going there every season because 138 years ago Dr. Bronson planted twelve dogwood trees which inspired the people later to plant a whole avenue of the same. Today the place was visited by thousands of people and it was one of the beautiful sights of the United States. It was the achievement of one man followed by public co-operation. At Tulip Holland, Michigan, a

Twelve Million Feet Lost at Cowichan Lake—Fire Hazard in Interior Still High

VICTORIA, Aug. 29: (CP)—Twelve million feet of cold-decked timber has been destroyed by the big forest fire which was still burning over the week-end in the Cowichan Lake region.

The forest fire situation in the northern interior and the Nelson district is still very hazardous with continued hot and dry weather. Forest Branch headquarters are advised.

John Cobb, Another Britisher, Is Sprinting Automobile on Utah Salt Flats

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 29: (CP)—John Cobb, another famous British racing driver with a brand new car, is to make an attempt today to shatter the automobile speed record of 245.49 miles per hour set up on Saturday by Capt. George Eyston who is remaining here to make another sprint should Cobb beat him.

school teacher suggested that being named after Holland tulips should be planted. Now every year there was a nine-day tulip festival. The women went out in Dutch garb and scrubbed the streets as is done in the Old Country and half a million visitors went there annually to witness the festival.

At Rochester, New York, there was an annual Lilac Sunday and 100,000 visitors went there each year to see the 348 different varieties of lilac trees in bloom. There were over a thousand lilac trees in the boulevards.

At Nashville, Tennessee the Iris was cultivated, the parks being planted with these flowers. There were 20 acres of iris in one of the parks and a bed fifteen feet wide and a mile long adjoins the airport. No one person could do this. It needed the co-operation of the whole community.

The speaker said he was delighted to see the work done at the Canadian National gardens, at the provincial government gardens, at the police station and fire department gardens and in the Totopark on Fraser Street. This work could be extended a great deal. He had heard on the boat that Vancouver was making such varvellous strides but that Prince Rupert could only creep ahead. If one wanted it to go ahead more rapidly one must first visualize what it meant and then push it with all his might and it could by collective work become an accomplished fact. The good work had already been started. Now what was wanted was full speed ahead.

President C. P. Ballagno, who was in the chair, suggested the mark be set to make Prince Rupert one of the finest places in Canada.

A formal vote of thanks was extended to the visiting judge amid enthusiasm.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

How often have we heard the opponents of progress say of a proposal "It can't be done." Then comes along someone with a wider outlook and more brains or energy than the rest of us and first thing we know it is done.

Some Prince Rupert people will remember the time when people said flowers could not be grown in Prince Rupert and yet look at the flower show being held here today and dare to make such a remark.

Today we hear about land settlement and we are told of any scheme to put people on the land "It can't be done." Yet we find men like Brigadier General Hornby saying "It can be done." We like to believe Hornby who is trying to do something rather than the pessimists who sit back and criticize those who are trying to do something.

Again we have people with us who see no prospect of Prince Rupert becoming an important seaport or a large city. These are people who are lacking in vision. Only a few years ago there were many people who wondered if Vancouver would ever be as big as Victoria. The people who stick by "It can't be done" are being superseded by the people who believe "It can be done." Millions of people once believed it would never be possible for people to fly. They said "It can't be done," but people are flying.

A well known western editor who claimed to be a Liberal in politics was critical of the new fangled motor cars a quarter of a century ago. He said that they could never replace the horse and from time to time wrote critical articles about them. He had the "It can't be done" idea and refused to let it go. Yet horses have disappeared from Prince Rupert and are gradually being replaced even in farming districts.

Let us get this into our minds and souls. "It can be done" if it is backed by faith and energy and brains. We remember reading of something that could remove mountains. It was true two thousand years ago and is just as true today. What Prince Rupert needs is faith in herself and her destiny and a willingness to translate that faith into units of power.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!
Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!
Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.
If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.
Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter!

WHIFFLETS From The Waterfront

Dry Weather Kills Massett Inlet Pink Run—Week-end Shipping Many Boats in Port.

With continued hot and dry weather, salmon streams on the Queen Charlotte Islands are said to be at a lower level than has been known in years. J. S. Hewison, fisheries guardian at Yakoun River, which flows into Massett Inlet, says he has never seen the river so low. Owing no doubt to the low water, the pink salmon are hardly showing up in Massett at all this year so far although Capt. Ed. Crawford of Port Clements and others report the salmon showing up in big schools outside the inlet. Capt. Andrew Brown of Old Massett says the salmon will not move into Massett Inlet until it rains and the streams become fuller.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. James Findlay, with a good-sized list of passenger including quite a number of round-trippers, arrived in port at 8 o'clock last evening from the south and sailed at 11 p.m. for Anyox. Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow southbound.

Halibut landings at the port of Seattle during last week totalled 650,000 pounds which total was slightly less than the week preceding. On Saturday one western boat, the Portlock, sold 35,000 pounds at Seattle to the San Juan Fishing & Packing Co. at 9 1/2c and 9c. Three local boats sold 2200 pounds of halibut taken incidental to cod and sable fishing in Area No. 2. These local boats were: Pierce, 400 pounds halibut, 12c; 15,000 sable, 4c; 300 cod 4 1/2c. Sebastian: Lebanon, 1,000 halibut 16 1/2c; 14,000 sable, 4 1/2c; 2,000 cod 4 1/2c. Washington; Curlew, 800 halibut, 15c; 12,000 sable, 4 1/2c; 400 cod, 4c. Whiz.

Seattle halibut vessels which turned recently to albacore fishing off the Oregon and Washington coasts have been having further trials and tribulations. Capt. Howard Giske arrived at Seattle Saturday with 18,000 pounds in the Kingfisher but, not satisfied with the price offer, decided to freeze the catch independently. The National had difficulty in marketing on account of his crew not being covered by union regulations.

Dr. A. L. Pritchard of the National Biological Station, who is spending some time in this district on salmon investigation work called on the Prince Charles Saturday night for Massett Inlet where he will spend the next ten days returning here, he will again visit the spawning grounds at Babine Lake and other interior points.

Having made up some of the time which she lost going north owing to the foggy weather near Ocean Falls, C. N. R. steamer Prince George, Capt. Edward Mabbs, arrived in port at 9:45 Saturday evening southbound from Anyox and Stewart and sailed an hour or so later for Ocean Falls, Powell River and Vancouver. The Prince George will be back here on Wednesday morning instituting the company's weekly fall and winter schedule of sailings between here and Vancouver.

C. P. R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. S. K. Gray, in port Saturday afternoon southbound from Skagway to Vancouver, had on board 242 passengers in all including 153 tourists and 86 local Alaska passengers, among them a number of Filipino cannery workers, bound for Seattle. Four persons disembarked from the Princess Louise here while two boarded the vessel here for the south.

C. N. R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. James Watt, completing her final voyage of the season on the Alaska route, arrived in port at 8:15 this morning from Skagway and sails at 3 p.m. for Ocean Falls, Powell River and Vancouver. The vessel will return here Friday morning from the south and, after running a special excursion from here to Ketchikan at the weekend, will be tied up at the local dry dock for the winter. The vessel, on arrival this morning, went into the dry dock for a short time to have lifeboats davits straightened out following a brush with the steamer Prince Robert at Skagway dock. There were 205 passengers aboard the Prince Rupert including six who disembarked here.

On her final voyage of the season, in the Alaska tourist service, C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver and sailed a couple of hours later for Skagway and other Alaska points

Yesterday from 2:30 to 3:30 in the afternoon the company of the Showboat rendered musical entertainment to the patients of the Prince Rupert General Hospital. This pole is to be placed in the Queen Aland Salarium Crippled Children's hospital at Mill Bay, Victoria, in honor of an Alert Bay Indian boy, Charlie Moon, who was successfully treated there.

GOOD BILL PRESENTED

Kay Francis Heads Cast of "My Bill" and Lewis Stone "You're Only Young Once"

"My Bill," a tender drama of a widow's family against the world with Kay Francis in the leading role, and "You're Only Young Once," a typical American family picture with Lewis Stone in the featured role, comprise an interesting double bill program being presented at the first of this week at the Capitol Theatre.

"My Bill" is the story of a woman nearing middle age but still young and beautiful in appearance who has been left a widow with four children and comes into hard times when her husband's small fortune has been dissipated. Her family is split when the three elder children leave her with only her little son remaining. This little family is eventually able to bring the family together again and restore happiness for his mother. It is a simple but moving tale. The supporting cast consists of Bonita Granville, Anita Louise, Bobby Jordan, John Littel and Dickie Moore. The plot of "You're Only Young Once" describes the realistic adventures of a family group which breaks away from the routine life of a small home town. Stone's supporting cast includes Cecelia Parker, Mickey Rooney, Fay Holden, Frank Craven, Eleanor Lynn, Ted Pearson and other favorites.

Miss B. Patterson of Whitehorse was a passenger aboard the Prince Rupert today going through to Vancouver where she will attend school. Miss Patterson is the daughter of W. A. Patterson, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Whitehorse, and Mrs. Patterson. She was born in Prince Rupert.
