Final Effort For Peace Tomorrow

Chamberlain Will Fly To Germany To Meet Reichsfuehrer

British Prime Minister Taking Off Tomorrow Morning For Germany to Try to Find Peaceful Solution of Present Impasse

LONDON, Sept. 14.—It was officially announced tonight that Prime Minister Chamberlain would fly to Germany tomorrow to see Chancellor Hitler. He announced that he intended to "try to find a peaceful solution to the crisis which is menacing world peace."

Mr. Chamberlain expects to arrive at Obersalzberg near Berchtesgaden tomorrow afternoon. His appeal for an interview was conveyed to Hitler through Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin. He will take off here at 8:30 a.m. His statement to the Fuehrer said: "In view of the increasingly critical situation I propose to come over at once to see you with a view to trying to find a peaceful solution."

Mr. Chamberlain will be accompanied on the trip by Sir Horace Wilson, chief industrial advisor to the cabinet and William Strang, chief of the Central European section of the Foreign Office. The plane is expected to reach Munich at 1 p.m.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—The broadcasting service announced today that Chancellor Hitler had received an urgent message from Mr. Chamberlain asking for a talk with the Fuehrer at the latter's pleasure and offer had been accepted by Hitler, who said he would see Mr. Chamberlain tomorrow at Berchtesgaden.

PRAHA CRADLED JEWRY'S FAITH IN OLD EUROPE

Synagogue Built in 10th Century Tells of Early Glories of Race in Present Capital City of Czechs

By GLADYS M. ARNOLD
Canadian Press Correspondent

PRAHA, Sept. 14: (CP)—One minority voice not heard in the clamor of the fault-finders in Czechoslovakia is that of its 186,642 Jews. After observing the fate of their brothers in neighboring states they assure us they have no complaints.

"A visit to the ghetto of Praha is worth the trouble," the department of foreign affairs told us. "In it is to be found the oldest synagogue in Europe."

We remembered the historic old synagogue of Nuremberg, now being destroyed. The Nazi authorities who ordered its destruction explain that it is a "home of filth and a breeding place of vermin." Such a "disgrace" is not to be tolerated in a national-socialist city.

Dipping into the shadowy arcades of the "old town" which lies in the heart of Praha, shielded from the fresh breeze which ripples the broad Vltava by the Houses of Parliament and the university faculty buildings, we suddenly came upon the Jewish cemetery. A high stone wall, worn by the passing centuries until cracks and fissures sprout grass and clumps of flowers, encloses the small area less than an acre in size which for hundreds of years was the sole burial ground for the Jews of Praha. No more land could be sold or granted to them, so they were forced to bury their dead one on top of the other until the earth was so crowded with tombstones that not another could be added.

The stick out of the ground at all angles, leaning this way and that or piled in grey broken piles, many so old that the rain has effaced the names and dates once engraved upon them. When the Jews were free to build another, they left this old cemetery in its original state—a symbol of the oppression of their race.

The City Hall of Praha is reassuring after the melancholy engendered by the old cemetery. The chains which once closed the entrances of the ghetto at night imprisoning the population have been gilded and today are used in the municipal council chamber to fix the heavy chandeliers to the ceiling—a symbol of the equality of the Jews with other nationalities in Czechoslovakia and in recognition of their help in establishing the democracy, their fidelity in conserving Bohemian culture during the years of its oppression.

Cradle of Jewry
There are several synagogues in Praha but that which was first built in the 10th century is the cradle of the Jewish religion in Europe. Half-a-dozen steps lead down into a dark entrance because in the thousand years which have passed since it was built the street level has risen about five feet. A curious feature is its gothic construction, probably the only synagogue of its kind in existence. It must have been embarrassing for the architect to discover that he had placed gothic crosses in a Jewish synagogue (produced by the arches of the ceiling) but he overcame the difficulty neatly by adorning them with Jewish symbols.

Much Fighting Has Been Taking Place In Sudeten Territory

Police Station Taken by Two Thousand Men Against a Few Police—Forty Deaths Said to Have Taken Place Already—No troops in Action

PRAGUE, Sept. 14.—Fighting between Czechoslovak gendarmes and Sudeten Germans armed with machine guns, rifles and hand grenades at various towns in the Sudeten region near the German frontier have resulted in at least forty deaths. Bloody clashes are reported to be continuing tonight.

JAPAN IS IN RING

Says She Will Fight Against Communist and Blames Reds for Trouble in Sudeten

TOKYO, Sept. 14.—A foreign office spokesman blamed the Czech crisis on Communist activities in a statement issued today. He declared that if necessary Japan was ready to fight in every way, with arms if necessary, against the Communists.

The Prague foreign office reported eight gendarmes killed in a clash with two thousand Sudetens at the frontier town of Schwaderbach where the Sudetens occupied the Czechoslovak gendarmerie station. Schwaderbach is the Sudeten village directly across the border from the German town of Saschenberg.

When the Sudetens started the demonstration the gendarmerie received orders not to fire lest the shots crossing the border might hit Germans and create a still more serious incident.

Despatches here said the Sudetens began the attack from German territory and finally occupied the Gendarmie station. The Sudeten party headquarters said the fighting commenced last night, continuing at Haberspirk near Falkenau and from ten to fifteen gendarmes were killed. The Sudetens said that probably a similar number of their own men had been killed.

Nearly two thousand Sudetens joined in the Haberspirk battle. Reports said that no troops were yet engaged in fighting. Other scattered fighting added to the outbreak of disorder. There were clashes in Tsuschkau and Groskau in addition to other places.

What is virtually mobilization of Czech troops in the Sudeten territory appeared to be under way.

CROP HAS BIG VALUE

Increase This Year Estimated to be Thirty-Five Million Dollars Over Last

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—A total value of $278,000,000 was placed on the production of the five principal crops in the prairie provinces according to an official estimate. This is $35,000,000 greater than last year for wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax.

FISHING WAS GOOD

Only One Better Season Than This One Since 1932 Says Supervisor of Fisheries

The sockeye pack is well ahead of last year's pack of the same fish in British Columbia, the total for the season being 368,082 cases as against last year's 309,141. It is not quite so good as 1936 but it is well ahead of the three years previous to that, according to the supervisor of fisheries for British Columbia.

The catch of spring salmon was just about the same as last year and so were the steelheads.

The coho catch to date has been 133,700 cases as against last year only 51,736 cases and 1936, 135,105 cases. It was well ahead of the years 1935, 1934 and 1933.

Pinks are down a little, the total this year being 372,101 cases as against 450,762 last year and 577,510 the previous year.

Chums are away down this season, the total being 98,788 cases as against 109,945 at the same date last year but it is twice as great as in 1934 when the catch was only 40,018 cases.

The total catch for the province this year has been 1,010,642 cases as against 653,236 last year. The only season in the past five years that has exceeded this year has been 1936 when the total pack was 1,232,893 cases.

The sockeye pack on the Skeena River this year was 71,503 cases as against 54,267 cases last year and 96,381 in 1936. This has been the best sockeye year with the exception of 1936 of the six seasons commencing 1933.

CANADA AND THE WAR

In view of the grave possibility of the British Empire becoming involved in a war in Europe the position of Canada becomes increasingly interesting. It is known that Premier Mackenzie King has not left Ottawa this summer so that he might be on hand at any moment in case of an outbreak. Evidently the British government had feared a situation such as the present for many months.

The moment war is declared the Prime Minister of Canada will summon Parliament to reassemble at Ottawa, the members having been told before they left that they might be required at any time. It will be for Parliament to declare if Canada is at war.

But in the meantime many residents of Canada will be making preparations to go overseas if they should be required there. In fact preparations have been made already and thousands of members of the Canadian militia have already offered their services. It is understood that Prince Rupert has not been backward in that regard.

It is a matter of regret that there are no guns guarding Prince Rupert harbor except such as are used for practice purposes. The site for the forts is being cleared and work could have commenced if the government had been keen on getting it done. Now we find ourselves in the unpleasant position of being practically defenseless. So great has been the pressure in the south that almost every dollar available has been used there.

However, recriminations are useless. What is needed is quick action now to repair the neglect and to give Prince Rupert some guns and airplanes for defense purposes. We have the men, splendid men, but without equipment they will be sorely handicapped if a call should be made on them.

LET US STILL HOPE

But until war is declared or at least until serious fighting commences we shall still hope there will be no war. There are strong forces making for peace and we have to remember that those people seeming to be forcing war today know pretty well that they can pull back at any time in view of the reluctance of the democracies to enter upon a terrible conflict. Even yet it is probable that war is not inevitable.

Girl Swims In Shark's Pool

Blonde Girl Is Not Worried About Being Attacked

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 14: (CP)—Lelia Steppe, blonde swimmer from the United States, seemed more worried about the temperature of the water than about the shark whose pool she shared in the Taronga Park aquarium. "Say, this is certainly going to be a cold job," she said as she tested the water before diving in to join Skipper V-10-foot grey nurse shark. When she climbed out of the pool she said she wasn't scared. "Old man Shark seemed rather sluggish. If he had come after me I guess I could have beaten him to the side of the pool."

The Letter Box

THE NEW COMMONWEALTH

Editor, Daily News:
The grave deterioration in the international situation which has taken place within the last few years has undoubtedly been the cause of profound anxiety among millions of men and women throughout the British Empire. These feelings of anxiety are probably most acutely felt by those whose understanding of the position compels them to reject as impracticable such policies as isolation and ultra-pacifism. It is probably true to say that the vast majority of our compatriots, no matter in what quarter of the Empire they may reside, recognize in the development of the collective system the only practical method of safeguarding world peace and thus of ensuring the welfare and security of the British Commonwealth. They realize that only by the inauguration of the reign of law and order in the international sphere can inter-State relations be satisfactorily regulated. They remain loyal to the fundamental principles enshrined in the League of Nations Covenant. Unfortunately, however, they are compelled to admit that so far the League has completely failed to fulfil the major functions which it was hoped it would be able to carry out, and this failure has given rise to a natural tendency to discount the prospects of establishing an effective collective system.

In the belief that this brief statement correctly interprets the feelings of the preponderating majority of British men and women, we venture to direct attention to the activities of an organization which, we submit, approaches the problem of world peace from a practical and constructive angle. The purpose of the New Commonwealth Society can be simply stated. The Society advocates the development of the League of Nations from a mere debating society into an effective international authority. Its program is confined to two concrete proposals—(1) the submission of all disputes between nations, which cannot be settled by the process of negotiation and conciliation, to the adjudication of an impartial tribunal charged with the duty of pronouncing a decision in accordance with the principles of justice and equity; (2) the creation of an International Police Force to restrain aggression and, if need be, to enforce the decisions of the tribunal. Thus the New Commonwealth program contains provision for both peaceful change and collective security—the two essential requirements in any system of ordered government. Unfortunately space prevents in your columns a more detailed exposition of these proposals. We should, however, be grateful if you would allow us to emphasize that the New Commonwealth Movement is already arousing widespread interest. More than fifty different nationalities are represented in its membership, and sections of the society have been brought into existence in no less than sixteen countries. Considerable numbers of men and women, prominent in their respective spheres, are co-operating in its education and research activities, and its program has been endorsed by many important organizations. Preparations are now being made to form groups of the society in the British Dominions and Colonies. We would therefore, urge those of your readers who recognize in the program of the New Commonwealth the only constructive means of establishing the peace of the world on a sound and enduring basis, to communicate with The General Secretary, The New Commonwealth, Thorney House, Smith Square, London, S. W. 1.

To those who may feel that the proposals which we have so briefly outlined are Utopian and idealistic, we would point out that they represent nothing more than the application in the realm of inter-State relationships of those principles upon which the peaceful development of every civilized national community has been based. We submit that the future of every unit of the British Commonwealth depends upon the inauguration of a new era of law and order in international affairs. For this reason alone, we are confident that the program of the movement which it is our privilege to represent will call forth overwhelming support from among our compatriots overseas.

We beg to remain,
Yours faithfully,

WINSTON S. CHURCHILL
President (British Section)
DAVIES, chairman.

N. B. FOOT,
General Secretary.

Committee of Three Appointed to Work in Conjunction with Housing Committee

At the dinner meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last evening a letter was read from C. V. Eviitt, chairman of the Housing Committee asking the co-operation of the Chamber in collecting statistics for a report they were trying to prepare on payroll resources of the city and district.

Mr. Eviitt, who was present at the meeting, explained that the report had gone out that the city was losing ground. He was satisfied this was not so but they wanted a complete report to pass on to the loan companies enabling them to see what the situation was.

A committee consisting of Bert McCaffery, Sam Jurmain and Mike McCaffery Jr. was appointed to work on the project.

Successful and Enjoyable Event at Home of Mrs. E. J. Smith

A very successful and enjoyable tea was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. J. Smith, Atlin Avenue, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid.

The rooms were lovely decorated with a profusion of fall flowers and many ladies called during the afternoon and were received by Mrs. E. J. Smith, Mrs. D. C. Stuart, president of the Ladies' Aid and Mrs. H. G. Funston.

Mrs. James Simpson was general convener of the affair and those pouring were Mrs. S. Massey, Mrs. L. W. Kergin, Mrs. H. W. Brocklesby, Mrs. L. S. Hope and Mrs. P. Lakie. Serviteur for the afternoon were Mrs. R. Lloyd-Jones, Mrs. W. W. C. O'Neill, Miss Molly Owens and Miss Florence Parker. Mrs. J. L. Lee and Mrs. B. Rice were in charge of the home cooking while Mrs. W. L. Sandison acted as cashier.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks punk.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a colic but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

MANY AT DINNER

Nearly Fifty Present When Port Day Committee Guests of Junior Chamber of Commerce

Reports Are Read

Excellent Financial Condition of Port Day Organization in Connection with Recent Event

At the meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Boston Cafe last evening, the President, J. C. Gilker in the chair, the Port Day Committee members were all guests of the Chamber for the dinner and most of them remained to hear the reports. In addition to the members there were present as guests:

W. M. Watts, George Anderson, W. E. Drake, Capt. J. R. Elfert, Jack Stevens, M. F. Nickerson, John Dybhavn, James Boyd, C. E. Starr, Jarvis McLeod, W. R. Love, Charles Eviitt, G. Kitagawa, Kiy Tsumura, T. D. Johnston, C.P.O. Bird, R.C.N. V.R., Capt. Jack Morrison, P. Solem, Insp. G. A. Barber, Geo. Dybhavn, Commissioner Alder and Jim Lee, making nearly fifty in all present at the dinner.

The President introduced the visitors individually and thanked each for the help given in making the Port Day such a success. He said they hoped to make this an annual event and next year they would profit from the experiences of this year. He mentioned the excellent work done by the general chairman, Al Newman.

Mr. Newman made a neat speech in which he said that next year it was hoped they would have a much better celebration than this year. There had been a fine spirit of co-operation throughout and he thanked all who had been instrumental in making Port Day such a success mentioning particularly Bill Watts, chairman of the finance committee, George Rorie, chairman of the dance committee, Cliff Gilker president of the program committee, who had done excellent work as had Bert McWaters as chairman of the publicity committee and Trev. Williams, their hard working secretary. He also mentioned the fine co-operation of City Commissioner Alder.

Mr. McWaters gave a report of the finances of the day in which he stated that subscriptions had been collected amounting to $897, entry fees $59.50, dance receipts $1172.00, dance expenses $550.31 leaving net profit of $621.69. Prices had amounted to $528.50, general expenses $337.99. The net proceeds when all bills were settled would amount to between six and seven hundred dollars.

In closing the meeting President Gilker said it had been suggested that next year they might make a two-day event of it and introduce other activities such as games and sports. He also thought they might induce the Horticultural Society to hold their flower show in connection with it.

In the course of the evening the President welcomed three new members who were present that evening. They were Hugh Forrest, Sam Jermain and Bill Brooksbank. Martin van Cooten introduced his guest of the evening, Ian McKay, to the gathering.

BURNS LAKE

Mrs. Hunt Sr. of Decker Lake was injured on Sunday evening while walking on the road near her home. She was struck down by a hit and run driver and is a patient in the Burns Lake Hospital where her injuries which included fractures of collar bone and ankle are being attended to. Her many friends will be glad to learn that at time of going to press Mrs. Hunt, despite her 83 years, was bearing up in her usual cheery manner. Her friends will wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Paton and G. Ireland of Vancouver and New Westminster are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Gowans. They have been enjoying a fishing trip for the past few days on Ootsa Lake.

Mrs. R. Munger and family of Terrace have taken up their residence here. Mr. Munger is employed at The Ruddy Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Berg and family accompanied by the latter's mother, Mrs. J. Glowman of Alberta, spent the Labor Day week-end at Hazelton and other points.

Mrs. H. J. Jewell and Mrs. H. D. MacNeill, left by car for a holiday trip to Vancouver and other points.

The first meeting of St. Paul's United W. A. was held at the Manse with Mrs. R. Commons in the chair. Plans were made for the Fall Bazaar to be held on October 29 at 4 p.m. Guests at the meeting were Miss Pearl Mills R.N., formerly matron of the hospital and Mrs. W. Wilson. The Manse rooms were bright with varied colored large asters in gypsophila, crimson snapdragons and sweet peas. The study book was read, the chapter "The Light of the Mind," dealing with Christian education abroad being dealt with at this meeting. The meeting at which Mrs. Bushfield was hostess was well attended.

Constable P. B. Smith left this week on his annual vacation. He motored to Vancouver and other southern cities.

The United Church Sunday School picnic held on Saturday afternoon in the church grounds was much enjoyed by almost sixty children, including a few visitors. Mrs. Ray Commons, Mr. and Mrs. H. Eckland, Miss A. Copithorne, Mr. J. Clarke with the pastor and his wife, made the occasion a happy one for those who came. Games were played. Races were won by Thelma Eckland, Edna Ostberg, Archie Patterson, Kenny Smith, Marvin Ashcroft, Wallace McIntyre and Una McClary. Supper was served on the lawn including the children's favorite beverage, cocoa. Lollipops to all and chocolate bars to the winners brought delight. The

Here we sit at home and get excited and all the time the Feuhrer was fooling us.

What a wonderful time we should all have if we could get as excited at Hitler.

All I wish is that the Junior Chamber of Commerce could settle this Sudeten question. They'd soon raise a little war that would stop the others' fighting.

Come to think of it I'd about as soon have Hitler as some of these wishy washy politicians in this country who do not know their own minds.

Quiet Wedding At Terrace Church Manse

Miss Charlotte Nelson Becomes Bride of Charles Richmond

TERRACE, Sept. 14.—The wedding was quietly solemnized in the United Church Manse on Saturday evening, September 10, of Charlotte, daughter of Mr. Charles and the late Mrs. Nelson, Terrace, and Charles, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Richmond, Terrace, Rev. Adam Crisp officiating. The bride was gowned in rose colored satin with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of cream colored gladioli, astors and sweet peas. Her bridesmaid, Miss Sarah Richmond, wore a gown of glory-blue crepe. Mr. John Matthews assisted the groom.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Crisp played Engelman's "Melody of Love." Mr. and Mrs. Richmond are to reside in Terrace.

Large attendance at the Sunday School session on the following day was an encouraging sign of appreciation and interest.

ding a fifth, but false, arch and thus destroying the cross.

We waited until the service had finished and then the rabbi, who spoke perfect English, took us into the inner part to which Jewish women are not admitted. A narrow gallery runs around the whole inner room and openings about 18 inches by 10 inches are cut in the walls thus permitting the women to watch and take part (though hidden) in the service.

Treasures from all parts of the world are collected there including the lamps which light the synagogue. Each is from a different country, including one from Canada.

"And what are the complaints of the Jews in Czechoslovakia?" we asked the rabbi.

"We have none of a political nature," he replied. "In Czechoslovakia we are considered a separate nationality like the others; we are free in every sense of the word democracy; our children in general speak Polish because the biggest Jewish population is to be found in Slovakia and the South Carpathian province, but we have no language problem and we are justly treated."

All Jewish Villages
At Praha the Jews form only about two per cent of total population but at Bratislava the ratio rises to nearly 40 percent while others mail villages are sometimes completely Jewish.

The men wear black with a loosely-fitted coat which reaches the knees, a black hat with a round flat crown and a very large flat brim which actually sits upon their ears. But the unusual and amusing feature is that the men wear heavy black beards, shave their heads except for a small tuft of hair in front of each ear which is allowed to grow and is curled into long curls which hang down about six inches—one only on each side. The effect is irresistibly funny and is certainly the origin of most of the caricatures of the Jews.

The saddest story is told, however, every day at the frontier towns which link Austria and Czechoslovakia. There the Jews come, hoping to enter Czechoslovakia and at the line may be seen their friends, often relatives, there to receive them. But they have no passports and however sympathetic the Czech authorities may feel they have no other choice but to turn them back.

One of these told us that one old man slept in the fields and waiting room at a frontier town for nearly three weeks while friends willing to accept him waited on the Czech side. Nearly every day he received other papers and tried new arguments, but it was of no avail, they could not allow him to enter because his papers were not in order—nor could they be put in order.

Funeral Service For Kitsegucla Boy Saturday

On Thursday the young son of J. H. Johnson passed away in the early morning after a very brief illness. The boy was taken to the Hazelton Hospital early in the week but did not seem to be seriously ill. He became much worse on Wednesday.

Funeral services were held on Saturday in the home, conducted by Adjutant Parkinson of Glen Vowell, assisted by Rev. B. Black and Mr. Pierce of Prince Rupert. Afterward the body was taken to the Salvation Army Hall where another service was conducted by Adjutant Parkinson assisted by Captain Tomlinson of Cedarvale and Simon Turner, where the local school children sang "When He Cometh to Make Us His Jewels."

At the graveside a short address was delivered by the boy's school teacher, Rev. B. Black and again the school children sang, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Adjutant Parkinson committed the body to the grave, and Mr. Pierce closed the services with prayer.

The local band led the various processions from the home to the grave.

Theodore was only six years old and lost his mother less than a year ago. He leaves to mourn his loss his father, three sisters, three brothers and many other relatives. There were some very fine wreaths and crosses spread over the casket.

October Dance Cambrai Chapter

The September meeting of the Cambrai Chapter I.O.D.E. was held last evening at the home of the regent, Mrs. Tommy Fraser.

There was a good attendance of members, several new members being received into the chapter.

It was decided to hold another cabaret dance this year in the first week of October at which the rug, which is now being raffled, will be drawn for.

Following the business session refreshments were served.

Terrace Harvest Festival Service

TERRACE, Sept. 14.—The annual Harvest Festival Service was held in Knox United Church on Sunday evening, September 11 when a good congregation assembled to render thanks.

The church was prettily decorated by the members of the Ladies' Guild, with flowers, foliage and vegetables. Musical selections were given by the Junior Choir and a recitation entitled "The Better Prayer" was given by Miss Jessie Lewellyn.

Last Gangster Showing Tonight

Is Story of Girl and Gangster Husband—Dramatic in The Extreme

"The Last Gangster" showing here tonight, tells of the imprisonment of a "public enemy" and the struggle of his wife, who did not know his calling, to lose her identity and save their child from the disgrace attached to his name.

Miss Stradner plays the wife and Stewart the newspaperman who befriends her and with whom she finally finds happiness. Edward Ludwig directed from a screen play by John Lee Mahlin.

A riot in the mess hall of a Federal penitentiary, grim details of prison life and the armored prison train, roaring activity in great newspaper offices, and inner workings and haunts of gangland provide the dramatic background for the central romance.

The dramatic highlight is the scene in prison where Miss Stradner tells Robinson that she at last knows the truth and must leave him and take their baby away forever.

Players include Lionel Stander as the gangster's henchman, Douglas Scott, John Carradine, Sidney Blackmer, Grant Mitchell, Edward S. Brophy, Alan Baxter, Frank Conroy and Louise Beavers.
