NATURE ON EXPERIMENT

Trans-Canada Airways Pilots Are Still in Training Stage

VANCOUVER, March 1: (CP)—Poor flying weather in British Columbia upset part of the Trans-Canada Air Lines schedule for the first experimental mail flights across Western Canada today. The eastbound plane, which left Vancouver, turned back when it struck low hanging clouds in the Fraser Canyon. Meanwhile the westbound plane seemed destined to reach the coast.

WINNIPEG, March 1:—Trans-Canada Air Line officers stress that the flights between Vancouver and Winnipeg, starting today, will be experimental and operated only during daylight hours. Since the major portion of the trans-Canada route will be regularly flown at night to effect the best possible postal schedules, the experimental flights will not fully reflect the time saving advantages of the regular service.

Schedules call for the 1168-mile flight to be made in seven hours 35 minutes eastbound and eight hours 30 minutes westbound. Lethbridge and Regina will be intermediate stops in both directions. Lethbridge will be the junction of the trans-Canada and prairie divisions.

Service will be on a daily basis although certain limitations may be imposed due to weather conditions and functioning of airway facilities. Coincident with the operations, a federal meteorological service will get practical training in providing weather reports and forecasts (Continued on Page Three)

MORE THAN MERE NOISE

Last week an address was delivered to the Kiwanis Club of Vancouver by a clergyman who is reported to have spoken of Premier Mussolini as "the loudest mouthed peasant of Italy." The address was described as brilliant. Many of us do not like the methods adopted by Il Duce and we do not in particular like the manner in which he treats British interests in Palestine and other countries. Yet, in spite of this, we cannot sweep away Italy's ruler by calling him a loud-mouthed peasant. The phrase indicated that Italy's dictator is nothing but noise which is wholly wrong. Rulers are not made of such stuff. No matter what we may think of Mussolini's policies, we are bound to admit that he is a man of ability. In addition to being an able administrator, he is an excellent public speaker and, as such, has caught the imagination of the Italian people. We shall know later whether he has been building permanently on a secure foundation.

A CANADIAN FLAG

Evidently, we are about to have a Canadian flag. For nearly twenty years we have advocated that Parliament should designate a national flag for this country. As a matter of course such a flag would have the Union Jack as its basic feature but, otherwise, it would be quite different from any other flag at present in use. We hope that, when it is chosen, it will be a very simple design that everyone can understand.

Both Prime Minister King and former Prime Minister Bennett found the need of such a flag when they were at the Coronation and we are glad to know they are in agreement on the proposal now.

COMMENDABLE RESTRAINT

Captain Anthony Eden seems to have shown commendable restraint when he refused to be a party to continued agitation against the government of which he was until recently a member. The intimation implied is that he is still a supporter of the present British government on its general policy although not on its present foreign policy to which he is strongly opposed. He will not, however, do anything to hamper the work which has started.

The difficulty with a great many people is that they over-estimate their own importance and, placed in a position such as that of the late foreign secretary, they are apt to try to start a new group or support an opposition group with which they have little sympathy.

RANGERS MOVE UP

Patrick Men Win Two Week-End Hockey Games—Maroons Break Long Losing Streak

TORONTO, March 1: (CP)—Lester Patrieks speedy New York Rangers put up a dazzling display of hockey before a sell-out crowd of 15,000 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night to defeat the Toronto Maple Leafs 4 to 2 and went on to Chicago Sunday night to take a 4 to 1 victory over the Black Hawks, all of which puts the Rangers, heaviest scoring team of the entire circuit this winter, but four points behind the Boston Bruins for first place in the American Division. The Bruins were idle over the week-end.

The Rangers made their first counter in the first period Saturday night, Lynn Patrick putting the puck into the net on a pass from Clint Smith. Art Coulter scored twice in rapid succession in the second from Shibicky. Syl Apps made the first Maple Leaf counter. In the final period, Colville made the fourth for the Rangers on Shibicky's pass while Bill Thomas scored the second and last for the Maple Leafs. Art Coulter, Rangers; George Carson, Maple Leafs, and Kerr, Rangers' goalie, were adjudged the stars of the game.

In winning 4 to 2 over the New York Americans at New York Sunday night, the Montreal Maroons registered their first victory in eleven starts. They came from behind to score thrice in the third period. On Saturday night the Maroons had been beaten at home by the Amerks.

Local Centre to be Represented in Provincial Athletic Meet

The Prince Rupert Physical Education Recreation Centre is now on the way to fulfillment of its objective of sending a gymnastic team to represent Prince Rupert at the annual Mass Demonstration and Gymnastic Competition to be held in Vancouver at the end of March.

Last year some 600 young athletes took part in the mass display appearing before an audience of over 3000 people. Forty teams of six persons each competed for team and individual honors in the gymnastic competition, representing such cities as Victoria, Nanaimo, Duncan, Ladysmith, Esquimalt, Chemaluis and on the mainland such places as New Westminster, Mission, Abbotsford, Chilliwack, Ladner and surrounding districts.

Each year the event is one of greater magnitude than the year previous and as many of the outlying districts as possible are added to the list of competitors. This year, the fourth since its inception, promises to be the largest youth rally of its kind in the history of Canada.

The only obstacle that is in the way of Prince Rupert being represented is its isolated geographical position and the necessity of having to raise so much money for the purpose of transportation. At the present time the centre has the sum of $6.12 deposited in the bank in trust—the box proceeds from the informal boxing tournament that was held at the gym last week. Another boxing tournament is being planned for March 23 and the centre dance is a coming event.

If the local centre is represented at Vancouver for this event it is

SAVE YOUR VISION WEEK

Special Attention Drawn to Need Of Proper Care of Eyes, Especially Among Children

Health, education, social and similar organizations interested in public welfare are co-operating in the annual observance of "Save Your Vision Week," February 23 to March 5 throughout British Columbia. The Movement, started several years ago to focus public attention upon eyesight conservation in all its phases has the support of scores of agencies in child and adult health and other fields. Eyesight conservation is now recognized as a major social and economic problem. Studies have indicated that nearly one quarter of Canada's children reach their majority with defects of vision. More than one half of all adults have sub-normal eyes upon reaching the age of 40. From then on eyesight declines rapidly; 75 per cent of all adults at the age of 50 have visual defects.

M. J. Julian, President of the Better Vision Institute, one of the cooperating organizations, says: "Through the adoption of better standards of eye hygiene during childhood, and the improvement of the conditions of seeing, millions of eyes would be saved from the rapid deterioration that now takes place during adolescence and early childhood. Improperly lighted homes and schools, bad reading habits and neglected simple faults of vision are among the causes of failing sight in childhood."

NATURE OF EXPERIMENT

under actual flight conditions and the Post Office Department will be enabled to plan for maximum efficiency when regular air mail service begins.

Today's opening is an important step in Trans-Canada Airways history. It opens the seventh and last stage of what is probably the most thorough going pilot training program ever instituted by a major air transport system.

Instructing Pilots
Last summer the air line commenced training its initial pilot group which has expanded until it now consists of 26 men all of whom held commercial transport licenses before they joined the service.

The first step was instruction in the mechanical functions of equipment and accessories. This was followed by primary flying instruction in the type of equipment used. As a third step the pilot was required to fly by his instruments and radio alone without reference to the ground. Then came local radio range flying in which the planes followed a path through the air marked by radio signals to and from their base. The fifth step was night flying around the home field. By mid-winter the pilot group was at the sixth stage, flying by instruments across country between widely separated points while following this came the radio range, or "beam," as it is sometimes called.

This last stage brought Trans-Canada Air Lines flying operations before a large section of the public for the first time as planes winged their way first across the prairies between Winnipeg and Lethbridge with a stop at Regina and then between Vancouver and Lethbridge.

Two-way radio communication stations have been established at Vancouver, Oliver, Cranbrook, Lethbridge, Regina and Winnipeg and planes are constantly in touch with the ground over the entire route. The final step that made possible the experimental mail operation is the provision by the Department of Transport's meteorological section of a 24-hour weather reporting service.

Every Trans-Canada pilot is trained to interpret the changes in atmosphere. Hourly weather reports give him not only actual conditions every 50 miles along the route but also future trends. One plane left Vancouver today for Winnipeg and another left Winnipeg for Vancouver.

Israel Is Vine—Judah, Fig Tree

J. D. Allen Speaks Before British Israel Society Last Night

At the semi-monthly meeting of the British-Israel Society last evening in the H. rooms, J. D. Allen gave a very interesting address on the symbolism of the parables of the Vine and the Fig Tree.

The House of Israel was distinct from the House of Judah, Mr. Allen said. Within the House of Israel was the tribe of Judah which had been especially selected as the royal tribe from which the Messiah should come. A portion of the tribe of Judah, together with portions of Levi and Benjamin, was brought back from captivity and resettled in the Holy Land.

After the division of the Kingdom in the time of Rehoboam the ten northern tribes retained the name Kingdom of Israel and the tribes of Judah, Benjamin and Levi assumed the title of the Kingdom of Judah. Many instances were cited both in the Old and New Testaments where the vine was applicable to Israel and the fig tree was symbolic of Judah emphasizing the distinction of the two houses or kingdoms.

A general discussion followed, reference being made to the debates going on in London on the sovereignty of Palestine.

STANTON, England, March 1: (CP)—A 600-year-old tithe barn here was destroyed by fire so quickly that farmworkers and firemen didn't have a chance.

Ill-Health Charge Withdrawn

(Before Mr. Justice Kruschen)

JUDGE: All the evidence proves conclusively that this unhappy woman has been consistently neglecting her health. In this Court preventable illness is treated as a crime. Ignorance of the remedy cannot be accepted as an excuse. Kruschen is sold by all drug stores. Kruschen is—

PRISONER: (Excitedly, undoing her handbag) I have a bottle with me now, sir!

JUDGE: A bottle of what? Pass it up to me, please.

JUDGE: (continuing): This is an amazing development. We have here an unopened bottle of Kruschen. (Turning to the Prisoner): When did you buy it?

PRISONER: This morning, my lord. I intended to take it with my coffee tomorrow and every day. I thought it might put me right.

JUDGE: Prisoner, your timely good sense has earned you your acquittal. You will leave this Court without a stain on your character. (At this juncture there was an outburst of clapping, which was rapidly suppressed.) You have yourself done precisely what I should have ordered you to do; you have adopted a good remedy for your present affliction, a splendid precaution against a recurrence of it. I am very glad. I have one word of advice to add: do not, on any account, miss the little daily dose of Kruschen—and then, indeed, you will be the happy possessor of good health for less than 1c a day.

PRISONER: Thank you, my lord. I shall never forget what you say.
