UNPLEASANT SITUATION

It looks as if Japan was seeking a quarrel with the British people at this time when conditions are rather disturbed in Europe and it might be unwise for that country to send a large naval force to the Orient. The British statesmen are evidently trying their best to avoid a clash, but if it comes, they will be prepared to meet the crisis and deal with it in a satisfactory manner.

The present unsatisfactory situation shows the wisdom of the Canadian government in refusing to permit anything like wholesale immigration of Japanese to this country. It is to be hoped that there will be no war in Catholic Youth which we may become involved but, should it come, doubtless Canada will do her part as becomes the largest and most influential of the British nations. At any rate we must be prepared to defend our own shores.

By the time he is ready midnight delicious refreshments to take over the senior position he will have had a vear of experience in the vice-presidency and should be able to in charge of the kitchen and memhandle the affairs of the chamber efficiently.

Prince Rupert is now in a position where an active Chamber of Cmmerce is very desirable. There will be a number of important subjects to be dealt with and it is important that they be dealt with wisely and vigorously.

NEED OF LOANS IN RUPERT

The federal government is planning to extend its loans to encourage new building. This will probably be done through the various loan companies operating in the large centres of population. Prince Rupert, having no loan company, is unable to take advantage of the government support. The Chamber of Commerce, representing the business and professional interests of the city, may nossibly be able to suggest how to overcome the difficulty. Possibly it may be done by forming a local loan company, or by inducing some outside company to establish here. Houses are likely to be needed and, if there is any money forthcoming from the government, steps should be taken to get some of it expended in Prince Rupert.

When shipbuilding was carried on in Prince Rupert, a loan company was organized and it was a complete success. It paid dividends every year and when closed out the people who put their money in were able to get all of it
