The problem arose over United States protests that Japanese fish boats in Bristol Bay would soon

August Judge Is Good Shot With Peppermint; Prevents Riot Of Ladies In Meeting

VANCOUVER, March 15: (CP)—Chief Justice Aulay Morrison of the Supreme Court of British Columbia was nibbling peppermints during a mecting here at which the speaker was John W. Dafoe, well known Winnipeg newspaper publisher and member of the Rowell Royal Commission on federalprovincial relations.

Ladies at the meeting became restless and fidgetty. The learned judge perceived what was the trouble. It was a mouse scampering along the floor.

Before any of the ladies started screaming or standing on the chairs in terror, the judge took good aim with a peppermint and hit the mouse which disappeared.

EUROPEAN CONDITION

Fear seems to be prevalent everywhere in Europe except in Germany and Italy and possibly there may be fear! in those countries also. The condition is such that it would not take much to set alight a conflagration that, no matter who wins, would be to end in disaster. So far, neither of the dictatorship countries has been involved in a serious war and we hope that they will not for, in case they do, it is difficult to guess what other countries may be involved and no sane person wants war. Clarence Darrow Chose Criminal Defense Work Over Being Corporation Counsel

Brothers, "Big Bill" Haywood, Leopold and Loeb

CHICAGO, March 15: (AP) -Clarence Darrow, who is dead here, at the age of 37, walked out as general counsel for a great railroad and assumed the role the world knew best: attorney for the defense. This was in 1894—the year of the American Railway Union strike headed by Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader. A federal court injunction against the union activities had been granted upon petition of the railroads, and Debs had been indicted for conspiracy.

Darrow sympathized with the strikers. His views - political and social-were to the left. He felt embarrassed over the incompatibility of these views with his position as general counsel for the Chicago & Northwestern system, many of whose workers participated in the strike. When Debs persuaded the young corporation lawyer to conduct his defense. Darrow resigned his railway job.

The government dismissed the criminal conspiracy charge against "The decision to defend Debs. Darrow once said, "led me away from the world of wealth to that of wretchedness and misery. For making it, I've had no regrets."

It was a decision that brought to the soft-voiced, twinkle-eyed humanitarian many renowned victories in the defense of his social views and theories.

Darrow hated capital punishment In an inflamed Chicago, amid the clamor for the lives of Nathan Leohold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, h pleaded for a time "when hatred and cruelty will not control the hearts of men" and gained sentences of life imprisonment for the kidnappers and slayers of Bobby

Defends Freedom of Thought

Darrow strove for freedom of thought. Against William Jennings Bryan when "the commoner" was a pecial prosecutor upholding fundamentalism, Darrow defended evolution in the John T. Scopes "monkey trial" at Dayton, Tennessee. The Dayton high school science teacher was found guilty of violating the anti-Darwinian laws of Tennessee, but the state's supreme court reversed the verdict.

Darrow was an agnostic. He regarded Christ as an ancient philosopher and benefactor and was an earnest pleader for the Christian virtues of mercy and charity. In his writings and appeals to juries hel frequently spoke of qualities given by God. By this usage of the name of divinity he meant the forces that motivate man. The existence of such forces he readily admitted. Darrow crusaded for the cause of labor. Few men were so unflinch-! ing. He won freedom for "Big Bill" Haywood—then a socialist, later the molder of the I.W.W.-who. with other members of the onetime militant Western Federation of Miners, was tried for the murder of Former Gov. Frank Steunenberg, of | Idaho, during a strike. William E. Borah was a special prosecutor. Samuel Gompers sent Darrow to the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building in 1911. Darrow succeeded in settling the case on the basis of prison terms.

In his seventy-fifth year, Darrow abandoned retirement and, against the advice of friends and physiclians, journeyed to Alabama to offer his services to the negro youths in the Scottsboro case. The International Labor Defense, under the dominance of communists, had enrow and his associate in many cases, Defended Eugene Debs, McNamara Arthur Garfield Hays, abide by its decisions as to conduct. Darrow refused to do so, thinking the I.L.D. was using the trial for propaganda!

> The next year, he was again the! focus of the limelight, guiding the defense in the Hawaiian Massie

Darrow, always interested in the sociological aspects of political issues, took part in many campaigns as an independent democrat. But he held only one elective office. In 1902 he was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives, serving a single term. The following year he declined a labor party nomination for the mayoralty of Chicago.

While his greatest reputation was gained in the criminal courts, hell also was an expert in corporation law. In politics he denounced "big] interests" and one of his notable civil suits was litigation against the Chicago "gas trust" which resulted! in a substantial lowering of rates.

Boyhood on Farm

Darrow was born in Ohio in 1857 and spent his boyhood on a farm. He was admitted to the bar when i only eighteen and opened his first law office at Ashtabula, Ohio. His first wife was Miss Jessie Ohl of Ashtabula whom he married in 1879 and divorced eighteen years later. There was one son by this marriage. Paul. In 1905 the attorney married again, Miss Ruby Gamerstrom, a Chicago news reporter.
