Diamond Jubilee of Sir Sandford Fleming's Historic Address

Plaque Unveiled

Unique Ceremony Takes Place In Toronto Today

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—Sixty years ago tonight Sir Sandford Fleming presented to the Canadian Institute a paper outlining his proposal to place the world on a basis of universal time. This morning a unique ceremony commemorated the diamond jubilee of this historic event and with it was honored the memory of the great Scots-Canadian who undertook to regulate the clocks and, therefore, the business of the world. The ceremony, held under the auspices of the Canadian Jewellers' Association, took the form of unveiling a plaque upon the building in which the meeting was held, followed by a luncheon at the King Edward Hotel attended by prominent business and professional men and members of the Association. The plaque was inscribed as follows: The birthplace of Standard Time. On this site, in February of 1882, an address was given on time reckoning. His Excellency the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General of Canada, sent out printed copies of the address to all governments. The Czar of Russia called an international time convention which met at Rome, Italy, in the year 1882. This meeting was adjourned and met in Washington, D.C., in 1883. At the Washington conference Standard Time was adopted by most countries of the world. The originator of the idea of Standard Time was knighted by Her Majesty, Queen Victoria and has since been known to his fellow Canadians as Sir Sandford Fleming. 1827-1915. Erected by the Canadian Jewellers Association Inc. was unveiled by His Worship, Mayor Ralph Day assisted by A. Roden, President of the Jewellers' Association, while D. E. Galloway, Assistant Vice-President, Canadian National Telegraphs, delivered the address of the occasion.

History of Time Setting In his opening remarks, Mr. Galloway said that the gathering was "not only honoring an outstanding man of science and a public benefactor to humanity at large, but was paying tribute to one who represented the ultimate in the development of time consciousness and who, by his conception of zoning the world into time belts, attained that degree of exactness for which man had struggled unsuccessfully throughout the ages." The intelligence of man, Mr. Galloway found, was measured by his appreciation of time. He pointed out that primitive man made no material progress until time became a factor in his life. The speaker briefly traced the evolution of the time sense of early peoples through the solar and lunar periods of reckoning until the ground work of time, as recognized today, had been laid. Experiment was to be made with many devices and through many centuries before accuracy was to be obtained, he said. It remained for the clock and watch to give both an accuracy and convenience required. Until the introduction of Standard Time, however, this accuracy was only applicable to the immediate district. The speaker illustrated the confusion which existed prior to the

Two Yukon Miners Freeze to Death After Tractor Plunges Through Ice Into River

DAWSON, Nov. 23: (CP)—By way of an amateur wireless message, Dawson learned yesterday of a double tragedy by freezing to death which befell Andrew Anderson and Ivar Erickson, two miners on Sixty Mile River, forty miles southeast of here. Anderson and Erickson were travelling on a tractor which went through the ice, plunging all in the river. The party managed to make shore pulling themselves from five feet of water to the bank, and kindled a fire by which to dry themselves out. Anderson and Erickson, however, decided to set out on foot for Anderson's cabin on Twelve Mile River. They were within sight of the cabin when they collapsed and froze to death. Their bodies were found by another miner. The two other members of the party who reached a nearby mining camp safely were Gordon Stewart and William Long.

C. C. F. Member For Vancouver Claims About Cost of Steel In Westminster Bridge

VICTORIA, Nov. 23: (CP)—Dr. Lyle Telford, C. C. McPherson immediately replied that the lowest bid tendered had been accepted. Dr. Telford said that $190 to $200 per ton had been paid when the international price was $140. Mr. McPherson invited the C. C. F. member to his office where tenders and contracts were available. The matter was dropped after Dr. Telford said he still believed the price was too high.

PROPOSED IMMIGRATION

The plan of Sir Henry Page Croft to expend ten million pounds of British money on a plan for the settlement of ten thousand hand-picked British settler families on the land in British Columbia looks like a good proposal. Evidently, it has the approval of the British Columbia Premier and Mr. Pattullo has promised to co-operate to the extent of providing the lands. The government will also have to provide schools, roads, police protection and other services.

It is difficult to realize how much the province would benefit by the settling in the country of such a large number of people. The settlement scheme, it is presumed, would be spread over a period of years. Material for the buildings would be purchased in this province, labor would be required and the consequent good times would attract immigrants from other places, all of which would increase the revenues of the railways, the government and the cities.

It is not certain yet that the backers of the movement can find the money with which to carry out the plan. Possibly it will be carried out on a much smaller scale than at present proposed.

MR. BENNETT'S FUTURE

When a year or two ago it was hinted that Right Hon. R. B. Bennett was likely to retire to England and settle down, the suggestion was greeted by members of Mr. Bennett's political party as a political trick on the part of his opponents. Now the announcement is made by Mr. Bennett himself.

We regret Mr. Bennett's decision to leave the country after so many years of service to his country. We like to feel that when the country has been good to a man he should like to make his permanent home there. However, he will not be far away and possibly he will prove a good missionary for Canada to the Old Land. It is satisfactory to know that he is still in the Empire and will still have some influence in the councils of state. We join with the rest of the people of Canada in wishing Mr. Bennett many years of enjoyable retirement and hope he will have much joy of his garden.

THE NEW AGREEMENT

The Conservative leader, Hon. R. J. Manion, asks whether in the new agreement with the United States, Canada had not given up British substance for American shadow. He seems to forget that the change was made at the instance of the British government when it wished to make a trade agreement with the United States. Now there is a three-way pact which should prove not only mutually beneficial but also a friendly gesture binding the three countries much more closely than in the past.

JOHN DORE

His large stature being matched by his substantial qualities of geniality and generosity, the late John Dore, formerly of this city, who passed away suddenly in Vancouver yesterday, was a real northerner in physique as well as spirit. The announcement of his death came as a great shock to his many friends in city and hinterland by whom his passing is deeply mourned. He was a courteous, conscientious and efficient official and the government Telegraphs will be much poorer through his loss. While he had been located for the past several years first in Victoria and then in Vancouver as general superintendent, friends who visited him always found his heart was still in the north. To his widow, who was equally well known and esteemed, being one of the real pioneer women of Prince Rupert, deep sympathy will be extended in the bereavement.

B.C. COURT MOVES TO BUSH FOR MANSLAUGHTER TRIAL

To hear a manslaughter charge against a 16-year-old boy accused of killing his father, British Columbia's assize court moved into the woods, 25 miles from Vancouver to the stumbo ranch where Samuel Lamont Metcalf, 53-year-old war veteran, was shot to death. This graphic picture shows the court in session, with R.C.M.P. officers in charge and a leaf-littered clearing in front of the rough cabin as a courtroom. The accused lad is shown at right (arrow) facing the court. He was acquitted by a jury which debated their verdict only five minutes after hearing how the father had kept his wife and two children in constant fear. Spectators, usually quiet in Canadian courtrooms, broke into applause when the verdict was announced. Judge Robertson immediately ordered the boy's release. Milton Gonzales, formerly of Prince Rupert, is seen in the centre holding his hat at his back. He was defence counsel.

PROBLEM OF EMPTY PEW

Rev. H. G. Funston Leads Interesting Discussion at Toc H Meeting

Addressing Toc H on the subject of a parson's problem of the empty pews, Rev. H. G. Funston, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, stated that a parson's task was to discover people's spiritual needs and then to seek a remedy for them. A parson was often disappointed by the fact that those who probably needed him most did not attend church where he thought they could be helped. It was difficult to become a specialist in a minister's work because few gave the minister opportunity to be it by their regular attendance at church services where he usually planned to help individual men and women with their problems.

The faults for the fact of empty churches today were two-fold, said Mr. Funston. One was with the pulpit. The reason for sleepers in the pew was to be found in the man who was asleep in the pulpit. It was necessary, he said, that people should understand the gospel and its searching message and the pulpit was vital in the presentation of this message. Unfortunately, the man in the pulpit was not always the sort who could fill this vital place with any degree of adequacy.

Politics in the main and certainly in the partizan sense of that much abused word should be eliminated from church services and sermons. The place for discussion of this sort should be left to week day gatherings and study groups connected with the church.

The second fault which could be given as a reason for empty churches was to be found in the most unconvincing testimony of professing believers. Those who professed to believe in Christ—a Christ who was alive and guiding daily lives—should carry out the obligations of so great a calling as that of a Christian's really was.

"Man in Street" The "man in the street" followed Mr. Funston by stating that today men read more widely and thought as individuals more deeply. They had, as a result, more difficulties to face of an intellectual sort than ever before and they could not be convinced that the church had an answer for them. Often the church was at variance within itself.

The man in the street objected also to what seemed like a double code of ethics among so-called Christians. Politics, he felt, need not be eliminated from the pulpit as Christ Himself was a social reformer and suffered for it.

The fault was not altogether in the pulpit, he added, though it was not without blame. It was true that the average parson did not visit enough and those he did visit were only a certain "influential" set. It was true, too, that his so-called helpers did not really help the parson in his real work as such. It was true, he thought, that the predominance of "poor advertisements" for Christianity ruined its progress and he felt that more unity among the churches would give more confidence to the outsider who sought authority in the oneness of voice when the church spoke in the name of the things that mattered.

The subject was brought to a conclusion by the Toc H chaplain who summed up the discussion briefly and commended all present to give the whole business of half-empty churches honest thought and practical help where possible.

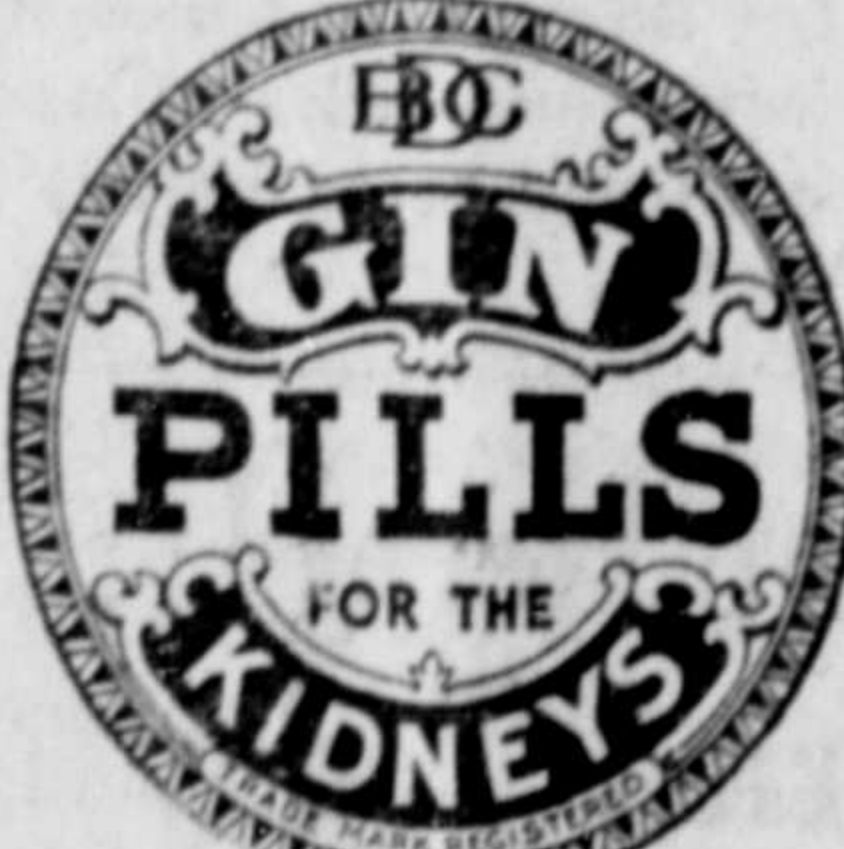

Is War Inevitable?

The subject for next Monday night's speaker will be entitled: "Is War Inevitable in a World Where Divisions of Race, Color, Nationalities and Ideologies Exist and Particularly These Ideologies Which Threaten to Force Themselves Upon Unwilling Peoples?" The Dean of St. Andrew's Cathedral will take one side of the discussion and another member of the Toc H organization will follow with his own views on this vital issue.

Two men—Anderson and Turgeon—were also on the staff 1936-1937 at $75 per month.

Leaving out the chief we find a total of $655 in 1933 and $610 today, Mr. Alder, evidently, does not wish the public to see how much of a wage cut these men have had. At any rate we did not discuss costs, leaving that to a possible public meeting at an early date.

We are neither concerned with Nanaimo wages or hours of work. If they are fifty years behind the times it does not follow that Prince Rupert must follow any more than we must adopt Nazism because another country suffers from it.

The point that organized labor is concerned about is the fact that these men are to be put on continuous duty for seventy-two hours at a stretch which would amount to 576 hours per month of 31 days and would receive the magnificent sum of about 20 cents per hour.

The men have asked for the dispute to be submitted to arbitration as they as well as any sane-minded person think their requests are reasonable.

Organizations are requested to contact the Trades & Labor Council with a view to discussing the whole situation and make arrangements for the taking of a plebiscite or to

SPORT CHAT

Capt. Angus Walters, at the wheel of the schooner Bluenose shouted a sharp command: "Let out that main sheet a little. Come on, there, look alive!" Every man in the crew jumped to his feet and started pulling in rope to a rhythmic, guttural count. Along the line of men towered one above the rest, gray-haired and hatless. He was one of the first to start pulling and, in spite of his 67-odd years, his forearms and back displayed great strength. That man, a member of the Bluenose crew, was U. J. (Sport) Herrman of Chicago, millionaire sportsman, former owner of the Boston American League baseball team in 1916 and a powerful figure in the political and civic life of Chicago. After the second race with the Gloucester schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud, both Capt. Walters and the American skipper agreed that only fishermen be allowed on the vessel so Sport Herrman stayed ashore. But for two races the Chicago millionaire, a close friend of Capt. Walters, obeyed orders the same as any other man in the crew.

RANGERS IN FIRST LOSS

Defeated By Boston Bruins—National League Race Is Close

BOSTON, Nov. 23: (CP)—Boston Bruins, administering upon the New York Rangers their first defeat of the season last night by a score of 4 to 2, went into a tie with Chicago Black Hawks for leadership of the National Hockey League. It was a fast and hotly contested match.

The luckless Montreal Canadiens were again routed, this time by the New York Americans at New York with a score of 7 to 3. The Canadiens have played seven games so far this season and have lost every one of them. The victory put the Americans into a tie for third place with Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers but half a game behind the Black Hawks and Bruins. Sweeney Schriner turned the hat trick last night by scoring three of the Americans' goals.

The league standing to date:

Chicago	4	1	1	16	8	9
Boston	4	1	1	17	9	9
Toronto	3	2	3	12	10	8
Rangers	4	0	1	11	8	8
Americans	4	0	2	14	13	8
Detroit	1	0	5	13	17	2
Canadiens	0	0	7	11	29	0

TERRACE SKI CLUB

Young People Are Organizing There For Popular Winter Pastime

TERRACE, Nov. 23:—There was a good-sized gathering of the younger and more athletic members of Terrace community in the Oddfellows Hall to consider the possibility of forming a ski club for Terrace. Stan Olsen, Peter Van Stoik and C. W. Michiels were deputed to look into the essentials such as a suitable place for a ski run. There appears to be a very good prospect that Terrace will have a live ski club functioning during the coming winter.

UNIVERSAL TIME SET

train service between Montreal
and Toronto, which, in part, read:
"The trains will be run on Montreal time which is 3 1/2 minutes faster than Belleville time and 25 minutes faster than Toronto time."
"Today," Mr. Galloway comment-

Although Sir Sandford Fleming's first public pronouncement
upon the subject of universal time was made at Toronto in November of 1878, it was not until a worldwide conference in Washington in 1884 that his plan was adopted and Greenwich Time set as the zero zone. "There is no need for elaboration upon the importance of Sir Sandford Fleming's achievement," the speaker stated. "Nor indeed of the importance to all of us of accurate time schedules. While the average man in the street may be content when his watch is within a minute or two of correct time, observatory clocks must be within a hundredth of a second correct.

Railway Operation

Mr. Galloway gave an intimate glimpse of railway operation and the importance of the accurate regulation of the 7000 clocks on the Canadian National system.
"The time signals start at 10:55
a. m. Eastern Standard Time," he said, "and all railway telegraph instruments from coast to coast must then prepare to receive the time. Canadian National signals are the actual beats of the pendulum of the McGill University observatory clock transmitted electrically to telegraph wires. From 10:58 the beats go for 50 seconds
and, after a pause of 10 seconds
the signals close with a distinct signal at 11: a.m."
The checking of railway clocks,
Mr. Galloway pointed out, was but one phase of the work required to assure accuracy in railway operation. There was the matter of regulating the watches of more than 13,000 employees who come under the time service regulations and these watches must be kept

with a variation of not more than 35 seconds a week. They must also be cleaned and overhauled at stated intervals. As these watches are inspected twice a month, it means that nearly a third of a million watch inspections are made and recorded each year on the National system in the interest of safe operation.

"The same story of the importance of time," the speaker added,
"might be repeated, with modifications, of other business interests vast systems of communication, financial, industrial, and commercial. One and all, they operate upon a definite time schedule."

In conclusion, Mr. Galloway veiled an appreciation of the achievements of Sir Sandford Fleming and his varied scientific interests, during during his long and useful career and closed with the words of the late Earl Grey,
one-time governor-General of Canada, who said, "Sir Sandford Fleming was one of the most public spirited Britons the Empire
has ever produced."

From Skating To Fishing in Short Period of Time at Kitwanga

Local Man Runs Across Copies Of Queen Charlotte Islander

KITWANGA, Nov. 23.—Kitwanga has been having a great variety of weather of late, ranging from conditions which have permitted skating to salmon fishing. During the first week of November there was a howling wind, accompanied by heavy snowfall when came a freeze-up which made the ground solid and, after two nights, allowed skating on the wimming pool.

In the second week of November came heavy rains which melted the snow and ice and on Friday last James Fowler and Edward Tait, both experienced fishermen went up the Kitwanga River and caught ten cohoes, ten steelheads and one sockeye.

Since then it has been getting colder again.

If you wish to swap something—Try a Classified.

On a recent trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands, Bob Frizzell came into possession of some copies of the Queen Charlotte Islander, a newspaper which was published weekly at Queen Charlotte City more than twenty-five years ago by James M. Campbell, who is now officer in charge of the Employment Service of Canada office in Prince Rupert. The copies dated in 1912 record much interesting news of those heyday times on the Islands. There were also many advertisements, contributed largely by Prince Rupert Merchants.

C. N. R. steamer Prince George, Capt. H. E. Nedden, arrived in port on time at 10:30 this morning from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls and will sail at 10 o'clock this afternoon for Anyox and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow evening south-bound.

Sydney Men Show Their Virility By Emulating German Sea Raider

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 23: (CP)—Next time Sydney's "strong men" decide to show off their strength the telephone department hopes they won't pick on its directories. Hundreds of books in public booths were ripped in half until, finally, the department ran out of replacements.

It was said the demonstration started after Count von Luckner, German sea raider during the Great War, tore a directory in half to show his strength during a recent visit here.

Everybody reads the Daily News. There's a reason.

DRAMA IS POWERFUL

"You and Me," a powerful drama of city streets with Sylvia Sidney and George Raft in the leading roles, and "Give Me a Sailor," a nautical comedy featuring Bob Hope and Martha Raye comprise a mid-week double bill program at the Capitol Theatre.

In "You and Me" Sylvia Sidney is a paroled convict who keeps her past from George Raft, also an ex-convict, when they marry. They live an ideally happy life until Raft becomes suspicious and finally learns the secret. Disillusioned, Raft goes back to his former gangster pals. Miss Sidney's course in saving him from returning to a life of crime provides a drama which is carried, with increasing intensity, to a powerful climax. The cast also includes Barton MacLane, George E. Stone and Harry Carey.

Doings of sailors and officers of the Navy on shore leave form the background of "Give Me a Sailor." Dual romance paces the plot with the comely Betty Grable playing an important supporting role for Miss Raye who is the lovely duelling. Martha turns the table on her family when she accidentally enters a beautiful legs contest and comes out the winner.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body and you feel ever, sick and the world looks pink. A more forward movement doesn't always get the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of natural bile but have no sodium or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else.
