RAILWAY TAXATION DISCUSSED IN LEGISLATURE

MAY RAISE THE GLEN ROSA SOME TIME THIS AFTERNOON

DIVER EVANSON SUCCEEDED THIS MORNING IN PLACING SLINGS AROUND THE HULL AT STERN AND BOW— FURTHER SEARCH REVEALED NO TRACE OF BODIES.

Diver Evanson today descended on the wrecked Glen Rosa and succeeded after over an hour's hard work in fixing slings around the hull at bow and stern, which will enable the wreck to be raised by the winch and derrick of Captain Babington's big scow. The diver had to make a second trip in order to bridle the slings together and make fast the hauling wires. It was thought this afternoon that wreck might possibly be brought to the surface at high tide this afternoon. The diver's second trip were successful. The wreck is lying right over on her side, and the slings will have to be placed so that the hull will tend to get on an even keel as it is raised. With pumps handy on the scow it is expected that the Glen Rosa can be pumped out to as to float herself soon after she is hauled to the surface. There was no sign of bodies found by the diver today. He kept a lookout for them on the bottom in the vicinity of the wreck, but without result. Water-front opinion generally is now that both bodies have been swept away by the tide, but Chief Vickers intends to continue dragging operations started yesterday afternoon.

HOSPITAL ANNUAL MEETING MOST INTERESTING OCCASION

ASSOCIATION ELECTED OLD MEMBERS OF BOARD AND PAID THEM MANY COMPLIMENTS ON THE SPLENDID CONDITION OF THE INSTITUTION, FINANCIALLY AND OTHERWISE.

The annual meeting of the General Hospital Association, held in the Police Court last night, although the attendance was small in numbers, made up for this shortcoming by a display of zeal and interest in the good cause. Everybody present was pleased at the satisfactory condition of the institution shown by the official reports, and the meeting developed itself into a mutual admiration society of the directors and officials, the formal proceedings being interspersed with well earned compliments to its energetic president, the several committees and the individuals composing them, the hard worked secretary and matron and the staff as a whole. One of the interesting features of the meeting was the election of the members of the directorate, the president explaining that by the new rules the board should consist of nine members, five to be elected by the association, two appointed by the city and two appointed by the Provincial Government. Those members present entitled to vote were D. G. Stewart, P. I. Plamer, George W. Naden, J. E. Merryfield, Rev. F. W. Kerr, H. F. McRae, J. H. Thompson, Dr. Reddie, J. G.

RATIFICATION BILL IS DISCUSSED

Premier McBride Moves Its Second Reading and Speaks in Glowing Terms of Rupert's Development

MANSON PRESSES PASSAGE OF MEASURE

Williams Criticizes the Bill Under Impression That Railway Company is Granted Too Low a Rate of Taxation and Insinuates That Company Held Up City With Gun

Victoria, Jan. 27.—In the Legislature yesterday the second reading of the act to ratify the agreement between the Provincial Government, the City of Prince Rupert, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Co. came up.

Premier McBride moved the second reading, stating that it had been finally agreed the railway company should pay to the city $15,000 a year taxation on its lands, and in return for this concession the company must immediately start the construction of its terminal, shops, warehouses and so forth. Furthermore, the company agreed to grant to the city a waterfront lot which could be used for the disposal of garbage. The city would also get land left out from the streets and blocks in the townsite survey, and these could be utilized for municipal buildings and warehouses.

In the course of his speech the Premier drew a glowing picture of what had already been accomplished in the city of Prince Rupert, and in view of the coming development, he considered that it fully justified the bargain made by the Government with the railway a few years ago. The Government already owned there townsite property valued at $13,000,000 which years ago was not worth 13 cents.

Mr. Manson, of Skeena, said there was a strong desire on the part of the people of Prince Rupert that the bill should pass, in order that the city might go on with city development, for which it had already assumed obligations in the neighborhood of $1,300,000. At the same time they had a total assessment of $14,000,000, and stood in splendid credit on the money markets of the world.

Mr. Williams criticized the bill as giving the railway company altogether too low a taxation, since, if the Government properly made by the Government with the railway a few years ago. The railway company's property would be worth $39,000,000. It was remarkable that the people of Prince Rupert had passed it, but if any one put a gun in your face and told you to hold up your hands you were likely to yield.

The bill passed the second reading without division.

GOLD STAMPEDE SIMILAR TO THE KLONDIKE

May Prove a Huge Swindle---Thousands Gone in Now Without Food or Shelter---Eight Thousand Claims Staked

(Special to Daily News.)
Winnipeg, Jan. 27.—Reports last night from Minitonas, Manitoba, where gold was discovered a few weeks ago, are that the conditions are terrible there; no food and no accommodations. Minitonas is a little village 250 miles northeast of Winnipeg. Much suffering has resulted from the hundreds rushing in unprepared for cold weather and local conditions. The trains last night resembled the days of the Klondyke rush. Old miners are going in by the score, with tents and blankets.

Minitonas, Jan. 27.—A meeting of prospectors held here last night was addressed by several Yukon and California mining engineers, who declare that after a careful investigation they find that the alleged gold discovery, from all appearances, is a huge swindle. There is practically no indication of gold after investigation, yet there are 8,000 claims staked.

Pleasant Evening Spent in the S. O. E. Hall Last Night.

A merry evening of song, dance and recreation was held in the S. O. E. Hall last night by the members of the Sons of England Society and friends. There were upward of forty present and the evening went off splendidly. President F. A. Ellis presided, and a capital program of songs interspersed the dancing. Messrs. Clapperton, J. Russell, H. Fletcher and R. A. Ellis contributed to the program, also J. G. Weston with his famous imitations of farm yard sounds. Refreshments were liberally served, and with "God Save the King" the gathering dispersed at midnight.

MONTREAL RAILWAY WINS

Privy Council Decides That Commission Has No Control.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Montreal, Jan. 27.—The case lost by the city to the street railway, according to the decision of the Privy Council, is far-reaching in its effects, and of great importance to both sides.

A year ago the Railway Commission ordered that the street railway should reduce the fares in its Mount Royal Ward service to afford people in that district transportation at the same rate as the residents of Notre Dame de Grace.

The street railway company denied the Railway Commission's right to such an order and claimed that they could only be controlled by the Provincial Government. The Supreme Court of Canada upheld the M. S. B.'s contention. Then the city obtained leave from the Privy Council to appeal from the Supreme Court's judgment, and it is this appeal which has now been granted.

PIONEER CLUB ENTERTAINED

Thoroughly Enjoyable Function Last Night in the Cozy Rooms of the Real Old-Timer Club of Prince Rupert.

In their pleasant club rooms on Fourth avenue last night the president and members of the Pioneer Club of Prince Rupert met and entertained a party of their friends. In every way the evening proved a very distinct success, and the hospitality of the Pioneer Club proved more than ordinarily acceptable. President D. H. Hays, with Mrs. Hays, Major Gibson, Captain Forster, secretary, and the directors of the club did the honors, and unlimited care was taken to provide amply for the pleasure of the guests. Regret was expressed by the president and directorate that only a certain number of guests could be invited, as the club rooms, though of the cosiest and most invitingly furnished and arranged, are as yet only of average residential size, the residence built in pioneer days by J. H. Bacon being that occupied by the club.

With dancing, cards and billiards a delightful "at home" was spent, and the supper, served in the club dining room at midnight upheld the club's reputation amply. Music during the evening was much enjoyed, the club having retained the excellent services of Mr. A. M. Gottstein at the piano during the dancing, which was kept up merrily till after 12 a. m. With "God Save the King," sung with real pioneer vigor, the "At Home" came to an end, compliment of the very highest, being expressed all round to the Pioneer Club for a perfectly carried out entertainment.

Engineer of Ill-Fated Ramona Is Believed Dead.

Mystery surrounds the death of Allen W. Jackson, second assistant engineer of the steamship Santa Ana, of the Alaska Steamship Company, who disappeared from the steamship Northwestern last Saturday night while the vessel was bound from Prince Williams Sound ports for Seattle.

He was a passenger aboard the Northwestern from Seward and is believed to have leaped into the sea while the vessel was steaming for Seattle.

Jackson had been followed by ill fate throughout his seafaring career. He was first assistant engineer of the steamship Ramona, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, which was well known in Rupert and which was lost on a reef off Spanish Island on September 10 of last year and was aboard the steamer Perdita when she burned to the water's edge off Port Ludlow last October while bound from Port Townsend to Seattle.

SATURDAY, JAN. 27

AMERICAN OPINION ON CHURCH UNION.

At a great gathering of representatives of American missionary societies, held in New York, the most pronounced advocacy of organic church union was given the most emphatic endorsement. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, the authority on foreign mission work, was unreserved in his declarations that the principles and the liberties for which each of the historic denominations stood and contended are now the inheritance of all the others, and to reproduce and perpetuate those outgrown controversies in Asia and Africa and South America would be not only a colossal mistake, but an offense against the spirit of Christianity.

As a statesman in home mission affairs Dr. Herring made it very plain that denominational divisions had so weakened the church in its efforts to keep pace with the progress of settlement that a very real and very serious crisis is now threatening in both the older and newer states. He spoke not as an alarmist, but as a serious and disciplined leader. His comment was: "God bless the union movement in Canada. I would to God we had such a chance in the States."

The situation in Canada is different from the situation in the United States only in degree, observes the Toronto Globe. The factors making for materialism and mammonism are common to both countries. Over-churching in boom towns and neglect in wide rural districts, feeble congregations feebly manned, waste of energy, and the consequent lack of power—such are the elements complained of in the American situation. Almost the same complaints are made in Canada.

And no matter what the denominationalists say, such ought not needlessly to be perpetuated. At its very best, and under the most favorable conditions, Christian forces in Canada will find their resources of men and of means—as well as their deeper resources of life and faith—taxed to the limit in stemming the tides now sweeping through this young country.

In the United States earnest and determined efforts have been made to reduce the evils of excessive division by schemes of federation and other expedients. Those efforts have not been unavailing. Their success is not so much in what they have accomplished as in what they forecast. They are forerunners of proposals for organic union which are as yet premature. The American churches are more than a whole generation behind the churches of Canada. The union of divided Presbyterianism in 1875 and of divided Methodism in 1884 prepared the way for the present movement, which seems of last generation like Principal Grant and Principal Caven declared to be inevitable. Men of similar faith in the United States look hopefully to Canada to lead the way still farther for all Protestant countries.

SHOULD HUSBANDS ALSO PROMISE THEY WILL OBEY

NOW PROPOSED THAT HUSBAND SHOULD GIVE PROMISE ON HIS OWN ACCOUNT TO OBEY WISHES OF HIS BETTER HALF WHEN TAKING OTHER VOWS.

London, Jan. 26—Discussion is raging over the question whether the omission of the word "obey" from the marriage service would render the ceremony invalid.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has taken occasion to contradict the report of his intervention in the Dugdale ceremony on Saturday, and ecclesiastical authorities generally hesitate to express an opinion as to the legality of the omission of the word "obey."

One lawyer said: "You may add to the vows of the marriage service, but you cannot take any part away from them. The best way, therefore, out of the difficulty arises that when the bride wishes to be placed on an equality with the bridegroom, is to add a vow to 'obey' to those taken by the husband. 'I have that on the authority of a well-known bishop,' he added.

Can't Change Form

Philadelphia, Jan. 26—The Episcopal clergymen of Philadelphia, after much discussion, have decided that the word "obey" must remain in the marriage ritual. They declare that "man is the head of the family, man has been so, and man will remain to be so, women must obey."

The Rev. Dr. G. Woosley Hodge of the church of the Ascension, speaking for the ministers, said: "The word 'obey' in the ritual does not imply any slavish condition. It is according to the Episcopal ritual and cannot be changed. Nature and the Bible place man at the head. The omission of the word would not affect the legality of the ceremony but no Episcopal minister has a right to change the form."

MR. MANSON IS BOOSTING RUPERT NOW DOWN BELOW

DESCRIBING G. T. P. RY. DEVELOPMENT UP RIVER, PRINCE RUPERT'S HYDRO-ELECTRIC PROJECT AND THE SOUND CONDITION OF THE CITY'S FRANCHISES.

On his visit to Victoria in fulfillment of his duty as member for the riding, ex-Mayor Manson has been doing some good boost work. After describing to the Colonist the hydro-electric system scheme, and the development of the railway up river, Mr. Manson goes on to speak of the prospects of the fishing industry in terms of untinted optimism. He is assured that the principal fisheries on the North Pacific will eventually gravitate to Prince Rupert, and build up there one of the greatest export trades of the province of British Columbia. In support of this statement he pointed to the fact that the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company had erected a large plant within the city limits and were gathering about them the elements of a great concern.

"Prince Rupert is in his opinion bound to be the centre of the fishing industry of the North Pacific. The fishing banks are near at hand, the harbor of the city is commodious enough to meet any demands that are likely to be made upon it, and within a year's time, by the completion of the great transcontinental road and its terminal there, the fish will be as near, if not nearer, to the great markets of the world than they would be by being brought further south. "And before departing from the civic enterprises that have been carried through to a successful issue," he added, "let me call attention to the fact that all the public utilities are now owned by the city. This does not even exclude the telephone, which as you may be aware, was first installed by a private company. We have taken it over, and now the city owns everything in the shape of public utilities. What will be done with the tramway service remains to be seen."

PRINCE RUPERT'S FIRST GREAT INDUSTRY

Largest and Best Equipped Fish and Cold Storage Plant on the American Continent Will be Completed and in Operation Early in May of This Year

One may well wonder why more Prince Rupert people do not take a stroll out to Seal Cove. There are fine plank roads all the way, and the view that bursts on you as you top the cliff is one of the most delightful to be found anywhere. Probably because Prince Rupert people are too prosaically practical to take any stock in scenery. If such be the case, why is it they have not visited Seal Cove and taken an interest in the establishment of a great industry there, one which will be known far and wide in a very few years and one of the notable sights that tourists to this city will insist on seeing.

One reason may be that the construction of the great fish and cold storage plant has been going on for some time and the subject therefore grown commonplace. From April of last year until recently the monthly payroll of the Atlin Construction Company was a considerable item, and since the offices of Foley, Welch & Stewart, railway contractors, removed from the city last autumn it has been practically the only payroll except that of the city itself. Yet very little public interest seems to be taken in the enterprise, while any other new city would be proud to brag of having such a payroll and would pay good money to advertise the fact. The payroll now is only about $5,000 per month, but after the first of the very next May, when the great concern opens for actual business, it will grow and grow to enormous proportions.

Splendid Advertisement for City.

The people of Prince Rupert have their heads in the air, gazing into the not very distant future when this city will be one of the most famous of world ports, so this handsome payroll probably strikes them as a matter of minor importance. It should not be overlooked, however, that this is the first industry founded here; that it is on a scale sufficiently large to demand attention everywhere; that it is the largest of its kind on this continent; that it will be a splendid advertisement for Prince Rupert and lead to the selection of this city for numerous other industries.

Builder a Leading Expert.

One can only gain a comprehensive idea of the immensity of this enterprise by a visit to the plant and a chat with the genial superintendent, George L. Clayton. Mr. Clayton is the builder and architect. He has been in this business of erecting cold storage plants ever since the first machine for one was received in Chicago from Berlin, the capital of Germany. That was thirty years ago, and he is still a young looking and active man. He has made so close and so special a study of this one thing during all these years that he has arrived at the honor of being classed as the leading expert in the business. One of those who when capital desires to reap advantage from his expert knowledge and says: "George, here is a business project; what is your fee for advice?" he is in a position to tell them to write it in four or five figures, all the same as a famous court physician.

Will Be No Smoke Nuisance.

A notable landmark in the beautiful scenery of Seal Cove is this cold storage plant, the main building, huge and windowless, with its overhanging eaves and rafters looking for all the world like an immense adobe mausoleum.

It is somewhat relieved by the lesser buildings, as these have windows, and very much so by the slender graceful smoke-stack, which rises to a height of 152 feet. Not so slender as it looks, however, for its mean internal diameter is five feet. It is constructed of reinforced steel concrete, as are all the rest of the buildings, built on the solid rock and having anchor bolts extending into the surrounding solid rock a depth of six feet.

The managers of the enterprise have glimpsed into the future to a time when the lovely views in this section will lead to every foot being taken up with handsome residences and lawns, and they raised this lofty shaft, which looks like a monolith, to avoid any conflict with the smoke nuisance bylaws the successors of the present aldermen will undoubtedly pass. Not that there can be much, if any, of a nuisance from this particular stack, for one of the most modern of all the modern appliances one sees in the plant is an automatic stoker. The two Babcock & Wilcox improved water tube boilers of 250 horsepower each are fitted with chain grate stokers.

Automatic Stokers.

There is no firehole, so to speak, for the two boilers. Overhead are two hoppers, or bunkers, which discharge the coal direct on the patent grates. The bars form an endless chain going over two drums, and the feed and speed at which these grates move can be regulated and it then works automatically. So there is complete combustion and very little of the fuel goes through the big stack in the form of smoke. The size of this boiler room is 42 by 50 feet.

The main building is 80 by 145 feet and six storeys, with two elevators running to each floor. On the first floor are six freezers, each having a capacity of ten tons per day. There is also a room which is called the glazing room. To this room King Sockeye, after being properly cleaned, is introduced. He is immersed in cold distilled water, which forms a coating of ice and this hermetically seals this dainty fish from contact with the common air and enables it to be delivered in London in as fresh a state as when taken from these waters.

Cold Storage for Rupert.

Three of the large rooms on this floor are set apart for the use of Prince Rupert merchants for the cold storage of meats, vegetables and other perishables. The other five storeys are much of a sameness, with room of different sizes for the storage of sea products and also for the storage of the eggs, butter and other farm products coming in from Alberta and the Bulkley Valley by train loads at a time as soon as the transcontinental railway begins to run through trains regularly. And this will be at no very distant date. It is believed now that this notable event will come to pass early in the autumn of next year. By that time this cold storage plant will be employing five hundred men, to say nothing of the hordes of fishermen. Then there will be an almost endless string of tourists passing through these long, pearly white halls, with their electric light clusters and the beautifully ice encrusted pipes running overhead.

Clear Ice at Low Rates.

Adjoining the main building is the engine room, 50 feet wide by 80 feet long, containing refrigerating machinery of the most modern type and having a capacity of about 150 tons daily. There is also an electric generator, of sufficient capacity to generate all the electricity for lighting and motors the plant can possibly require. On the floor above this engine room is an ice making room with a capacity of fifty tons of merchantable ice daily, and during the coming summer the citizens of Prince Rupert will be furnished with this ice made from distilled water at cheap rates.

Next to the engine building is the machine shops, occupying 50 by 65 feet, in which there is now being installed lathes and other tools, so that the company will be able to make its own repairs to the machinery of the plant as well as to its gasoline and steam vessels and trawlers.

Buying Trawlers in England.

In regard to the latter, by the way, Mr. G. H. Collins, the general manager of the company, who is now in England, has purchased for the company fifteen trawling vessels, 70 feet long by 12 feet beam schooners with gasoline auxiliary. These will cost $60,000 each. But when it comes to figures the machinery and pipe cost $50,000, and by the first of May the whole plant will have run into the large sum, exclusive of boats and seagoing outfit, of $350,000.

For one thing the material used in the construction of the buildings has been of an expensive kind. Mr. Clayton not only declares it to be the most modern in every regard, but the largest plant of its kind on this continent. It has been examined and classed as A1 by the board of underwriters, it being absolutely fireproof throughout. There is no wood used except the window frames in the lesser buildings, all the lintels being of concrete and all the doors of specially prepared iron for cold storage buildings, which are being imported.

Costly Material in Walls.

The outer walls, as before stated, are of reinforced steel concrete, but it is in the interior walls of the cold storage part of the buildings that the great expense comes in. These walls have a plaster finish and there is first a layer of hollow tile about five inches, then five inches of compressed granulated cork, one inch of Watsonite, a composition having mastic as its base, then more cork, a layer of hollow tiles and the plaster. The floors are constructed in practically the same way and throughout the building will stand a pressure of 400 pounds to the foot. This makes the insulation against the air perfect. But the cost! Ten carloads of this hollow tile, costing $1,000 per car, have been used, and twenty-three carloads of the cork at a cost of $26,000.

Means a Big Pay Roll.

Early in May the whole of the works will be in operation and open to public inspection. Its fish storing capacity in the main building will be 13,600,000 pounds, in addition to the cold storage rooms for customers. These cold storage rooms can be run at as low a temperature as 25 below zero, but will be run milder than that to suit the kind of goods stored. It will start with a staff of about thirty men, but in addition there will be the men employed outside, and as soon as

THREE DAY CURE FOR DRINK HABIT

Appeals to the Business and Professional Man, the Banker, and Man in all the Higher Walks of Life

BECAUSE OF THE TIME IT SAVES THEM

When a man's time is worth a great deal more to him than the cost of a drink habit cure he is not going to drag along for twenty-eight to forty-two days taking a treatment when he can get a cure in three days, without hypodermic injections, and be surrounded with every comfort of home.

A PERFECT CURE.

The Neal internal treatment cures the periodical, occasional or moderate drinker and the nervous man who has to drink to keep from becoming nervous. It takes away all inclination to drink, all desire and craving to drink, by neutralizing the poison of alcohol in the system and ridding the blood of the poison by a rapid system of elimination, leaving the drinker in the condition that he was before tasting liquor, so far as the effect of alcohol may be concerned—all appetite for drink gone—and he a new man.

The treatment consists of the internal administration of a harmless remedy, tonic in its action, that removes the craving for liquor in a very few hours.

DRUG HABIT CURED.

At the Vancouver Institute we also treat drug addicts with uniform success. Call, write or phone for booklet, giving full information.

through trains are running the total number of men employed will run to five hundred and over.

Steamers to Vancouver.

The dockage is sufficiently large to conveniently dock and unload a dozen large fishing boats at the same time, the whole water frontage of the dock measuring 400 feet by 140 feet in width. It will no doubt be a busy wharf, for it is rumored that in addition to the fifteen trawlers already purchased the company will have its own freight steamers plying between here and Vancouver and Seattle. Also the total number of men employed will be from one hundred and fifty to two hundred independent boats calling every day. It will also establish offices at other ports, and at Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Boston, New York, London and Hongkong.

So you see that this first industry, of which so little has been heard and to which so little consideration has been given, is really worthy of high commendation and is an enterprise of which Prince Rupert may be justly proud.

CITY FINANCES ARE DISPUTED

Retiring Mayor of Everett and New Mayor Differ as to Cash in Hand—Does the Story "Knock" the Town?

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
 Everett, Jan. 27.—R. H. Hartley, whose term as mayor expired the first of the year, maintains that when he stepped from office he turned over to his successor $17,806 after all bills for the year had been paid.
 Mayor R. B. Hassell makes a financial statement in which he explains that the outgoing administration left exactly $229.25 that could be used for the maintenance of administrative departments. He does not intend to imply that the remainder of the cash mentioned by Mr. Hartley is not on hand, but the two take issue regarding legal authority for utilizing the money. Mayor Hassell contending that aside from the $229.25 referred to there is no money available for maintenance, if the law is to be lived up to.
 Mr. Hartley is positive that the $17,806.59 comes under the head of general funds and may be expended for any purpose that represents an emergency.

PUBLIC GUARANTEE.

That most beautiful picture entitled "Home Again," has brought such an enormous amount of new subscriptions to the Family Herald and Weekly Star that the publishers are finding it impossible to keep up with the filling of orders, but in the columns of that paper this week we notice a positive guarantee from the publishers that every subscriber to that great weekly for 1912 will receive a copy of the picture, "Home Again." Their guarantee is so full and subscribers need not feel anxious although the picture may be delayed a few weeks. Those who have not yet subscribed to the Family Herald and Weekly Star should do so at once and make sure of having a copy of the picture, "Home Again." We learn that the publishers are contemplating something for next season that will make this picture even more valuable than at present. One dollar pays for a full year's subscription to the paper, and the picture. 1t
