WELCOME BRITISH NAVY.

A hearty welcome is extended to H. M. S. York which equipment would be peculiar in Bersteamed into the harbor last evening and will be here muda, but the situation was cleared until Tuesday. While Prince Rupert people are always up when it was learned they were pleased to see the ships of His Majorty's Majorty's No. pleased to see the ships of His Majesty's Navy in port international skiing contest. they are particularly pleased on this occasion to welcome the flagship of the West Indies Squadron and the viceadmiral.

The British Navy stands for safety. Canada has no which was to have been held yes- on completion of her maiden voy navy, only a few police boats. Among unique features of the has already been pointed out by writers on defence, contest is being held. Prince Rupert would make a splendid base for an enemy country. Its harbor, not yet defended, could be taken without difficulty. Happily the minister of defence is Man in the Moon alive to the situation and he laid plans for the defence of the port and the work is now in hand, although not proceeding very rapidly.

WHAT ABOUT EUROPE?

While we have become used to the situation in Europe! and it sometimes seems that the danger has blown over in that quarter, we are bound to realize that there are look in a blue suit and whether he ship. Then Mussolini is not quite as friendly since he failed to get the British to enter into a pact without Italian withdrawal from Spain and Italian newspapers have become critical of British policy while the Arabs, evidently acting under encouragement from Italy, have started trouble once more in Palestine.

The situation has not changed greatly of late but there is nothing to indicate that the dictators have given up the idea of expansion. Just as soon as there is restlessness! on the part of the people of either of those countries, some attempt will be made to divert their attention by an international move.

We mention these things, when they must be apparent if Britain, United States and France to all, for the purpose of once more drawing attention to quit selling them munitions and circulation. Every resident of the city or district should back up the minister of defence and demand from the Prime Minister that we be given reasonable protection in case of war.

We have said nothing of the need of protection from countries on the other side of the Pacific. Japan and China evidently have their hands full just now but we never can tell when the conflagration may spread.
