SKIDEGATE, Oct. 18. — A large man-eating shark that has been hanging around Skidegate bar for the past two weeks ran amok Thursday among the trollers engaged there, stripped all the trolling gear from the troller Chummey, then, attacking the troller Icelander, it cleaned all the lines off that boat and then made a rush at the boat itself. Captain Eyolfsen put on all speed for the harbor and no more was seen of the big fish.

Mrs. Keith Miller, of England, lower right, is flying one of the Fairchild planes of the "White Fleet."

NO SMELTER LOIS RIVER

Paper Company Wins Out in its Application For Water Rights There

NOW CAMPBELL RIVER

Expected That Consolidated Will Build Plant on Vancouver Island

VICTORIA, Oct. 19:—The possibility of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's coast smelter being established on Vancouver Island, tributary to Campbell River, emerged clearly before the provincial water board here yesterday when the mining concern abandoned its plan to build a smelter on Lois River near Powell River. This left the Powell River Company assured of control of Lois River, which it desires to use to make power for the large paper plant. The water board will probably grant the Powell River application shortly.

Power of Example Seen In London Window Slashing

LONDON, Oct. 12:—One fool makes many; so does one criminal. As an example of the force of mass-suggestion the recent epidemic of window slashing in London is hard to beat. It began with the scratching of two hundred shop windows in the West End and was undoubtedly the work of a single hand. The damage was reported in the press on the morning of September 16, and on the following day "slashing" as a pastime had spread to the four quarters of London and the suburbs. A day later and its "popularity" had carried it into the provinces, outrages being reported from cities as far apart as Leicester and Exeter. Then, quite as suddenly as it had arisen, the outbreak died down.

A similar epidemic, but political in origin, occurred in 1921. The only possible explanation that will account for an orgy of destruction running into some thousands of pounds and pursued without object over so widespread an area is the sheer power of evil example.

LABOR HAS ITS WORRY

Commissioner of Works Lansbury Finds Many Job Hunters in England

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS

Surf Bathing in Hyde Park and Mixed Bathing in Serpentine Planned

LONDON, England, Oct. 19:—"People seem to think I have hundreds of jobs to give away," declared Hon. George Lansbury, first commissioner of works. "They seem to think I am a great-hearted sort of fellow, who, now I have found a job myself, can find a job for them as well. That is not the way things are done at the office of works. It is a good thing, too, because, otherwise it would lead to a good deal of favoritism."

George Lansbury was addressing an audience of women at Bromley, which forms part of the vast east-end of London which he knows so well; where he has lived so long. Just now he is busy going all over the parks and other open spaces which belong to the crown, and for the care of which he is therefore responsible, to see how their amenities may be extended. He is talking of introducing sun bathing at Hyde Park, and mixed bathing in the Serpentine. It was the earlier Labor Government which was responsible for removal of the ban upon taxis being driven through Hyde Park. Previously the park roads could only be used by private carriages.

In some ways Mr. Lansbury is the most interesting inclusion in the present cabinet. His fierce independence, his impetuosity, and his plain manner of speech seemed to render it impossible that he could ever become a minister of the crown. But those who really know him are aware that a gentle, kindly spirit lies behind his plainness of utterance. Like many other man of the "say what I mean type" he is himself most sensitive to criticism. His devotion to the Church of England is considerable, and at Church Congresses he used often to keep a gathering of gaitered bishops and other dignitaries closely interested. He was at one time editor of the Daily Herald, and had an uneasy year once as chairman of the Labor Party.

The Privy Council Decision Giving Women Right To Sit In Senate of Canada Subject Favorable Comment

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The Daily Chronicle says the decision of the Privy Council that Canadian women are eligible for appointment to the senate is expected to have a bearing on the membership of the House of Lords. "Not many years ago British women who were peers in their own right tried to get the same admission as Canadian women now have but were refused it. How long will it be before the House of Lords have sense to see and reverse that decision?" the Chronicle says.

The decision of the privy council was the chief topic of discussion here yesterday among members of both houses of parliament. Comment on the whole was favorable and general satisfaction was expressed by members of the government that the question had been settled.

Subterannean Lake in Mountain Yorkshire, Eng.

LEEDS, England, Oct. 19—A subterranean lake of unknown depth has been discovered in the heart of Ingleborough mountain, Yorkshire, one of the highest peaks in the Pennine range. It lies 600 feet below the surface and is 300 yards long. So far it has been impossible to find its depth. Plumb lines have been dropped from a raft, but none of them have touched bottom. The underground stream which runs into the lake continues along a wonderful canyon, finally cascading over a rock and disappearing to a still lower level. The canyon itself is one of Nature's wonder houses. It has columns of glittering stalagmites and stalactities formed by trickling water during millions of years. Ingleborough mountain is eight miles northwest of Settle and is 2373 feet high. Its base is 30 miles in circuit and on the summit are traces of an ancient camp.

They wrote finis to the baseball career of Ty Cobb when he quit playing ball this spring and toddied off to Europe on his first vacation in 25 years," writes Andy Lytle in the Vancouver Sun. Now he's back looking for a baseball berth, and writing syndicated stories for the papers with the alert and rich Christy Walsh at his shoulder blades to see that Cobb hits as he shoud in the literary league. After the series, Cobb will take his better than a million fortune along and pick out a managerial-ownership proposition for himself in one of the major leagues. He's keen to be into the game again, this time via the front office.When he does, don't think he'll start burning up the club's money. Cobb doesn't do that. He wouldn't be "among our millionaires" today if he had. But don't count him out of baseball yet. Cobb is not the kind of a guy who will sit back, nurse his million and listen to his arteries hardening.

Cobb has always kept himself fit. He still looks the athlete and, while admitting his son can beat him at tennis and his daughter at riding, he can beat either one of them to first base yet. He hasn't eaten one hundred lunches in 25 years. Two meals only. Morning and evening feeds. Not too much either. Plays golf and never uses a wooden club. Gets great distance off the tee just the same. His blond hair is thinning rapidly. But that steely glint is still in the incomparable eyes that made him the batting sensation of the American league for years.

Ed Dunning was at the door.

Dots and Dashes Used At Ottawa In Place of Phone

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—A unique system of inter-office communication is in operation at headquarter offices here of the radio branch of the department of marine and fisheries.

In the branch there are seven divisions and in each of these there is at least one qualified telegraph operator. In all, there are 15 officials of the branch who can receive and send messages via the "ticker," and to save a large amount of travelling back and forth from the offices of the director of radio, Commander C. P. Edwards, his office has been connected with each of the seven divisional offices by telegraph wires.

On the director's desk there is an ordinary telegraph key fitted with seven switches, each one of which connects the key with one of the seven divisions. Instead of pushing a button requesting the attendance at his office of one of his officials, the director simply makes known his wants by way of dots and dashes.

OFF YEAR IN LUMBER

Partial Failure of Prairie Market Cause of Loss; Less Winter Logging Contemplated

PRINCE GEORGE, Oct. 19.—The year 1929 bids fair to be a record off-year for the lumbering industry in Fort George district, despite the fact that it opened with great promise and was booming until about July 1, when uncertainties in connection with the prairies wheat crop seriously disrupted it. As the wheat outlook became more discouraging, the lumber market situation gradually became worse. Even a cut in prices failed to move it and the mills were forced to accumulate large stocks in their yards. There has been a slight improvement in the situation during recent weeks, however, and stocks have been moving again.

About one-half of the mills in Fort George district have completed their sawing for the year and have closed down everything but the planing and shipping end. These plants include the Dewey mill at Dewey; Willow River mill; Al Johnson Co. at Hansard; the Bend Lumber Co. at Bend; Burke Lumber Co. at Loos, and Newlands Co. at Newlands.

Mills still cutting lumber include the Alexander mill at Prince George, Eagle Spruce of Giscome, Gale & Trick of Aleza Lake, Sinclair Spruce at Sinclair Mills, Longworth Co. of Longworth, Vick Bros. of Penny, F. G. Thrasher of Snowshoe, Etter & McDougall of Shere and Austin Co. of Prince George.

Prospects are not very bright for bush work during the coming winter. It is understood that the Giscome company will take out a large quantity of logs, but most of the other companies contemplate curtailing their logging operations during the winter. Several of them are favorably situated for summer logging.

The Daily News has often mentioned the fine apples grown in Terrace and has felt sure it was right. Now it knows. Yesterday a fine box of huge apples of the gravenstein and wealthy varieties, arrived at the office from a Terrace grower and the staff enjoyed them. The difficulty was they were so large that a whole apple was more than a meal. They were of excellent color and flavor and made it quite clear to all who tested them exactly why it is that Terrace fruit is popular.

BRITANNIA EXECUTIVES ALICE ARM

Future Activities Said To Depend On Result of Their Inspection

ALICE ARM, Oct. 19:—W. J. Quigley, president of the Britannia Mining & Smelting Co., is paying a visit of inspection this week to the Toric mines and other properties which his company has under option in the Alice Arm camp. He is accompanied by C. P. Browning, general mines manager for British Columbia; J. Breman of their exploration department; and O. R. Whittaker, consulting mining engineer, of Denver, Colorado. While here the party will make an examination and inspection of the Toric mines and of the Dolly Varden and Wolf propetries of the old Dolly Varden Mines Co.

The Toric mines is held under option which the Britannia Co. entered into with the shareholders of the old Toric Mines Co. early this year. Since taking option the Britannia people have carried on active exploration and development work on this property both by diamond drilling and by drifting on the ore body. Some thirty men have been employed all the season and still continues.

The option on the Dolly Varden and Wolf properties of the old Dolly Varden Mines Co. was obtained from the Victor Spencer interests of Vancouver, who control these properties. The Britannia Co. have had a diamond drill on the Wolf property for some time, chiefly for the purpose of sampling the ore bodies which are exposed and massive. No work has yet been done on the Dolly ground.

The present visit of Mr. Quigley and party to the camp is looked upon as having great importance as relates to the future of the camp. Should this visit result in the Britannia Co. exercising their option on the Dolly Varden and Wolf properties, it would forecast the building of a large mining and milling plant and the listing of another big producing mine on the north coast.

Salvation Army Officers From Winnipeg Here

Lieut. Col. G. M. Peacock of Winnipeg, chief secretary of the Salvation Army for Canada West, and Mrs. Peacock conducted a special meeting last night in the local citadel. There was a large gathering and the addresses of Col. and Mrs. Peacock were listened to with much interest. Envoy and Mrs. Clifton of Metlakatla sang duets and Mrs. Joyce also spoke.

Col. and Mrs. Peacock sailed on the Princess Alice this afternoon for Alaska and will visit Juneau, Petersburg, Wrangell and Ketchikan, before returning here in about two weeks' time. After spending a few days here they will proceed to Glen Vowell and then to Vancouver.

Fished Halibut From Mother Ship Greenland Coast

KETCHIKAN, Oct. 19:—Constantly mounting success attending the pelagic halibut fishery conducted by a Norwegian company in Davis Strait on the west coast of Greenland; the possibility that the methods developed there may find application in the Pacific industry; and the recent visit to western halibut ports of Captain Engveld Baldersheim, primary exponent of the Greenland fishery, make the recent North Atlantic development one of real interest to operators in the North Pacific.

Captain Baldersheim is a resident of Bergen, Norway, who some years ago sensed the possibilities of exploiting the Greenland halibut fishery, long known but never fully utilized. Convinced that previous failures were traceable to faulty equipment and methods, Captain Baldersheim decided operations must be conducted from dories or small boats carried by a mother ship.

This plan was followed out in 1924, and has been continued ever since, although experience showed the necessity of larger mother ships it was not until 1928, when he employed a 10,000-ton vessel, that the pioneer in this field felt full success was attained.

The 10,000-ton "Arctic Queen" was then secured and in 1928 she operated with the "Helder," the latter carrying 250 men with that personnel doubled aboard the larger ship. The two steamers carried 65 dories, although only 56 were used in fishing. In addition, there was a scout boat and two express boats used to maintain a weekly delivery service to England. Four thousand tons of halibut were secured and 300 tons additional were thrown away, while over 800 tons of cod were salted. The average weight of the halibut taken in the Davis Strait operations was around 40 pounds.

It will be seen that the expeditions operate on a very large scale. Lines purchased and used in the expedition of 1928 would exceed the distance from Norway to West Greenland. The weight of bait used on the lines came to about 50 tons a day, and several of the dories had catches of more than 100 tons to the boat, during the season, while several times this weight of other fish were taken and thrown away because it could not be used.

Experience has shown that the halibut in Davis Strait are not to be found in water shallower than 200 fathoms before the middle of June, while in 1928 the early June fishing was all found in about 400 fathoms of water. As the summer advanced the fish moved closer inshore and are taken normally in about 70 fathoms.

Application to Pacific Coast

It is understood that Captain Bladersheim was looking into the possibility of extending his system to the Pacific. While he made no statement of his conclusions in that connection, those familiar with conditions here consider the practicability of such methods on any of the known banks very doubtful, owing to the limited number of fish now available. It would seem that such an outfit could operate in nearly any part of the world, but would not succeed unless halibut were plentiful—as they were in early days on some of the best Pacific banks, and appear to be now in Davis Strait.

Campaign of Prince Rupert News Is Having Some Effect

As an indication that the paign being carried on by the News and others is reaching of the points aimed at, the ing is from the Financial Toronto:

The Hudson Bay line through a great deal of that is unproductive and cept for the mines," the Prince Rupert News. But an apologetic afterthought cept for the mines?" A ing development in itself ify a railroad. Mining alone have made the T. & N. O while.

The Prince Rupert News that the Peace River outlet Pacific coast would reduce of rail transportation to the in Peace River. Possibly The Post believes the outlet be built in time. E. W. Beatident of the C.P.R., has surance of this. But it be at the moment branch lines Northern Alberta Railways ahead of a Pacific coast ou Peace River need. The fact pays more to haul his grain way than to ship it from Fort William or Edmonton.

Branch lines should con and the Pacific coast outlet as the railway builders ca upon the route and the ins of the project.

The Public Has a Short Memory

In 1904 Pyle's Pearline was favorably known to most North American housewives. That year the owners spent $500,000 in advertising it. It was an outstanding success.

Three years later the owners felt it was so well known that they could afford to save that $500,000 a year. They ceased to advertise.

Eight years later, in 1915, the whole works, good will and all, was sold for $12,000. The public has a short memory.

A short time ago the writer was told by a member of the advertising department of one of the largest soap manufacturers that, according to their surveys, a manufacturer of a new brand of toilet soap today could not attain national distribution and consumption of his product for less than five million dollars or in less than five years' time. The public must be told—and told again.

Probably no advertising appropriation has received more publicity or been discussed more than that of the American Tobacco Company for advertising Lucky Strike cigarettes.

For advertising this single commodity and brand they appropriated $12,300,000 for the year 1929. Of this amount daily newspapers are receiving the greater share. The public must be constantly reminded, which is a newspaper's function.

What holds true of Lucky Strike holds true of everything people eat, wear or use. It is the function of the newspaper to tell this story. In most communities there are a lot of merchants who haven't learned yet what their newspaper can really do for them. — Wroe's Writings.

The Prince Rupert Daily News, which goes into 95 per cent of the homes in the city and covers the surrounding district as well, is the one medium through which to tell the world that you're still in business.

THE PUBLIC HAS A SHORT MEMORY. THE PUBLIC MUST BE TOLD—AND TOLD AGAIN. THE PUBLIC MUST BE CONSTANTLY REMINDED. IT'S TRUE, TOO !

BANQUET IS SUCCESSFUL

Canadian National Recreation League Holds First Event of Its Kind

CUPS PRESENTED

Speeches and Entertainment Features Proved Enjoyable at Boston Hall

"A great success" was the general verdict of the first annual banquet of the Canadian National Recreation League given in Boston Hall last night with Alonzo Haines, president of the association, in the chair, and with a list of speakers and entertainment numbers that carried along until 11 o'clock. Everything went well. The seats were all filled, the supper was an excellent one, the speeches were brief and to the point, and the musical numbers were well rendered and much enjoyed. A feature of the evening was the presentation of cups to the sports winners. Among the invited guests were Mrs. McMordie, Acting Mayor and Mrs. Collart, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Dawson and members of the press. Following was the program:

"O Canada"; toast, "The King"; song, M. Blott; toast, Canadian National Railways, responded to by F. G. Dawson; song, Mrs. Teng; toast, Our City, responded to by Acting Mayor Collart; song, H. Plommer; monologue, Wilfrid Jackson; presentation of cups, C. N. R. softball cup by R. F. McNaughton; exhibition softball cup by Ald. A. J. Prudhomme; C. N. R. horseshoe cup by Harold McEwen; song, Mrs. James Waugh; humorous song, R. James; toast, Canadian National Recreation Association, responded to by W. H. Tobey; song, J. A. Teng; toast, Our Guests, responded to by Ald. A. J. Prudhomme; song, H. Lincoln.

The Speeches

Mr. Haines explained that this was the first year the C. N. employees had been a united body for recreation purposes. They had completed a successful season and he thought had laid the foundation for greater things to come. He proposed the toast to the Canadian National.

F. G. Dawson spoke with pride of their railway system as the largest railway system in the world and their president was the largest both physically and mentally. He was a man they all thought a lot of. He believed all there were loyal to the president, who had made the system what it was. The president was a great outdoor man and had done a lot toward the upbuilding of the recreation league. He thought it a great thing to have such a league. He had attended a similar event in Montreal, where 1600 people sat down together.

By encouraging sports the railway officials felt that they were building up the spirit of loyalty which was a great benefit. The president was keen to have all built up physically in order that they might give better service. There was only one mouthpiece for the C.N.R. and that was Sir Henry. Making announcements was left entirely to him, so he, the speaker, would not tell them what the C. N. proposed to do. He thanked them for the opportunity of attending the banquet and said if their plans for the railway succeeded the numbers should be two or three times that present at such an event in the next few years.

In responding to the toast of "Our City," Acting Mayor Collart urged that all take an active interest in the Peace River to Prince Rupert movement. When he saw the success of this large recreation organization, he also felt that larger organization to back up the movement to connect Prince Rupert with the Peace River should succeed.

The acting mayor spoke of the benefits of such a league as that represented there.

Cups Presented

In presenting the first cup donated by President Haines to the winners of the softball league as a perpetual challenge, R. F. McNaughton extended congratulations to the officers of the league on the success which had attended their efforts. So far he had not taken part in any of the sports but if the bowling green was a success he planned to do so next season and the passenger department would enter a team.

Mr. Horton in accepting the cup on behalf of the winning team expressed the hope that they would succeed again next year.

Alderman Prudhomme, president of the Exhibition Association, presented the Exhibition Cup to the winners of the series played during exhibition week and thanked the league for their able assistance.

Albert Palmer accepted on behalf of the Number Two C. N. team.

The horseshoe pitching cup, presented by Mr. Ainsley, was presented by Mr. McEwen who spoke of the friendly rivalry that existed in the games. While the club was new it had already made great progress and there was a good program for the season. He mentioned the sportsmanlike manner in which the contests had been carried out.

In receiving the cup, Mr. Mayer thanked the donors and hoped all had enjoyed the games as much as he and Mr. Horton, the winners, had done.

Mr. Tobey Speaks

W. H. Tobey, responding on behalf of the C. N. Recreation League, following a toast to that organization, expressed the opinion that all should congratulate the league on the work done during the past season. This winter they had badminton and in 1930 they expected to have bowling.

Recreation the superintendent said, was extremely beneficial, mentally, morally and physically. It made better men and women. It converted sluggish blood into good red blood and changed the flabby flesh to hard muscle. It made for more efficiency in their daily duties. Also it was an advantage to get together and thus get to know each other better. It warranted the expense the company was put to and he considered it well worth while. It gave him great pleasure to respond to this toast.

In responding to the toast to "Our Guests," Alderman Prudhomme spoke of sports in a city such as this, especially of winter sports. There was a movement on hand to erect a gymnasium. He felt sure this would have the hearty co-operation of the league. Another thing they wanted to have was better grounds for games. With the co-operation of all he felt sure it would be only a short time before they got this. He alluded to a piece of land southeast of McBride and Ninth. If they did not already have title to it, he felt sure they would have it soon.

The program closed with the president thanking the speakers and entertainers for their efforts and the guests for their presence.
