Possibility of Trouble Over Election of Pope—Magazine Says Vatican Might Come To Quebec

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 21:—Having just arrived from the United States, Cardinal G. W. Mundelein of Chicago and Cardinal D. J. Dougherty of Philadelphia took part Sunday in the second of a series of masses to be held by the Sacred College of Cardinals prior to the election of a new Pope to succeed Pius XI. There are indications that the Cardinals may fall into two groups in connection with the election of a Pope over the issue of sympathy with the nations of democracy or totalitarianism.

There is a possibility in case of trouble in Italy that the Vatican may move to Quebec, according to Matt O'Connell, writing in last week's Ken. It is pointed out in the article that there would be no freedom for the Pope in any part of Europe if Europe was at war. The safest place and in a province almost wholly Catholic would be the French Canadian province. From it he could send out messages to any part of the world and would be among people who are a live and growing force. In Canada he would be unhampered by restrictions.

The writer of the article states that all arrangements had been made for the transfer in case of need and it suggests that Cardinal Villeneuve had something to do with making the plans. Since the article was written the Pope has passed away.

TRADE IS NECESSITY

Roosevelt Boomed And Hitler And Mussolini Cheered Last Eve At Rough New York Meet

NEW YORK, February 21: (CP)—There were disorders both inside and outside Madison Square Garden last night in connection with a meeting of the German-American Bund, an organization which supports Nazi principles. When the president, Fritz Kuhn, rose to speak, a black-haired man, later identified as a hotel worker, jumped on to the platform and endeavored to stop him. Before the man could be removed, his clothes were practically torn to shreds and he was badly beaten. His name was Isadore Greenbaum.

Outside on the streets, the police, 1500 strong, had some difficulty in keeping anti-Nazi demonstrators within bounds and had to use their clubs and make thirteen arrests in doing so.

It is estimated that 20,000 persons attended the meeting and that there were 100,000 outside on the street including the anti-Nazis as well as curious on-lookers.

During the meeting, which largely took the form of a rally against Jews and Communists, the names of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and other American leaders were booed. Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini were cheered.

The demonstration, which filled the Garden and was held under the swastika, denounced international Jewry, some members of the United States cabinet and any alliance with European democracies by the United States.

MEASURE IS READY

Dominion Government to Check up on Unemployment Insurance Plan—Neill Urges Action

OTTAWA, Feb. 21: (CP)—The federal government has a national contributory unemployment measure ready for introduction but it will not be proceeded with until its constitutional authority has been definitely established, Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, told the House of Commons last night.

Mr. Rogers rejected as uneconomic and unfeasible a suggestion of A. W. Neill, independent member for Comox-Alberni, that Canada adopt a measure of contributory unemployment insurance similar to the Social Security Act of the United States which would permit voluntary entrance of the provinces into such a scheme if they so desired. Mr. Neill urged that there be enactment of such a system without delay.

Quebec, New Brunswick and Alberta have so far refused to cooperate with the Dominion government on unemployment insurance.

LAUNCH OF BATTLESHIP

Everything Goes Off Smoothly Today at Newcastle With King George Officiating

NEWCASTLE, Eng., Feb. 21: (CP)—The great new British battleship King George V, first to be built by Britain in thirteen years, was safely launched this afternoon in the Tyne River here by His Majesty, King George VI. Everything went off smoothly and no untoward incident, mechanical or otherwise, marred the launch. The King's speech was brief and the grey craft slipped slowly and quietly into the river to be picked up by tugs and moored alongside the jetty where she will be completed. There were special honors for Foreman Carpenter Hunt and Foreman Rivetter Kelly in recognition of long service with the builders.

The King George V is the first of a new group of monster vessels totalling at least nine.

INCIDENT LEADS TO VIGOROUS PROTEST AND DEMAND FOR COMPLETE EXPLANATION AND COMPENSATION

Attack Is Believed To Have Been Deliberate

ASSASSINATION OF FOREIGN MINISTER OF PUPPET NANKING REFORM GOVERNMENT MAY LEAD TO FURTHER TROUBLE IN SHANGHAI

HONG KONG, February 21: (CP)—Japanese war planes flew across the border today and bombed a railway station in Hong Kong not far from the British colony. A British Indian policeman was killed and a dozen other persons wounded. A railway car was demolished. Another bomb fell on a British blockhouse, killing an Indian and several Chinese.

It marks the first occasion on which such an incident has occurred in Hong Kong to which the Japanese for some time have approached closely in their attacks to prevent movement of supplies into south central China. The incident will be the subject of a vigorous protest and demand for full explanation and compensation, the British government having already instructed its ambassador to Japan to make the strongest protest.

British here think the aerial attack was deliberate.

TROUBLE AT SHANGHAI

Even closer relations with Germany and Italy are expected to be the result.

Meantime negotiations in regard to a truce in the Spanish civil war are at a standstill following Franco's latest edict insisting on unconditional surrender of the loyalists or complete military conquest. There is talk of another peace conference on Wednesday.

CANADA'S POSITION

Judging from various statements that have been issued from Ottawa it seems that there is no doubt of the assumption that when the British Empire is at war, Canada will be at war. The only difference of opinion is as to the extent to which Canada would be willing to participate and how.

It has been stated more or less officially that the policy of the present government, in the event of war being declared, would be to back up the Empire to the fullest possible extent without Canadians being compelled to take part in any overseas fighting. The country would be placed upon a war basis and the people would be asked to use their best endeavours to supply the fighters with food, ammunition and arms. This more or less passive attitude would be out of deference to the French-Canadian demands. No political party leaders have so far taken any other attitude than this.

We suggest then that we take a glance at the other side of the picture. Suppose war started tomorrow. There would at once be demands upon the government of the day, no matter what its political complexion, to have it facilitate the sending of troops to the scene of warfare. Officers of services would be made and, undoubtedly, in some way or another, men would be recruited to take part in the actual fighting. Loyal Canadians would not be content to remain at home while their fellow Britishers were fighting the battles of the Empire. We take it that, while the government might not at first take the initiative, there would be a more or less general movement of men to join the colors either in Canada or overseas. Feeling runs high at such times and political pressure would be strong from all parties.

Young Canadians are being enlisted in Canada solely to defend Canada. That is right and correct and we do not think any government would try to force any one into going overseas. At the same time we do not think that any steps would be taken to prevent them going and they would undoubtedly go. There would be no conscription but there would be a burst of enthusiasm for the general defence of the empire.

CHURCH AND STATE

Discussing the attitude of the French-Canadian toward the British Empire, Elmore Philpott, in the Victoria evening paper, concludes with a couple of paragraphs in regard to the position of the Catholic Church. His words are:

"In the long run the Fascist governments and the Catholic Church are sure to find themselves in direct conflict. The basic philosophy of the Fascist movement is the totalitarian state. There can be no true totalitarian state if within the state there exists any institution which has the right to independent doctrines and free expression. Hitler was bound to fight both Protestant and Catholic churches for the simple reason that he could not put over his propaganda on the masses as long as there were powerful forums giving voice to contrary lines of thought.

Under Fascism the only way that any church could save itself from ultimate destruction by the government would be to sell out to that government. In other words, if a church were willing to make itself the out-and-out servant of the Fascist movement, then it might be tolerated and survive for a time. But the Catholic Church is not in a position to make any such infamous deal—even if it were possible to find leaders of a character to do so. With its world-wide membership, and its increasing relative strength in the democratic countries, a Fascist-Catholic union would certainly create for the Catholic Church no less acute problems than those solved temporarily by the union."

OPENING AT ALERT BAY

New Tuberculosis Preventorium for Natives Scene of Ceremony Today

ALERT BAY, Feb. 21.—Indicative of the determination of the Indian Department to really get to grips with the problem of tuberculosis among the natives, a tuberculosis preventorium is being opened today at St. Michael's School Alert Bay. This building is unique in that it has been constructed by the Indian boys themselves as a manual training project. Twelve lads, aged from 14 to 16 years, under the expert instruction of a paid foreman, started the work last October and, in spite of adverse weather conditions, are seeing their task brought to completion today with the building being officially opened by Rev. Dr. T. B. R. Westgate, executive secretary of the Indian School Commission of the Anglican Church in Canada, and Dr. A. L. McQuarrie, medical director for British Columbia of the Indian Department.

Built from plans prepared in the manual training department of the school, the building is 56 feet long by 30 feet deep with basement and has been built in conformity with provincial building regulations. All electrical work is in conduit and the unit is heated with a large hot air furnace. There are two large wards, each with its own bathroom facilities; a common room and dining room, classroom, a large kitchen on concrete foundations and a staff suite of three rooms. Present accommodation will take care of fourteen patients, most of whom will be admitted at once. The unit is capable of expansion by adding two wings, making a final capacity of 32 beds.

Only suspects and incipient cases will be admitted to this unit and it is hoped that the work will result in practically all of them being able to return to their reserves free of tuberculosis. Open cases of the disease will be hospitalized in different units in Vancouver and in the coast and other hospitals. The preventorium will work on the theory that it is better to prevent than cure open infection by tuberculosis in the Indian children and young people.

When it is realized that fifty per cent of the 823 Indian deaths in the last year of which there is definite record, 1937, were of natives under 20 years of age, the need for strong preventative measures is very obvious.

A very pleasing feature of the opening of the preventorium at Alert Bay is the presentation of the very latest quartz light machine which had been purchased by gifts received from nearly 400 graduates and other Indian friends of the school.

Anfield in Charge
The preventorium will be administered by Principal F. E. Anfield of St. Michael's School and active control will be in the hands of Miss Marjorie Chennells R.N., graduate of the Vancouver General Hospital, who has been appointed matron. She will be assisted by Miss D. Muir, a Women's Auxiliary missionary, and a general assistant to be appointed later. The older girls of the school will receive practical training as ward maids, giving them a greater chance to be of practical use in home nursing when they later return to their own villages.

All the dressing gowns, rugs and mats, rawhide moccasins and much of the linen, as well as the furniture will be the product of the home economics and manual training departments of the school. F. S. Sharpe was foreman of construction and F. S. Hutchison, the school manual training instructor, also took active part. The boys forming the construction crew were Charlie Brown of Bella Bella, Benny Alfred and Alfred Cook of the Nimpkish at Alert Bay, Hector Gurney and Clarence Barton, Nishgas from Kinkoolith, Sidney Eli of Git-

USE OF SKI CLUB CABIN

Editor, Daily News:
The Sons of Norway Ski Club have a nice little cabin near the summit of Mount Oldfield and everyone, young and old, has been made welcome there to get warm and dry and to rest. We like you to call and, if you passed by the cabin without coming in, we would feel hurt about it. It is a thing we Norwegians can't help, be it friend or enemy you'll be made as comfortable as circumstances allow so come up and see us sometime! If there should be no members present and if you find the cabin open make yourselves at home but please leave the cabin as you found it and you can come as often as you like.

There have been times when the cabin was made use of and been left in a terrible mess. One instance occurred lately. We found one of the windows broken, the stove pipe lying in pieces on the floor, most of the wood burned up and none replaced. In fact a mild form of cyclone could not have done much more damage. Perhaps this was children and, if so, we are requesting parents who have boys big enough to climb Mount Oldfield to ask them to please leave the cabin clean and not do any damage. If it was adults, then please have the decency to recognize the unwritten law of the north regarding cabins. Thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable time and space.

MUCH SNOW IN CANADA

British Columbia Only Part Dominion With Agreeable Weather—Worst On Prairies

WINNIPEG, Feb. 21. (CP)—contrast to balmy spring-like weather in British Columbia, one of the most severe blizzards of winter visited the prairie provinces from end to end yesterday. There were at least two days from exposure, one a short distance north of Winnipeg and another an Indian fifteen miles from North Battleford.

There was also heavy snow in Ontario and Quebec. Cold weather checked floods which had assumed rather menacing proportions in some parts of Ontario. Roads in both Ontario and Quebec were blocked by snow. A Montreal week-end ski train was held up for eighteen hours in returning to Montreal. At Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis could not find an automobile and went to his office in a truck. Some Quebec newspapers cancelled editions. It was stormy and cold in the Maritimes with heavy rain in Nova Scotia following snowfall on Sunday.

Local Men Make Good Showing In Naval Training at Esquimalt

ESQUIMALT, Feb. 21: (CP)—There's the spatter of gunfire and the whine of bullets as the ricochet from the waves off this Pacific station today. A new naval defence force is nearing the end of its first manoeuvres.

The regular navy has taken a fancy to its new volunteers, a fraction of the huge British Columbia fishing fleet which has come to Esquimalt from as far north as Prince Rupert.

"They're a particularly fine body of men and we are quite satisfied with the way they are shaping up," is the comment of Captain Victor Broeur, R. C. N., senior officer-in-charge here.

"For the short time they have been in training they have done remarkably well."

And from Lieut.-Com. Colin Donald, R. C. N., in charge of the new reserve unit:

"Everybody in the navy is pleased with them. They're taking to their work like ducks to water. It's a pleasure to work with them."

Commander Donald says if the money were available, ten times the number of boats and men here this year could be brought to Esquimalt in future.

"These men are all anxious to return next year and hundreds of their pals want to join them."

Any person required to work half as hard as the ski enthusiasts do on Sunday would go on strike immediately.

Sunday was the first fine day of spring and Jake says the plants in the garden have begun to grow already.

Gardeners are something like old soaks. They can see things that nobody else thinks of looking for.

"What does you father do?" inquired teacher from the little boy. "Anything ma tells him to do" was the quick reply.

When you wind up a clock you want it to go but when you wind up a business it is about to stop.

"This is the tenth time you have been before me," said Magistrate McClymont, severely. "Yess yer honor," smiled the drunk. "When I like a feller I usually give him all my business."

Someone once sent a country editor a bottle of liquor and, shortly after its arrival, he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale which later appeared in type as follows:

"William Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson are to be disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about seventy guests including two milk cows, six mules and one bobbed. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay wire and the bridal left on one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchaser. They will be at home to their friends with one good baby buggy and a few kitchen utensils after date of sale to responsible parties and some fifty chickens."

A German traveller was astonished to find that in Canada there is such an officer of the Crown as the leader of the opposition.

"You mean to say," he ejaculated, "that this man is actually appointed to oppose the government?"

"Yes, he is."

"And he is paid for it?"

"Certainly!"

"Paid for it!" exclaimed the German. "Mein Gott, in my country we would shoot him."

VERY BUSY ON DRESSES

London Holding Her Own As Style Centre—Model House And Ideal Home Shows for April

By MOLLIE McGEE
Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 21: (CP)—Four thousand British beauties will make their curtsies at five courts and a royal presentation party this year and trade figures have already begun to go up.

Caterers are jubilant and dressmakers in a dither for 10 gowns per young woman is the minimum allowance for a season's fun. One court gown can keep four girls busy for three weeks, with embroidery and what not, then cost 150 guineas (about $739). The other end of the scale is the dress made by the family dressmaker costing about $50. There is nothing to be had for less.

Advance styles shown by the big London dressmaking houses follow the lines of about 1895, tight fitted bodice and flat fronted skirt with fullness flowing generously at the back. Favored materials are of the same vintage, moire, brocade, heavy satin and taffeta. Wrist length gloves will have an innings, though not of course, for court wear.

If the royal parties do nothing else, they have been a strong factor in swinging the title of World's Style Centre to London. There it now rests, according to "the Trade." Proof offered is the number of highly-paid fashion spies now arriving to steal ideas for the coming season collections that will be shown in Berlin, Rome, New York and even Paris.

"These fashion spies used to go to Paris," a famous court dressmaker told reporters. "Although we do not like our designs being stolen we are proud that London has now become the world's fashion centre. American women particularly are anxious to wear 'whats new in England.'"

The spies are usually beautifully dressed women who pose as customers. In the luxurious salons of London's court dressmakers they are shown the new season's collection by mannequins. They look at a dozen gowns, buy one, photograph mentally the rest. Then they cable descriptions to fashion houses in the world's big cities and in a few days copies are being sold as far away as Los Angeles and New York. As yet there has been no way found of copy-righting a dress design so that it cannot be duplicated.

Model House

However, while London's designs are going to other countries, ideas from America and Europe are being freely borrowed here. Advance arrangements being made for the Ideal Home Exhibition opening in April, include the building of "All-Europe House," designed by Miss Elizabeth Denby, who had spent years on a research pilgrimage in Europe studying the post-war surge of healthy-economical house-building.

She wrote a book, "Europe Re-housed" on what she discovered. Now, in collaboration with the Council of Art and Industry, she is designing and furnishing a house that combines in practical reality all the best features she found and described in her book.

From Sweden she adopts a principle of "staggering" houses so that each in a row has the maximum privacy and a sun-trap garden on its brightest side. Germany suggested the living-dining-room with cooking recess. Switzerland gave her windows that swing open like casements or fold back completely to give the utmost light and air. France provided the garbage disposal system in which ashes and waste of all kinds go direct into one sewage channel and are carried at once to the destructor. The house, full of surprises for English contractors, will be built at a price not beyond the artisan's outlay.

Another interesting exhibition in the process of assembling for the Ideal Home Show is a series of rooms that are all portrayals of the same room. In other words, each represents the room at a different time in its history.

Lady Annaly, daughter of the Sixth Earl of Spencer and a lover of fine period furniture, is planning the story in five replicas, placing the generations on parade, side by side from 1711 to 1939.

They have chosen for portrayal the drawing of a stately Hamptonstead house, supposed to have been designed by one of Christopher Wren's pupils. The rooms will show the changing tastes in living and entertaining as well as good period furniture.

A number of experts, connoisseurs and well known firms are assisting enthusiastically in providing the authentic furnishings and intimate belongings of the occupants.

Through the drawing-room window, an outside view shows how the Hamptonstead countryside altered generation by generation. The first scene shows an outlook over a fine garden to meadows across which Great-great-great-grandfather rode to the hounds in the days of Queen Anne. Houses creep in, then crowded streets, in the end themselves displaced by service flats.

Another exhibition at the show that will be bound to draw women's attention is "The History of Dress" a pageant in miniature of the evolution of fashion in Britain through 1,500 years, shown in 10 epochs and two special tableaux peopled by more than 200 accurately appraised figures designed and made by a woman expert.

For having stolen lumber from the old Blythe building on Ambrose Avenue, Vernon Leroy Rowe and Nelson Warren were each fined $25, with option of fourteen days' imprisonment, in city police court yesterday afternoon. They are serving the time.

"BOYS TOWN" IS SHOWING

Outstanding Picture, Based on Reality, Is Feature Offering At Capitol Theatre

Really a most colorful, human and exciting real life story, "Boys Town," starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney in the leading roles, comes as the feature offering to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here for the first half of this week. The picture is based on the actual incorporated village of Boys Town near Omaha, Nebraska, the founder and director of which is the noted humanitarian, Father Edward J. Flanagan. Tracy plays the part of Father Flanagan and Mickey Rooney appears as one of the many problem boys.

It was from Father Flanagan's actual files, the records left by his boys, that the rich material for the picture was found. It contains every element of stirring entertainment, drama and comedy, despair and hope, tragedy and happiness. It was Father Flanagan's wish, that the film should be true to the real story of Boys Town. Accordingly, to ensure fidelity, the picture company was sent to Boys Town to film scenes and absorb spirit and atmosphere.

Henry Hull, Leslie Fenton, Gene Reynolds and little Bobs Watson are other important members of the cast.

The picture was previewed yesterday morning by local clergy who registered approval as did large audiences who saw it last night.
