INSIDIOUS ESPIONAGE

Silence Settles Down On Efforts Of France To Thwart Activity

PARIS, July 18.—Silence slowly settles down upon France's sensational spy hunt following the government's threat to prosecute for publication of information dealing with the investigation being pursued throughout France by secret police. It is estimated that the whole continent is more spy conscious than any time since August 1914. The Paris Star gives an indication of the success of the spy hunt by announcing that the special service of the Surete Nationale has arrested more German spies during the first three months of this year than during the whole six years preceding the World War.

So powerful has become the effect of modern propaganda that the authorities find they are working against a new type of "spy" in addition to the traditional type whose job is to obtain military secrets. This new type has been described as "scientific psychological spies" and their double duty is to spread propaganda and, still more important, to send voluminous reports to the homeland on the effect of propaganda in the countries to which they are assigned. That is why the efforts of German intelligence workers to line up men "of confidence" on the staffs of French newspapers were completely snuffed out by French military intelligence officers when Nazi Agent Otto Abetz succeeded in establishing lines into two great Nationalist newspapers which influence French public opinion.

WEST ROUTE IS FAVORED

Northern B.C. and Southern Yukon Favors Route North of Hazelton, Commission Finds

The Canadian Section of the Alaska Highway Commission, headed by Hon. Charles Stewart as chairman and also including J. W. Spencer and Arthur Dixon of Victoria, was in the city again yesterday on the way to Vancouver aboard the steamer Prince George after having been north to hold sessions at Atlin, Whitehorse and Carcross.

All three northern points agreed with Prince Rupert and the western central interior as well as the coast and Alaska in favoring the western route. Much valuable information, members of the commission reported, had been obtained as a result of the northern hearings. In order to cover the three points as expeditiously as possible, use of the airplane from Carcross to Atlin was resorted to by the Commission.

Passing through Prince Rupert with the commission party was J. W. Wardie, federal engineering expert, who had flown north from Hazelton, meeting the commission at Atlin.

The secretary, Mrs. J. L. Montgomery and Dr. John A. Stewart of Victoria were also with the Commission.

ROAD WORK RESUMING

Sum of $10,000 Available for Extension Around Prudhomme Lake—Concentrate on Terrace Gap

With $10,000 available, work on building of the local highway along the shore of Prudhomme Lake will be resumed this week, giving employment to a crew of forty men. It is expected the funds now available will enable close to half a mile of further road being built. It is not the intention to open a road camp but to take the men out daily to the work.

As for the road between Usk and Cedarvale where there is a gap of twenty-six miles, surveys are now being made with a view, evidently, to calling for tenders instead of doing the job by day labor as has been the case in the past.

Provision is also made to continue the program of improvements to the Queen Charlotte City-Port Clements and Massett-Tow Hill roads on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

In the Portland Canal district improvements are being carried out on American, Bitter and Glacier Creeks as mining projects.

"FATHERS" HONORED

Six Day Ceremonies in Charlottetown To Mark Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Confederation Conference

CHARLOTTETOWN, July 18: (CP)—In a simple ceremony seven tablets commemorating the Prince Edward Island Fathers of Confederation were unveiled here yesterday as distinguished speakers of five eastern provinces paid tribute to the men who "budded better than they knew." The province represented included Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario and Quebec.

From different parts of Canada descendants of the Fathers of Confederation are gathered here for the six day ceremonies celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the conference which led ultimately to union of the British provinces of the North American mainland into the Dominion of Canada. The celebration began yesterday.

Federal and provincial government representatives are also here for the occasion.

Bridges Hearing Will Be Lengthy

Deportation Proceedings Will Probably Last Several Months

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18:—With only two witnesses so far called, the Harry Bridges deportation hearing appears likely to run a course of several months. The government indicated it would bring 25 or 30 witnesses to the stand in its attempt to prove that Bridges, waterfront labor leader and West Coast chief of the C. I. O., is a communist and should be deported as an undesirable alien.

CONSCRIPTS' JOBS ARE PROTECTED

Peacetime Calling Up Costs John Bull a Lot of Money

LONDON, July 18: (CP)—Emarking on her first peacetime army conscription since the Middle Ages, Great Britain is busy devising systems to protect the civilian interests of the 20-year olds being called up for compulsory military training.

Details of the government's plans have not been announced but it is understood 200,000 prospective conscripts will be protected against being cut off from their normal employments at completion of their service periods.

The conscripts will be paid the equivalent of at least 35 cents a day during their six months of training. Married men will receive an additional allowance of about $3.90 a week for their wives and separate allowances for children.

War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha has estimated that conscription will cost Great Britain $49,100,000 this year in addition to $141,000,000 to be spent for accommodation and equipment.

Conscripts of Axis The managed economies of Germany and Italy will be less disrupted than Great Britain's by conscription. In the German conscription plan, few men in key positions in armaments will be called up and where they are, employers can take only temporary substitutes. Employers must also contribute to the allowance of reservists called up for training.

Italian manpower for war officially is estimated at 10,000,000 in the standing army and reserves and calling up 350,000 reservists has not pinched the nation's industry, commerce, or agriculture, according to government spokesmen.

Under the Italian system, exemptions enable factories to keep most of their skilled workers. Most ordinary reservists, under Italy's military conscription service, are semi-skilled, or unskilled workmen. Laborers for replacements are plentiful.

Military service means belt-tightening for many families. The government allots a few lire a day to families of reservists called to the colors. Families able to support themselves receive nothing. Poor families get enough government aid to buy food and pay the rent.

In Soviet Russia, where no reservists have yet been called up, no dislocation of economic or personal life has resulted from the European crisis.

Two Hundred Persons Rescued From Vessel In Mid-Pacific Blaze

Only Three Persons on Bokuyo Maru are Unaccounted For—Survivors Were Picked up by Tanker Which Answered "S.O.S." Message

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18: (CP)—The Marine Exchange said today that 209 of 212 persons reported to be aboard the Japanese freighter Bokuyo Maru were rescued shortly before the ship sank in flames 1125 miles east of Yokohama in the Pacific Ocean. No details of the disaster were reported in private message to the Associated Oil Co. from its tanker, the Associated, which picked up the survivors.

The Japanese vessel left San Pedro, California, on July 2 after putting in there when nitrate cargo began smouldering in the forward hold. The freighter sent out "S.O.S." calls for five minutes. Then the signals were cut off, indicating the fire had disabled the radio.

WORLD IS PEACEFUL

No War This Year, 'Tis Freely Predicted in Britain—Wheat Slumps—Stock Market Strong

LONDON, July 18: (CP)—Calm view of the international situation was reflected today in British circles, and one outright forecast was that "there will be no European war involving Great Britain this year."

Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper, the Daily News, predicts "no war this year." Price of wheat, a war commodity, which rises frequently with mounting fears of war, fell to three shillings seven and three-eighths pence.

The peaceful tone of international news caused optimism on New York stock market yesterday where there was a strong wave of buying, making it difficult to keep up with orders. Buyers jumped into action as they have not done for months and issues mounted from one to seven points with a turnover for the day of 1,700,000 shares.

SNOW ON ALBERTA

Heavy Rain Continues In Peace River District Following Drought Hail Does Some Damage

EDMONTON, July 18: (CP)—Heavy rains came at the end of the week to break a drought in the Peace River area of Alberta and British Columbia, continuing yesterday throughout Northern Alberta with hail and even snow in some parts. The hail did some damage to crops in the Grande Prairie and Fairview districts of the Peace River as well as to gardens around Edmonton. Snow was reported from an area 200 miles west of Edmonton but it melted as it struck the ground.

Pioneer Victoria Barrister Passes

Richard T. Elliott K. C. Dies In Capital City At Age Of Sixty-nine

VICTORIA, July 18: (CP)—Richard T. Elliott K. C., prominent barrister of Victoria for many years, passed away yesterday at the age of sixty-nine. His home had been here for sixty-four years. In politics he was a Liberal and once was an unsuccessful election candidate against the late Sir Richard McBride. He was senior member of the firm of Elliott and Maclean.

Mr. Roosevelt declared last week that W.P.A. workers cannot strike against the revision. In Chicago C.I.O. leader John L. Lewis said that his organization would not sponsor a National W.P.A. strike. Lewis said that he agreed with A.F. of L. leaders that the new Relief Law is bad. He said that the C.I.O. fought the Relief Act when it was before Congress, while the A.F. of L. apparently was unaware of the strife it would cause.

Slight Hopes Still Held For Men In Colliery

PROVIDENCE, Kentucky, July 18:—Hope has not yet been entirely given up that nine of the twenty-eight men entombed in the gas-laden galleries of the Duvine mine still are alive. F. V. Ruckman, president of the company, said he believed the nine men may have barricaded themselves from the deadly fumes that swept through the mine after a dust explosion Friday night.

NO CHANGE IN WAGES

Apparently There is to be no W.P.A. Revision

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Works Progress Administration workers have lost all hopes of having Congress revise the 1939 Relief Bill and restore "prevailing wages" for skilled work. Senate opponents of the Security Wake provision have agreed to drop their fight to have the act changed.

Montana's Democratic Senator Murray, leader of the move, said that W.P.A. strikes and the violence that attended them in some cities last week had proved embarrassing. He declared that the strikes had spoiled the cause of the W.P.A. workers in Congress.

At the same time Billings Congressman Sabath indicated that he would withdraw his House Bill to restore the prevailing wage rates. The new Relief Act requires that all workers put in one hundred thirty hours a month for an average wage of about $53.

Murray said that the only hope for revision of the wage scale lay with President Roosevelt. He said that the bill gives the President direct authority to revise the former hours and wage rates.

Mr. Roosevelt declared last week that W.P.A. workers cannot strike against the revision.

In Chicago C.I.O. leader John L. Lewis said that his organization would not sponsor a National W.P.A. strike. Lewis said that he agreed with A.F. of L. leaders that the new Relief Law is bad. He said that the C.I.O. fought the Relief Act when it was before Congress, while the A.F. of L. apparently was unaware of the strife it would cause.

DEMOCRACY AND COMMONWEALTH

Supporters of the Canadian Commonwealth Federation evidently do not like "The New Democracy." The official paper issued by the C.C.F. says: "The C.C.F. does not believe in Mr. Herridge's distinctly undemocratic tactics, not in Mr. Herridge's vague program." They do not seem to think that the policy of everything for everybody without hurting anybody is possible. In fact they speak of it as "the most sinister bid for power in recent Canadian history."

Angus MacInnis M.P. refers to a similar bid for power on the part of a disgruntled Conservative when Hon. H. H. Stevens formed a party. He is back in the Conservative fold, accepting all its implications. Now another disappointed Conservative comes to the fore with a plan for a new political party. He asks for a free Parliament but expects every member of his party to subscribe to its principles and program. He elects himself leader without giving his followers any voice in its policy or leadership. That was similar in method to what took place in the totalitarian states. He concludes by also describing it as "the most sinister bid for power in recent Canadian politics."

NOW THE BRIDGES

People who live in Westview or east of Hays Creek bridge will be glad to have heard that new bridges are to be built to connect their particular districts with the rest of the city. It would have made a very difficult situation if they were unable to get in and out of their homes. It would have been an impossible situation for Westview residents if their bridge had been closed.

Someone suggested that those owning homes in Westview might have been moved to some other part of the city but that would have been just as ridiculous as a proposal to shut down the railway west of Jasper.

The building of these two bridges and the expending of forty thousand dollars in renewal of water mains will help to make things busy in the city this fall.

AT THE FAIR

"Premier Pattullo is back after doing a good job representing Canada at the Dominion Day ceremonies at the San Francisco World's Fair," says the Victoria Times. "Anywhere he goes, Mr. Pattullo can always be counted upon as a worthy representative of our province and our country at large. At San Francisco July 1 was a big day for Canada and Canadians. A contingent of Canada's Mounties was there to give color, but the honors of the occasion fell to British Columbia and its Premier. Victoria played a spectacular part by sending its smart girls' drill team to accompany the Premier. It all resulted in an effort much worth while.

"Belying earlier fears for the success of the fair, the attendance has now picked up and has gone over the 5,000,000 mark, with 700,000 persons having taken in the British Columbia exhibit. Probably that indicates where many of the tourists are this season. Anyhow, the advertising British Columbia is getting there is piling up credits on which we shall cash in later."

SOFTBALL SHUT-OUT

Three Two Takes Lipsett's Into Camp—Grotto vs. Moose Game Is Close

Three Two defeated Lipsett's ten to nothing and Grotto won over Moose 7 to 6 in the Senior Softball League last night.

Andre Letourneau did a good job of pitching for Three Two in registering the shut-out. He was given good assistance by his teammates at the bat and in the field.

One of the nicest catches of the season was that of Albert Mah who picked up a fly near second and sent it to first for a double play.

The Grotto-Moose game was a close affair all the way. Jack Yager pitched for the Grotto and played a steady game. Mike Montezano was good for Grotto in left field and Neil Cameron made a sensational catch for Moose after the ball had caromed out of Pitcher John Schroeder's hand. Dick Speer, catcher for the Moose, had to leave the field when he sprained an ankle.

The league standing to date for the second half of the season:

Zulu Giants, Colored Clowns And Real Baseball Players, Coming To Town This Week

DIAMOND SHOW COMING UP

Dressed and made up to represent their African ancestors of ages ago as they played the sports of the jungles but each one a proficient player of modern baseball, the African Zulu Giants, in the course of a barnstorming tour of Western Canada and the United States, will be in Prince Rupert for a series of games on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. Local baseball fans have been looking forward to the visit of these colored athlete-comedians for some time but, in addition to the baseball aspect of it, the attraction should prove a general one. A local select baseball team, which has been practising of late, will provide the opposition.

This season the Zulu Giants have toured Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Vancouver Island and Southern British Columbia. They have played seventy-three games, winning sixty-one and losing twelve.

The Zulu line-up includes such players as Dea, left fielder, who is considered one of the fastest who tours the west, being able to take his turn at pitching as well as fielding. At first base is the reliable Jokko, known as a real place hitter. At third is the famous Hoos who was for some time sparring partner of Joe Louis, world's heavyweight boxing champion. In centre field when not on the mound is Big Chief Bolo, the all-round star, who stands six feet four inches in height and has a record of hitting fifty-seven home runs in one season. The length of his circuit drives has broken records throughout the United States as well as in such places as Victoria, Vancouver, Kamloops, Medicine Hat and Regina and he also has the distinction of having pitched two no-hit, no-run games. At short is Pistol Arm Penu who gets them from both sides and cuts them up like a bullet. The flashy Jon, who holds down second base, hit four home runs in four times at bat at Port Alberni last year. Lu Luras, known as a double duty man, catches and also takes his turn as a pitcher. At left field is Andu, a fleet-footed utility player. In the right field will be the famous Princee Rosto, who is known throughout the country as the funniest man in baseball. Little Knuceredi is a real curve ball pitcher who pitched a no-hit no run game at Mesa, Oklahoma as well as a twelve inning scoreless game at New Orleans. He can play any position on the ball field. Another pitcher is Hoodoo who is just that for opposing teams.

The team at a glance:

IN SOCIAL SPOTLIGHT

BERLIN, July 18: (CP)—Frau Emmy Goering, wife of Germany's No. 2 Nazi, Field Marshal Herman Goering, has climbed to a notch above her husband. She has emerged as Germany's No. 1 woman—the first hostess of the Reich.

Chancellor Hitler is using the 40-year old former actress more and more as his official hostess. She was particularly in the spotlight recently during the state visit of Prince Regent Paul of Yugoslavia and Princess Olga. Standing beside the bachelor chancellor, Frau Goering received the guests at a state banquet.

At numerous other recent functions she has acted in the same capacity and her success in the role seems to have solved Hitler's social problems to a great extent.

Frau Goering's rise in prominence is said in Nazi circles to have strengthened her husband's position and her example is pointed to as proof of the great asset a wife can be even to one so high in official circles. This is well in line with the Nazi creed that all Germans should marry to raise sons and daughters for the Reich. The former actress is mother of a year-old daughter.

Frau Goering's new task coincides with an interesting development in the life of the third Reich. Chancellor Hitler is entertaining more.

The Reich is having "coming out parties." Many of them are good politics—state visits with an eye to "selling" Germany to some foreign chief of state.

The Fuehrer believes he is providing Germany with talking points the old Germany lacked. Expensive parties are impressive and worth what they cost in the Nazi view. That is why Bellevue Castle, in the heart of Berlin, has been fitted out for the use of Hitler's guests.

The world thinks of the 50-year old chancellor as being at home only when haranguing a cheering crowd. But he is equally at home when receiving. He likes it. His artistic bent keeps him looking after dinner table details. Few other state chiefs take the time to bother about such things.

Hitler frequently upsets protocol—thus driving his foreign office experts to despair—by demanding that such and such a lady be seated beside him, regardless of rank.

In the American League the New York Yankees, seemingly in full winning stride again after their lapse of last week, again trounced the Cleveland Indians with a three to nil shut-out while the second place Boston Bees dropped to seven games behind by absorbing a 13 to 6 drubbing at the hands of the Detroit Tigers.

REPORT IN HIGH FAVOR

Courage of English Peer Gave Basis For Canadian Reforms

TORONTO, July 18: (CP)—Responsible government was not a new doctrine when Lord Durham proposed it for Canada but "there may be as much originality in applying an accepted creed to novel conditions as in inventing a new one," Lord Tweedsmuir writes in an historical review.

The Governor-General's article is one of five commemorating the Durham report which grew out of troubled times in the Canadian colonies and foreshadowed political and administrative reform 100 years ago. Lord Tweedsmuir points out that responsible government had long been accepted British policy. "Durham's achievement lay in the fact that he had the courage to give it a wider application to shake off the dead hand of colonial office paternalism and to trust the Canadian people."

Prof. Chester New, outlining the British background to the report, remarks that Canadians rightly think of it as "blazing the way to their first full and effective democracy" but, "next in importance to that, was its appreciation of Canadian economic problems and its insistence on adequate popular education as a basis for Canada's democracy and well-being." Prof. New finds in Durham's backing of the Reform Bill in England in 1832 his unconscious preparation for the Canadian job because, "if the old parliamentary system had existed in Great Britain when rebellion broke out in Canada, there would have been no solution of Canadian problems and Canada could not have achieved democracy along the lines of Lord Durham's report."

Separation Expected

Prof. New emphasizes that in the Britain of 100 years ago an ultimate separation of Canada from the old country was considered inevitable by both Whigs and Tories. But the report "insisted on laying the basis for a permanent connection of Canada with Great Britain and it was trans fused with the spirit of imperialism." Against a uniform background of separation sentiment in the British parliament, Durham stands out in radiant, confident and constructive imperial faith.

Prof. George W. Brown describes the Upper Canadian scene of the 1830's. Various reform elements were split up and fighting among themselves. Particularly notable was the break between the Methodists under Egerton Ryerson and William Mackenzie. "When every tribute has been paid to Mackenzie's broad human sympathies and his fearless disregard for his own personal interests, it still remains

...that he contributed little that was constructive to the solution of the Canadian problem" in Prof. Brown's opinion. "Among Canadian historical legends few die harder than that which suggests that Mackenzie and his followers alone stood for the cause of reform. A failure to understand and make clearer the animosities within the reform movement is largely responsible for this misconception."

But with the Durham report: "What had happened was clear—the issue had at last arrived on which every reformer in the province could be united. What the clergy reserves, the grievances over land and education, the conflicts about loyalty and all other issues over which Reformers and Tories had argued at cross-purposes for years had been unable to do, the report did at one stroke."

Prof. D. C. Harvey, Nova Scotia Archivist, holds that "Lord Durham may appear to have had more influence upon the evolution of self-government in Nova Scotia than an examination of the facts actually reveals."

This because both parties—Tories and Reformers—"conceded that the magic of his name and reputation would have a powerful effect." The Tories "strove with might and main to neutralize this effect while the Reformers appealed to his authority whenever possible to influence the imperial government in their favor."

Unity of Empire

"It is generally conceded that the great virtue of the report was its full insistence upon the necessity of maintaining the unity of the empire and the practicability of combining unity with the fullest measure of local self-government." Prof. Harvey argues that all parties in Nova Scotia were unanimous as to the first principle that the Reformers had insisted upon the second long before Lord Durham approached the problem and that they worked it out in their own way in the decade subsequent to his report.

Durham's courage in the face of known opposition to responsible government of Lord Melbourne and Lord John Russell—his governmental colleagues—is emphasized by Prof. Chester Martin in an article on the report's consequences. There is no evidence that Durham had thought about responsible government until he talked to the Baldwins in Toronto in 1828. "With a stroke of courage equal to any of his whole career and with a consummate artistry which has never been excelled in a British state paper, Lord Durham seized upon the doctrine formulated by an obscure provincial lawyer and transmuted it the precise legal phraseology of Robert Baldwin into an everlasting war-cry for self-government." This "became the gospel of the new order for British provinces in every quarter of the world?"

CYCLED TO PR. RUPERT

Member of United States Speed Skating Olympic Team Was In Prince Rupert Yesterday

George Wallace of Burlingame, California, young mechanical engineer and a member of the United States Olympic speed skating team which will compete at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, in the Olympic Winter Games next February, was in Prince Rupert yesterday. To keep fit for the contests, Wallace conceived the idea of an extended cycling tour for his vacation and it was in the course of this trip that he passed through Prince Rupert. He had with him his bicycle and his companion, Tom, a five-months' old pup, part police and part shepherd, which weighed 25 pounds on starting the trip and now weighs 37 pounds.

Starting from San Francisco a month ago, Wallace had no difficulty in riding the bicycle all the way from California via Banff to Jasper, hiking from there to Prince George over the railway line. Tiring of the ties, he took to the Fraser River at Tete Jaune in an improvised raft consisting of two logs lashed together but this did not prove so good and after doing six miles in that way during which the dog went into the swift-running water and the outfit was nearly lost, Wallace returned to the track and finally made Prince George. The rest of the trip into Prince Rupert was made by cycling and on a railway flat car.

Having arranged for money to be sent him at Prince Rupert, Wallace was "broke" on arrival in Prince Rupert Sunday night but his funds arrived yesterday and he was able to sail on the Prince George yesterday afternoon to Vancouver whence he will set out again on his bicycle for home. Speaking to the Daily News before he left, the young man expressed appreciation of assistance that had been given him along the line and after arrival in Prince Rupert.

Capt. Harold Hanson, who suffered a fractured pelvis a few months ago in falling down the hold of a log barge on the Queen Charlotte Islands and has since been in hospital here, has sufficiently recovered to be able to leave this afternoon by the Catala on his return to his home in Vancouver.

Buchanan Dead But Boys Still Being Sponsored

George E. Buchanan, who conceived and sponsored "Buchanan Boys" tour parties which have come north through Prince Rupert to Alaska for many years now, is dead but the trips are going on just the same. Yesterday aboard the steamer Princess Charlotte a Buchanan memorial party of thirty-six, seventeen boys and fifteen girls, was here bound north and will be in Prince Rupert again Saturday afternoon.

In charge of the party was G. G. Sprence, life long friend and business associate of the late Mr. Buchanan, whom everybody knows as "Dad," while the girls were led by Mrs. (Dr.) Kuhn of Detroit, assisted by Miss Charlotte Quinn, who was secretary to Mr. Buchanan.

It was interesting to note that Mrs. Kuhn had with her her nine year old son, Richard, the youngest of her family of eleven, every one of whom have made a Buchanan trip. Mrs. Kuhn is the widow of a Detroit doctor and she operates a Detroit Diagnostic hospital which her husband founded.

Also with the party was Rankin Waugh, Chicago photographer, who has been on twelve such trips.
