Anxiety Mounts For Those In Sub

Fears Are That Ninety Men May Be Trapped In Under Sea Craft; Four Make Escape To Surface

Air Supply Will Be Exhausted This Afternoon and Then All May Perish—Frantic Efforts Being Made To Save Those on Board

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 2: (CP)—Anxiety mounted late today for ninety men trapped since 9:40 yesterday in the submarine Thetis, sunk in the estuary of the Mersey River near Liverpool, after only four reached the surface in the Davis escape apparatus. The vessel is lying at an angle of 45 degrees with her nose stuck in the mud and her tail showing above the surface at low tide. At 6 p.m. the Admiralty announced that a strong tide had carried the submarine completely under water, temporarily forcing suspension of attempts to cut a hole in the exposed stern. The rescuers raced against time in their effort to raise the hull before the air supply inside is exhausted. It is estimated that the existing supply will last until about 3:40 Pacific Standard time today.

CANADA HAS FELT SLUMP

Has Suffered Like Rest of World From Fear of War

OTTAWA, June 2: (CP)—Canada has suffered in common with the rest of the world from the constant fear of war and from the "recession" of last year. Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, says, but has maintained its place as fourth among the exporting nations of the world and won fifth place among nations in respect of total external trade.

For the current fiscal year it will require at least $550,000,000 to cover all government expenditures without allowing for any additional loss in the government's wheat marketing program. The minister's estimate of total revenues is $490,000,000.

These figures compare with total expenditures of $557,343,000 at the close of the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1939, and total revenues of $501,677,000. But in estimating total expenditures for the last year the minister chooses the arbitrary figure of $25,000,000 as the government's loss through guaranteeing a fixed minimum price of 80 cents a bushel (based on No. 1 Northern at Fort William) on the wheat crop.

Some estimates have placed this loss as high as $48,000,000 but, in the interests of the market, the minister does not reveal the detailed situation and uses $25,000,000 as the figure for budget purposes.

Heavy expenditures of a special nature during the current year will include $63,000,000 for defence, almost double any previous year since the war.

British System

In presenting his budget this year, Mr. Dunning adopted the system used in the British House of Commons and Australia of tabling the bulk of his speech in the form of a "white paper" containing the statistical and financial tables and a portion of the financial review for the year just ended.

After four days' debate, in the course of which Dr. R. J. Manion, leader of the Conservative opposition, challenged the Liberal government to call a general election early in the autumn, as soon as possible after the royal visit, the budget was adopted by a 144-54 vote.

C.P.R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. William Hughes, arrived in port at 2:30 this afternoon from the south and will sail at 10 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

The Davis method of escape has been abandoned, it is believed, because it is using too much of the air supply. A flotilla of vessels, including the big salvage boats with powerful winches are above the scene. The Admiralty said: "It is not clear at present what has prevented further escapes by the Davis method. Those already rescued are reported to be 'all right' but it is disclosed that the forward part of the vessel, including the forward escape hatch, are flooded. Early Hopes Brighter The Admiralty announced earlier today that four men had escaped from the sunken submarine Thetis in the Davis escape apparatus and that there was 'every hope of getting all out' of the submarine in this manner. Between seventy-nine and one hundred men are on board, depending upon a presently unknown number of civilian technicians who are in the vessel. The position of the Thetis became known late last night with the discovery of an emergency buoy at a point seven miles from Mersey Bar. The water is 180 feet deep at that point. For hours, after concentrated search by numerous naval craft, there was no trace of the Thetis following her disappearance after a test dive. Then the buoy was found. Still the builders of the undersea craft, Cammell, Laird Co., feared the worst. Then came the escape of the four men and the suggestion that the others would probably be saved. Later, however, less hope was held. The early belief was that the Thetis, in diving, must have struck some submerged object which disabled her and put her communication system out of communication.

Some estimates have placed this loss as high as $48,000,000 but, in the interests of the market, the minister does not reveal the detailed situation and uses $25,000,000 as the figure for budget purposes.

Heavy expenditures of a special nature during the current year will include $63,000,000 for defence, almost double any previous year since the war.

Official London Is Still Hopeful

LONDON, June 2: (CP)—Negotiations for a mutual defence pact, linking Russia with Great Britain and France, will continue, official sources state. Despite Wednesday's speech by Foreign Commissar Molotov from the Kremlin in Moscow criticizing the British proposals, London circles are still confident that an agreement will be reached. In a final effort to get Russia into the European peace bloc, the government may drop all references to the League of Nations from the plan for a mutual defence pact, it is reported in diplomatic circles.

Glimpse Of Convention

Dr. Neal Carter Tells of Recent Trip to Juneau With Rotary Delegates

Visitors to the Rotary convention at Juneau had the privilege of seeing a group of native carvers at work on the making of totem poles at Ketchikan on their way north, according to Dr. Neal Carter, who spoke to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday on his trip to the convention. These natives were working to plans prepared by the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D.C. They were mostly young men and Dr. Carter expressed the opinion that work of this kind did not give much opportunity for individual expression. There were about a dozen natives employed on the work and they were making totems up to 30 feet in height.

Dr. Carter also was interested in the fine roads around Ketchikan. These were made by the Federal government under the C.C.C. and the young men employed on construction seemed to be working hard, much harder than those on similar work in this part of British Columbia.

The party was entertained by the Mayor of Ketchikan and a band and had ample opportunity to see the city.

In the afternoon the convention ship stopped at Union Bay and was given an opportunity of seeing one of the most up to date canneries on the coast. What struck him was the perfectly sanitary construction, the whole interior of the cannery being painted and particularly well finished.

Again at Juneau they were met by the mayor of the city and a band. The local delegates attended the convention in the theatre. The program continued through the afternoon when he went with a party for a flight over the Mendenhall Glacier.

The evening session was an entertainment illustrating the Trail of '98 including the shooting of Dan McGrew. It proved very interesting.

On the trip Dr. Carter said he heard many compliments on the reception the party had been given at Prince Rupert and, although at each place they were met by a band, the pipe band at Prince Rupert was the most outstanding.

Youth Conquers Age As Lou Nova Defeats Max Baer By Technical Knockout Route

NEW YORK, June 2.—Rising youth decisively conquered approaching age in Yankee Stadium last night as young Lou Nova of Alameda, California, pounded the one time world's heavyweight champion, Max Baer of Livermore, California, into a bloody technical knockout in one minute and twenty-one seconds of the eleventh of fifteen scheduled rounds. It was a fast and hard-hitting fight with certain slugging aspects and provided plenty of action for the Yankee Stadium crowd. As many observers had anticipated, Baer was not able to stand the pace as well as Nova and this was the deciding factor. Nevertheless, the former champion made a great try, particularly in the opening rounds, but, after the fifth, he began to noticeably tire and it was from then on that Nova took the upper hand. When the referee called it off in the eleventh, Baer's face appeared a bloody mass with nose and mouth badly damaged from the punishing Baer's handers had been warned previously to do something about the bleeding. Max was, however, still very much on his feet and his spirit was unconquered despite the punishment. Although he had lost his chance to rechallenge for the title, he was among the first to warmly congratulate Nova whose most important pugilistic victory to date it was.

GLIMPSE IS WORTHWHILE

Prince Rupert People Joined In Cheers For King at Jasper

(By Thomas Wayling) JASPER, June 2:—Five hundred people from the west as far as Prince Rupert refused to let time and distance keep them from their King and Queen yesterday when the Royal blue and silver train rolled into Jasper at noon. Prince Rupert cheers went to swell the acclaim.

The special train from Prince Rupert arrived at 7:30 in the morning. People aboard waited all morning for Their Majesties to arrive. They only had a glimpse of the King and Queen for this was a rest stop and Their Majesties, after a few minutes on the platform, when Major A. J. Wood, superintendent of the park, and Mrs. Wood were presented, motorcade out to Jasper Lodge. That glimpse for which they had travelled 1500 miles there and back they felt was worth it all. The Queen smiled at them and the King acknowledged their cheers. Now they are smiling and glad they came and showed Their Majesties Prince Rupert was not forgetting.

The royal party left Jasper this morning for Edmonton where, following arrival this afternoon, a provincial welcome, led by Premier William Aberhart, a visit to the City Hall and legislative buildings, inspection of the airport and state dinner is on the program before leaving tonight for Saskatoon.

In order that Their Majesties may have more time for rest, it is announced they will make no more appearances before 10 a.m. or after dusk in the evenings.

At Jasper Park Their Majesties spent the night in Luxurious Outlook Cabin which costs ordinary visitors $125 per day. Only two servants were in the cabin with them, the remainder of the retinue, being in other cabins.

Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, is due in port at 8:30 this evening from the south and will sail at 10:30 p.m. on her return south over the same route.

Miss Gertrude Stangby, who made a trip to Vancouver for the King's visit as the representative of her school, leaves by this evening's train for her home in the interior. She arrived here on Wednesday by steamer and since then has been visiting with Ed Wahl and family at Dodge Cove and with Mrs. P. L. Peterson, Miss Ruth Dickinson, who made the trip with Miss Stangby, went home from here on Wednesday evening's train.

A FEW SUPERMEN

When you leave Prince Rupert, either by the upward route or by train or water, what will you leave behind? Have you made your mark in the city? How will people remember you when you are gone? Is there any one thing you can point to as a landmark by which future citizens will look back and remark: "There was one of the founders of the city who did something more than take part in social events."

The ordinary man works, eats, enjoys a certain amount of leisure, works, eats, enjoys, etc. Once a year perhaps he goes away for a holiday, if he is lucky, and then he starts all over, works, eats, enjoys. Just one in a few hundreds of thousands rises above this dead level by accomplishing something which will be of lasting benefit to his community or to humanity in general. He is the superman. We are told that, when the time arrives, competition in business and the struggle for existence ceases, there will still be left the desire to emulate our fellows by some outstanding deed but it will be much more difficult to accomplish with no previous experience of struggle.

ART OF LOBBYING

There was a time in the history of Canada when Members of Parliament could be influenced by paid lobbyists to vote for or against any particular measure and, for influencing these legislators, the lobbyist was paid a considerable sum of money. The chief art of the lobbyist was to convince the interested parties that he could deliver the goods and next to deliver it. The former was usually much easier than the latter.

Today the Member of Parliament spots the lobbyist a mile away and his defences are at once up against him. The member knows the other chap is paid for his job and is trying to use him as a tool. The result is that no results are obtained. As a class Members of Parliament are honest and will not be parties to any deal. They are men of ideas and ideals and the paid lobbyist has little chance of making a success of his job. He may persuade his client that he can get what he wants but, when it comes to working the members, he is usually out of luck.

Last evening's senior football game in the Stuart Benefit Shield provided the best game of the season to date with the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve lucky to snatch a three-all draw in the closing moments of a well played match. There was a good crowd in attendance.

Play was interesting right from the start and, after Keays had taken a corner well, Smith drove over. At the other end Morgan had a lucky escape when Gillis' centre just missed. Morgan brought off a grand save at full-length and did well to fist Holkestad's fine corner kick over. Keays got through after nice combination with Hunter to open the scoring for the Navy, a score against the balance of play. Ferguson shot past and Vink netted from Gillis' centre. Ferguson just missed from Cameron's centre. Vink added a second following good combination and an unselfish pass from Ferguson who might well have tried a shot himself. Krause was lucky to save on the line and then did well to fist Davies' centre clear. Morgan fielded a long drive of Gillis' that glanced off the upright, Ferguson drove home a third goal.

Navy attacked and Krause sprawled on the ball and finally cleared. Play was fast but Velvet was the better team. When Navy pressed a penalty was awarded and Krause did well to stop Smith's shot but did even better to clear Smith's second drive. Gomez was sent off for some infraction not clear from the touchline. Velvet still continued to hold the Navy in check, Parsons, Veitch and Dickens all doing well. From a penalty kick Ferguson hit the bar and was rightly penalized when he got the ball a second time and tried to shoot. Pierce did very well and, following his centre, Eastman got the ball in the net with Christison yards off-side. The Navy staged a fierce attack now being only a goal behind and, before Velvet settled down, Christison equalized the score. Eby's long drive went close and Krause did well to save from Hunter, but the game ended three goals each.

Navy Was Lucky

The Navy was very lucky to draw. Velvet was the better team on the night's play with every player doing his share. Krause did well and had little chance with the shots that scored. Parsons was very good and, with Gomez, held the attack. Veitch played a strong game and H. Dickens was good in defence and attack until he began to talk. Greer turned in his best game so far. The forward line combined well and, against a less capable goalkeeper than Morgan, would have scored often. All worked hard though their shooting could be improved.

Morgan saved several splendid shots and his anticipation must give the rest of his team great confidence. Eby and M-Kay defended well and had time to feed their forwards. The half-backs were not quite as good as usual. The forwards did not combine so well although individually they were fair. Pierce and Keays on the wings did well and are worth persevering with. Hunter showed clever touches and Christison and Smith tried hard to the end.

The players would do better if they abided by the decisions of the referee and did less arguing. There are many points on which they are ignorant. Ferguson apparently did not know or forgot that he must not play a ball twice from a free kick and so must not meet a rebound off the crossbar when he has taken the kick. A nice feature is to see the Navy form a group and give three cheers for their opponents. It's worth doing.

Few Fires In Wet Weather

The wet and backward spring in Prince Rupert has been beneficial in at least one respect. It has reduced the fire hazard and the fire department has been having a quiet time so far this year. There have been but twelve alarms thus far in 1939 which is way below average. In May there were but three alarms. Fire damage for the month just ended amounted to $41 in all—$25 when a smoker set his bed on fire at the Knox Hotel and $16 due to an overheated stovepipe in a house on Seventh Avenue West owned by John Clausen and occupied by Stan Veitch.

Prince Rupert's Youthful Delegation to Their Majesties

Prince Rupert school children, sent south to Victoria for the visit of the King and Queen, returned home on the Princess Adelaide this afternoon following a trip which will always be recalled as a memorable event in their lives. The home-coming party, pictured above, consisted of Leonard Youngman, Douglas McGreish, George Weir, Mrs. J. S. Black (chaperone), Betty Clark, Margaret Simundson and Mary Miller.

Third Officer On King's Ship

SMITHERS, June 2:—Third officer on the Empress of Australia when she carried the Royal Party from England to Canada was Edward T. Newell, son of Capt. and Mrs. George M. Newell of Victoria and nephew of E. T. Kenney of Terrace and L. H. Kenney of Smithers.

Young Newell trained on H. M. S. Conway and holds his deep sea master's certificate. He has been in the employ of the Canadian Pacific Steamships since he was 16 years of age.

Late Henry A. Butt Laid to Rest in Fairview Cemetery This Afternoon

The funeral of the late Henry Albert Butt, of Usk, who died this week while on the way to hospital at Smithers, took place here this afternoon from the chapel of the B.C. Undertakers to Fairview Cemetery. The remains were brought from the interior on last night's train, accompanied by deceased's son, Henry Butt, and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bracken.

Rev. J. C. Jackson, pastor of First United Church, officiated at the funeral service with Miss Lois Judge presiding at the organ to accompany the hymns which were "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee." Pallbearers were G. B.

CITY OF PRINCE RUPERT Notice

The Provincial Government has approved and will guarantee the repayment to the Dominion Government of a loan which it has agreed to advance to the city of forty thousand ($40,000) dollars at two per cent interest for a period of thirty years for the purpose of replacing certain wooden water pipe mains with cast iron and it is my intention to take advantage of this loan.

Any property owner objecting please advise in writing "The Honorable Minister of Municipal Affairs" at the City Hall, Prince Rupert on or before the twelfth day of June next.

W. J. ALDER,

Post Office May Make Move Soon

No Time Yet Set Although Putting in of Fittings Near Completion

Judging from the progress that is being made with the installation of the fittings, it should not be many days now before the Post Office will be moving to the new Federal Building. No official announcement, however, is as yet available as to when the move will be made. Possibly it will be the week after next.

Wickets have now been installed in the public lobby section of the Post Office in the left half of the main floor. Box panels have been erected in the box section on the right hand side of the main entrance.

Upstairs installation of furniture etc. for the various departmental offices is pretty well completed and they should be able to move to the new quarters about the same time as the Post Office.
