Britisher Sunk -- Seven Are Killed

TEN PERSONS ARE RESCUED AFTER SINKING OF FLYING BOAT; THREE DROWNED

Standard Oil Tanker Found Survivors Clinging to Rubber Life Belts Several Hours After Aircraft Dropped Into Ocean

NEW YORK, January 23: (CP)—Ten survivors from the Imperial Airways flying boat Cavalier, which dropped to the Atlantic Ocean Saturday while flying from New York to Bermuda, were rescued Saturday night by the Standard Oil tanker Esso Baytown. Three others who were aboard the plane perished. The ship itself broke apart after hitting the water. Those who survived saved their lives by clinging for some seven hours to rubber life belts. The three persons who were drowned weakened and were unable to continue their trip. The rescue was effected two hundred miles off the Maryland coast.

It was at 11 o'clock Saturday night that the rescue was effected by the Baytown. Cruising the position of the disaster as had been given in final wireless messages, the ship rising from the surface of the water in the darkness. A lifeboat was lowered and, finally, one survivor and then the others were located and taken aboard. All were close by. Their condition being such that it was considered inadvisable to transfer them to another vessel the Baytown turned and headed for New York with the survivors while other vessels remained to scour the waters in the hope of finding the three other persons. The Baytown, making less than ten miles an hour owing to mountainous seas, was due here late this morning. The survivors were reported in "good" condition.

Survivors Improving
A message from the Baytown today said that they appeared to be improving after exposure and shock and, on arrival, would be able to travel by motor car. They were meantime comfortable in cabins on the tanker but would require clothes on landing. In most serious condition was Capt. Alderson.

The survivors were: Mrs. George Ingham, Hamilton, Bermuda; Mrs. Edna Watson, Bermuda; Mrs. Don Miller, Lincoln, Nebraska; Charles Talbot, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. J. G. Noakes, Malba, New York; Miss Nelson Smith, Pembroke, Bermuda; Capt. M. R. Alderson, commander of the Cavalier; Navigating Officer Neil Richardson; Radio Officer Patrick Chapman and Steward David Williams.
The three lost persons were two passengers and a steward—Donald Miller, J. Gordon Noakes and Robert Spence. Hope for them is abandoned after hours of searching without avail by United States coastguard and Canadian naval vessels.

Mrs. Watson came from Montreal, being the widow of Robert Watson of that city.

Ginger Rogers, noted screen actress, was to have been a passenger on the Cavalier but a severe cold kept her from leaving at the last minute. Early reports said she was on the flying boat.

Hero of the rescue, Capt. Frank H. Spurr of the Baytown, is a native of Nova Scotia. He hails from Annapolis Valley and has been at sea since he was sixteen years of age.

Cause of Disaster
Ice forming in the carburetors of the four giant motors of the Cavalier was the cause of the ship being forced down to the ocean. The watertight hull of the twenty-one ton Cavalier was punctured when she alighted on the water. The survivors were picked up a few minutes before the wreckage sank under the choppy Atlantic.

RAJAHS' STATES GIVE THEIR BIT TO UNREST IN TROUBLESOME EAST

Not Under Government of India, 81,000,000 People in Half Country's Area Have Their Own Problems
By G. E. POWELL

Canadian Press Correspondent
CALCUTTA, India, January 23: (CP)—Agitation against the Indian States' system of government is being intensified by a section of Indian politicians. The States have 81,000,000 inhabitants and occupy rather less than half the area of India. They are ruled, under the Crown, not by the Government of India but by maharajas, rajahs and nawabs.

This statement was made in view of fears that negotiations to assist in the migration of Jewish refugees might terminate as far as Germany was concerned following the removal of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht as president of the Reichsbank. Meantime the feeling among Jews themselves is becoming more desperate and they fear further persecution.

APPEALS FOR VOLUNTEERS

Premier Neville Chamberlain Addresses the Nation on Voluntary Service

LONDON, Jan. 23.—While he and his government would continue their policy of preserving peace, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, in an address to the nation tonight, referred to the possibility of Great Britain being forced into war. The Prime Minister was speaking on the government's scheme of voluntary national service and expressed his sure conviction that the people would co-operate in such a manner as to show to the world what Britons were prepared to do should war come. Modern warfare was not like it was before in view of the development of possibilities of aerial attack. There was urgent necessity for the organization of civil population and it was essential that preparations should be made in advance. There would be no time after war started. Security must be organized in advance. Mr. Chamberlain referred the people to published matter on the subject of voluntary national service and, leaving it to them to decide, asked immediate co-operation in selection of the occupations to which they would be best fitted in war effort. "If you are ready to volunteer," said the Premier, "I ask you to ask yourselves to what service you are best fitted and to give your answer."

Stating that the government must have the number for which it asked in various services, the Premier said that those who volunteered first would be placed first. Those who did not come forward at first might have to be assigned later.

Mr. Chamberlain made an appeal to all to do their parts. "We hope to get all the volunteers we want without compulsion," he said.

Warning Issued Against Jap Shaving Brushes Found Laden With Deadly Germs of Anthrax

OTTAWA, January 23: (CP)—The National Health Department announced last night that all provincial health departments had been warned against Japanese shaving brushes infected with deadly anthrax germs. It is not known how many of the germ-laden brushes there are in Canada but it is believed some have been sent to Western Canada, having been distributed by a United States firm. Revenue officials are tracing the shipments. The brushes are believed to have been made from bristles of animals suffering from anthrax, a splenic fever of sheep and cattle which produces malicious boils on man. At Washington D. C., Dr. Thomas Parran, United States public health service surgeon-general, last night said that he had requested an embargo on all Japanese-made shaving brushes as a result of a death traced to infection from one. He said that all United States collectors of customs were being asked to bar brushes until they are tested and states where shipments have been distributed are advised to seize all such brushes. A death is said to have occurred in North Dakota due to anthrax.

PRESIDENT'S METHOD

Every week President Roosevelt holds a meeting with the Washington correspondents of the most important newspapers of the country and at that meeting explains to them the policies of the government, their meaning and application. Once a year he discusses with them the budget which he is about to present to Congress. On this occasion the newspapermen sit around a large table with copies of the budget before them and the President takes two hours of his valuable time going over it item by item and explaining the implication of each.

We have met people who think that newspapermen are just a nuisance and they treat them with scant courtesy. Not so the President of the United States, one of the cleverest men the world has seen. Not only does he talk to the newspapermen but he answers all their questions and occasionally considers their suggestions. The result is that while many of these men are opposed to the President's policy, they have a warm feeling for the man and they appreciate the effort made to see that they get not only the letter but the spirit of the work he is doing.

MUST WORK HARD

A well known author says that any man who sets out to be a successful writer must be prepared to spend half the night over four lines if necessary. While this is impossible in a newspaper office where work has to be rushed through at high speed, it is different altogether from real literary effort. Some writers work rapidly and others slowly but the great thing in this as in all other work is to satisfy oneself that it is the best possible. That is true of most lines of work. The person who does the best is the one who makes a success.

FOREIGN POLICY

Some Canadians say they think that Canada should lay down a line of policy to be followed in regard to its relations with other parts of the Empire or with foreign nations. This may be done to a certain extent but it is absolutely foolish to try to generalize in such a way as to fit all cases. Who would have thought that the pacifists of a few years ago would have become the fire-eaters of today. Who would have thought Labor in Great Britain would have been urging the country to fight? So no one can tell what the future position of Canada will be. Conditions may arise which would make it impossible to follow out any established rule in regard to our relations with other countries. The best thing is to be content with the promise of our statesmen that before declaring war or taking part in any war Parliament will be consulted. That is our safeguard. At the same time, if Britain were at war, an enemy would not hesitate to attack this country no matter what Ottawa might say.

JR. LEAGUE SWAN SONG

After Fourteen Years of Existence, it Concludes With Final Presentation Banquet

With the presentation of the Rochester Shield on Saturday evening at the Canadian Legion clubrooms the 1937-1938 Junior Football season came to a close and, with it, the end of the Junior Football League which had carried on uninterruptedly since 1924.

At that time, acting on the suggestion of W. E. Williscroft, a Junior Football Association was formed with teams from the three schools. To assist in the coaching the late George Cochrane, Jack Campbell and Bill Williscroft himself were assigned to the teams. The following year J. S. Wilson came to Prince Rupert and he looked after the Booth Memorial School team. At Saturday night's banquet three of the original executive of the Junior Football Association were present—Miss S. A. Mills, W. W. C. O'Neill and Jack Campbell. In reviewing the history of the association, J. S. Wilson stated that he considered it an honor to have been present during the whole period of its existence. It was a memory he would always cherish. He paid a tribute to the fine support he had always had from the principals of the schools, the Trades and Labor Council, the Prince Rupert Parents-Teachers' Association, the Senior Football Association, the Sons of Canada, the Dominion Day Celebration Committee and the Gyo Club.

The presentation of the Rochester Shield was a feature of the meeting with Mrs. H. B. Rochester making the presentation after a neat speech. The medals were presented to the members of the winning High School by William Reid. In doing so Mr. Reid pointed out how pleased the Trades and Labor Council had always been to support the juniors and how well rewarded it felt with the fine showing made by the boys. A most gratifying incident had been the fact that, in the representative matches played in the city last year against Ocean Falls, ten of the eleven players had graduated from the School League. He complimented the players individually in making the presentation of the medals.

Mrs. Neal Carter expressed her pleasure at being present and, on behalf of the Parent-Teachers' Association, whose president, Mrs. R. M. Winslow, was out of town, conveyed congratulations and best wishes to the officials and boys.

City Commissioner

City Commissioner W. J. Alder emphasized the need of a healthy mind in a healthy body and told the boys how much they owed to good healthy exercise such as football provided. It was too bad that such a tremendous outlay of money had been made with such poor results in trying to make the Acropolis Hill a playing field. A more central location was needed and an area near Ninth Avenue offered a good possibility.

President D. G. Borland of the Gyo Club associated himself with the previous speakers in conveying congratulations and was particularly glad to have a chance to say a word for the Scotch. Previously it had seemed that none but the Irish played football—Jack Campbell, Jack Wilson, Bill Reid, George Cochrane and even Bill Williscroft. Jack Campbell, vice-president of the Junior Football Association, thanked the many friends of the juniors. He was sorry that George Johnstone was out of town. He thanked the referees and to the ladies who had charge of the refreshments he paid a special tribute. Those present were Mrs. W. W. C. O'Neill, Mrs. William Bussey, Mrs. J. J. Judge and Mrs. W. M. Brown.

Arthur Sutton hoped that, with the new re-organization, it would be possible to have a Junior and an Intermediate Football League in the Junior and Senior High School. Thanks were also expressed to the Canadian Legion for the loan of the clubroom for the event and with it an appreciation of the help of Jack Preece who, as president of the Legion, president of the Football Association and president of the Dominion Day Celebration Committee, had been a real friend

SPORT CHAT

The draw for the world hockey championships, starting at St. Moritz, Switzerland, February 2, will be made in Brussels January 31. Sudbury 'tigers of Canada won the championship last year. Canada will be represented this time by the Trail Smoke Eaters, Canadian amateur hockey titleists. The Swedish Hockey Federation has received a $10,000 subsidy to help towards cost of equipment and preparation for the Swedish team in the championship.

Meantime hockey is booming in Europe. At Brussels matches for the Belgian representative team, Etoile du Nord, crowd the January program. Etoile du Nord beat Cambridge University 2-1 at Antwerp. The games are doing much to popularize the sport in Belgium and the younger generation is flocking to the ever-increasing number of rinks.

At Moscow, it is estimated 8,000 men and 1,600 women players will participate in the hockey championships to be decided on 60 different rinks shortly. There are 103 women's teams among the 538 sides which represent 72 different clubs. The clubs, divided into 10 different groups, are each represented by several teams.

IS AGAIN PRODUCING

Concentrate Shipments From Porcher Island Properties To Be Resumed Next Week

To pay a visit of inspection to the company's Surf Point and Eddy Pass mining properties, C. P. Riel, president and managing director of the Reward Mining Co., and A. M. Richmond, consulting engineer, arrived in the city on the Cardena last evening from Vancouver and proceeded to Porcher Island today. They expect to spend four or five days there, returning to the city in time to sail Friday night by the Venture on their return south.

Speaking after his arrival last night, Mr. Riel said that the new mill on the Porcher Island property had been operating at production of forty tons per day and an additional 20-ton unit was now going into operation, making a total of sixty tons. The concentrate output was about two tons daily at a value of $300 per ton. The first smelter shipment since fire destroyed the old mill about a year ago is expected to be made next week, Mr. Riel said.

Radio Artists Favor Strike

Voting Seems To Indicate Tie-up Of Major Broadcasts In United States

CHICAGO, Jan. 23: (CP)—The Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco locals of American Federation of Radio Artists followed action of the New York local, voting in favor of a strike threatening to tie up major radio broadcasts. Balloting took place in Chicago Friday, in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday in San Francisco.

Although the strike is authorized and 2000 artists are awaiting the call, they were still at work last night.

A settlement with the American Association of Advertising Agencies on the basis of $15 for 15 minute broadcasts and $6 an hour for rehearsals, is demanded. The demand for rehearsal pay has been denied.

Eddie Cantor, president of the American Federation of Radio Artists, expresses confidence that the strike would force an early meeting of demands.

Radio broadcasters say they are prepared, if necessary, to fill the air with non-commercial sustaining program.

LINCOLN, Eng., Jan. 23: (CP)—British farmers are freezing their meat and selling it as foreign beef to get better prices, it was reported to the Lincolnshire Chamber of Agriculture.

Timely Recipes

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

2 cups cracker crumbs, rolled fine
Butter, salt and pepper
2 cups oysters
Oyster liquor

The crackers should be crisp and rolled with a rolling pin. Take a greased baking pan—an earthenware or glass one is excellent—first a layer of oysters, then a layer of cracker crumbs, dotted with butter and seasoned with salt and pepper. Now another layer of oysters and more cracker crumbs, butter and seasoning. Moisten with the oyster liquor. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for twenty minutes and serve it bubbling hot.

RAJAHS' STATES GIVE THEIR BIT TO UNREST

public opinion and the paramount powers, the British Crown, represented by the Vice Roy, and the Indian political department which, however, intervenes only in cases of serious misgovernment. Public opinion inside the States, while not organized in legislatures, is nevertheless powerful.

This does not mean that in the States the people as a whole are discontented with the traditional system of benevolent autocracy under which they and their ancestors have long lived. In Hyderabad, for instance, and elsewhere it is generally admitted that political aspirations as found in British India's people are markedly absent. In the non-co-operation movement, sponsored by politicians in British India in 1930, the States' peoples had little or no part. British goods, boycotted in British India by a section of the politically conscious sold without obstacle in the rulers territories.

Agitation Fostered

The present ferment is fostered by people belonging to the educated middle classes inside the States with help from politicians associated with the Indian National Congress which, however, as an organization, disclaims any intention of interfering in the States' affairs. Such non-interference, it holds, does not apply to congressmen in their individual capacity and thus it is that leaders like Vallabhai Patel are taking an important part in the agitation in some States, notably Rajkot.

This takes a familiar form—meetings, processions, resistance to laws and to police injunctions, the appointment of "dictators" to lead the agitation and of men and women to disobey government orders, to be arrested and go to prison. Columns of sympathetic references to the agitators and criticism, in some cases vilification, of the State governments pour from the Indian-owned press in British India.

There are now signs that the Indian National Congress is about to change its policy. Said President Subhas Bose at Lucknow: "My own view is that the Congress is about to take a deeper interest and pursue a more active policy in matters affecting the Indian States."

Mr. Gandhi comments in the same strain: "The States and their advisers must recognize the fact that the people in the States are in cases guided by the Congress. They know that I am responsible for the policy of non-interference hitherto followed by the Congress. But, with the growing influence of the Congress, it is impossible for me to defend it in the face of injustice perpetrated in the states. If the Congress feels that it has the power to offer effective interference, it will be bound to do so when the call comes."

If the Congress Party actually tried to launch from British territory a campaign of civil resistance against the Princes, the possibilities would be serious. Indian State territory is mixed up with the British Indian Provinces in eight of which the Congress Party runs the government.

Nevertheless, the two Indias are watching one another—the States ruled by autocrats, the provinces under a Parliamentary system. Demands for responsible government were bound to be made sooner or later by the States' people. That they were being made now by a section of politicians is due to the fact that Congress is playing for high stakes—control of the All-Indian Federal Legislature through its own nominees from the provinces and through men under its influence from the States. Thus the agitation in the States revolves around one issue: who is to control their representatives at the federal centre, the Princes of their people?

Kitseles Natives Stage Picturesque Entertainment at Terrace

TERRACE, Jan. 23.—The Native Sisters of Kitseles, an organization representative of the natives of the Kitseles group of tribes who in these days live at Vanarsdol, not far from the place of their ancestors, Kitseles Canyon, encouraged and tutored by their white teacher, Mrs. H. Wilson, put on a most enjoyable show on Friday night in the Oddfellows' Hall...

In the Beaver Dance the performers moved around the hall in a slow rhythm, chanting all the time and making motions with their hands in imitation of the beaver. The Victory Dance was a much livelier one. In this, spears, axes, bow and arrow came into play. There was a game of chance.

a community affair too, in which all the players divided into two teams, kneeling in long rows facing each other at a little distance. The Indian people thoroughly enjoyed the game. The drum beat a continual tattoo and shouts of excitement marked each gain as one team or the other scored success.

Mark MacKay, one of the elders, gave an illustration of fire making. A stick of dry cottonwood and a small plank of dry cedar, with some kindling made from cedar bark, formed the equipment. Mark explained that in the old days a young man must prove his skill at making fire before he could take a wife. He called up two of the young men to try their skill. One of these made some smoke. Finally the old man undertook the job and received a great ovation as the kindling burst into flame.

The whole show was an unqualified success. Much credit was due to those who thus revived a picturesque ritual.

At the end of the show the Kitseles people presented a paddle highly ornamented, to the High School at Terrace. A. E. White, the principal, received this and thanked in suitable terms.

REVIEWS SESSION

E. T. Kenney Gives Account of Stewardship at Terrace Meeting - Liberals Elect Officers

TERRACE, Jan. 23.—E. T. Kenney, M.L.A. for Skeena, addressed a gathering in the Oddfellows' Hall Thursday evening. A good attendance represented all shades of political opinion. It was a public meeting under the auspices of the Liberal Association and Harry King, president of that organization, occupied the chair.

Mr. Kenney gave a resume of the recent session and, in doing so, presented an instructive and interesting address, lasting some forty minutes. Among the useful amendments which the Legislature has passed was one cutting out an abuse in staking mineral claims. From now on claims could not be staked by an agent. Another useful change gave the prospector a better right as regards fractional stakings.

There were other interesting points in the speech. Mr. Kenney admitted that the depression was no temporary affair but that relief measures were likely to be necessary into the indefinite future. Those who asked questions at the close of Mr. Kenney's address did so in good humor and Mr. Kenney was able to deal with the questions without much trouble.

Terrence Liberal Association held its annual meeting after the public meeting was over and officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

- Honorary President, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.
Honorary Vice President, Hon. T. D. Pattullo.
President, Harry King.
First Vice President, M. Dubeau.
Second Vice President, J. Sparkes.
Secretary-Treasurer, T. E. Brooks.

Asks Information Regarding Local Telegraph Office

The Council of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Saturday afternoon, decided to make inquiries in regard to the policy of the Dominion government department in deciding to close down the local Government Telegraph office.

The matter was discussed at some length, a number of members expressing the opinion that, at a time when people were asking for economy, it did not seem right to object to this economy. It was stated that the office was losing a large amount annually and, in view of the fact that the Canadian National was also owned by the government, it did not seem reasonable to object to the closing if it was part of a general plan of economizing on this line. It was therefore, decided to ask the department for information as to whether or not this economy was part of a general plan affecting other places similarly situated.

Some concern was expressed in regard to the men employed but assurance was given that all would be absorbed into the other system.
