Barcelona Is Falling To Rebels

Spanish Insurgents Are Today at Gates Of Loyalist Capital

Government Defences Have Completely Broken—Ministers and Populace in Flight—Death, Destruction and Pillage

PERPIGNAN, France, January 24: (CP)—An official telephone call from Barcelona today reported that insurgent forces were attacking outskirts of the government capital of Spain. Insurgents declared that their forces had achieved a "complete break" in government defences before Barcelona and that the fall of the city was regarded as only a matter of hours. Many government ministries have already left Barcelona for the north while the beleaguered capital is being pounded by enemy bombs with public services falling as the city became a military camp. The population is in flight, some hoping to find refuge in France. Many, fearing that they will be put to death any way by the insurgents, prefer to die fighting. The morale of the city is completely shattered and there is death, destruction and pillage everywhere. Last night a strategic village nine and a half miles distant was captured by the rebels.

New York Times Hopes for Building of Alaska Road This Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 24: (CP)—The New York Times expresses hope in an editorial that lack of finances will not shelve the Alaska Highway project as has happened twice before since the plan was first broached in 1929.

The small population of British Columbia and Alaska would be unable to raise the entire cost, the editorial said, but federal funds might be borrowed or a tax put on Alaska tax-free real estate.

Dungaree Army Of Six Million Men Being Enrolled In Britain Under National Service Scheme

LONDON, January 24: (CP)—A Dungaree Army of six to seven million men whose duty it will be to keep industry working at top speed during wartime was established by the British government today. The Department of Labor issued a list of "reserved occupations" embracing men from eighteen to sixty-four years of age whose wartime work would be industrial rather than military and who would be exempted from military service.

This is part of the voluntary national service scheme for which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain broadcast an appeal last night when he declared that Great Britain would never begin a war but said that, in view of existing conditions, a national defence scheme was one of common prudence.

Twenty million handbooks were issued throughout the nation today suggesting occupations in which the people are asked to enrol voluntarily.

Concept Of Canadian National Railways Sound And Justified, Says Expert In Saskatoon Talk

SASKATOON, January 24.—"When looking into the railway question do not be misled by profit and loss accounts which do not and cannot tell the whole story. Viewed in proper perspective, the policy of extensive development of Canada's natural resources by the construction of railways has actually produced a great store of Canada's natural resources by the construction of railways has actually produced a great store of national wealth. The concept of the Canadian National Railways as an instrument of national development, broadly speaking, is sound and has been fully justified by the growth of national wealth. Canada needs here railways and without them could not be the wealthy and important nation she is," declared S. W. Fairweather, chief of research and development, Canadian National Railways, guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Saskatoon Board of Trade here last evening.

Mr. Fairweather chose as the subject of his address, "A New View of the Canadian National Railways," and portrayed a most interesting and impressive picture of the tremendous value railroad building had been to Canada in general and western Canada in particular.

He pointed out that criticism of the Canadian National Railways should not be directed towards damning the organization for producing deficits but should be directed to an examination of the service rendered and whether that service was justified as part of a plan of national expansion and whether the organization was being administered economically.

"It is my considered opinion that the Canadian National Railways will stand critical examination on all these points," Mr. Fairweather emphasized. "Criticism of the Canadian National is almost invariably directed to the deficit but this deficit does not arise from the operation of the Canadian National as a private enterprise. On the contrary, it arises from a trusteeship, set up in the form of a private enterprise, which is, in fact, carrying on activities which no private enterprise could undertake at a profit. The best proof of this is that private enterprise tried it and failed. The deficit by the way consists solely of interest on capital. It is a really outstanding performance that the Canadian National railways, despite the above-mentioned activities, has always paid its operating expenses from revenues," he declared.

The second school of thought offered the idea that the best way of developing a nation was to afford the widest possible opportunity to the industry and enterprise of railways in advance of their ability to render them profitable in themselves, he declared.

"Neither of these schools of thought can be entirely supported but I wish to emphasize that the development of Canada has resulted from a balance between them," said the speaker.

Fifteen Ships Listed Disabled—At Least Twenty-four Have Perished—Anxiety Over Chilean Vessel

LONDON, Jan. 24: (CP)—Fifteen disabled ships were listed today by Lloyds, having sent S.O.S. calls yesterday as a result of the terrific gale which was lashing the Atlantic Ocean to mountainous seas. At least twenty-four lives have been lost and the lives of five hundred or more persons are imperilled on battered ships. However, weather moderated today and less anxiety was felt. Three ships were making for home ports. Others were still unreported.

All naval ships were ordered to keep a look-out today for a Royal Air Force bomber missing in the English Channel with six men on board after the storm which took fourteen lives off English coasts and caused widespread damage to shipping.

The storm has extended across the Mediterranean and an Imperial Airways transport plane was forced down at the Island of Corsica but made a safe landing.

A Chilean vessel, motorship Aconagua, with two hundred persons on board, is still silent in the Atlantic and fears are entertained for her safety. She had sent out "S. O. S." messages after which nothing further was heard from her.

The Atlantic coasts of Canada and United States have also been taking a beating with a piercing cold wave in the Maritimes and New England.

In the United States seventeen deaths have been attributed to the cold weather.

Apologizes To Siwashes

According to the Vancouver Province, Mayor Lyle Telford of Vancouver has made an apology in connection with his recent description of Prince Rupert in the Legislature as a "Siwash Town." Mayor Telford apologizes not to Prince Rupert but to the "Siwashes."

The mayor made the apology after reading a book in which the honesty of the Indians during railway construction days was described.

Motor vehicle licenses in Prince Rupert district, including Terrace and Bella Coola, totalled approximately 525 during 1938, it is learned at the office of the Government Agent. This is a slight increase over 1937.

Bulletins

DISASTER AT HEDLEY PENTICTON—A man and a woman were killed early today when a rockslide crashed down on two blocks of the little mining town of Hedley, between here and Princeton, wrecking five houses and damaging four others. The dead are Peter Strand, 55, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Green, who were killed when a 20-ton rock crashed through the house where they were sleeping. Noise of rumbling boulders ranging in weight from ten to one hundred tons awakened several other families, permitting them to escape.

CRASH REASON MYSTERY NEW YORK—Reason for the crash of the Imperial Airways flying boat Cavalier, between here and Bermuda Saturday, remains a mystery. Capt. M. R. Alderson said icing conditions in carburetors did not cause the crash as earlier believed. The plane's fuselage was ripped open by force of landing on rough water. The survivors were landed yesterday. None required hospital treatment. Mrs. Edna Watson was credited with heroism in saving the life of Capt. Alderson by holding him up when he became unconscious in the water.

NEW RELIEF SCHEME OTTAWA—A new relief scheme is announced whereby the Canadian government will pay half the cost of labor on civic projects with the provinces paying the other half. The municipalities will provide materials and supervision.

BENNETT LEAVES OTTAWA OTTAWA—Without making a farewell appearance in the House of Commons, Former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett left Ottawa today for Montreal where he will speak tonight. His farewell address will be in Saint John from which port he will sail on Thursday for his future home in England.

SITUATION IN SPAIN

Usually we dislike people who say: "I told you so," but it will be remembered that more than once the Daily News predicted that the Franco forces would eventually win. However, that is not important. The important feature is that Italy and Germany seem to be about to attain a new power in Europe. Spain will probably be reorganized under the totalitarian system, will ban Jews, curb the power of the Catholic Church and will line up with Germany and Italy in opposition to Communist Russia and possibly against France, Great Britain and the other democracies.

While there is still a part of Spain which is not conquered, the fall of Barcelona will place Madrid in a parlous position and it cannot be expected to hold out long.

We suggest that the outlook for permanent peace will not be improved if the Spanish government falls.

PROTESTANTS AND CATHOLICS DIVIDED

A poll taken in the United States on the question of interest in Spain indicated that about four-fifths of the people of the continent favor the loyalists. A few people have no sympathies with either side. Evidently sympathy for the loyalists has increased in the last couple of years.

It is pointed out that neither side, if it won, would give the country democratic government so the democratic sympathizers are wasting their sympathy. It was a question whether the country would be ruled by a proletarian dictator or a Fascist dictator.

TAKING CHANCES

British ships which carry supplies to Barcelona or any other port of Spain are taking chances and they know it. If they are bombed they have only themselves to blame. And yet many ships run those chances almost daily. They carry food and other supplies from different ports to Barcelona or other Spanish ports and usually deliver their freights. Occasionally, however, they are struck by bombs and either sunk or badly damaged. This would seem to indicate that the British people generally favor the Spanish government cause although there may be no general national enthusiasm for it.

OFFICERS INSTALLED FOR GYRO

Due Ceremony and Festivity at Gathering Last Night as W. M. Watts Takes Over Gavel of Office

Installation of 1939 officers of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club was conducted with due ceremony and festivity at a highly enjoyable dinner meeting in the Boston Cafe last night. Members of the club and guests numbered about forty. The installation was carried out by District Governor W. H. Tobey, the new officers being: President, W. M. Watts; secretary, J. W. Kilpatrick; treasurer, William Cruickshank; directors, Frank Dibb, Orme Stuart, W. F. Stone and Cecil Fitzgerald. Heads of other public service organizations of the city were in attendance and spoke briefly. There was also an interesting musical program. Later in the evening, bridge playing was enjoyed followed by adjournment to the Capitol Theatre where there was a special showing of the picture "Heart of the North." The retiring president, D. G. Borland, directed the proceedings of the evening.

In his installation address, Mr. Tobey referred to the responsibility of officership in the club. He acknowledged the excellent work of the retiring executive and expressed confidence that the club was in good hands for another year. Gyro, the district governor said, was fundamentally a friendship club, that being the prime actuating favor. Service was a subsidiary yet important adjunct. He referred to a visit to the clubs of Tacoma, Seattle, West Westminster and Nanaimo from which he had just returned and described how the true spirit of Gyro friendship was exemplified in those cities. With brief but effective remarks, Mr. Tobey carried out the ceremony of installation. Just prior to the installation, D. G. Borland, the retiring president, reviewed the affairs and activities of the club during the past year. The playground work had been carried on in a creditable manner under direction of W. F. Stone. The club had added five new members during the year and lost two. The retiring president acknowledged the fine assistance he had received from the secretary, H. S. Meadows; the treasurer, William Cruickshank, and members of the executive, committees and club generally. He paid tribute to the district governor, W. H. Tobey, who was filling that important office in a worthy manner and asked that as many Gyros as possible attend the international and district convention to be held at Jasper this summer. Mr. Borland concluded with an expression of confidence in the new president.

The New President
W. M. Watts, the new president, on taking over the gavel of office, spoke appreciatively of the district governor and the retiring president. Encouragement and fostering of community spirit he deemed matters of much importance and he trusted that the Gyro Club, in spite of difficulties, might function effectively, in collaboration with other organizations, along these lines. He was gratified to see a new interest developing in the community centre project, the establishment of which would be a worthy objective this year. The Rotary Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, in any work along this line, could count on the co-operation and support of the Gyro Club. Mr. Watts announced his standing committees for the year as follows:

- Playgrounds—W. F. Stone, W. H. Tobey and M. C. Brook.
- Civic Relations—Dr. R. G. Large, William Cruickshank and C. C. Mills.
- Purple and Gold—Frank Dibb and D. G. Borland.
- Membership—G. L. Rorie and Cecil Fitzgerald.
- Program—G. A. Hunter, M. C. Brook, D. G. Borland and O. G. Stuart.
- Sports and Inter-Club—J. Scott and O. G. Stewart.
- Bulletin—Dr. H. M. Morrison and Frank Dibb.
- Entertainment—Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, Dr. J. H. Carson, C. P. Balagno, H. S. Meadows and J. H. Bulger.
- Publicity—G. A. Hunter.
- Sergeant-at-Arms—H. S. Meadows.

Greetings of the Rotary Club were conveyed to the Gyro Club by the president of Rotary, W. L. Coates. J. T. Harvey spoke on behalf of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and A. W. Newman for the Junior Chamber. The valuable work being carried on by the Gyro Club was acknowledged by each speaker. Mr. Newman offered the assistance of the Junior Chamber in the civic centre project.

The feature of the musical program were classical violin selections by E. P. Granger who showed himself to be a real master of that instrument. After rendering two fine numbers to the delight of all, he was accorded an ovation. Charles P. Balagno was accompanist. Mario Bussanich also pleased with accordion solos.

During the proceedings, the retiring president, D. G. Borland, presented the attendance cup to William Cruickshank who has had a perfect attendance record over period of ten years.

Winners at ten tables of bridge were W. L. Coates, first, and G. L. Rorie, consolation. The prizes were presented later at the theatre. The guests of the evening were W. L. Coates, J. T. Harvey, A. W. Newman, E. P. Granger, Mario Bussanich, F. A. MacCallum, C. V. Eviatt, George Cripps, T. Fraser, W. E. Drake, Robert Bartlett, Arthur Sutland, Richmond Mortimer, Dr. N. M. CHURCH IN GOOD YEAR

First Presbyterian Congregation in Annual Session Last Night

With the moderator, Rev. H. G. Funston, presiding, the annual congregational meeting of First Baptist Church was held last evening in the church hall. Business included the presentation of reports covering the various activities and finances of the church and the election of officers. The reports presented were very gratifying and showed that the church functioned with a full measure of usefulness during the past year.

The election of officers for 1939 resulted as follows:

Congregational Secretary, W. W. C. O'Neill.

Congregational Treasurer, H. M. Foote.

Trustees—Mr. Justice A. M. Manson and George E. Naden.

Auditor, W. D. Vance.

Board of Managers—James Hadden, R. R. Strachan, W. L. Sandison, with J. A. Teng, H. Calderwood, E. J. Smith, and J. M. Simpson continuing and three members still to be elected.

Reports were presented as follows:

Moderator, Rev. H. G. Funston.

Session, W. W. C. O'Neill.

Budget Treasurer, Samuel Massey.

Board of Managers, E. J. Smith.

Women's Auxiliary—Mrs. J. A. Tenz, secretary; Mrs. J. G. Steen, treasurer.

Women's Missionary Society—Mrs. H. Calderwood, secretary; Mrs. D. C. McRae, treasurer.

Sunday School—C. G. Ham, secretary; E. J. Smith, treasurer.

Young People's Bible Class, Rev. H. G. Funston.

Cradle Roll Department, Mrs. Robert Cameron, Superintendent.

Choirs, Mrs. James Simpson.

Young People's Society—Miss Cathie McMeekin, secretary; Jack Armstrong, treasurer.

Financial Statement, H. M.

Foote, congregational treasurer. In his report as moderator, Mr. Funston expressed appreciation for the support of congregational organizations and urged that the congregation should make an earnest effort to meet its full allocation to the general budget fund of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Membership Increases
The session's report showed a total membership of 115. Eleven new members had been received during the year.

The financial statement was the most encouraging for several years. Church activities of the year were reviewed in the report of the Board of Managers. The manse had been shingled and other necessary repairs had been done by voluntary labor of members and friends.

Special thanks were accorded the Women's Auxiliary, the Women's Missionary Society, and the junior and senior choirs and to all who by their interest and work had contributed to the welfare of the church during the year. Special mention was made of the Girls' Christian Endeavour Group, led by Miss Winnie Cameron, and of P. H. Linzey and others who had so ably conducted the Sabbath services during the absence of the minister. Arrangements were made to hold a special general meeting of the congregation on a subsequent Sunday to complete the election of members to the Board of Managers.

Sitting as a city council yesterday, City Commissioner W. J. Alder gave final reconsideration and adoption to a bylaw providing for the payment of interest of five per cent per annum on advance payments of city taxes.

BUYING NEW TRUCK
City Commissioner W. J. Alder yesterday took the necessary steps, in his capacity as a city council, to purchase a new truck for the city garbage department at a cost of $980 from S. E. Parker.

CLEARING LOG JAM

Carrying Out of Work on Yakoun River, Queen Charlotte Islands, Authorized

According to word received from Olof Hanson, M.P. for Skeena, expenditure of $150 to clear a log jam in the Yakoun River on the Queen Charlotte Islands has been authorized and the work is being placed in hand at once.

A part of the river bank has caved in about three miles from the mouth of the river and a large number of trees have fallen in the river, collecting drift logs and debris. An examination suggested that this might be the nucleus of a serious obstruction to salmon ascending to the spawning areas above if not attended to immediately. In view of this it has been decided to carry out the clearing work before it becomes a serious menace and of size involving a substantial expenditure to remove.

MEMORIAL FOR LENIN

Meeting Held Sunday Night in Canadian Labor Defence League
Hall

A large crowd attended the Lenin memorial meeting held in the Canadian Labor Defence League Hall Sunday night. The subject dealt with by three speakers was Lenin and his work and the turning point in world history after the Great War.

S. Phillips stressed the magnetic period of history when Marx began writing and organizing, the conflicting forces and ideologies that caused conflicts even in the ranks of the labor parties and how, finally, the Communist International was organized and for what purpose.

A. Wallin dealt with the post-war situation, how forces had sprung forth to safeguard the old system and that, although Fascism was a statute of feet of clay, it still had the possibility of pulling down the pillars that carried our present civilization like the biblical Samson. No country was immune from Fascism, the speaker stated, and no nation has the right to presume that democratic liberties were a noble legacy given to special, privileged weaker nations for peace could only lead to disastrous consequences.

H. Hareus spoke on the local situation and stressed the need of a forum in which the people in this locality could assemble to discuss matters of cultural interest to all and sundry.

AUSTRALIA DOUBLING ITS ARMY

Government Meets Demand for Compulsory Training by Increasing Volunteer Troops

MELBOURNE, Jan. 24: (CP)—Australian politics turn upon the question of national defence. The Commonwealth government has again increased its annual appropriation for naval, military, air and coastal armament—this time from £16,000,000 ($60,320,000) to £20,000,000 ($75,400,000).

The Australian News Letter says: After the Great War the people would not have tolerated an expenditure one-third as large. Now public opinion is solidly behind the government. The possibility of the allied aggressive powers seeking expansion in the Western Pacific has entered the Australian mind throughout the continent.

Australia will not consent to the mandated territory known as German New Guinea being returned to Germany. Since the Commonwealth hopes to lessen the Empire responsibilities of Great Britain as far as possible by extending her self-reliance.

A proposal gaining support is that Australia should invite South Africa, New Zealand and perhaps India to contribute jointly auxiliary naval, air and military forces to the base at Singapore.

Government Divided
As far back as 1910 a Commonwealth Labor Government introduced compulsory military training for home defence, but in 1929 another Labor government abolished it in favor of the volunteer system. Difficulty was experienced in maintaining a volunteer peace-time establishment of 35,000.

There is a strong opinion that in present circumstances compulsory training should be resumed. It is urged that the training under this system will be better; that the turnover of men who join the forces and soon leave them will no longer be a source of weakness; that all male citizens of certain ages will be required to defend their country instead of the responsibility being left to the patriotic and willing.

The Commonwealth government is divided on the question. It has prevented disruption of the Cabinet by entering upon an enlistment campaign to increase the citizen army's strength from 35,000 to 70,000. W. M. Hughes, Minister for External Affairs, who led Australia with a loud clarion during the Great War, has been put in charge of the campaign. Simultaneously another campaign is about to organize an Australia-wide association to promote individual health and fitness.

Should the volunteer enlistment effort fall short of success the government will probably have to face the issue of compulsory training for home defence and make a prompt decision. Most of those who are left of the 323,000 "Diggers" who fought well in the Great War support compulsory training strongly. Education in Australia is compulsory. Those who wish to ensure that democracy is as efficient materially as is dictatorship argue there is as much reason for making physical education compulsory also. They want it to progress in association with universal military training.

The National Health and Medical Research Council, who recommended the physical culture plan, declared that "the urgency of the situation might well be thought to justify a compulsory universal obligation to preserve physical fitness."

Hitherto Australians have prided themselves upon the success of their athletes and upon the stature and strength of the hundreds of thousands who fill the ranks of their sporting clubs. Australia appears to be widely awake to the challenge of dictatorship in national strength, economic and otherwise.

SACKVILLE, N.B., Jan. 24: (CP)—William S. H. Crawford, Saint John, N. B., New Brunswick's 1939 Rhodes Scholar, was tendered a banquet by the following five other Rhodes scholars now at Mount Allison University: Dr. Frank P. Day, Prof. Norman G. Laidlaw, Dr. F. G. Stanley, Prof. Donald G. MacGregor and Prof. O. E. Smith.

Tonight's train, due from the East at 11 o'clock, was reported this afternoon to be on time.

Man in the Moon

The world seemed all right on a morning such as this one was.

Here's a health to the people with whom we disagree. May they live long and may we continue to differ.

Jake says that honest differences are good for the world. That is why totalitarianism can never succeed.

Someone wants to know who Jake is. If you met him friend, you would not need to ask that question. You would know.

No man is a prophet to his own people and to most people Jake is just a name.

Jake says that Canada is the greatest country in the world. He ought to know because he was born here.

Any person who does not think Canada is the greatest country in the world should move on and try some other country or go back to the place from which he came.

The greatness of Canada depends upon the greatness of her people. Those who have no capacity for greatness could well be spared.

Here's to the country we all love so well
Here's to the land where great souls dwell

Here's to the people and here's to the places
Here's to the dear old familiar faces.

"You seem to know the modern dances very well?"

"I ought to. I've spent much time among the African natives."

"Ladies and gentlemen," said a chairman of a singing concert. "I have to announce that Mrs. Brown will be unable to sing as announced, and therefore Mr. Borwn will give us 'A Song of Thanksgiving.'"

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "but are you a resident here?"

"Yes," was the answer. "I've been here thirty years. What can I do for you?"

"I'm looking for a criminal lawyer," said the stranger. "Have you any here?"

"Well," said the other, "We're pretty sure we have but we can't prove it."

HALIFAX, Jan. 24: (CP)—Alderman E. B. Batson suggested at a meeting of the firewards committee of the Halifax city council that seven members of the city fire department, including Chief John Churchill, be retired because they were 60 years old or more.

NEW CHIEF INSTALLED

Robert Harris Elevated at Kitwanga With Kitwancool and Kitzegukla People Present

KITWANGA, Jan. 24.— People gathered at Kitwanga from Kitzegukla and Kitwancool to honor Robert Harris who is to be made chief, head of the Eagle tribe of Kitwanga. Prior to arrivals of the two villages the chief-to-be was honored by other chiefs with the usual native dances held at their own villages. At Kitwanga similar honors were bestowed upon the chief-elect.

Two runners from the village were sent to meet the Kitwancool people. The Kitzegukla were similarly met at the station by two other runners dressed in the full native costumes.

In the evening of the arrival of the guests from the two villages a welcome feast was held in the community hall. Very colorful costumes were worn by the local villagers at the feast. They danced to the rhythm of old Indian songs bringing in food for the feast.

The following evening there was an Indian dance and show. The guests were all dressed up in colorful costumes of very contrasting colors. The dances proved very interesting to the young generation and this was ended by a dance by Robert Harris who had now completed the usual rites in order to be a chief.

On Saturday afternoon, all the chiefs and people from different villages gathered in the community hall for their final feast leading to the election of Mr. Harris, now known as Chief Gil-o-wa-ha. The Totem Pole Band played suitable selections to make this party similar to that of the Coronation period. After the expenses being settled and goods placed in the hands as prizes to those who authorized Indian names, speeches were made by many well known chiefs. Mr. Harris made a suitable speech for the occasion, thanking the chiefs and people who gathered and attended his election as chief of the Eagle tribe.

On the following Sunday the chief was received and blessed in the Holy Church.

Personal expenses leading to his election as chief, Mr. Harris spent approximately $1546.40. This amount does not include the expenses of friends and relatives.

Carried King When Toddler

MONTREAL, Jan. 24: (CP)—When King George VI. comes to Montreal in May, one man here will see him who carried him on his back when he was a toddler, writes Harriet Hill in The Gazette. It is unlikely he will be seen by the King, however. For this man, who was a royal servant at Marlborough House, is a modest man and prefers to keep out of the limelight.

Richard Howard recalls the present King as a quiet but charming little fellow who liked to be carried across the garden, who adored his sister Mary and loved to play games. He was as much like his father, George V., as Edward VII. he said.

He could not find words glowing enough to describe the charming family life led in that household; nor to describe the lack of affection in both parents and children.
