Sum Of $350,000 Is Needed To Permanently Repair Roads In Residential Section Of City

The only permanent remedy for the condition in which many streets of the city are to be found today is complete reconstruction of the major part of the roads in the residential districts at an estimated cost of $350,000, City Commissioner W. J. Alder is advised by City Engineer F. N. Good in a report which was made public at the City Hall this morning. Such a program would not include sidewalk reconstruction or repair which are also admitted to be badly needed. Costs for the road reconstruction would vary from $10,000 to $40,000 per mile, says the report.

NEW DRUG IS HAILED

Great Medical Advance; Relieves Congestion in Pneumonia

EDMONTON, Feb. 27: (CP)—Dr. E. T. Washburn, a new drug developed in England last year, has brought speedy, dramatic recoveries to five pneumonia patients at University Hospital here during the last three months.

The new treatment is one of the greatest advances in medical science for many years, according to Dr. E. T. Washburn, superintendent of the hospital. In addition to cutting down the cost of treatment to a few dollars, it has enabled recovery to such an extent that a patient can breathe normally 48 hours after the first administration.

Pneumonia, said Dr. Washburn, has been responsible for more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid fever, malaria, influenza, meningitis and automobile accidents combined. But use of the new pills, he said, now makes death "an outside possibility" if the disease is caught in time.

Formerly the only feasible means of combating pneumonia was through anti-pneumonia serums. Under that process it was necessary first to find out from which of 32 types of pneumonia the patient was suffering. The treatment could be administered only in hospitals or properly equipped doctors' offices. The cost here was $25.

The new pills cost only three cents each. In the average case four are required for normal recovery. They can easily be carried by doctor in his bag and, as soon as pneumonia symptoms appear in a patient, they can be administered. Temperatures, usually running above 100 degrees, are quickly brought back to normal, relieving lung congestion and bringing comfort to the patient.

The drug itself is a derivative of sulphathiazole, a chemical whose introduction gave an immense stimulus to research for chemical substances active against specific bacterial infections.

BOMBS IN PALESTINE

Two Explosions Result in Thirty-Four Persons Losing Lives

HAIFA, Palestine, Feb. 27: (CP)—Two bomb explosions here today killed twenty-six Arabs and other persons and injured forty-nine.

Soldiers and police were ordered to a state of alert as a wave of Arab-Jew terrorism coincided with a deadlock in the London conference. That meeting, discussing means of ending the Arab-Jewish conflict, is, apparently, breaking down with the executive board of the Jewish agency rejecting the British plan eventually to create Palestine an independent Arab state allied with Great Britain, the Jews holding minority status.

Paying one of his periodical visits to this his home constituency, Premier T. D. Pattullo arrived in the city on the Catala last evening from Victoria. Following arrival, Mr. Pattullo said that he had no announcements to make, reserving until a meeting tonight his communications to the public. The Premier says he expects to pay another visit to Prince Rupert in the summer.

WIDOW OF LENIN IS DEAD NOW

Nadejda Krupskaya Was As Great A Revolutionist As Was The Father of Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Feb. 27: (CP)—Nadejda Kotsantinnova Krupskaya, widow of Nikolai Lenin and no whit less a revolutionist than the father of the Soviet Union, died today at the age of seventy. She spent her adult life battling for the overthrow of the czarist system and, that accomplished, for the emancipation of women and the wiping out of illiteracy in her country.

A fighter by her husband's side throughout the imperial oppression and the dark days of the 1917-23 revolution and civil wars, she carried on after her husband's death on January 21, 1924, as Russia's most militant feminist. She was an energetic speaker and a prolific writer.

Like other women in Russia, she appeared in public either personally or by print, under her own name. A childless, lonely but still vigorous old woman, she passed her declining years in the apartments within the Kremlin where the high officials of the soviet government resided, beloved of the masses and known to them as "grandmother of Russia."

She was born in St. Petersburg in 1869. Her father was an army officer of noble birth, but he was poverty stricken and her mother had to become a governess to help support her children. The parents were revolutionary in their ideas and Nadejda inherited her radical zeal.

Her father died when she was 14 and she became a tutor in order to assist her mother. But she managed to get through the newly-established women's college and was graduated with honors.

Married in Exile

From 1891 to 1896 she taught workers in Sunday schools. Early attracted by the doctrine of Tolstoy, she also studied Marxism through these years, became active in the secret revolutionary circles of the czarist capital and met Lenin.

In 1896 she took an active part in a workers' strike and was sentenced to three years of exile in Shushinsk, a village in the Minusinsk district of Siberia. Lenin also was in Siberia and they were granted permission to spend their exile in the same town provided they would marry. They were registered as man and wife in 1898.

The third year of her exile was spent in Ofo. Then she got an exit passport and went to Munich where she became secretary of a publishing office. Joined there by Lenin, they became members of the foreign league of Russian social democrats, publishing a Marxist paper and working for a centralized "underground" organization to overthrow czarism. Eventually this centralization idea led to the historic 1903 split of the social democrats into mensheviks and bolsheviks, with Lenin at the head of the latter and destined to become founder of the U.S.S.R.

LIKELY TO LOSE

Partly as a result of the recent break in the Labor ranks in Britain and partly because of a growing conviction that Prime Minister Chamberlain probably did the right thing at Munich, it seems as if the Labor Opposition in the British Parliament was doomed to serve another few years in the cold shades. There did seem to be some chance of Labor winning with the help of the few liberals and other opposition groups if the advice of Sir Stafford Cripps had been taken but the Labor Party expelled Sir Stafford and would have none of his policy. Yet many labor groups are out in support of his policy and there lies the danger. Conservative Britain will probably remain Conservative Britain but it will not be very conservative. As usually happens in that country, the Conservatives pass most of the radical legislation after they have opposed it sternly for a number of years.

According to everything one reads or hears about England, the people are calmly accepting the fact that all their efforts must go to rearming in order to keep pace with the dictatorships. The sympathy of the ruling classes seem to be with Germany and Italy in their efforts to combat Communism but against them in their efforts to subdue the democracies. It is a curious condition of affairs, just as curious as is the fact that the British radicals urged the government to fight the dictators and then voted to reduce the expenditures on armaments.

FOR AND AGAINST

There will during the next few months be a great many arguments for and against the trade agreements by which Britain, United States and Canada are bound together by a mutual economic arrangement. An effort is being made to show that the advantage is all to the United States and none to Canada.

The feature that is not pointed out by either side is that the arguments seem to assume that the former trade agreement with Britain would have gone on for ever. As a matter of fact it was due for rewriting very soon and could not have continued without each party to the agreement trying to get some advantage. This is an important fact to bear in mind in all the discussions which are about to take place.

NEW PARTIES

These are days of quick changes. There has been talk at various times of the possibility of the formation of a new party at Ottawa, possibly a new national party. Also there has been talk of the possibility of the formation of a Quebec Nationalist party. Then there is the movement to form a few businessmen's party, all of which looks like a tendency away from the old two-party system. What it all means or what will come of it eventually, nobody seems to know. The experience of Hon. H. H. Stevens and his new party at the last election would seem to have been sufficient warning to new party leaders but the failure of one party does not mean the failure of others. Possibly the return home of Premier Hepburn of Ontario has something to do with the new movement.

West Of England Surrounded By Airplane Works

Resident of Old Country Gives a Little Glimpse of What is Going On There

A lady writing to a Prince Rupert resident from rural England says: "I have taken my first aid in connection with A.R.P. and am now going on with gas lectures so as to be ready in case of attack. We sincerely hope it will never come." She then tells of a section of the west of England that is "all built up in connection with a local airplane works, building night and day. We are surrounded by airplane works." One of these employ over a thousand men and four more are in course of construction.

The letter concludes: "We think Chamberlain took the right course at Munich. Only this week a man came taking particulars as to how many refugees we could take in case of evacuation."

Children Saving For Royal Visit

Plan To Finance 500-Mile Journey
By Household Economies

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 27: (CP)—Household economies may finance a journey to Winnipeg to see the King and Queen in May.

The children of one The Pas family have father's promise 'sufficient funds can be saved from household expenses the 500-mile journey to Winnipeg for the royal visit will be made.

The first saving was one that no amount of parental prompting had been able to effect before—the saving of electric light. Windows that once blazed with lights carelessly left burning are now dark. The cluster above the dining room table has been reduced to one lone bulb.

The oldest boy skipped his last haircut; one of the girls does without butter with her meals and the youngest, seven years old, has urged "Dad" to miss a service club luncheon occasionally and save a "whole half dollar."

Odd pennies saved by the children are deposited in a cocoa tin bank.

GOING TO SEE KING

Local Battery Party in Reception At Victoria In May

Prince Rupert will be well represented at a reception to the King and Queen at Victoria in May if present plans are carried out. Lieut. Col. S. D. Johnston has received word from military headquarters at Esquimalt that a considerable section of the local battery is expected to take its training at Esquimalt just about the time Their Majesties visit Victoria and they will help provide the guard which will line the street for the occasion. This will give them all an opportunity to take an active part in the reception and to see the King and Queen.

100,000 Visitors

According to word received from Victoria, the capital city is expected to be thronged with possibly 100,000 visitors when the King is there. Preparations are already under way to organize all facilities of accommodation and, even with that, it is anticipated that the city will be taxed far beyond capacity. Every hotel room is already booked and there are long waiting lists. Civic authorities have taken a hand and are endeavouring to ascertain what may be possible in private homes with a view to possible billeting. There may be some difficulty, too, in getting meals for Victoria, at best, is none too well equipped with restaurants.

Thousands of school children will be coming to Victoria from all over the Island. In compliance with the King's wishes, civic authorities are making special efforts to ensure that the children will be in position to see Their Majesties which they might not be able to do if they became lost in the general crowds.

Large crowds of people from Seattle and the northwest states are also expected in Victoria on the occasion of the visit of Their Majesties.

Church Not Given Its Proper Place

Pastor Questions if There is Much Communion With God In Lodges, Societies and Clubs

Rev. H. G. Funston, at morning service yesterday in First Presbyterian Church, suggested to his congregation that men could not commune with God in lodges, societies

AVOID NEEDLESS CHANCES

PROVED WAY TO TREAT COLDS

Doubly proved—in world's largest cold-clinic, and by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind. No "dosing." Just massage VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. Relief begins almost at once. And long after sleep comes, VapoRub keeps right on working. Its poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation and coughing, helps break local congestion. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

VICKS VAPORUB

or clubs as they could in church. He questioned if there was desire to commune with God in lodges, societies or clubs. True some of the lodges might be founded on the Scriptures and there might be a measure of religion in some of their meetings but certainly there was none in their dances and card parties.

The pastor deplored remissness in worship through church attendance. A man who would go through all kinds of difficulties to attend his lodge or club meeting too often might plead in failing to go to church that it was too rainy or that it was so fine he must go on a picnic.

BIG TASK IS FACED

Planes For Great Britain To Be Manufactured at Fort William
Factory

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 27: (CP)—An industrial drama is unfolding in the plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company here where preparations are under way for the production of airplanes for the air ministry of Great Britain.

An experimental plane, designed and produced here, has been completed; two more are being built and by May 1 it is expected a full-time production schedule will be in operation.

Tool-making machinery and other equipment costing $100,000 necessary for the manufacture of the thousands of parts that go into a completed airplane have been installed.

Huge machines are in place. One machine, a jib-boring unit, is capable of boring holes in any location within an area of three to four feet to the accuracy of one ten-thousandth of an inch. It weighs seven tons.

David Boyd, works manager, has thousands of drawings, 2000 for tools and fixtures and 5,000 airplane drawings sent from the air ministry in London.

At Fort William's new airport, a permanent hangar, 80 feet long and 60 feet wide of steel and brick construction, will be erected in the spring. From it test pilots will carry out their hazardous flights in new planes.

TOURISTS TROUNCED

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa, Feb. 27: (CP)—Jean Saunders, formerly of Calgary, lost to Miss M. Morpheus, 7-5, 6-1, here necessary for the manufacture of a touring British tennis team was beaten 7-0 by Natal.

Compromise Issue Is Facing Church

Fundamental Teachings of Bible
Being Endangered, Declares
Army Commandant

A crowd which well filled the Citadel gathered for the Sunday evening service at the Salvation Army. Captain Ivan Halsey, local commandant, delivered an address on the subject: "The Church of God at the Crossroads." He intimated that the Christian church was facing today the greatest question in its history.

"The question of compromise," the speaker said, "is one that is confronting all religious bodies in the present age." In a material sense the spirit of compromise had crept in by letting down the barriers to such things as dancing, card parties, theatre going, etc. Also, spiritually, many were taking a stand that greatly endangered the fundamental teachings of the Bible. In order not to offend attendants at the services, there was weakening and compromise.

"There are certain fundamentals which, if taken away from us, would make the church void and of no effect. Some of these are the teaching of the authenticity of the Scriptures, the truth regarding the creation of man, the Virgin Birth of Christ, the Divinity of Christ, the Blood of Christ, the second coming of Christ."

There was singing by the congregation and vocal duets were rendered by Ruth and Grace Jones and Ruth Jones and Captain Halsey. At the close of the service one soul sought Christ at the altar.

AIR FILM IN COLOR

Cavalcade of Aviation Seen in
"Men With Wings" at Capitol
Theatre

First air epic ever to be filmed in technicolor, "Men With Wings" comes as the first of the week feature offering to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here. Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland and Louise Campbell head the cast of the thrilling romance of three young American pioneers of the air who lived during the years from the flight of the Wright brothers at Kitty Hawk in 1903 to the lightning round-the-world hops of the present day. Therefore, the story is a virtual cavalcade of man's progress in the air. Even the love of the principals for each other ranks second to their love of flying.

Miss Campbell, in love with both men, must choose between the romantic, dare-devil swash-buckler of the air, MacMurray, and the courageous pioneer builder of planes, Milland. In her decision is bound up the future of aviation's progress for many years.

The various events and developments of the several eras of the thirty-five years covered in the story bring new heartaches and new triumphs for the trio and the picture is not without its thrilling sequences and passages of drama.

Andy Devine and Walter Abel are important members of the supporting cast of "Men With Wings."
