Still Believed Hitler Plans Another Snatch Before Very Long

Poland Issues Warning That it Would Be Overt Act and Would Result in War—Hore-Belisha Says Britain Ready—Still Working on Russia

LONDON, July 19: (CP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain declared today that he hoped to be able to announce conclusion of a Anglo-French-Russian mutual assistance pact before Parliament recesses on August 4 but said: "We certainly have not got an agreement yet." He made the statement while replying to questions in the House of Commons.

WARSAW, July 19.—With well informed quarters expressing confidence that Chancellor Adolf Hitler would stand by his pledge to fulfil Danzig's purported wish to return to the Reich by taking over the Free Port no later than September 20, Poland issued a warning that such a move would be considered as an overt act and would provoke war. While the tension in the international atmosphere has been somewhat less during the past few days, nevertheless there are still sparks of conflict and Danzig appears to be yet danger centre out of which may spring up a conflagration of war. It is suddenly out of seemingly lull conditions that Hitler has been known to spring in the past. Secretary for War Leslie Hore-Belish of Great Britain warned Germany last night that British aircraft defences were being manned twenty-four hours per day and had been strengthened at least twenty-fold just lately. Meanwhile Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, Inspector-General of British overseas forces, is still here conferring with the Polish general staff on the part the armies and air forces of the two powers will play in event of war. While in Poland, General Ironside is expected to visit Polish fortifications on the German frontier.

ALBERTA UNDER ABERHART

From time to time we have had occasion to criticize the Aberhart government and the whole of the country seems to have been either attacking the Alberta premier or ridiculing him. For that reason it is rather refreshing to find a defender of the Social Credit government in D. Nolan Forbes, writing in the Canadian Unionist. According to him "Alberta is going places." He says: "The Aberhart government, in four years, has reformed Alberta's system of land settlement; instituted state medicine for tubercular persons and victims of infantile paralysis; paved 400 miles of highways; reformed education to take metropolitan facilities to every rural district; recognized the teaching profession on the same basis as those of law or medicine; reduced the male minimum wage age from 21 to 19 years; recovered in one year for more than 1,100 underpaid workers more than $32,000 in wages; reduced the public debt elsewhere in the Dominion; saved from eviction thousands of farmers who, had it not been for the Aberhart government, would have lost their farms, and has cancelled all drought area tax arrears and relief advances incurred by farmers prior to 1936.

"Premier William Aberhart and his associates have done even more. They have set up a marketing board not only to conduct the orderly marketing of products within its sphere but to buy in bulk for manufacturers. The Aberhart government, without damaging trade outside the province, has dealt a master stroke for Alberta industry and its workers by paying to consumers a three per cent bonus on Alberta-made goods purchased by voucher."

The writer goes on to tell of the "treasury vouchers" used as money in Alberta by 4,400 retail merchants. There are branch offices of the provincial treasury all over the province and all are doing business, thus establishing a medium of exchange eagerly taken by practically everyone. This, the writer claims, is a step toward socialized credit. Through it the government is financing roads and other public works, putting thousands of men to work and placing the province at the top of the list of Canadian provinces in regard to employment. The government has also put in force a system of hail insurance.

Further than that, according to the same authority, the school system has been reformed, arrears of teachers' salaries have been paid, high school facilities have been extended and education costs equalized. In spite of opposition from people in almost all walks of life in which he was misrepresented, ridiculed and maligned, Aberhart stands well with the people he has benefited and it is suggested is likely to be given a new lease of political life at the next election. Finally, the writer says: "The rest of Canada learns the truth about what Aberhart has accomplished in Alberta, Canadians may clamor for him at Ottawa as Albertans clamored for him before they sent him to Edmonton. Be that as it may, Aberhart has brought new life and new hope to Alberta." This is the Aberhart side of the political policy of Alberta.

If you have something to sell, a classified advertisement in this paper will soon let you know if there is a buyer in the city.

TRAINED IN CANADA TO AID CHINA

Theologian, Doctor and Engineer Play Major Roles in Distressed Country

By PETER E. WONG

SHANGHAI, July 19: (CP)—

China has called upon her foreign-educated young men to lead her people in their struggle for existence. Among the many who are performing a heavy task are three Canadian-trained and educated young Chinese. Each is outstanding in his respective field and a credit to Canadian training.

The one who is probably best known to Canadians and whose Canadian friends are legion is Professor William B. Djang, M.A., B.D., of Knox College and the University of Toronto. Previous to the outbreak of war, Bill Djang occupied an obscure position as Dean of the School of Theology at his Alma Mater, Shantung Christian University, now known as Cheeloo University, a school supported by the United Church of Canada. Here over the course of years, he has been doggedly and enthusiastically giving his whole time to the preparation of young Chinese for leadership in the native Church of China.

On all who came in contact with him, Djang impressed the imprint of his personality and his devotion to Christianity. Little is known of the fact that when the University came to select a new president, he was offered the job, as was natural under the circumstances, but declined.

He nominated another alumnus, stating that he preferred to remain in the school teaching religious subjects where he felt the need was infinitely greater. Those who know the prestige that the president of a university carries with him in China will appreciate the opportunity he declined.

Therefore, when fighting broke out, it was natural that Bill should volunteer for service at the front among the soldiers. Wherever the fighting was thickest, Bill would be behind the lines, organizing rests and carry succor to the wounded, often carrying the stretchers himself. His work was so outstanding that before long the China Christian Council, which was naturally engaged in the same work, saw and appreciated his worth and made him Field General Secretary. Today he is still at it, running between fronts organizing and directing the field work that has been favorably commented upon by the Chinese government and Military Headquarters. His present address is the Y.M.C.A. in Kunming, Yunnan Province, or the United Church headquarters quarters in Chungking, China's war-torn capital in Czechwan Province.

With the advent of hostilities, he found his hands full caring for the wounded soldiers that were filling his wards. But it was to defenceless civilians, victims of hundreds of bombings of Canton, that Ross devoted himself heart and soul. When Canton was about to fall to the invader and everyone, including doctors, was running away, he made his choice. He sent his fam-

Boy From Port Hope

The last of this trio is Frank Yee Lem, B.Sc., M.E. He hails from Port Hope. There Frank is well known to the townspeople who have kindly recollections of the young Chinese lad who operated a restaurant on its main street and went to Port Hope High School at the same time. Many a time they've seen Yee sleeping with his head resting atop his books when there was a lull in the business. Frank entered the University of Toronto for two years and then left for New York University to complete his education. He had an opportunity to enter Ford's River plant for further experience.

There he came under the influence of Dr. Bailey, a missionary, whose chief purpose in life was to see that Chinese students were given an opportunity to see and work in American industrial concerns.

VANCOUVER, July 19: (CP)—W. A. Hanna, visiting Kamloops motorist, died yesterday of injuries sustained on a suburban street when his car collided with a passenger bus. This ended on the fourth day another campaign for 100 deathless traffic days in Vancouver. Hanna was a Kamloops telegraph operator.

ED KENNEY IS HONORED

Sixty Friends Gathered At Lakeside Lake On Sunday

TERRACE, July 19:—A large party of friends, numbering about sixty, met on Sunday at the Lakeside home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Kenney to wish many happy returns of the day to Mr. Kenney, whose birthday it was. A very pleasant time ensued, many gliding over the lake's surface in the various boats that were to be had.

On shore games were got up including a competition among the men to win a prize at sawing the log. This proved more popular than might be supposed. As any woodsman knows, to saw a fair-sized log clean through is no child's play. However that may be, the winner was J. A. Barman, who cut off a round in the shortest time—eight minutes and a half. Dr. L. W. Kergin, who with Mrs. Kergin has been staying with the Kennys, managed to get a round off although, if the umpire is to be believed, it took him two hours and fifteen minutes.

Refreshments were served on the verandah. R. W. Riley made a happy speech fitting the occasion. Favored by fair weather, which has been all too infrequent of late, the party dispersed by boat and car to their homes in Terrace and district.

Industrial concerns is the fact that 30,000,000 homeless refugees have been put to creative work instead of roaming the countryside destitute and helpless in the wake of the retreating armies. Frank feels that his work is an augury for the days to come and that China will not face too bleak a future when peace returns.

Other Canadian Chinese are doing their bit in other places such as Hong Kong and Shanghai. But these three are outstanding.

Five thousand Prince Rupert people read the Daily News. It pays to let them know what you have to sell.

All Set for Port Day—Further Improvement in Sockeye Run Reported — Government Wharf Road To Be Hard Surfaced

Everything is now set for the Port Day regatta to be staged tomorrow afternoon by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce. All that is now required for full enjoyment of an excellently arranged aquatic program is the blessing of the Weather Man and, although there were some misgivings today, hopes were still high for the best. If the event gets any kind of a break from the weather standpoint, the trail for most Prince Rupert folk tomorrow will lead waterfrontwards. The Port Day committees have put a lot of effort into making a success of the show and, no doubt, their efforts will be rewarded.

Establishment of a light on Holiday Island in Chatham Sound is announced by the Department of Transport. It is a flashing white acetylene light, automatically flashed at short intervals, and is situated on the northern extremity of Holiday Island. The elevation is thirty feet and the structure is a concrete base surmounted by white slatwork drum with lantern on top. It is an unwatched light.

An improvement in sockeye fishing in the Smith's Inlet area is reported at the Dominion Fisheries office where it is stated that the gillnetters have been averaging fifty-five fish to the boat during the past couple of days. The Skeena River average yesterday was reported to be forty fish while the last report from the Naas showed an average of twenty-five. Pinks are expected to show up in greater numbers very soon now. The Naas River will be opened to seining next Sunday evening.

C.P.R. steamer Princess Alice, Capt. John Williams, is due in port at 3:30 this afternoon from Skagway and other Alaska points and will sail at 5 p.m. for Vancouver.

Southbound from Ketchikan to Seattle, the Alaska Transportation Co.'s steamer Tongass, Capt. O. Hanson, arrived in port at 8 o'clock last evening, sailing in continuation of her voyage south after discharging.

Aboard the department cruiser Naskeena, Indian Agent James Gillett left yesterday morning for a trip to the Skeena River and as far down the coast as Buteedale. Next week Mr. Gillett will make a trip up the Naas River and will later visit Bella Coola.

An early improvement on the local waterfront will be the hard surfacing of the section of roadway between the Cow Bay railway crossing and the government wharf which is to be given a top of crushed rock bound with tar. The work is to be carried out very shortly by the department of public works. It will remove the dust nuisance there and make the going easier for vehicles and pedestrians alike.

With a full list of passengers, consisting mostly of round trip tourists for Alaska, C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil McLean, arrived in port at 9 o'clock this morning from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls and sailed at 1 o'clock this afternoon for Skagway and other northern points whence she is due back here next Monday southbound.

Halibut prices at Seattle reached the highest point for the 1939 season on Monday when two boats landed a total of 32,500 pounds at the Puget Sound port. These boats were: Swift II, 15,000 pounds, Whiz, 10 1/2c and 9 1/2c; Faith II, 17,500 pounds, San Juan, 10 1/2c and 9 1/2c. The Swift II also had 500 pounds of ling cod for which 2c was paid and the Faith II 500 pounds of sablefish for which 4c per pound was paid. The Theima II sold 13,000 pounds of sablefish to $4.00 and 300 pounds of ling cod at 4c per pound.

What will be one of the largest vessels of the Pacific Coast halibut fleet is now under construction at Seattle by F. A. Sagstad for Capt. Paul Pedersen of the Aleutian. In the ownership of the new boat with Capt. Pedersen will be the boat-builder himself and Hans Anderson and Daniel Forseth, members of the Aleutian crew. The vessel, 76 feet long with beam of 19 1/2 feet and depth of eight feet, will be named Gallant. She will have a 200 h.p. Atlas Imperial diesel engine and her speed will be about nine knots per hour.

Is Honored Before Leaving Hazelton

HAZELTON, July 19:—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson and Mrs. Frayner left Hazelton by car towards the end of last week for Vancouver and Mrs. Frayner's home at Gibson's Landing. Mrs. Frayner had been visiting here for a year with her sisters, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. James Turnbull.

During her stay in Hazelton, Mrs. Frayner, in spite of occasional ill-health, was active in the work of St. Peter's Church Woman's Auxiliary and, at a meeting of the Auxiliary prior to her departure, she was presented with a framed colored photograph of Rocher de Boule Mountain and surrounding scenery as a tribute from members and friends present. The presentation was made by Mrs. Sealy on behalf of the members and friends, a beautiful corsage bouquet also being given. After tea, music was enjoyed with songs by Mrs. M. A. Myros and Mrs. A. Falconer, piano solos by Mrs. A. D. Chaswell and community singing of "For She's A July Good Fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne."

At a bridge party, with tables for eight, given by Mrs. R. S. Miss Clotworthy won first class. Several other gifts were also presented to Mrs. Frayner including a wristwatch, scarf and handkerchiefs.

Extra washing, extra baths, company dishes—there are so many uses for hot water in summer. Time was when hot water was the hardest thing to get in hot weather, but the automatic electric water heater has changed all that. It delivers gallons of hot water whenever you need it. The heating element of an electric water heater goes right inside. That is why it is so economical to run. No passing through long exposed coils to lower temperature and require more heat. The outside of the tank is heavily insulated to prevent escape of heat. You will find an Automatic Electric Water Heater the perfect solution of your hot water problem.
