ANTHONY EDEN

As he celebrates the 42nd anniversary of his birth, Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden may well contemplate what has happened since that February day last year when, for reasons which all the world knows, he resigned his portfolio of Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the Chamberlain government, says the Victoria Times. As a private member of the British House of Commons, he has witnessed the annexation of Austria by Nazi Germany, the rape of Czechoslovakia, the absorption into the Third Reich of the Lithuanian area of Memel, the complete Fascist victory in Spain, the partitioning of Albania by Italy—and the world inescapably enmeshed in an armament race never before equalled. In the 16 months which have elapsed since he sacrificed a brilliant career in public life, relinquished one of the highest offices within the gift of his sovereign—because he refused to deal with a blackmailier—much has happened which at times must have caused Anthony Eden many moments of anguish.

Whatever the historians may say about Britain's former Foreign Secretary, when these times can be viewed and considered in their proper perspective, this day and generation know that his fears for British foreign policy and its consequences were more than justified by the course of events. His warning was timely, his advice sound but it fell on deaf ears. The rest belongs to the realm of tragic fact. To the lasting credit of Anthony Eden, however, has been his public conduct since he made way for his successor at the Foreign Office. He has not embarrassed his former colleagues; he has indulged in no verbal pyrotechnics, has not sought that popular acclaim which could have been his if traditional reserve had abdicated in favor of streamlined political manoeuvre; he has applauded Prime Minister Chamberlain for his tardy recognition of realities, has urged his countrymen to support to the limit Britain's new policy of dealing with the dictators. Mr. Eden has "played the game" and time is on his side. More will be heard of him before the world is much older.

RUSSIA AS AN ALLY

The New York Times hits the nail on the head when it says: "As a matter of fact, the idea of an alliance with Russia has its unpleasant aspects for the British and the French, no less than for the small countries of eastern Europe."

By no stretch of imagination can Russia under its present regime be described as a democracy. The same brutal methods of dictatorship, the same resort to governmental espionage and terror, the same ruthless regimentation of the individual into blind service of the state, prevailing in Germany, prevail also in Germany's great adversary in the east.

"The one substantial difference in the present situation is that Russia wants peace, whereas Germany seeks conquest, and that Russia's interests in this one decisive matter parallel the interests of the western powers and make a defensive alliance possible. But it is a marriage of convenience, not a partnership of friends."

ABOUT MANY THINGS

Editor, Daily News:
I expect you have a nice large waste basket, if needed. However, for a change, this is not "objections" but "objections".

There is one objective which I have been raving about for many years. It is the rindie perpetuated upon the northern interior when during the war we had a Union Government that deliberately stole out G.T.P. The business men, farmers and all who settled in this country, as well as the bondholders who bought G.T.P. stock, were led to do so upon the promises of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The whole thing was voted upon by the people and the bonds sold and people bought a good many city lots because the G.T.P. was to be a short cut to the Orient. The G.T.P. bonds were to connect at Prince Rupert for the Orient.

Had this been carried out, we of the interior would not be having about markets for our produce because we could not produce enough to supply the ships alone.

In any case it was a bare-faced swindle and, if the people of this country went to court about the matter, they should be able to secure reimbursement for their losses in full.

That is what we get when we have a Union government. It is even worse than what we get at present—from any party.

It is also possible that this would be a good place to mention the matter of the Wheat Pool or, rather, the government elevator and the C.P.R. That reminds us to do you suppose these are chided up to that so-called C.N.R. deficit? These and the Vancouver Hotel matter are likely included. We are told that the only thing to do is to give the whole thing into the tender hands of the C.P.R. Such statesmanship! Such mental caliber! Just in case we might also ask what became of those rails which were torn up on the Canadian Northern at the time the G.T.P. was stolen and wrecked? They were piled up along the banks of the St. Lawrence the last we heard. At that time they were supposed to be required in France. At the price of 3c a pound it would reduce the C.N.R. deficit a bit but, doubtless, they laid around and some one got them for a song.

Please pardon me. I forgot that this C.N.R. deficit was now an "asset". I might also make a few remarks about that Terrace-Rupert road. At the same time I would mention the Prince George-Jasper road. Likewise the necessity of going through the United States to cross Canada. I will just skip the millions wasted during the past ten years in so-called relief which might have built these roads. However, it is now too late to cry about spilled milk so I will again remark "that the Dominion is wasting a million dollars every day right now for no purpose whatever." How many days of this waste would it require to build these roads? At present the million dollars, which the taxpayers have to pay, get them exactly nothing. It does seem to me that a Terrace-Rupert road might just as well be had so why not go after these things? Quick.

DIVINE IDEA

Editor, Daily News:
I wish to correct an erroneous impression you seem to have given to your readers of the British Israel theory. In your "Saving the World edi-social Wednesday you state the British-Israel theory seems to be a combination of salvation through divine aid "and sometimes through getting rid of the divine idea."

The latter part of the statement is entirely wrong and nowhere in our literature is such a thing suggested. But whether you believe it or not we shall come to the point where we shall expect God to do it for us.

MARRIAGE AT ENDAKO

Miss May Caldwell Becomes Bride Of Frank Dockrill At Pretty Ceremony

Floral decorations of white blossoms and green foliage against white lattice formed a pretty setting recently at St. John's Church, Endako, when May, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew C. Caldwell, and Frank, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Dockrill of Telkwa, were united in marriage by Rev. Frank Bushfield, of Burns Lake.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a floor length vogue gown of apple-blossom pink net, fashioned in a bouffant style with a deep band of stiffened lace bordering the full skirt. This was supplemented by a fitted bolero-jacket of the same material and a crownless halo-hat, also of the same material, being fastened with long velvet streamers.

FIRST FIVE YEAR PLAN NOW ENDED

Five Planning To Continue South Africa's Strong Defense

By Colin Legum

Canadian Press Correspondent JOHANNESBURG, June 17. (CP)—South Africa's first five-year military plan has been completed and the government is now embarking on a further scheme to be completed by 1947, based on the British model.

"We have undertaken to make South Africa the strongest country for its size in the world," Oswald Pirow, minister of defence, declared in launching his new three-year scheme. The country now has 225 fighting planes, divided into five training squadrons, two bomber training squadrons, one railway reconnaissance squadron and a railway troop carrier squadron, a further 200 planes are on order from Great Britain. The air force has 2,000 aircrew and ground mechanics and 400 pupil pilots are still in training.

As it is feared Britain may be too preoccupied elsewhere in the event of war, coastal defence measures are being taken by the Union government. Cape Town will be heavily fortified against sea attack. Her long-range batteries will consist of 15-inch and 8.2-inch guns. While the coastal defence will be undertaken on the Imperial Defence Committee's 1938 recommendations, there will be on a much larger scale than originally foreseen.

The British naval authorities have advised the "Beaufort" — the only vessel of the British fleet — on permanent loan to the Union government. Mounted with 15-inch guns she will be used to protect South Africa's oil reserves, much of which is stored near Cape Town.

Seaplane Squadrons Squadrons of seaplanes, with bases in all important South African coastal towns and in Swaziland (South West Africa) will form part of the new rearmament drive. A comprehensive scheme for anti-aircraft protection will be embarked upon as soon as the British armament factories can meet the demand. South Africa, however, is not planning to spend a farthing on air-raid precautions, bomb-shelters and schemes for evacuation of the civilian population. The decision is based on the assurance from military authorities that there is little danger of the Union being attacked by enemy air raiders.

It is pointed out that an enemy aircraft carrier would have to travel about 15,000 miles through hostile waters to launch an attack on South Africa. Overland raids are regarded as even less likely.

Speaking on the defence debate, Mr. Pirow, however, observed: "The airplane has by no means reached the end of its possibilities, and it continues to develop in the next 10 years as it has during the last five we shall come within bombing range."

The Union will depend on her own armament factories in Pretoria for her ammunition. Twenty thousand men are now being trained as regular troops. Provision has been made to increase this strength to 25,000 at a few weeks' notice and 50,000 at three months' notice. There are 27 infantry battalions with an additional reserve of 10,000 men affiliated with the Defence Rifle Association. Troops are receiving training in guerrilla warfare as well as in the use of the machine gun.

Halibut Landings Still Mounting—Salmon Price Agreement—Marine News From Queen Charlotte Islands

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the week ending yesterday amounted to 630,400 pounds, bringing the total for the season up to 6,383,100 pounds as compared with 5,230,250 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The total of Canadian landings for the present season has reached a total of 2,859,300 pounds as against 2,539,150 pounds last year while the American total is 3,533,800 pounds in comparison with 2,691,100 pounds. During the past week Canadian landings were 204,400 pounds and American 336,000 pounds. Prices continued steady during the week with the high bid for Canadian fish 7.2c and 5c paid for the P. Dorset for 14,000 pounds and the low 5c and 5c which several boats received. For American fish the high price of the week was 8.2c and 5.5c which the Rainier II was paid for 10,000 pounds and the low 7.2c and 5c which the Tatoosh received for 25,000 pounds.

Fraser, manager of the Pacific plant, recently made a business trip to Queen Charlotte on the Beatrice H.

Capt. Dirk Pallant of Skidegate has installed a new 24 h.p. engine in his trailer Margaret A. which is now one of the fastest boats of the Skidegate Inlet fleet.

Capt. Vesper recently made a trip to Queen Charlotte City from the T. A. Kelley Logging Co.'s camp with the company's service boat Nora. Jane through one of the worst southeast storms that has been felt here this year, having on board two patients for the Queen Charlotte Hospital. Old timers were surprised to see the Nora Jane weather the storm.

The Vancouver cruiser Caribou, commanded by Capt. F. E. Baker and with a party of travellers on board, has been on the Queen Charlotte Islands and at the end of last week made the trip around the east coast of Graham Islands from Massett to Skidegate. Capt. Baker is well known on the Queen Charlotte Islands and received a welcome from many friends there.

The forestry cruiser Lillian D. Capt. J. E. Scott, has also been on the islands recently, visiting the Worsley Island camp.

John Sullivan has taken over the duties of chief engineer on the steamer Princess Adelaide in succession to the late Alex Matheson who was laid overboard from the vessel on her last voyage southward. Another change in the personnel of the officers of the Adelaide involves Purser Kenneth Morrison who is going over to the Princess Kathleen on the Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle run next week. It is not yet ascertained who his successor on the Adelaide will be. Arthur Graves, for years purser of the Adelaide, is now in the company offices at Victoria, according to word received from the south.

Ivan Adams of Massett arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver and is to be located hereabouts during the summer in his capacity as supervisor of the Pacific Coast Fishermen's Union. Mr. Adams states that a two-year agreement has been reached between the cannery operators and the fishermen's unions on the basis of 48¢ for sockeye in this district, an increase of one cent over last year's price.

Items From Islands
Capt. Charles Haan of Queen Charlotte City has started out with the seiner General, formerly of Prince Rupert, to seine herring for the British Columbia Packers at Pacific Queen Charlotte Islands. He has a crew of Skidegate Inlet men on board. Capt. Haan's other boat, Beatrice H., has also been chartered to B.C. Packers. Ken

Rainbow Trout In St. Lawrence

Unusual Species For Big River Hooked Near Cornwall, Ontario

CORNWALL, Ont., June 17. (CP)—The fishing season this year has recorded what is thought to have been the first rainbow trout ever caught on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence River.

Clarence MacDonald made the catch. He was fishing from the bank with a worm for bait just below the power house of the St. Lawrence Power Company at Mile Roches. The fish put up a game fight, Clarence having to wade knee deep in the water to make sure of landing the trout, 17½ inches long and weighing two pounds.

Rainbow trout are considered rare in the St. Lawrence where fish and game experts hold it is almost impossible for them to live. In 1938 New York state fishery experts deposited rainbow trout fingerlings at Massena, N. Y., for experimental purposes.

SEES KING AND QUEEN

Seattle Girl Writes to Relative Here Describing Whole Reception in Picturesque Manner

F. J. Fuller recently received a letter from his niece, Miss D. Tuttle of Seattle, in which she tells of her trip to Victoria to see the King and Queen, saying in part:

"We had expected to find the city so crowded we could hardly walk around and one of those super-salesmen was on board the ship enroute who was telling everybody the town would be so roped off we could only go a certain way. He wanted to sell choice seats along the royal procession at $5 and $10. He said very few and after we arrived we found they had built these seats all over town and they were nearly all deserted save for a few which had their prices reduced to 50¢ and $1. Well, there was certainly not the crowd we had anticipated and we hurried right up to the Parliament Buildings. There were loud speakers broadcasting the route of the procession from the City Hall to the Parliament Buildings and most of the crowd was lined up along the parade downtown as we moved into a first class parking for viewing. Two Majesties as they entered the building.

"There was a long red plush carpet laid from the door to the street and a triple line of blue-coated, white helmeted soldiers stood at attention just below the carpet. The building was decorated to the nth degree. At a glance you could tell everyone was excited and nervous for the King and Queen to arrive. Right on time they drew up to the building waving and smiling at the crowds in an open dark-blue car preceded by an escort of motorcycle police in white and blue and an honor guard in brilliant red of the Mounted and followed by several other cars of distinguished citizens. Everyone cheered and hurrahed and it was a thrilling sight to watch. The King was dressed in the navy-blue uniform of an officer with white cap and the Queen looked lovely in pale pink—a long dress with lace bolero and a wide off-the-face hat. The King reviewed his honor guard, the Queen accepted a lovely bouquet of rose buds, the Premier made a speech—the started out on a sober and shaky I thought sure he would never finish it but he managed to control his voice and finished quite nicely—and then the Royal Party disappeared inside."

She is a Darling
"Mother and I then moved over to the driveway to see them as they drove back again and we managed to get an excellent place right in the front row. As they came out everybody started cheering and singing "God Save the King." They drove slowly past us—we were so

COMEDIES PRESENTED

"Listen, Darling," a comedy featuring Freddie Bartholomew and Judy Okland, and "Paris Honey-moon," a comedy romance with plenty of popular music sung by Ring Crosby, comprise an entertaining double bill which is being offered tonight at the Capitol Theatre.

"Listen, Darling" is the story of a girl and a boy who "kidnap" the girl's mother in the family trailer to prevent her from marrying the town banker. They set out upon the highways to find a suitable husband and plenty of amusing complications ensue before a happy ending is reached. Mary Astor plays the part of the mother and other important members of the cast are Gene Lockhart, Walter Pidgeon and Alan Hale with little Scottie Beckett appearing as a small but effective menace.

In "Paris Honey-moon" Ring Crosby plays the part of a young millionaire who goes abroad in search of a castle where he and his bride-to-be can enjoy a peaceful honeymoon. He falls in love with a peasant girl in the person of Francisca Gaal. Shirley Ross, Akim Tamiroff, Edward Everett Horton and Ben Blue are also in the cast. Four popular Ring Crosby song hits are featured.
