EMPLOYMENT INCREASES

It was recently announced that employment had increased in Canada over the same months in previous years. Now it is announced that a similar condition exists in Great Britain. In that country the only industries that have dropped off have been fisheries, mining and quarrying. There has been a marked increase in motor vehicle manufacturing, cycle and aircraft industries, due doubtless to some extent to the defence measures but also to the general increase in air travel. Contracting, constructional engineering and explosive manufacture have also shown advances. Electrical industries, silk and artificial stone, heating and ventilating, paints and varnishes and brick and tile manufacture are ahead of the previous year in the number employed. This seems to indicate that it is not only in armament and munitions manufacture that employment increases have taken place.

SAVINGS IN BRITAIN

Mention has been made in this paper at least once before of the scheme in Britain for saving to provide for holiday or for any other specific purpose. The savings are taken care of by the post office savings bank, the trustee savings banks or by the savings certificate plan. In 1913 the sum of 277,000,000 pounds was saved in this way. In 1938 the sum had increased to 1,433,600,000 pounds. This enables employed people to enjoy their annual holiday when they get it and those who do not spend the money have a stake in the country which has a stabilizing effect.

MOMENTOUS MEETING

This is a momentous week in world history. Prime Minister Chamberlain is discussing with Premier Mussolini of Italy matters of mutual interest and especially the attitude of Italy toward France and French possessions, the mutual attitude of the two countries toward German aggression in Eastern Europe and future relations of Britain to both Italy and Germany and especially the attitude of both to Spain and the objects they have in view.

It is just possible that some decision may be arrived at which may possibly end the war in Spain and thus remove one cause of possible conflict. At any rate the whole gamut of European affairs will doubtless be considered and, by means of frank discussion, efforts will be made to arrive at a mutual understanding. It is pretty sure there will be no effort made to placate Italy by giving away anything for the British people of the whole Empire are against such action.

So far as we can see at this distance there is no good reason why Italy and Britain cannot carry on in amity without interfering with each other's legitimate interests. Mr. Chamberlain is an apostle of peace but he also may be a champion of British rights. The meeting this week has no analogy with the meeting with Hitler some months ago when the decision was made to turn back to Germany territory formerly held by Austria where German population predominated.

Found Adopted His Own Nephew

London Jew Discovers He Had Taken in Relatives as Refugee

LONDON, Jan. 10: (CP)—The strange story of how a Jew adopted his own refugee nephew, not knowing of the relationship at the time, has been told by Rev. Alfred Abraham Stein, of Cricklewood. The story goes back 30 years when two Jewish brothers were driven from Poland by persecution, one going to Germany and the other coming to England. The man who came to this country married an English Jewess. He lost touch with his brother, but kept a photograph of the two standing beside their parents.

Recently when fresh persecution drove refugees to Britain, he and his wife decided to adopt a Jewish boy, went to a London centre and picked out an attractive little boy of seven called Hans.

But Hans refused to be parted from his sister Ruth, who is nine. In the end they were both adopted and went to their new home.

The children were put to bed, cosy and safe. Then, from their room, came the sound of weeping. The foster parents went up to them. "How comes my Daddy's picture to be on the mantelpiece?" sobbed the boy. And he pointed to the photograph of his new father and the new father's brother. The brother was the children's real father. The foster father had adopted his own nephew and niece.

The names of the children are not given because their parents are still in Germany. The brothers did not know that each other was alive.

Woman Aged 70 Held Burglar

Coroner Comments Action at Inquest on Would-be Robber

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. Jan. 10: (CP)—A woman of 70 struggled with an intruder while her son went for help was commended at the inquest into the burglar's death. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of William G. Hart, 36, who died from tetanus when shot in the leg by her son.

Mrs. Harriet Winmill testified Hart struck her three or four times on the top of her head with a poker and she broke her walking stick on him. Her son came to her help and was hit over the face while the intruder held the elderly lady by the throat.

"There was blood streaming down my son's face and I shouted 'Shoot Jack, or he'll do us both in. Then I heard the shot.'" Mrs. Winmill said her son then went for help while she held down Hart.

MORE JOBS FOR WOMEN

Higher Posts in British Civil Service Are Available for Fair Sex

LONDON, Jan. 10: (CP)—Women are to be eligible for the administrative grades of the Dominions and Colonial Offices as an experiment. Malcolm MacDonald, Dominions Secretary, has announced.

The announcement makes it theoretically possible for a woman to become permanent under-secretary of state in these offices at £2,400 ($11,304) a year. Formerly the highest post a woman could reach was a staff clerkship at £600 ($2,826).

L. C. White, secretary of the Civil Service Clerical Association, said, "This implements an agreement in principle made three years ago by the Civil Service National Whitley Council. Women are now only barred in those branches of the defence ministries where service abroad might be necessary, and from the administrative, diplomatic and consular grades of the Foreign Office."

"There are also a few other special grades barred to women—the collection side of the Inland Revenue and on the Ecclesiastical Commission, for example. The argument that women ought not to be sent abroad can be met by the fact that women do serve abroad as doctors, missionaries and nurses in any region or climate."

"Why should they not serve as civil servants?"

JOHN BULL ENDS YEAR WITH SIGH

Happy To Find Himself at Peace Instead of War He Recalls Hotspots of 1938

By J. F. Sanderson Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 10: (CP)—Nineteen-thirty-eight was a jitter-year for old John Bull, a year of war scares, international foment, a year of tension, strain and stress. But its passing out saw Britain still at peace.

It looked like war last March when Hitler annexed his homeland of Austria. The Spanish civil war threatened many times to spread into a general European struggle. In the Orient, the Chinese and Japanese were locked in a life and death campaign which involved many British industrial and financial interests.

Palestine was riddled with rebellion, calling for thousands of British troops to restore order pending a final settlement of the Arab-Jewish problem.

Acute as these incidents were, they were mere squibs in contrast to the Czech-German crisis of August and September when Britain seemed to be only a few hours from war. John Bull was so alarmed, so fearful of the rapidly changing events that he mobilized his fleet, anti-aircraft guns were mounted along the Thames Embankment, soldiers of the Territorial Army were called to the colors.

For days it looked like Britain's destiny was to be engulfed in war in 1938—until the Munich four-power agreement relieved Europe from the mad, senseless dash to war. Only then did John Bull stop building bomb-proof shelters in his beloved London parks.

Grateful for Peace

It was Adolf Hitler who gave John Bull his most severe doses of war-jitters. First was the Anschluss in March when Hitler pulled off a bloodless conquest of Austria. But it passed off without a war and John Bull wiped his brow and went about his business which, ironically enough, consists of the biggest rearmament program in world history.

Then came Hitler's demand for self-determination for the Sudeten Germans by which he meant their annexation to Germany. For weeks Europe tottered on the edge of war with Neville Chamberlain, John Bull's Prime Minister, flying to Berchtesgaden, to Godesburg and finally to Munich where Hitler got what he wanted, the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia, and John Bull got what he and the rest of the world wanted, peace.

And so it is that in palace and pub, in mansion and tenement John Bull salutes 1938 as the year that threatened so often to drag him into war but didn't. It saw him spending hundreds of millions of dollars on a war machine and feeling thankful he wasn't forced to use it. And John Bull is the sort of fellow who hopes he won't have to use it in 1939 or any other year, for that matter.

India Has Tests In Paper Making

Industry There May Take On New Line If Experiments Succeed

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 10: (CP)—The Indian paper industry may take on a new line if wrapping paper, manufactured at the Indian Forest Research Institute, and now being subjected to further tests, justifies hopes of its commercial possibilities.

Experiments carried out at the institute have shown that a very good, cheap wrapping paper can be manufactured from a mixture of indigenous mechanical wood pulp and chemical grass pulp, raw materials for both of which are now available in abundance in India. Neither old newspapers nor waste pulp, now largely used in the manufacture of wrapping paper, will be required for this process.

Possibilities of such an industry may be judged from the fact that in 1937-38 alone the total imports of cheap wrapping and packing paper amounted to 11,468 tons. In addition, 48,000 tons of old newspapers used for wrapping were imported.

SPORT CHAT

The baseball world was startled 11 years ago today when New York Giants traded Rogers Hornsby, by one of the game's greatest batsmen, to Boston Braves for Cateber, Frank Hogan and Outfielder Jimmy Welch. Giant officials said the move was "in the best interests of the club." Hornsby became the National League's batting champion for the seventh time that year.

Starting in 1940, owner of the fourth-place horse in the Derby will receive 2½% of the stakes. To date owners of only first, second and third horses have shared in prize money.

Chamber of Commerce Confirms Selection and Chooses Executive At Meeting Last Night

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, at its annual meeting last night, confirmed the election of J. T. Harvey as president, Philip M. Ray as vice-president and Arthur Brooksbank as secretary and proceeded to choose a council of fifteen from those nominated as follows:

Paul Armour, Dr. J. H. Carson, Theo. Collart, John Dybbavn, C. V. Evtt, R. G. Hopkins, J. J. Little, W. R. McAfee, G. W. Nickerson, J. W. Nicholls, H. F. Pullen, S. E. Parker, W. H. Tobey, W. M. Watts and R. M. Winslow.

F. A. MacCallum presided until the close of the meeting when he turned the gavel over to the new president who spoke of the value to Prince Rupert of the inter-districts and of his determination to do everything possible to bring about as close relations as possible with the people living along the line of the Canadian National Railways and to get to know them better.

Mr. Harvey also said the chamber would continue to press for the subsidy for shipping out of this port. The empty elevator might be useful in bringing this to the attention of the authorities and in this way, be a blessing in disguise. The port could not grow without shipping and he considered pressing for the subsidy was a major objective. When they had it, they must then take full advantage of it. He thanked the members for expressing their confidence in him by electing him to that position. Philip M. Ray thanked the members for electing him. Those conducting the poll were Trevor Williams, Croft Brook and Thomas Boulter.

STRONGER BULWARKS IN CANADA

Dominion's Larger Defence Program Subject of Speculation

OTTAWA, Jan. 10. (CP)—Prepared against the background of the recent European crisis, the Canadian national defence estimates for the forthcoming year are expected to soar even beyond the much-increased budgeting of the past two years.

This Dominion's defence policy is governed by certain fixed principles. First comes the necessity and determination of Canadians to protect their own coasts against invasion, either by sea or by air.

For All Arms The 1939 appropriations will be generously distributed among all arms of the service but the Royal Canadian Air Force will receive the lion's share.

As it is, by the middle of next summer, Canada will have a good air force, thoroughly equipped and trained, with a reservoir behind it capable of almost unlimited extension.

Coastal fortifications in British Columbia and in those provinces facing into the Atlantic are being quickly pushed ahead. In the west these are in advance of schedule.

The Cinderella of Canada's defence projects has, in the past, been the non-permanent militia the force corresponding to the British Territorial Army, which, in the words of Defence Minister Ian MacKenzie has in the past been "starved and crucified" for lack of funds.

Renovations In lieu of new equipment, which cannot now be bought off the shelf, since every armament producing country is now in the business for itself, Canada has renovated its old stuff.

The Royal Canadian Navy may see an access of strength next year. Four destroyers and two minesweepers on the Pacific are not, it is conceded, enough.

The matter was introduced at the meeting last night by Theo. Collart and the new president promised to take the matter up with the commissioner at once.

A proposal coming from the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce that all public holidays be held on a Monday came before the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last night and was referred to a committee. It was supported by Paul Armour and George Bryant but the Chamber decided, on motion of J. W. Nichols, not to deal with it but to refer it to a committee for report.

Canadian Legion Executive Meets

Business Chiefly in Preparation for Regular Monthly General Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the executive of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League was held last evening in the club-rooms with President Jack Preece in the chair. Others present were W. M. Brown, H. A. Breen, Henry Smith, J. Armstrong and H. T. Lock. Business was chiefly in preparation for the monthly general meeting of Wednesday of this week.

Letters of thanks from various recipients of Christmas hampers were read. Appreciation of the single ex-service men who were guests of the Legion for Christmas dinner was expressed, the general feeling being that this was the most successful of the Christmas dinners held to date.

Correspondence was also considered in the matter of employment of ex-service men in local defence works. It is the policy of the government that ex-service men should get the preference and the club committee is looking into the matter carefully.

Following the general business meeting on Wednesday a knock-out crib tournament for members will be played along the usual lines. The following month it is hoped to have a speaker give an address on a recent tour of parts of America.

Asks That C.P.R. Run Boats On Schedule Here

At the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night H. F. Pullen reported on behalf of a committee that concessions had been secured from the Canadian Pacific Railway British Columbia Coast Steamship Service in regard to increased stopovers and that the Canadian National Railways had found it impossible to allow any time between the boat and train or the train and boat in connection with the one fast train a week. This was an important train and usually carried a good many prominent people. He asked for a new committee next year as he found there seemed to be a feeling that it was only Max Heilbronner and himself that wanted the stop-over. He moved that the committee be dismissed and a new committee be appointed to carry on the work next year.

G. W. Nickerson urged that the C.P.R. should run their boats on a schedule in the same way that the C.N.R. did and moved an amendment that, in addition to the discharging of the committee, the secretary be instructed to write to Olof Hanson M.P. asking him to take up this matter with the head office of the C.P.R. This was carried. He thought the northern boats should arrive here at 9 and sail at 12.

INVESTING IN CANADA

European Capital Considers Dominion Is Safe Country

OTTAWA, Jan. 10. (CP)—Recent announcements by Canadian cabinet ministers and heads of banking institutions agree that capital from European countries is seeking investment in Canada in increasing quantities. This movement has been reflected in the firm prices of Canadian bonds in the New York market and inquiries coming to the financial corporations.

Based on the reception recently given a Dominion bond issue of $40,000,000 at three percent to run 30 years in New York, Finance Minister Dunning announced that Canada was now borrowing money in that market at as low an interest return as could the United States treasury when adjustment was made for the tax-exempt features of the U. S. bonds.

The latest monthly report of the Bank of Canada shows Canadian long-term bonds in New York have an average yield at existing market prices of 3.02 percent, United Kingdom 3.52 percent and U.S. treasury bonds at 2.47 percent. The U. S. treasury bonds are free from "normal" income taxes while the others are not.

Two reasons are given for the strength of Canadian bonds. One is the desire of European investors to get their money safely placed in Canada far from disturbed Europe. The second is that Canada has improved its economic position by the practice over several years of borrowing money in Canada to retire maturing loans in United States.

The practice of changing from an indebtedness held outside Canada to a domestic liability has not only been a policy of the Dominion and the provinces but also industrial corporations so that from 1933 to the end of 1938, the net decrease in external debt, governmental and industrial, will reach somewhat more than $350,000,000.

RETIRING PRESIDENT DEALS WITH ACTIVITIES

the citizens to decide, they should be in a position to make a proper choice having regard to present day conditions. Your Chamber has submitted a recommendation in this regard to the Commissioner.

"A special committee is at present looking into the question of longer stop-overs for vessels visiting our ports during the tourist season. We are pleased to report that the Canadian Pacific has already intimated its intention of granting our request while the Canadian National has the matter under consideration. It is felt that, if our visitors are afforded additional time in the city, the merchants and others will benefit and greater opportunity will be enjoyed to visit our places of interest. In this regard it was through the efforts of your Chamber that the railway was induced to permit its rail passengers from the East to remain in the city for five days instead of three as heretofore.

"Radio reception has received careful and experienced attention from the radio committee. This is a vital matter in view of our poor reception, which is not improving, and we urge the members to lend whole-hearted support to future committees in this direction. While on the surface nothing, it appears, has been accomplished yet considerable spade work is behind and definite results therefrom may be expected in the near future.

"Highway matters have received our sincerest thoughts. We have endeavored to impress upon the provincial government the urgent necessity of completing the highway out of here to the eastward. As an alternative we have also urged that the highway to the eastward of Terrace be completed into that village so that we may press our claim for, at least, a railway subsidy to carry automobiles between our city and Terrace. Strenuous representations have been made in an attempt to have the Department of National Defence adopt the highway as a defence measure. We have also been active in connection with the proposed United States-Canada-Alaska highway. Of the two routes so far recommended to the respective governments, we naturally favor the most westerly in order that the resultant tourist traffic will be brought as close as possible to our city.

"As a result of our representations the federal government authorized the laying of a cornerstone in the construction of the federal building which has just been completed and of which I feel we may all be justly proud. It is largely the result of work done by your Chamber over a period of years and it affords me some pleasure and gratitude in knowing that the structure was commenced and finished during my term of office. I wish, however, to make it clear that I take no personal credit.

"Strong representations were made to the Minister of Transport protesting against the new regulations in the Canada Shipping Act as affecting our halibut and other fishermen and it is gratifying to learn from a recent press report that enforcement of the Act will not be effective until a commission to be appointed has had ample time to investigate fully.

While the suggestion for a local port and regatta day was instituted by your Chamber it was put over by the Junior Chamber. The success with which the day was handled is fresh in our memories and the thanks of the Chamber has already been extended to that body of bright and energetic young men. We also owe a debt of gratitude to the merchants and business men for the financial assistance rendered this worthy cause.

Other Matters
"Other questions taken up included the following:
"Basing of at least one of the Pacific coast naval destroyers at this port.

"Adjustment of the disproportionate numbers of service certificates granted white, Japanese and Indian skippers on vessels in the fishing industry.
"Better school and educational facilities for children living in small centres.

"Adjustment of cannery license fees. While previously a large flat fee was collected by the government now, after our representations, the government has set a sliding scale according to the quantity of fish canned.

"Protest against proposals to amalgamate the two Canadian railway lines as well as corresponding steamship lines on the coast.

"The Peace River rail outlet has received full attention from the strong committee assigned thereto.

"Feasibility of the local dry dock being used in connection with steps being taken by the British government to speed airplane construction.

"Subsidy paid Canadian National vessels on the Queen Charlotte Islands route. Strong representations to the government to increase rather than to reduce the existing subsidy.

"Exhaustive questionnaire for presentation to the Rowell Commission by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"The disallowance of certain Acts affecting financing by the Alberta government.

"Purchases by the Canadian National on behalf of their boats and trains.

"Payment by the government of British Columbia of its improvement taxes to the city.

"That a British Columbia man be appointed to succeed the present Deputy Minister of Fisheries if and when he should retire.

"Unfair trade practices. Recommendation to the government.

"Proposed changes in the British Columbia Mining Act.

"Delegations were confined to the one sent to Ottawa to confer with the federal government regarding a shipping subsidy for this port. While, as yet, we fail to see and direct result of our efforts the contact which was made at that time will be of benefit in the future.

Industrial Progress

"Conditions in the important lumber industry are everything but satisfactory due, to doubt, to the Oriental war and the unsettled state of European countries. Export is at a low ebb and paper mills to the south of us are marking time and are reluctant about entering into log contracts. As a result the large operators on the Queen Charlottes are more or less at a standstill with a heavy overhead in maintaining equipment and timber licenses.

"Conditions in the mining industry, generally, are satisfactory and I firmly believe that Prince Rupert will not be obliged to wait very long to realize the direct benefit to be derived from the ore bodies that abound in hills around us. Locally, it is indeed gratifying to observe the confidence displayed by the Reward Mining Company in re-establishing its mill on Porcher Island on an increased basis. This is an operation fully worthy of all possible support.

"Upon the fishing industry has rested and still rests the prosperity of the port and district. The halibut fishermen enjoyed another fairly good year despite unfavorable weather conditions throughout a considerable portion of the season. Although prices could not be considered in the highly remunerative class yet they were steady and were such as to enable the fishermen to operate at a fair profit. Landings at this port for the season were 140,820 hundredweight as compared with 132,968 hundredweight in 1937. Of this amount the Canadian total was 68,088 hundredweight, value $403,750, and American, 72,732 hundredweight, value $519,953.

"As regards salmon fishing, while the run of sockeye was rather poor in both the Skeena and Naas Rivers there were good runs in the outlying districts, especially Lowe Inlet. There was a good run of humpbacks but the other classes in the cheaper grades were only with us in moderate numbers. Failure of pinks to appear in Massett Inlet was a very damaging feature and the loss thereby to the fishermen and cannery people in that district was reflected in the Islands fall trade.

"Our baby industry in the treatment of halibut and dogfish livers is expanding and must be regarded as of prime importance. We feel that the firm of J. H. Carson Company deserve the thanks of the citizens in general for instituting this business and placing it on such a firm foundation.

"Although we are not directly engaged in the important industry of agriculture yet we are directly concerned therewith insofar as the Bulkley Valley district is affected.

"For the present, fishing, lumbering and mining are the industries upon which Northern British Columbia continues to depend. With the International Fisheries Commission in charge of halibut no fear is felt as to the preservation of this important fish and we may confidently look forward to even greater production. Without this single branch of the fishing industry the port of Prince Rupert would be of little importance.

"Although the city benefits substantially from adjacent lumbering operations yet it is imperative that we have something better. For years we have looked forward to a pulp mill but the project has never reached definite form. However, it is now believed that Canadian financial houses are interested which might tend to indicate that the industry is nearer than ever before.

"The city generally is holding its own and paying its way with affairs capably handled by the Commissioner. Our bonded indebtedness of $1,700,000 is now on a 4 per cent basis with sinking funds in good shape. Present revenues are sufficient to take care of interest and running expenses but provide little or nothing for capital expenditure. Relief costs for the year are down 12 per cent over 1937. City relief costs for the year totalled $34,145 as against $39,001 last year. Building permits show an increase over last year of 768 per cent.

"General benefit has been derived from the expenditures during the year of some $225,000 on the new federal building and a further $115,000 is being expended on the new hospital. A substantial amount has already been spent by the federal government on harbor defences and, when the work is finally completed, the total outlay should run well into six figures. It is also anticipated that a further $75,000 will be expended in the near future on an air base in the immediate vicinity. We are also aware of the amount being similarly expended on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

"Despite the heavy clouds that surround us I fail to see where we have any cause for alarm even though some of the older residents may be considered as beginning to lose faith. So long as our major industries remain with us the north country will continue to hold its own and this fair city of ours will remain an important distributing centre.
"I feel fully satisfied that the in-

Whifflets From The Waterfront

The halibut fishing season will, it is expected, open again this year on April 1. The date of opening is largely a matter of agreement between the various fleets and April 1 appears to be acceptable to most of the operators.
