Conservative Party Plans New Program For Dealing With Two Canadian Railways

SMITH'S FALLS, Ont., July 25.—A non-political board to enforce co-operation between Canada's two railways is the keystone of the National Conservative party program for dealing with the railways situation, Hon. Dr. Manion, national leader of the party said last night in an address here. Dr. Manion said the Conservatives propose to allow compensation for jobs lost through co-operation. Further the party if returned to power proposes to establish co-operation on a fair rate basis for all forms of transportation and will undertake the refunding of C. N. R. securities at lower interest rates and no more playing politics with railways.

Clamp Down On Intrigue

South Africa To Put Stop To Subversive Action In Its Borders

PRETORIA, South Africa, July 25: (CP Reuters)—The government intends taking strong action to stamp out 'subversive intrigues' in the Union, it is understood. According to the Johannesburg Star, ministers are concerned at reports of the activities of Nazis and Communists. The Department of Defence has already, it is believed, issued a circular to Defence Rifle Associations hinting at the possibility of compulsory service in the next year. This matter is still a question of policy with the government, but a decision is expected soon.

'Tiny' Ironside Would Most Likely Command Any British Expeditionary Force In War

Huge Man in Spite of His Name With Remarkable Military Career—War Governor of Gibraltar Recently

LONDON, July 25: (AP)—If Great Britain went to war the expeditionary force she probably would send to Europe would be commanded by General Sir Edmund Ironside, the 53-year-old giant the British War Office has named Inspector-General of Oversea Forces. Called "Tiny" by his friends, Ironside is the British army's tallest, heaviest officer. His broad shoulders and athletic legs give him a slightly top-heavy appearance. Tipping the scale at 252 pounds, he stands six feet, four inches.

Twice relegated to posts normally regarded as dignified semi-retirement for distinguished soldiers no longer needed in active administrative jobs, Sir Edmund now is back in the front-line of Britain's military organization. Recalled from the Governorship of Gibraltar which he assumed last October, he has plenty of scope for the organizing ability and broad experience that made him one of Britain's most noted military leaders.

He was appointed in 1931 to the post of Lieutenant of the Tower of London—now little more than a military museum—after three years as commander of the British army district of Meerut, India. In 1933, he went back to India as Quarter-master-General of the British forces. In his new post Sir Edmund commands this vast area, is responsible for the war preparedness of Britain's scattered overseas forces.

"The most difficult military feat is to gauge the proper size for an expeditionary force," he once said. "Its numbers are always too small." Son of a Scottish surgeon-major, of Ironside, Aberdeenshire, Sir Edmund entered the Royal Artillery when he was 19. He quickly got his first taste of war. The year he joined the army his artillery brigade was drafted for service in the South African War. Honors came quickly to the young lieutenant.

FLEW INTO NORTHLAND

Bishop Bunoz Home After Accompanying Apostolic Delegate Into British Columbia and Yukon

After having accompanied Archbishop I. L. Antunovich of Ottawa, the Apostolic Delegate to Canada, on an aerial trip through Northern British Columbia and Yukon section of the diocese, Rt. Hon. E. M. Bunoz O.M.I. returned to Prince Rupert a few days ago. The flight started from Fraser Lake and two thousand miles was covered in five days before returning there. Such points as Atlin, Teslin Lake, Whitehorse, Mayo and Dawson were visited. The plane used was a machine belonging to the Roman Catholic Church with headquarters in the Mackenzie River district.

Bishop Bunoz mentioned general interest being taken in the north in the Alaska Highway project. At Sifton Pass he said that a survey party was engaged in route reconnaissance.

White Light Had Bad Tossing In Chatham Sound

After an all-night tossing and washing by the winds and waves of Chatham Sound the Seattle, Ore. cutter White Light arrived in port at 9:30 this morning and tied up at the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club. Mrs. Stuart P. Walsh, wife of the owner, did not like the northern waters so she left the boat here and is going south on the Catala tonight. So bad was the storm outside here that none of the party dared go to bed.

Betty Lowman, who was one of the party, left them at Juneau to go on the halibut fishing boat, Norland for a trip to the banks. There are now only six left on board, all university students. There is Arnold Chalman, skipper, Ted Gerhard, assistant captain and cook, Ethelyn Berkley of White Fish, Montana, Ellen Burns of Maryland, now at Snohomish, Marie Neff of Geneva, Missouri, and Maxine Smith of Rockville, Illinois. Miss Smith was taking color movies of Prince Rupert flowers this morning to show when she gets home. She said she thought Prince Rupert was a very beautiful little city.

After leaving here it is planned to make stops at Klemtu, Ocean Falls and Alert Bay before reaching Seattle. The party got underway again early in the afternoon.

AMAZONS TO FIGHT

Million Women Prepared To Work As Men If Poland Attacked

WARSAW, Poland, July 24: (CP)—A fine district mobilizing officer looked up in surprise in front of him stood a young peasant woman in the line of young men who had been called to the colors as Poland took steps to meet a national crisis.

"What do you want?" challenged the officer. The young peasant woman held out a mobilization order. "My husband is ill. He is not strong enough to do his duty now. I will take his place for the time being."

Poland had a "Woman's Legion" in 1920. During the Great War, Polish women served as battlefield couriers. Only a few weeks ago, Mme. Alexander Pilsudski, widow of Marshal Pilsudski, declared in a public address, "In the event of war it will not be sufficient for women to replace men in the rearguard of the army. When necessary they must be prepared to replace the men on the battlefield as well."

Today, over 1,000,000 Polish women, grouped into 43 organizations, are preparing themselves to train the rest of the women of Poland to work with the male population in defence of the country. Foreign observers, in evaluating the resistance strength of Poland, take into account not only the comparative youth of the population, 60 percent being under 30 years of age, but also the physical and moral strength of the Polish women.

Polish history has been particularly rich in heroines. There was Zofia Chrzanowska, who seized command from the hands of her husband when the latter was about to surrender the fortress of Trembowla to the Turks in the 17th century. She held the fort until the arrival of reinforcements.

Two important figures in the Polish uprisings against the Russians were Colonel Emilia Plater and Miss Henryka Pustowojt. It is a matter of historical record that Polish women were mainly responsible for saving Lwow in 1919 and Plock in 1920 from the Ukrainians and Bolsheviks.

REMNANTS OF METEOR ARE FOUND

Fused Rock in Cloverdale Hay Field May Have Come From Astral Body—Another Star Seen Falling

VANCOUVER, July 25: (CP)—Fred Quantz of Cloverdale, in a letter to the Daily Province, says that he found heavy perforated fragments of fused rock in a hay field which he believes may be portions of a meteor which flashed over British Columbia last Thursday night. He said that clover had been ignited by the hot rock and had been put out with water.

A second meteor flashed over Vancouver last night, being sighted by a signal man on First Narrows Bridge.

VIOLENT DEATHS

Six Persons Lose Their Lives In British Columbia By Drownings And Accidents

VANCOUVER, July 25: (CP)—Six British Columbians met violent deaths yesterday. They are: Palmer Acock, aged 14, killed in a landslide; Carl Lundquist, aged 55, and George Ross, 55, drowned at Canal Flats when a towboat overturned in Kootenay River; Antoine Larue, acting chief of the Kamloops Indians, killed by a Canadian National Railway train; Merle Watson of Kamloops, found with a fractured skull in a Canadian Railway train at Kamloops, and Frank Lowe, 16, Chilliwack, who was crushed by a hay wagon.

ANY OTHERS PLEASE? BRANTFORD Ont., July 25: (CP)—One good example—a woman wrote the Brantford Expositor enclosing 10 cents, explaining she had twice attended the cooking school sponsored by the newspaper and did not have a ticket.

PLENTY GOOD NEWS

Good news seems to have been piling up for Prince Rupert of late. Now only have we just recently opened two very fine new public buildings but we are assured that the work will commence soon on the airplane base at Seal Cove and that the elevator which had been out of commission for a year is again to operate. There is also a new float for the fishing fleet in the offing.

LOSING OUR LIBERTY

Old timers in Prince Rupert will remember that an old waterfront habitue had a habit of writing letters to the newspapers and that he invariably ended up by saying "The least governed country is the best governed." It is probably a good thing that Captain Freeman passed into the beyond or he might have been more worried than ever. He would have seen Canada becoming more and more socialized and controlled. He would have seen wheat growers being bonused to the extent of many millions of dollars, various other industries aided and plans laid for helping fishermen. He would have seen the government going into the money loaning business on a large scale. He would have seen them bonusing a state railway to the extent of forty or fifty million dollars a year so that the employees may continue to draw down high wages. He might have seen both provincial and Dominion governments spending a considerable sum on encouragement of the tourist business. And all this money to pay bonuses and keep up existing institutions the state takes out of the pockets of the taxpayers, some by direct taxes, such as income tax and some in indirect taxes such as sales taxes, excise taxes and customs duties. All this is a step toward socialism. In fact it is socialism in a modified degree. How far we shall continue along that direction we do not know but what we do know is that in socializing the country we are losing our liberty. We find our halibut and fruit marketing controlled by a board. We find that we are told when and where we can do business and how. We are told how much our help should be paid and how long they should work. In fact we shall soon have our lives so regulated that it will be impossible or at any rate very difficult for any of us to stray from the beaten path of rectitude.

FACTS ABOUT FORTY

It is not Unusual for a catch phrase to be so frequently quoted that it takes on the guise of Gospel; or a statement to be made, however illogical or baseless, often enough for it to be become generally believed, according to the Victoria Times.

It was in that fashion that the impression was given currency that life after 40—to the needy and the wage-earner—is an era of joblessness and want; that upon attainment of one's most fruitful years one starts down hill, upon the road to discard sudden and severe.

Facts regarding industry's treatment of its employees speak otherwise. For private industry and employers recognize the value of experience and prefer to retain those workers whose loyalties and efficiency are to its interest.

As an example, the Ford enterprise, one of the age's foremost individual industries, is cited. Of 123,562 employees in the various Ford factories, more than 47,000 are 40 or over, 28,576 are 45 or over, 6,377 are 55 or over, and 198 are 70 or over. Two, indeed, are working there at the age of 84.

Facts such as these are worthy of close study by way of correcting some of our views on the modern industrial system. In some of its aspects, it is not as destructive of human values as it has been charged with being—even in its heyday free of intervention and interference.

Canada To See Girls' Cricket

College Elevens From Old Country To Play In Larger Centres

TORONTO, July 24: (CP)—Girl cricketers will be seen for the first time on Canadian grounds during August and September. In recent years the game has proved popular with the fair sex in England and Australia and is now included in the sports activities of many Old Country colleges.

Parties of English private and secondary school girls touring Canada this year under auspices of the Overseas Education League will include many cricketers and they are expected to demonstrate their ability with the bat and ball in most of the larger centres. Matches are being arranged for Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Calgary and other places.

Elevens are to be drawn mainly from Harrogate College, Yorkshire; Cheltenham Ladies' College, Gloucestershire; Beehive College, Bexhill; Sussex and Rhodan School, Brighton. Elizabeth Newton of Harrogate, one of the leading English college players, is expected to captain one of the teams.

Women players have reached a remarkable degree of proficiency and Canadians, seeing them play for the first time, will be interested to find they have mastered the fine points of the game. In Old Country games centuries are not unusual and the bowling department includes fast as well as slow spin bowlers.

The girls play in tunics and have become quite as adept at their brothers in handling heavy batting pads and other cricket equipment.

SPORT CHAT

With entries closing August 7 for the Canadian open golf tournament at the Riverside Golf and Country Club August 17, 18 and 19, interest is mounting in this big event of the sports world. Leading shotmakers of Canada and the United States will battle for $3,000 prize money and possession of the Seagram gold cup for a year. The first prize is $1,000. Fourteen others range from $600 down to $15. The competitors will play 18 holes Thursday, August 17 and 18 Friday. Those having the 60 lowest scores will play off Saturday over 36 holes. Amateur entrants must have a handicap of no more than nine.

The scenic and sporting Riverside course, one of the finest on the continent, totals 6,231 yards and is par 70. It is seven miles from Saint John on rolling slopes overlooking the Kennebecas River. The tricky course has been rebuilt with newest methods in the last five years. One of the prized souvenirs in the Riverside clubhouse is a club once used by John White, credited with introducing golf to the Maritime Provinces. He came to Saint John from Scotland in 1863. Before his death a few years ago White was known as the oldest active golfer in the British Empire. In his early days here he practised on sand flats near the city when Bay of Fundy tides were out. Low tide gave him his only chance to play golf, as no one else had any idea of building a course and owners of nearby fields wouldn't think of allowing their use for a strange sport when they were needed for agricultural purposes.

In 1896 a few men organized construction of a four-hole course, later extended to nine holes under the name of the Saint John Golf Club. A large crowd gathered for the opening. The first drive was a hole-in-one. H. H. Hansard did the trick. Some of the spectators started to leave, thinking such a simple game was stupid to watch. It was on this course, built by one man and a horse, with wire fences surrounding the greens to keep away cows, that Miss Mabel G. Thompson learned to play without instruction. Later the Saint John and Rothesay residents started the golfing elite by coming unheralded from the East to win the Canadian ladies' title. She captured the crown in 1902 and subsequently held it for the period 1905-1908.

In 1913 the club moved to Riverside, reorganizing with seven charter members, three of whom bought 250 acres of virgin land for $7,000. Clearing the land was expensive, and two years were required to build nine holes. The war increased difficulties but the course opened in 1915. No clubhouse was built until after the war. The game became so popular that players congested the nine-hole course. In 1920 club officials decided to double the layout. This took several years.

Meanwhile Miss Thomson's brother, Percy W. Thomson, well known among Canadian and United States golf enthusiasts, became interested in the sport. He built a residence near the course in 1934. Since then Mr. Thomson devoted entire summers to improving the layout and spent a large amount of money on the work, supervised by Donald Ross, noted golf architect. The course was tested last year by Sammy Snead, Canadian open champion from White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. He is expected to defend the title in August.

Five thousand Prince Rupert people read the Daily News. It pays to let them know what you have to sell.

The standing to date is as follows:

New Zealand's Manual Of War

Prime Minister Savage Has Book Ready for People in Emergency

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 25. (CP)—Announcement of a "New Zealand Government War Book," detailing plans for an emergency, has been made by Prime Minister Savage.

The book is the result of 400 committee meetings and the co-operation of 40 government departments. Most of its chapters will remain secret until an emergency.

Mr. Savage revealed the main headings: Emergency legislation; mobilization; medical examination of recruits; guards for vital points; overseas passenger traffic; control of navigational aids; coast watching; control of aliens; trading with the enemy; broadcasting; overseas telegraphic correspondence; priority of printing; accommodation for extra staff.

The book provides instructions to members of the various emergency services for action: first, when there is a threat of war; secondly, "during a precautionary period, when war appears to be probable;" and, thirdly, when war has broken out.

A comprehensive organization for supply is outlined, involving action by 24 departments and providing for foodstuffs control, medical and oil supplies and overseas trade.

Keep up to date. Advise regularly.

Drop In Value Of Fisheries In Nova Scotia

Catch Last Year Valued at $8,804,231 With Cod Displacing Lobster as Leader

OTTAWA, July 25.—The value of output of the Nova Scotia fisheries in 1938 was $8,804,231, compared with $9,229,834 in the preceding year. These totals represent the value of the product as marketed, whether sold for consumption fresh, or canned, cured, etc. For the first time since 1929, cod displaces lobster as the leading Nova Scotia fishery, its production having a marketed value of $2,504,847, compared with $2,282,169 as the value of production of the lobster fishery. The catch of cod shows an increase over the preceding year of 98,473 cwt., and its marketed value an increase of $100,395, while the lobster catch decreased by 3,556 cwt. and the marketed value by $457,711. Third among the chief commercial fishes is haddock, with a marketed value in 1939 of $1,293,273.

The quantity of fish of all kinds, including shell fish, taken by Nova Scotia fishermen during the year was 2,851,846 cwt., valued at the point of landing at $5,323,582, compared with a catch of 2,703,078 cwt. and a value to the fishermen of $6,015,179 in 1937. The average value at the point of landing of all kinds of fish, combined, was $1.87 per cwt., compared with $2.23 per cwt. in 1937.

Argentine Corn Crop Is Failure

OTTAWA, July 25.—The third official estimate of the yield of maize of the 1938-39 crop in Argentina says: The seeded area of 13,096,300 acres was subjected to such damage by the drought which prevailed during the summer months that extensive abandonments took place, and only 8,657,900 acres proved worth harvesting. But in the so-called abandoned areas are included extensive fields devoted to pasturage. These compose a greater proportion than usual of the total plantings because of the feed shortage resulting from the long dry period killing out the grass.

The average yield on the harvested area is calculated as 1470 kilograms per hectare, or say a fraction under 23 1/2 bushels per acre. The quality of the grain which is being picked and shelled is generally good.

In comparison with the crop of last year this latest calculation shows an increase of 28,581,000 bushels, or 16.4 per cent; and in relation to the average production of the last five-year period there is a decrease of 38.1 per cent, or 124,923,000 bushels.

TINY IRONSIDE WOULD MOST LIKELY COMMAND

languages, Sir Edmund's South African campaign gave him a detailed knowledge of South African Dutch. He found it of value in 1914 before the opening of the Great War.

Disguised as a Boer he attached himself to the German forces fighting the Hereros natives in Southwest Africa shortly before the war. The Germans, convinced by his word-perfect Dutch, put him in command of native convoys. Sir Edmund made extensive notes of German methods of colonial warfare. He sewed the notebooks into the lining of his tunic and brought them back to the War Office.

Holding Captain's rank when the Great War started, he was the first uniformed British Officer to land in France. He went to Boulogne at the beginning of August, 1914, to organize rail transportation for the first units of the original British Expeditionary Force.

Promotion came quickly. He held staff jobs in various ranks until 1918, when he was appointed brigadier-general commanding the British 99th infantry brigade. Throughout the war and for 10 years afterwards he was Britain's youngest general.

For his World War service he was knighted by King George V and received the British Distinguished Service Order. The French government made him an officer of the Legion of Honor and gave him the French War Cross with Palm. From Imperial Russia came the Order of St. Vladimir, second class.

Commanded in Russia

Before the war ended, Sir Edmund was in Archangel, commanding the allied forces in North Russia, charged with the task of preventing the Germans from seizing allied war material. Three months later the war ended but the British troops in Archangel were told to fight on.

Sir Edmund's bitter account of the campaign in the Encyclopedia Britannica describes the "demoralizing effect upon all ranks" when the troops he commanded learned that the Germans no longer were the enemy and that the Bolsheviks were the new adversary.

"The allied troops were never quite clear as to the reason for the continuance of the fighting," he wrote.

The British troops were evacuated from Russia at the end of the summer of 1919. Sir Edmund, then 38, was promoted to major-general and sent to Ismid to command the British force in Antantolia, where the late Kemal Ataturk was defying the French and British armies and beginning construction of his "New Turkey."

Back in Britain in 1922, he was made commandant of the army staff college at Camberley, in Surrey. For four years he trained officers for high-grade army posts. "Sports" said his methods made a deep impress on British military thought.

One of the British army's best linguists, Sir Edmund is a qualified interpreter in seven languages. It is said to have a broad knowledge of 20. Among those he speaks well are French, German, Dutch, Norwegian, Russian, Magyar, Hindustani, Persians, Arabic and Flemish.

Sir Edmund long has been an almost legendary figure in the British army. Most soldiers know his great hulking figure broad-jawed face with close cropped mustache, his thinning iron-grey hair, and steely eyes.

One of Australia's Economic Aristocrats

There's a regal air about this ram. He looks as if he knows the importance he plays in the economic life of Australia. Without him and his millions of brethren, Australia would not be the country it is today. Wool is admitted to have had more to do with Australian growth than any other commodity. Thus, it may be said that the coat of this sheep and his species is much more valuable than the fabled golden fleece.

Man in the Moon

Now that the existence of hostilities is recognized in China, it may be expected that war will be declared soon.

Local natives are showing that they can create beautiful designs on their totems and most wonderful prices for the work. No, no one is suggesting they charge too much. It's all right to get all you can from tourists.

There's one thing about camping out these days, the men have time to darn their own socks.

The good Doctor Dafoe does not thank the quints. How in the world does he keep them that way? It's very clear that he's not their daddy.

They say the reason the weather had in the south is because the loons are laughing. Unfortunately there are also loons in Northern B.C.

Jake says he quit talking about the weather a month ago. He found his nature was being soured so he started talking about unemployment, traffic accidents, Hitler and a number of other cheerful subjects.

'Twas once upon a time Some thousand years ago That nations all agreed to be A friendly lot you know. They minded their own business And friendly were they too That quarrelsome human nature

Is what they never knew. So the world got better and better Until it nearly burst And then it got so very good That Adam and Eve were curst. So all the world's been wicked From that time until this. They're raising Cain and Hitlers Instead of seeking bliss.

John—(In country store): What have you in the shape of automobile tires? Clerk—Fresh doughnuts.

"Wonderful achievement!" the spokesman shouted. "You've broken all records for a non-stop flight. How did you do it?"

"Well, to tell the truth," the rank outsider answered modestly. "I think luck had something to do with it. I didn't find out until about five minutes ago how to stop the darned thing."

"James is so kind-hearted to animals."

"That so?" "Yes. Why, when he found the cat sleeping in the coal bin he ordered a ton of soft coal."

Yes, Mr. Tyte is a good friend of mine. Why, I remember that during the worst part of the depression he showed confidence in me when the clouds were dark and threatening.

In what way? He lent me his umbrella.

Commissions Open To Warrant Ranks

LONDON, July 25: (CP)—A new scheme to facilitate promotion to commissioned officers from warrant rank, announced by the Admiralty recently, will be brought into force October 1 instead of being deferred for four years.

The system, one of selection instead of seniority will see promotions made twice yearly, on April 1 and October 1.

The exceptional officer will receive promotion at from eight to 10 years seniority, the majority at about 10 years seniority and the others at from 10 to 12 years seniority. Those not regarded as fit for promotion at 12 years seniority will be liable, at Admiralty discretion, to be placed on the retired list.

To ensure all warrant officers with high seniority in prescribed categories having a chance of promotion at not more than 10 years seniority the number of promotions in the next year or so will be somewhat greater than would have been made under the 10-year rule.
