PEACE SEEMS LIKELY

At one time it seemed as if war in Europe was a certainty. Now it seems almost as certain that there will be no European war for some time to come. As long as the nations opposed to Fascism stick together they will be too: strong for the dictator nations to attack with any hopes of success. Also Japan is being gradually weakened by her war in China. That leaves Germany and Italy practically alone.

The series of international crises of the past year have so stirred up Britain and France and other countries that they are now prepared for any emergency.

The fact that Italy publishes to the world that she and Germany are prepared to strike quickly indicates that they have no immediate intention of doing so. Germany has boasted recently that she has so far won everything situation wanted out of town without war but the indication is that she will win little more by the policy of bluffing. Even Chamberlain is not likely to be the victim of that policy again.

· You can't go out and win if constipation pulls your punches. It's what you don't eat that hurts you. Ordinary diets often fail to supply "bulk" of the kind your bowels need for regular movements. Adopt an easy-to-follow habit that fosters regular habits: Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day; drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN helps in the formation of the soft "bulky" mass required for good elimination. And ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of Nature's intestinal tonic, Vitamin B1. When your system is running on schedule you are ready to go places.
