WESTERN HIGHWAY ROUTE

With the arrival in the city of the full text of the report on the Alaska Highway Commission meeting in Victoria, it is revealed that Prince Rupert's member, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, was present throughout and sometimes took part in the proceedings. One of his interjections was that he was sure what the United States Congress would do about the highway but he was not sure of the Canadian government. He also said he knew the coast towns would like to see the coast route followed.

One of the interesting statements of Commissioner Spencer was that a thousand miles of highway through Canada would have to be rebuilt if it was continued through to Alaska. The Premier admitted that this would be necessary.

Congressman Magnusson of Seattle was the most outspoken in favor of the coast route. He expressed the desire of towns like Ketchikan, Juneau and Prince Rupert for an outlet. Ketchikan people look to getting through a mountain pass to Stewart, a distance of 21 miles and connecting with the highway.

One proposal for a route is to pass through Atlin and Whitehorse but to sidetrack Dawson. The eastern route through Finlay Forks would mean passing over a summit something like 4,500 feet above sea level but, on the whole, that route would be cheaper to construct and would be a slightly shorter route. While it was said that it was up to the Canadian Commission to decide on the route yet the American members will have more to do with the financing and it is the financing that really counts. If the Americans want the coast route and are willing to finance it, there is nothing for the Canadian commission to do but recommend that route. Mr. Magnusson gave it as his opinion that the advantages of the coast route would easily outweigh the cost. Several parties will examine parts of the routes this year and by fall a fairly accurate estimate of cost can be made and submitted to the Canadian Parliament and to Congress at the next sessions of each.

COULD STOP THE WAR

The United States and Great Britain can stop the war in China if they wish without any military intervention. They can starve Japan into submission. Japan has no oil, iron, copper, lead, nickel or rubber. She does not even have the raw material for her factories. Most of the materials needed come from United States with Great Britain the second best source of supply. According to a report of the foreign relations committee of the United States Senate the United States supplies Japan with 91 per cent of her trucks, 41 per cent of her pig iron, 93 per cent of her copper, 60 per cent of her scrap iron, all of her gasoline, 48 per cent of her machinery and engines. Canada is also a large exporter to Japan. Let all these sources of supply be closed and the war would end tomorrow.

day there are 100 members divided into several groups.

The club's chief object is to promote good friendship among domestic servants. In many instances young men and girls go into strange cities and towns to work. "If they are members of the club" said Miss Leigh, "They are assured of meeting their fellow-members of either sex. In this way loneliness is banished and friendships spring up. This makes for happiness and the members are much more contented in their work."

The London group has no headquarters. They always meet under the arch at Hyde Park Corner. Only domestic servants—including hotel employees—are eligible to join. The fee is one shilling to join and half a crown a year.

Servants Only In Cycle Clubs

LONDON, July 29: (CP)—An advertisement in a bicycle magazine has brought an end to loneliness for a number of domestic servants. In 1936, a butler, fond of cycling, advertised in a magazine for domestic servants to form a club. Miss Martha Leigh answered the call and eventually a club of six members was formed but it didn't last long.

Last August Miss Leigh decided to try again. Before starting on a cycle tour she advertised and received 25 replies from maids, butlers, footmen and chauffeurs. A new bicycle club was founded. To-

PLAY FAST AND EVEN

Fine Display of Football Between Velvet and Navy

After opening exchanges which were even in Thursday night's Gilhuly Cup football game between Velvet and Navy, Dickens got across a centre that Baker brought under control and beat Morgan with a good shot. Dickens, just after, made another good run and Morgan did well to fust his centre away. Play was fast and even and always full of interest. Baker and Cameron combined nicely but Eby cleared. Haig now came on for the Navy and showed flashes of his old time ability. Morgan fisted Cameron's high centre. Smith was dangerous but F. Gomez stopped him. McLeod headed away and Vink punched Smith's shot clear. Christison just missed. Haig headed in a dangerous shot and later drove in another accurately but Vink cleared. Ferguson missed a great opening and Gillis was just wide. Velvet was now pressing and Cameron dropped a centre across that finally came to the foot of Gillis who drove a terrific shot into the top of the net to put Velvet two goals up and end the scoring for the game.

In the second half Bryant centred well but Gomez headed clear. W. Gomez crossed a good centre, Eby and Armstrong were defending strongly. Morgan saved well from Dickens and then fisted Cameron's high centre clear. Baker passed to Dickens whose good try just topped the bar but Dickens missed a wide open goal from Baker's pass just after. Christison passed to Bryant whose centre was met by W. Gomez but his shot was just too high. Vink cleared from Davies. Eby blocked Gillis. W. Gomez and Smith were dangerous but Parsons cleared nicely. Eby headed out a good try by Greer. Gillis took a grand corner that Davies headed clear. It was mostly Velvet's game but Navy kept trying and Christison, Bryant and Armstrong were always quick to break away though they found the Velvet defence very strong.

Argentine Eyes U.S. Polo Wins

Canadian Born South American Captain Sees Possible Team

BUENOS AIRES, July 29: (CP)—Undaunted by the United States' easy victory over the best British polo team in years in the recent international tourney at New York, the hard-riding caballeros of the Argentine are dreaming again of a victory over the Americans.

The poloists of the pampas would like to repeat their triumphal tour of 1922 when Montreal-born Lewis Lacey—only 10-goal player in the history of Argentine polo—led a squad abroad to capture both the English and American championships.

The Argentine players are not willing to rest on the fame of the Olympic championship they captured at Berlin in 1936. Lacey, now 52, says constantly improving strain of men and horses should give the Argentine another winning combination.

"I won't say that we have today the players to beat the American team, which to my mind is the best polo outfit the world has ever seen," said Lacey, "but we have some comers and with improved stoking and better horses, they will soon be heard from."

Son of an English architect, Lacey moved with his family from Montreal to South America as a child. He has captained the Hurlingham Club team, current Argentine champions, since the turn of the century, and is now rated at seven goals.

Sportsmen Of Two Countries Unite In Plan

Non-Profit Company Checks Mortality Among Wildfowl With Aid Of Western Provinces

BOSTON, July 29: (CP)—When a wild duck and her brood were found on a Boston street they weren't killed and there was no debate about what was to be done with them—as there probably would have been in previous years. Instead they were turned over to local members of the wildfowl conservation group known as Duck Unlimited who sent them to one of the breeding preserves in western Canada where the greatest wildfowl conservation program attempted is being carried out by United States and Canadian sportsmen.

Ducks Unlimited was formed about two years ago by a group of farsighted sportsmen who were alarmed at the rate of decrease in the supply of wild waterfowl. They formed a nation-wide, non-profit organization and sought to reverse the trend.

Already, it is estimated, the group has increased the wild duck supply by approximately 1,500,000 birds through the protection and reclamation of 168,000 acres of breeding grounds in the central plains of Canada. The work was carried on by subscribed appropriations of $1,000,000.

Plans for the current year call for an expansion of the program to include the improvement of an additional 600,000 acres of breeding ground, toward which appropriations of about $125,000 have already been made.

Canada was chosen as the spot for the organization's program because the plain areas of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and the northwest territory, were the sites of the only remaining good wildfowl breeding grounds on this continent. The five-year program anticipates spending $3,000,000 in work on the central Canadian plains, which are considered the nesting place of 80 per cent of this continent's wild ducks and geese.

Old Land Women Wedding Aliens Have Champions

LONDON, July 29: (CP)—British women who marry aliens must wait until the next Imperial Conference for a decision whether they will have the right to keep their nationality.

Women's organizations all over Britain, supported by peers and commoners, are agitating to obtain a reform of the nationality law which makes foreigners of British women who marry foreigners. Lord Ainess, sponsor of the British Nationality and Status of Aliens Bill which came before the House of Lords in July, 1938, is forming a committee of peers to aid the movement.

Lord Ainess declared the sole argument against the Bill was that nothing could be done until the dominion came into line. Such a proposition postulated that one retrograde dominion could veto what is admittedly a just reform throughout the British Empire. That seemed to him to be an intolerable position.

"Let the government abandon its spineless and pusillanimous policy of waiting, like Mr. Micawber, for something to 'turn up,'" he said, "I am satisfied that if the British government gives the lead all the dominions will come into line."

Lord Ainess told a meeting which discussed the question that in his opinion it was wrong that nationality should be taken from or imposed upon adult citizens without their consent. "The law is harsh," he said. "The British subject who marries an alien woman, and the alien who marries a British woman, have free and unrestricted right of choice whether they shall retain or abandon their nationality. A woman, alien or British, has no choice in the matter." He added there had been and still was great hardship and even tragedy through the operation of the existing law.

"A British woman who marries an alien loses the right to be a member of a local authority, or a member of Parliament, and the right protection from her own country, and if she returns seeking employment she will find herself subject to all the disabilities which attach to alienage."

Man in the Moon

Of course it's a good morning and a nice day. We have nothing else here.

Jake says he wants a job with plenty of pay and not too much work. If he were younger I'd send him the following advertisement from a British newspaper. You can guess what part of Britain it comes from:

"Wanted, Boy to work in general grocery store in small town and learn to be a shoemaker. Must have passed matriculation. One who can help milk the cow and play in the band preferred. Must be youth of clean habits; cigarette smokers need not apply. Boy who understands Diesel engine and Fordson tractor given preference. Users of intoxicating liquors and profane language will not be considered. Boy who gets this job must not be too proud and aristocratic to mingle with the livestock and chickens and help out in the kitchen now and then. Tenor singer who is a good fast bowler will find this an ideal situation. Must be early riser and not afraid of work. You will work in very healthy climate with beautiful surroundings, fine fishing, game and flowers. Horse to ride Sunday afternoons. Must be good salesman. Apply in your own handwriting, sending photograph with three references, £3 a month to begin with for a live wire, with chanes to buy interest. Employer can furnish board and room at £2 10s. If you will mow the lawn in your spare time."

Japan says she wants to establish a new order in China, that is the reason for her activity. In other words the Japanese want to order the Chinese around in their own country. Tourist to local storekeeper: "They tell me this town is on an island. What is the name of the island?" "Kaien." "Real hot stuff, aye?"

Now that the Junior Chamber of Commerce is said to be going into the show business with that sea serpent at the Salt Lake, it is expected that Paul Armour will establish a fast line of boats to the place to carry the passengers across.

With the sea serpent properly based at Prince Rupert, the place will be like the factory of the man that made a better mousetrap than anybody else. The world will make a beaten path to it.

It is understood that the secretary of the Junior Chamber is already claiming credit for the idea of impounding the big creature and capitalizing it for the benefit of Prince Rupert.

If everybody was as keen as that to help forward the interests of the city there would be more progress made.

Daily advertising in the Daily News is sure to bring daily results.

Visitors See New Boothbay Lobster Pool

Maine Rearing Station Built At Cost of $20,000 Draws Hundreds For Inspection

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., July 29: (CP)—Hundreds of visitors have been attracted here by the establishment of the new lobster rearing pool, built at a cost of about $20,000.

The project was completed by a Works Progress Administration grant. At present the capacity of the station is 294 rearing tanks each holding 3,000 lobsters. Only one hatch is expected this year, operations being conducted only through June, July and August. The system eventually will be enlarged so that there will be 500 tanks, which would mean two and possibly three hatches a season.

The plant, operated under the 24-hour basis, is under the superintendency of Warden Thomas Kinney of Rockland, operating with Thomas Dorr, head of the federal plant. He also has a number of assistants trained in lobster culture.

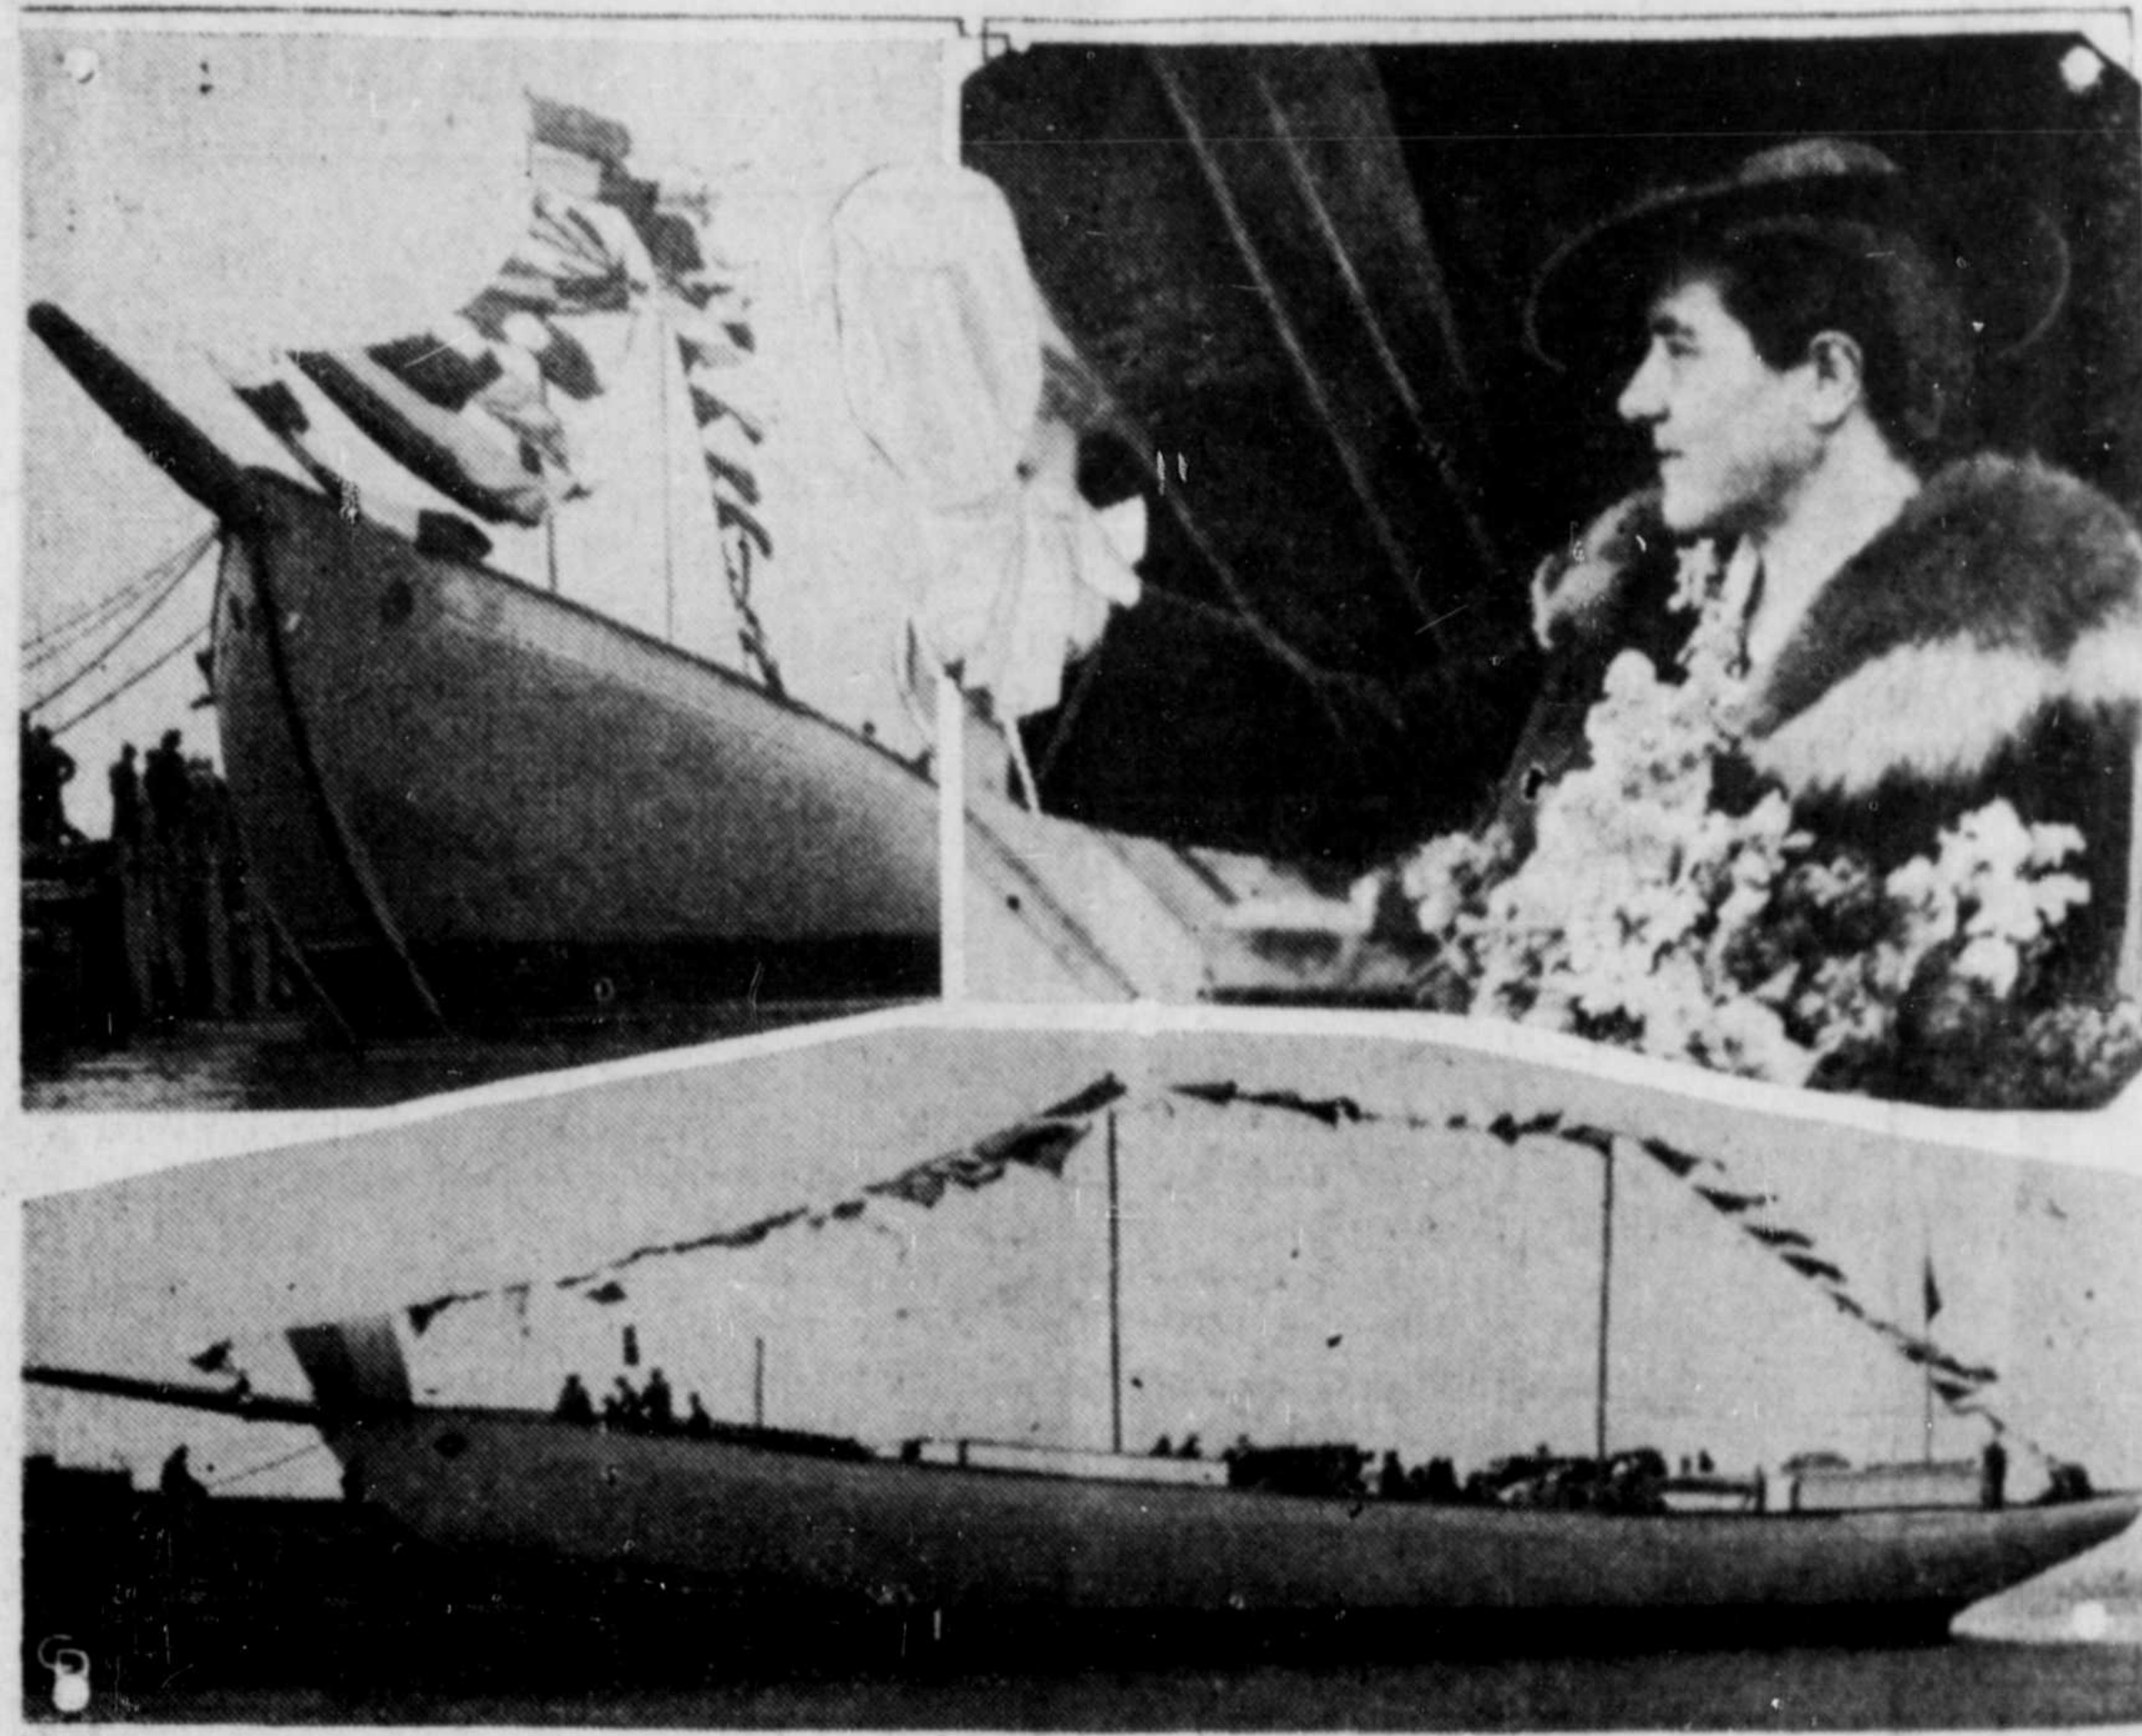

When the seed lobsters arrive here they will be taken in charge by Dorr. The eggs will be allowed to hatch naturally and then will be taken to the rearing station where they will be raised to the fourth stage, or what is known to the lobster fishermen as the "sinking stage." Many of the eggs never reach the fourth stage, the expectation being that about 25 percent of the eggs hatched this year will reach that degree of growth. If the present experiments in warming the water to the proper temperature are a success it is expected that several million fourth-stage lobsters will be the result.

The fishermen are anxious to know what disposition is to be made of the lobster rookies, but Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf assures them that they will be divided as evenly as possible among the producing areas, and that the distribution will be started within a month or so.

Typical of the plight of Maine lobstermen is the experience of John Wood of Pleasant Island who said one week he hauled 110 traps on one expedition and got only 30 lobsters.

Five thousand Prince Rupert people read the Daily News. It pays to let them know what you have to sell.

MINISTER'S WIFE CHRISTENS LARGEST NAVY SCHOONER

The largest training schooner in the Empire's navy is shown in the upper left after it had been christened the Venture, by Mrs. Norman Rogers, wife of the Federal Minister of Labor, at a little shipyard on Nova Scotia's "Acadian Shore." Three thousand farmer-fishermen of the shore watched Mrs. Rogers (upper right) as she broke a cloth-covered bottle over the hull of the schooner. The ship, built by men who have been making fishing schooners for years, is a replica of the famous Nova Scotia Grand Banks fishing schooner Bluenose, speed champion of the North Atlantic fleets. The Venture is shown in the lower photograph, riding gracefully after the launching at Meteghan.

Canadian Halibut Landings Heavy as Closing of Area No. 2 Impends—Alaska Seiners and Trollers in Warfare

With lay-over periods between trips suspended and boats rushing in catches as quickly as possible prior to the closing tonight of the fishing season as far as Area No. 2 is concerned, Canadian halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the ending yesterday reached the rather heavy total of 472,600 pounds brought in by thirty-eight boats. This brought the total of Canadian landings for the season to date up to 4,989,200 pounds as compared with 4,031,350 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The American landings for the present season to date, including 285,000 pounds brought in during the past week, have aggregated 5,583,700 pounds in comparison with 4,234,900 pounds last year. The grand total of landings at Prince Rupert for the season is now 10,482,900 pounds as compared with 8,266,250 pounds a year ago. Despite heavy landings of the week, prices held up. The top bid of the week for Canadian fish was 7.7c and 5c which the Rose Spit received for 14,000 pounds and the low 6.2c and 5c which the D.S.T. and Joe Baker were paid for 6,000 and 7,000 pounds respectively. For American fish the high price of the week was 8c and 5.5c which the Frisco, Pearl and Sunset received for catches of 14,000, 12,000 and 36,000 pounds respectively. The low price of the week for American fish was 7.5c and 5c which a number of boats were paid.

There were forty-seven round trip passengers aboard the steamer Princess Adelaide which was in port last evening from the south. Among them were newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. R. Thompson of Vancouver, on a honeymoon trip.

Open warfare near Juneau between herring seiners and salmon trollers is brewing again after years of Quiescence. Trollers, angered by the operations of three large herring seiners working in the vicinity of Shoap Point, are making plans to squeeze the bigger craft out. One troller, it was reported, laid a rifle beside his gurdy pit when a seiner attempted to steer him out of position to make room for a herring seine but trouble was averted when the seiner steered off. Trollers say that seine boats have not operated for herring in Stephens Passage for many years but schools of the fish are now beginning to appear there.

Delayed again by heavy freights for cannery points, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 6 o'clock this morning from the south and sailed a couple of hours or so later on her return to Vancouver and waypoints. She is calling back at Claxton and Carlisle for a quantity of canned salmon and will also pick up some at Butedale. Before she arrives at Vancouver she will be carrying a capacity load in addition to passengers. She had on board 36 round trip passengers.

The sockeye pack on the Skeena and Naas Rivers is still well ahead of last year according to figures just issued by the fisheries department. On the Skeena up to July 22 the catch of sockeyes was 46,941 cases, as against 36,942 at a similar date last year. On the Naas the pack was 10,284 cases against 8,895 last year at the same date. Springs taken on the Skeena amounted to 4,212 cases as against 3,729 last year. Pinks are also both ahead of last year at the same date but chums are down slightly. Cohoes taken on the Skeena this year numbered 4,417 cases against last year's pack at the same time of 3,476 cases. The total salmon catch for the whole coast is down considerably over the same time last year, the total being 176,757 cases against 204,862 cases last year.

Induction For New Minister At Burns Lake

BURNS LAKE, July 29:—An induction service was held in the United Church at Burns Lake for Rev. Adam Crisp on Tuesday evening with Rev. R. J. Love of Quesnel, chairman of the Cariboo Presbytery, presiding, assisted by Rev. J. T. Burchill of Smithers. Visiting clergymen were Rev. J. Whittles of Burns Lake and Rev. J. E. Birchall of Smithers. Following the ceremony refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation.

Betty Borland, Betty Wilkinson, Helen Brown, Audrey Watkinson and Mrs. Watkinson, who have been camping at Mrs. Barclay's cabin at the Salt Lakes for the past two weeks, are returning home on Monday.

Tennyson's Voice Moves Listeners

LONDON, July 29: (CP)—Poet Alfred Noyes described listening the other day to Lord Tennyson reciting some of his own poems as "one of the most moving experiences I have ever had."

Tennyson has been dead since 1892. His voice was heard from records, never heard in public before, made in 1889 by two men sent to England from the United States by Thomas Edison, the inventor.

They were played by the poet's grandson, Charles Tennyson, at Aldworth, the poet's last home, to an audience of about 250 members of the Poetry Society in Aldworth by the Maharaja of Baroda's invitation.

"The forceful characteristics of Lord Tennyson's voice were so clear," said Mr. Noyes to the News Chronicle, "that the whole thing made a tremendous impression upon me. The intonations and cadences of Tennyson's voice were perfect where the records were not defective and some passages were so clear and so well rendered that one almost thought he was in the room."

"I think that what impressed me most was how Tennyson's voice brought out the passion in the lines recited from 'Maud,' especially these:

My dust would hear her and beat,
Had I lain for a century dead.
That seemed to me most appropriate to the occasion as Tennyson's voice has been silent for half a century. It moved me and everyone there very deeply. The audience stood partly in the poet's study and partly in the room where he died.

"The very clarity, precision and truth to nature of Tennyson's poetry were means by which he achieved his magic, because in getting nearer to the truth of nature, he was getting nearer to the ultimate and mysterious reality in which nature is rooted."

DETECTIVE TALE HERE

Basil Rathbone Heads Cast of "The Hound of the Baskervilles," Sherlock Holmes' Best

"The Hound of the Baskervilles," famous Sherlock Holmes story with Basil Rathbone playing the part of the great fictional sleuth, is the feature offering at the Capitol Theatre here for tonight only. One of literature's most chilling and shocking mystery stories, this has been considered one of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's greatest tales and Rathbone is said to give a fine portrayal of the central figure. Richard Greene and Wendy Barrie are co-featured as the romantic interest while Nigel Bruce plays the part of Dr. Watson. Also playing important parts are Lionel Atwill, John Carradine, Beryle Mercer and Ralph Forbes.

In "The Hound of the Baskervilles" the detective pits his cunning against that of a giant unearthly beast that roams the fog-shrouded English moor with blazing eyes and bared fangs, terrorizing the countryside, striking horror into the hearts of two young lovers and leaving a trail so terrifying that only Sherlock Holmes dares follow.

"The Hound of the Baskervilles" is double-billed with "Speed to Burn," a romantic horse racing story with Michael Whalen, Lynn Bari, Marvin Stephens, Henry Armetta, Chick Chandler, Sidney Blackmer and Charles Brown among those in leading parts.

Mrs. S. Darton arrived home Thursday night after spending a week in Terrace the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McIntosh at their country home, "The Crossways."
