Red Air Force and Navy Spring Into Action With Bombarding Attacks as Army Crosses Frontier at Many Points in Sudden Move Early Today

British Columbia Legislature Pro- Widespread Military Action Follows Diplomatic Rupture

Helsingfors Hos Aerial Warfare at Once-No Delay in Using of Incendiary Bombs and Attacking Even Hospitals-Various Nations Critical

LONDON, November 39: (CP)-Soviet Russia and Finland are at war. Early today Russia isunched the invasion when troops crossed the Finnish frontier at numerous points. Soviet air force bombers and warships also sprang into action with hombordment attacks along the Finnish coast including the capital of Helsingfors. Points of attack were widely diffused. Incendiary bombs were used by Russian planes. A hospital was one of the points that was struck.

Finnish defence force rallied quickly after the 1 htning attack and anti-a craft batteries fought bitter! . It was estimated that ten oviet planes were shot down, two

It was at 9:30 a.m. Helsingfors time that the first Russian fighting planes appeared. They did not immediately bomb the city itself but dropped their missiles on a smaller community outside the capitol. A Finnish government spokesman said cryptically: "It has started. The war is on." The people trock to bomb shelters. All traffic was balted. Finland formally declared war on Russia following the invasion. Within a few hours the Red forces had pushed across the Finnish border on the Isthmus of Karelian north of Leningrad. Warplanes had twice bombed Helsingfors and set the port of Viipuri aflame. Warships began seizing Finnish islands in the Gulf of Finland. The Russa-Finnish crisis, which appeared to be rapidly developing into another phase of the European war, took a final serious turn last night when the Soviet formally broke off diplomatic relations with its little western neighbor, the Russian high command ordering the army and the navy to hold itself in readiness for instant orders to action. Announcement of the breaking off of diplomatic relations was made in a radio address by Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotoff. Shortly previous the Finnish ambassador to Moscow had been notified and handed his passports. Meantime huge movements of troops and Russian air force planes were being made to the Finnish frontier and several Russian warships departed from their bases, presumably for Finnish waters. The warships had been exercising in the vicinity of Finnish islands which Russia desires for air and naval bases.

wednesday that they could not expect to maintain peacetime standards during the war. They might ! be called upon to make "fearful, sacrifices" in the interest of principles for which they fought.

Molotoff declared that Russia had no desire to violate Finland's independence or her territorial integrity. To say otherwise was "vile calumny" on Soviet intentions.

The hostile policy of the present Finnish government had, however, made it imperative, Molotoff declared, for Russia to take steps to keep her security inviolate and to protect her own national safety, particularly with respect to the port of Leningrad. Finland had taken an irreconciliable attitude, said Molotoff, who suggested Finland was acting in the interests of foreign imperialists and war mongers. Russia could no longer tolerate the present situation.

"Russia only wishes to liberate Finland from its own regime," Molotoff asserted.

Dictator Joseph Stalin, in an article published during the day in the newspaper Pravda, placed the blame for the European war squarely on the shoulders of Great Britain and France. Their attack on Germany had been responsible for the relations, there appeared to be little hope but that the issue had gone too far to be settled by negotiation. Russia was so far committed to accuisition of Finnish territory on the Ithsmus of Kalelia that she was expected to insist on getting it.

NO NEED FOR WAR

Official British circles express the opinion that there is no good cause for war in the Baltic. Neither Russia or Finland are justified in going to war. There are no issues that could not have been solved by peaceful methods. It would have been to the advantage of the Allies to keep peace in the Baltic as it cannot be foretold how far war there may spread and what nations may become involved.

Scandinavian countries are fearful of the effect of a Russo-Finnish war. The Copenhagen, Denmark, press says it will be a catastrophe. Scandinavian nations would be bound to give "moral and economic collaboration," although not necessarily military aid, to Finland.

Russia stepped in and took advantage of an easy sit. ation in Poland after Germany had smashed the Pries into submission. Then they put unfair pressure to hear or Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania, stealing part of their tor ritory and converting them into vassal states. Now she has been making a similar attempt in connection with Finland and has to some extent succeeded. It turns out that the kind of administration they have in Russia is just as aggressive as the capitalistic states.

FREEDOM OF THE UNIVERSITY

In the Legislature at Victoria there has been some discussion in regard to the right of free discussion of various subjects.

One thing that seems to have been forgotten is that the people of British Columbia pay for the education of their young folks at the University and it has some righ' to say that these lads and lassies shall not be led astrav by people who try to instill in their minds subversive doctrines.

There is no objection, for instance, to the students discussing communism but very few would like to have FOR RENT-Large rooming house, discussions or this subject conducted by a communist who would possibly do his best to train the young minds to accept Communism. We would not like an advocate of free love to be teaching our young people.

Giving the broadest kind of education does not mean FOUND-Two keys on ring, one a trying to place objectionable systems before students in the most favorable light. The board of governors that appoints the faculty should exercise great care in seeing _ that the men and women they appoint are men and women of the right type with no false or freak ideas with which to impress the students. Beyond that, the greatest freedom of discussion should be permissible and the good and bad points of all ideologies and systems of government should be placed before them.

KNITTING IN LEGISLATURE

Some ladies who wished to see and hear what the members of the Legislature were doing decided to take their knitting to the ladies' gallery. There they sat in the front row, presumably making socks or jerseys for the soldiers. Soon they were spied by an officious attendant and they were informed that knitting was not allowed in the House.

If the case is exactly as stated, we feels as if the dignity of the Legislature could be quite well protected without stopping the ladies knitting during this war time. It is possible the knitting was accompanied by a hum of conversation in which case it was right to stop them but these are war days and war work might be allowed to take precedence, even in the galleries of the House. But some of the legislators will not even acknowledge that this is our war.
