Message of Rest of Administration's Neutrality Program Expected Today—House Has Yet to Deal With It

Washington, D.C., October 27: (CP)—The United States Senate voted today to repeal the embargo against the sale of arms to warring nations. The action cleared the way for the passage of the administration's neutrality bill which, in addition to ending the embargo, would set up a limited cash and carry system of commerce with belligerent nations. All sides agreed that to effect repeal would be to give aid to Great Britain and France in the war with Germany. The vote on the entire bill is expected later in the day.

FLINT POINT NOW RAISED OVER SHIP

Prize Crew Appears Promises to Develop Into Complicated International Issue

WASHINGTON, D.C., October 27:—A first class international issue with United States and Germany on one hand and Soviet Russia and Germany on the other, appears to be developing out of the case of the American prize ship City of Flint which was captured at the end of last week by a German raider Emden as a merchant carrier and taken by a German crew to the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk. It bids fair to become the most complicated maritime issue of the present war. Absolute Autonomy Of Gov't Condemned By Pope Pius In First Encyclical Of Reign

CASTEL GANLOLFO, October 27: (CP)—Pope Pius today condemned governments which assume "that absolute autonomy which belongs to the Supreme Maker" and offered consolation to dismembered Poland. In the first encyclical of his reign, the Pontiff, after recounting the failure of his efforts for peace, also pleaded for a settlement at the end of this war which would avoid the errors of past treaties which had failed to bring lasting peace. The Pope blamed denial of "the authority of God and the sway of His law" for the rise of governments which make the state "the last end of life."

IS THIS PRINCE RUPERT?

That old busybody, Dame Rumor, has been having the time of her life for the past few weeks, says the Oshawa Times. She is far from idle in peacetime but then her stories have to compete with published news which is more accurate if less imaginative. In wartime, when some small portion of the news is suppressed in the public interest, the dear old lady does her best to satisfy a news hungry populace.

She has a feminine scorn of technical details. Discovering the Bremen in every harbor from Cape Horn to Spitzbergen, she overlooks the fact that many of these ports could not float a ship of the Bremen's draught. Lately she discovered that the reason for the sugar shortage was that the available supplies were being commandeered by munitions manufacturers for making explosives. This is a plausible story, since the skill of organic chemists is no doubt sufficient to convert the carbon of sugar into almost any other carbon compound. The flaw in the story lies in the fact that there are thousands of cheaper sources of carbon, which is the commonest element in nature.

Such flaws do not worry Dame Rumor. She can account for the sugar shortage in other ways. She knows for a fact that such and such a firm is hoarding a secret reserve, that another firm is fined thousands of dollars for the same offence. Point out that the managers of the firms in question have been spending sleepless nights trying to cope with an abnormal demand for sugar and to devise means of limiting individual purchases so that no customer will suffer and Dame Rumor waves the facts aside. She herself has stored away as much as her pantry will hold, but it never occurs to her that this might have something to do with the situation.

The dame is a super-patriot. She has a garbled knowledge of current events and not many weeks ago was loud in her denunciations of Mr. Chamberlain. Now she delights in clamoring for the internment of anyone who repeats her own remarks. Particularly is she delighted when her victim has a Germanic name. It is quite irrelevant that most German-Canadians were here long before Hitler was heard of. Many, in fact, are descendants of U.E.L. families. Dame Rumor would intern them all; if she did not have them shot.

Sometimes kindly, oftens malicious, always untrustworthy. Dame Rumor will continue to thrive for the duration of the war. Her tongue will clack with the speed of her own knitting needles, producing tales as grotesque as some of the socks that she will send to the unfortunate troops. For both tales and socks, laughter is the only antidote.

WARSAW BOY SAVES HIS PET

NEW TYPE OF FREEZER Gets Pack-Sack His Father Had

Overhead Icing and Underslung Heating Are Features

MONTREAL, October 27:—A refrigerator car which affords new possibilities in the shipment of perishable goods, just completed in the Transcona shops of the Canadian National Railways, made its test run, reaching Montreal today with a shipment of more than 59,000 pounds of bacon. "This car is a radical departure from previously constructed refrigerator cars and represents the most revolutionary development along this line ever built," stated John Roberts, chief of motive power and car equipment for the company.

Among those interested in the new car were several officials of American railways who travelled to Winnipeg to inspect it. Accompanying the car on its trip eastward were representatives of the National Research Council and the Canadian National Railways.

Several important innovations are features of this equipment, including more economical operations, uniform temperature, considerably increased loading space and the avoidance of re-icing enroute. This car is the first of 100 to leave the shops. The remainder going into service as soon as completed and tested.

This new car is equipped with overhead icing, underslung heater using charcoal as fuel and liquidometers. This method of refrigeration not only results in cooler cars but consistently maintains an even temperature. Also apart from superior refrigeration, there is more loading space due to elimination of end bunkers and bracing in doorway, permitting cars to be loaded solid. The principle of overhead icing gives better circulation as the cold air must follow a downward course and much more even temperature can be obtained. On a recent check from Winnipeg to Montreal—a distance of 1,360 miles—it was found there was less than one degree difference in the meat temperature over the entire journey. The car is also equipped with liquidometers showing the temperature at floor and ceiling, which enables the checking of temperatures enroute.

These cars will take practically twice the lading of the conventional refrigerator cars and will use only about 50 percent of the ice ordinarily used in an end bunker refrigerator car, with no re-icing enroute.

REGINA, Oct. 27: (CP)—As a result of an amazing coincidence Allan Edwardson, 18-year old recruit, will use the same pack-sack his father carried throughout the first Great War.

When the father, Morelle Edwardson, handed in his pack-sack in 1918 he did not think he would ever hear of it again. He was astonished when he received a letter from his son saying the pack had been issued to him with other equipment in Regina Armories.

Football For Red Cross Is British Plan

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)—The English Football Association is considering a special wartime knock-out competition for Red Cross funds. The standard of play which has been put up in the special schedules which have been operated since the war started is said to be better than that of before the war.

SPORT CHAT

Some day Able Yanofsky will be a chess master but the 18-year old Winnipeg prodigy is a year or so away from that exalted position. Able was a sensation in the international team championship at Buenos Aires and was acclaimed by such masters as World Champion Alexander Alekhine and Savary Tartokover as a remarkable player.

Bernard Freedman, secretary of the Canadian Chess Federation, explained what Yanofsky has to accomplish to become a master. Freedman just returned from New York after welcoming the Canadian team whose captain, John Morrison of Toronto, is the only Canadian who ever has been officially recognized by the International Chess Federation (F. I. D. E.) as a master. Morrison obtained ranking years ago in England but is not considered to be a present-day master, largely due to the fact that he does not compete in major tournaments.

One of two possible achievements will place Yanofsky in the master class, according to Freedman. The youthful high school student will have to meet one of the recognized present-day masters in a challenge series of matches in which he must gain a certain percentage of victories or he must defeat a master in an international tournament and finish that tournament with a better average than the defeated master to gain recognition. Recognition as a master can be granted only by the international federation.

Dixon of this city, became the bride of William McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. McLean of Seal Cove. Only immediate friends and relatives of the contracting couple were present.

The bride was beautiful in a sheer gown of pale chiffon with matching quilted bolero and pink shoulder length veil, carrying a shower bouquet of pale pink roses and yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Florence Dixon, sister of the bride, was a lovely bridesmaid in a gown of pale peach silk taffeta and with bolero to match and a corsage of rosebuds, carrying a bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums. The bride was given in marriage by her father, C. Dixon and Wilfrid McLean, brother of the groom, was groomsmen.

Following the marriage ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Sixty Avenue East.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a gown of wine silk crepe with a corsage of red rosebuds and Mrs. N. M. McLean, who wore a smart brown ensemble with a corsage of rosebuds.

The table was beautifully decorated and centred with a three-tier wedding cake which was duly cut by the bride.

During the afternoon and evening serviteurs were Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. W. Inch, Mrs. Wilfrid McLean, Miss Cecile Cavenaille and Miss Jean Dalzell.

There was a large gathering of friends at a reception in the evening to tender congratulations and good wishes to the happy couple who later sailed on the Prince Rupert for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and Seattle, many friends gathering to give them a hearty send-off.

Numerous beautiful and useful gifts testify to the popularity of the couple who, on their return, will reside at Seal Cove.

Big Game Hunting Foreseen As Bringing Million Dollars A Year To British Columbia

The organization, history and functions of the provincial government's game department formed the subject of an interesting talk delivered before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon yesterday by J. C. Cunningham of Vancouver, chairman of the Board of Game Commissioners of British Columbia. Last year, Mr. Cunningham stated, it was estimated that 505 big game hunters from outside of the province visited British Columbia, the average spending of each being about $1,000. The speaker said that efforts were being made to induce as many as 1,000 big game hunters to visit the province which would bring in a total of $1,000,000 of new spendings here.

Peter Lachie, president of the Rotary Club, was in the chair and expressed appreciation to the speaker for his talk. Guests were Don Crerar, past president of the Prince Rupert Rod & Gun Club, and Game Warden Ed. Martin.

Mrs. R. G. Large in Charge of Program at Gathering on Wednesday Afternoon

The second meeting of the season of the Ladies' Music Club was held at the home of Mrs. R. G. Large, Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Sheford Darton, in the chair. Mrs. Large had charge of the program and read an interesting program on the life of Johann Brahms, a program of Brahms' music following. Mrs. Bernard Lundahl played as a piano solo "Hungarian Dance No. 5" and Mrs. S. D. Johnston sang "Lullaby." There were recordings of "Requiem Part 1 and 2" from "Sonata in F Minor."

At the conclusion of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Boom Insurance For Raid Risks

London Newspaper Advertising Reflects Anxiety From Bombs And Blackouts

LONDON, Oct. 27: (CP)— War taxes and smaller newspapers have cut down the size of London's usually cheery advertisements for beer and petrol—but a new type of "ad" brings home war's hazards to the British people. It arises from the need for air raids precautions.

An insurance company offers separate policies—covering death only or death and certain injuries. Premiums, for death only, vary from five percent upward.

An advertisement for an eye lotion calls attention to the strain of nightly blackouts and reduced lighting indoors. Germicides are urged to keep the gas mask and other emergency equipment disinfected. Gas filtration and ventilating equipment is suggested for air raid shelters.

Motor headlight shields which fit over the headlight and leave a small "eye" of light, are advertised as complying with the latest regulations. Provided free is black paint (which can be wiped off with a damp rag after the blackout) for reflectors. With the blackout traffic deaths have doubled.

The war has brought smaller papers for British readers but the famous crossword puzzle retains a place in The Times' reduced editions.

"CAUTIOUS" WAR BEST

British People Realize Waiting May Do More To Win Than Fighting

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, October 27: (CP)—Impatient arm-chair strategists who seem disappointed the war didn't start with military parades followed by colossal battles and air raids have stopped asking: "What kind of a war is this, anyhow?" From any public house in England you'll hear caution advocated. British general staff's three-year plan has been accepted as a basis for the man-in-the-street's new conclusions over the counter with foaming beer.

Here is an example: A long waiting war with a stalemate between the Maginot and Siegfried Lines finally being broken by complete capitulation by the Germans after collapse on the home front. This collapse, according to the amateur critics, would be caused chiefly by the blockade but contributing factors would be the rising of oppressed minorities and Nazi impatience leading to rash and costly adventures antagonizing neutrals and causing discontent among the German people. Rash adventures would include desperate counter attacks, unrestricted submarine warfare, bombing of civilian populations and violation of neutrals.

How It May Go

Meantime, the hypothesis continues, Britain and France, conserving men and munitions by stonewalling tactics, keeping German ships from the seas and assuring their own sources of supply by efficient convoy systems, stand by until Hitler's regime is finally discounted and then step in and help to establish a new order. "I tell you chum," said the proprietor of the Star and Garter, "we've nothing to lose and everything to gain by a cautious waiting campaign. With a blockade and truthful propaganda, we can do more to establish a peaceful and democratic Germany and Europe than we can by unrestricted bloody warfare."

Ten days before the same man had been one of many expressing dissatisfaction at the seeming inactivity on the Western Front and especially at the lack of direct help for Poland.

The Evening Standard military correspondent points out that to send Allied planes to Poland and equip their necessary ground staffs, radio stations, repair depots and munitions supply dumps would have been a useless sacrifice, even from the Polish military point of view.

THEY EACH GRABBED A CHUNK OF POLAND

Soviet (left) and German (right) high army officials are shown leaving the government building in Bialystok after drawing a line of demarcation through Poland leaving that ill-fated nation in two sections, one controlled by Germany and the other by Soviet Russia. Russia seems to get the best of the deal, controlling almost two-thirds of the land and nearly half the population.

NATIVE FISHERMEN

Speaking on behalf of the native fishermen of British Columbia, I am absolutely unable to understand which the canners' association should fall each year to consult with the native fishermen of the Skeena River district before negotiating regulations to govern the fishing in the Skeena River area which we still claim is ours by aboriginal rights.

There is no reason why the canneries should "lay off" so many native fishermen or blame them with being dishonest.

Early each year, it is understood, the canners make their price negotiations at Vancouver for the season, reaching an agreed price, for instance, of 48¢ for sockeye. Then, after the season starts, some of the canners send out buyers to buy fish "on the blind" for 55¢.

Then, if the fishermen are caught selling their fish at the highest price, they are fired off the job.

Although the canners claim they provide the fishing equipment, which is quite correct, the fishermen are charged for same under the 48¢ agreement.

If the canners can afford to pay 55¢ "on the blind," there would appear to be no reason why they could not pay the same price to their own fishermen.

If these buyers were done away with and the native fishermen dealt fairly with, all the latter would be glad to give their honest services to the canneries even if they have to struggle along for a living in an honest way.

Total of 250 Women Up To This Morning Express Willingness To Assist Canada In War

The two weeks' period for the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women in Prince Rupert will conclude tomorrow. This morning Mrs. C. V. Evitt, who is in charge of the registration, announced that 250 women had registered which is considered a very fair representation.

The committee in charge of the registration consisted of Mrs. Evitt, as convener, Mrs. W. D. Vance, honorary secretary, Mrs. Neal Carter, honorary treasurer, Miss R. M. Davies, M. B. E., Mrs. G. P. Tinker, Mrs. F. A. MacCallum, Mrs. F. N. Good and Mrs. C. J. Norrington.

The committee on this work, it is pointed out, has served without remuneration and, indeed, has been obliged to meet certain current expenses personally, established organizations had been asked to contribute $1 each but, so far, only two have responded.
