Never Less Doing Since War Began Than There Is Today

PARIS, Nov. 17.— Unfavorable weather has reduced military operations on the Western Front to the lowest point since the war began.

MENACE OF BIG FLOOD

Several Vancouver Island Rivers on Rampage as Result of Incessant Rain

CAMPBELL RIVER, Nov. 17: (CP)— Increased flood dangers continuing to menace communities both on the east and west coast of Vancouver Island as rivers, swollen by rains that still keep up, spread over low lands.

Campbell River has spread over low land at the western edge of town, forcing a dozen families to leave their homes.

On the West Coast prospect of isolation for a week apparently faces some sections of the mining area of Zeballos as residents took stock of damage caused by torrential rains.

Meantime there was a new flood report from the Alberni Valley, between Zeballos and Victoria, where the Somass River overflowed surrounding houses.

Meanwhile the Courtenay River reports improved conditions with the flood waters receding somewhat.

ELECTION IN JUNE

Dominion Contest to Come Early Next Summer, Manion Expects

WINNIPEG, November 17: (CP)— Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Dominion Conservative leader, arriving here yesterday enroute west, expressed the belief that a general election would be held next May or June.

Dr. Manion said the purpose of his trip was to see friends and supporters and see how preparations for war are going.

The Conservative leader will go as far as the Pacific Coast.

Germany Now Feels Pinch

BERLIN, Nov. 17: (CP)— Germany is seriously considering placing of all shipments of lumber on the contraband list even if apparently destined for neutral ports authorized sources said.

The reason is assertedly the alleged British attempt to prevent neutrals from shipping anything whatsoever to Germany regardless of whether or not it is contraband.

FINLAND PREPARED TO DEFEND HER INDEPENDENCE

Finland is prepared to resist any invasion by Soviet troops which are massed on the Finnish border. Well-groomed, well-equipped, this Finnish volunteer, left, is typical of the men who will go the fighting for Finland if Soviet demands cannot be met without threat to Finnish independence.

SALVAGE OF JUNK

Capt. John Anderson and Crew Recover Taipeng From West Coast of Princess Royal Island

The Chinese junk Taipeng, in which Capt. John Anderson, his wife and crew of five some weeks ago completed a perilous voyage across the Pacific Ocean, only to be swept before a fierce southeast storm from the West Coast of Vancouver Island to Surf Point, Princess Royal Island, where they were cast up, has been salvaged by Capt. Anderson and his crew, according to word received in Prince Rupert from down the coast.

The Taipeng is, now riding at anchor in Myer's Passage, between Princess Royal and Swindell Islands, and, with the assistance of oil drums secured at Klemtu, which will be used to keep her buoyant, she will be taken ninety miles south to Ocean Falls for repairs.

LONDON, Nov. 17: (CP)— The Supreme Allied War Council met here today and announced itself to be in "complete agreement" on methods of using French and British forces for effective conduct of operations of aviation, armaments, raw materials, petroleum supplies, sea transport and economic warfare.

Holland Still In Readiness

Preparations For Evacuation and Flooding Continue

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 17.—Although the danger of invasion is believed to be diminished, Holland is still making active preparations for evacuation of her people from the low lands and flooding the country as a defensive measure.

An easing in the situation was indicated last night that by the Netherlands advising Belgium that the belligerent channel was being cleared of mines and shipping could be resumed by the end of this week.

THE WAR

Happily not many people are being killed in this war so far since the rape of Poland but that's only because Great Britain and France have made themselves so strong and proved themselves superior both in the air, on the sea and on land. The Germans are usually good fighters when they know their cause is just but today many of them realize that theirs is not a just war and that they cannot hope to succeed.

MUCH BOASTING

For the past couple of months Germany has been threatening what she is about to do to Great Britain. She has sent airplanes towards that country but very few of them have got within striking distance. It might be possible for Germany to make a mass invasion with indiscriminate bombing but immediately that happened they would be mass invasion of Germany and that would not be nice. Some Germans might be hurt. It was all very well to bomb the Poles when they were unable to return the bombing. The Germans were able to kill women and children with impunity without themselves suffering any injury. Now they have been promised that, if the bombing begins, Germans will suffer as well as British and French. That is the only thing that saves British women and children.

It seems as if the German boasting was for the purpose of trying to frighten the British people but they should have known the British well enough to realize that this could not be successful. The British expected to be bombed here but that did not prevent them giving full support to the war.

EVERYTHING SATISFACTORY

According to the British government leaders the campaign is proceeding satisfactorily. All the German activities have been curbed to such an extent that they are not important factors in winning the war. Shipping is increasing in spite of the submarines or raiders, food is coming from abroad in sufficient quantities, ammunition, airplanes and everything necessary for the winning of the war are coming into the country. The morale of the army and navy and the British people is excellent and all feel that they are fighting in a just cause. The campaign could not be more satisfactory to the Allies than it is today.

Capt. Douglas Edenshaw of Massey arrived in the city on the Prince John last night from the Queen Charlotte Islands to receive further treatment for a broken arm and will sail tonight by the same steamer on his return home.

EXPLORERS OF ROUTE

Slim Williams and John Logan Strongly Favor Hazelton To Alaska Highway

SMITHERS, Nov. 17.—The veteran trail blazer, Slim Williams, and his partner John Logan arrived in Smithers yesterday morning enroute to Vancouver and New York on the motor cycles which have carried them from Fairbanks, Alaska, over the proposed Alaska-British Columbia Highway.

They have been at Hazelton a few days resting up after their arduous trip and they came down to Smithers to take in the Armistice dance on Saturday night but returned to Hazelton and they are now resuming their journey.

They were entertained in Smithers last evening and Williams addressed a meeting, giving an account of his trip and information on the proposed route which he has taken such an interest in and which he has done more than any other one man to advertise and to advocate.

"Slim" passed through here a few years ago with his dog team when he made his first trip over the route alone. He proceeded to Washington, D. C. on that occasion and gave President Roosevelt first hand information on the proposed highway.

He will go to New York and Washington again and will interview the American and the Canadian Commissions which have charge of gathering data on the various routes proposed for the Alaska Highway.

Speaking for a few minutes at the dance here on Saturday night, Mr. Williams gave great praise to his partner, Mr. Logan, and stated that he never would have been able to get through on this trip if he had not had such a good man along with him. He said that they were obliged to cut windfalls a great part of the way and that delayed them considerably and was the cause of them being overdue in arriving at Hazelton. They carried an altimeter with them and the highest summit which they had to cross was 4300 feet.

This, he said, compared with the height of 6000 feet which would be experienced on the so-called "B" route which would be farther East. He also stated that at no time would there be more than four or five feet of snow on any part of the "A" route as compared with twice that much on the route farther to the East.

When he undertook his first trip by dog team he was told that he could never make it but he did make it. When he started this trip by motorcycle he was again told that it could not be done but he is now through. He says that he can drive a tractor over the "A" route at the present time and that if it is necessary to do so, to prove to the world the feasibility of the route and the advantages over all the others then he will take a tractor and drive it from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Hazelton over the Hazelton route and he hopes that by that time the authorities will be convinced that the "A" route is by far the easiest and most feasible one to follow.

The party will leave here tomorrow after making some repairs to their motorcycles. Their hardest work is now behind them and they should have easy sailing to Washington, D.C.

tomorrow after making some repairs to their motorcycles. Their hardest work is now behind them and they should have easy sailing to Washington, D.C.

"Slim" made many friends on his first trip to Smithers and he is being warmly received by the people of this town. Both he and his partner have a fine crop of whiskers which they will carry right to Washington. He is a fluent and entertaining speaker and when he gets on his lecture tour in the States we hope that he will win many friends for the Hazelton route and much well deserved remuneration for himself.

Gardening

Because of the keen interest taken in the war, supplanting almost all other subjects, I have not written anything for some time about gardening. The season is now over and there is nothing left out-of-doors and little has been done to prepare for next year owing to the inclement weather.

It has been suggested that in the coming year particular attention may be given to the growing of potatoes, carrots and other vegetables. People who have planned to turn over their lawns might possibly do so this year, taking a crop of potatoes before sowing to grass next fall. I pass that on for what it is worth. Even though the country is at war is no good reason for neglecting the gardens. Possibly the boys may be coming home next summer and we should not like them to be ashamed of their home town on arrival.

Those who have not put away their dahlias and glads should do so at once or they may lose them. Cold weather may be expected soon, so there is no time to be lost. A dry cool basement is the best place to store them.

This fall the weather has been so bad that many people have been disgusted at the gardening possibilities. Next year may be just the opposite so I suggest that we all carry on, doing the best we can under the circumstances. In spite of the bad weather this year there have been some fine gardens in the city so there is no need to be discouraged.

Bulbs may be planted now for indoor blooming. It is too late to get them at Christmas but they should come along in February. Chinese lilies will bloom earlier than that.

Because of the war many will wish to sow some poppies in the coming spring. It may be well to bear that in mind when ordering seeds.

Some protection should be given the Japanese cherry trees during the winter. Each tree should be carefully staked so that the winds and snows may not injure it. The splendid work done by Charles Balagno in distributing these trees should not be allowed to go for nothing through not taking care of them now.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Priest of Graham Avenue, leaders in gardening in that part of the city, last summer had a casual visitor from California who took a keen interest in their garden. I hear that this fall Mr. Matson wrote the Priests, offering to send them a collection of ranunculus bulbs for a trial. These flowers do well here and we hope to see them growing next year in the Graham Avenue garden.

As this is the last time this year that I shall be writing anything about gardening I take this opportunity to wish all my readers and all gardeners in the city a very merry Christmas and happy new year, coupled with the wish that in the new year all may go to their gardens once more with renewed vigor and interest.—H.F.P.

Operating Dep't Changes Made

W. A. Kirkpatrick Becomes Chief Of Car Service of Canadian National Railways

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—Two important changes were announced today in the operating department of the Canadian National Railways by N. B. Walton, Vice-President of Operations for the company. W. A. Kirkpatrick, superintendent of car service with headquarters at Winnipeg, has been transferred to Montreal as chief of car service in place of G. N. Goad, who has resigned to enter commercial business. Mr. Kirkpatrick's successor in Winnipeg is J. J. Behan, formerly district supervisor of car service, Montreal, who will have supervision over car service matters for the western region.

Mr. Behan comes to the west with long experience in the operating department. He entered railway service in 1911 in the audit department and shortly after worked on construction of the Toronto-Ottawa branch of the Canadian Northern Railway. Later he went into the transportation department and in 1915 went overseas where he remained until 1919. He returned to the operating department at Toronto after the war and, in 1923, following consolidation with the Grand Trunk, went to the office of the chief of car service at Montreal. In 1927 he became chief clerk until his transfer to Winnipeg. Mr. Behan took an active interest in community matters and was president of the traffic club in Montreal and was also school commissioner for the town of Mount Royal.

Sons Of Norway Lodge Birthday

Ninth Anniversary Celebrated With Banquet And Dance Which Drew Large Crowd Wednesday Night

Sixty persons attended the banquet and one hundred were present at the dance which was held in Oddfellows' Hall Wednesday night to celebrate the ninth anniversary of the Sons of Norway Lodge in Prince Rupert.

Oscar Sather, the president, was in the chair at the banquet and welcomed all present. There was an address on Lief Erickson by Rev. J. H. Myrskog, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, and other items on the program included solos by Oscar Wick and Mrs. Anton Dybhavn, accordion solos by Mike Colussi and violin solos by Dave Hadland. Peter Lien was accompanist for the evening. A beautiful birthday cake was dispensed by Mrs. Anton Dybhavn and Mrs. John Murvold.

For the dance which followed music was by Mike Colussi's Orchestra with Oscar Haveroy, as usual, a genial master of ceremonies. A Petterson and A. Hansen presided at the door and the committee in charge consisted of A. Petterson, A. Hansen, H. Halland, N. Vaseng and H. Petterson.

On two charges under the Minimum Wage Act, M. Heilbroner was found guilty yesterday afternoon in city police court, sentence being reserved until this afternoon. A third charge was dismissed.

Some Hostesses Of Happy Ideas In 1914-18 War

Names of Jenny Morris, Lady Astor and Others Stand Out For Their Welcome Sign To Canada's Troopers

By MURIEL ADAMS
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Nov. 17. (CP) — There weren't many private baths for Canadian soldiers overseas during the First Great War so it's no wonder they recall with gusto a few of their special hostesses who held out clean bath towels and had the hot water tank on full when their "leaves" came due.

"Home from Home," at 34 Bedford Place, "open house" for the Princess Pats, run by the beloved Jenny Morris and her mother, entertained more than 90,000 soldiers throughout the duration. The latchstring was always out for the weary soldier who wanted to "clean up" or have a bed for the night.

Lady Astor's London house, 4, St. James Square, saw many Canadian soldiers, war relief workers, nurses and surgeons within its doors. Its upstairs ballrooms were filled with cots where dozens of soldiers were tucked in cozily at night. More vivid memories recall the Canadian hospital on the Cliveden estate, the Astor's country home. Chatty conversations with the Cliveden chatelaine who "joshed" with the boys daily were highlights of the soldier's sick term. Some are marked by crosses in the well-kept cemetery near the narrow ravine running through the centre of the estate.

Actress Hostess
 Although Elsie de Wolfe, now

Lady Mendi, had started in amateur theatricals before war days, the role she played during wartime was hostess to the gas-burned soldiers in wartime France. Her elaborate villa at Versailles, noted for its bathroom appointments, was a haven to the soldiers as well as acting as a hospital base.

Few Canadian soldiers will forget the comforts provided for them at the hostels in charge of Evangeline Booth, Salvation Army leader. More than 15,000 beds in the 87 institutions she supervised were kept clean and comfortable for soldiers on leave. In the early war stages she organized an "old linen" campaign to gather enough material for bandages for the hospitals.

R. A. Creech, formerly of this city, arrived in the city on the Prince John last night from Pocomo, Queen Charlotte Islands, where he has been storekeeper for the B. C. Packers, and sailed on the Prince Rupert for Vancouver.

RED CROSS WEEK NOVEMBER 13-18

The quality of mercy is not strained . . . and in these troublesome times the Red Cross is called upon for extreme services—throughout the world misery is lessened, suffering is alleviated, pain is abated because of Red Cross work. In our country and abroad emergencies hold no terrors, because an organized fighting crew combats the horrors of the Four Horsemen, Famine, Pestilence, Hate and Death. You'll want to help, of course.

MANY AT BAZAAR

Annual Affair Yesterday Afternoon Of Presbyterian Church Ladies Aid Was Complete Success

Fine weather conditions favored the annual bazaar yesterday afternoon of the Ladies Aid of First Presbyterian Church and the church hall, attractively decorated for the occasion with fall flowers, was crowded with callers throughout the afternoon. The affair was opened by the pastor, Rev. H. G. Funston, and the guests were received by Mrs. H. M. Foote, president of the Ladies Aid.

Mrs. C. G. Ham was convener of the tea room, being assisted by Mrs. S. H. Leslie, Mrs. J. M. Walker, Mrs. James Baird and Miss Molly Owens. Mrs. J. R. Currie and Mrs. J. B. McKay poured and serveurs were Mrs. William Lambie, Mrs. Gordon Daniels and Mrs. T. W. Brown. Mrs. Robert Cameron was cashier.

In charge of other departments of the bazaar were the following: Bone Cooking—Mrs. James Hadden, Mrs. A. Ivanson and Mrs. J. G. Garrett.

Candy—Mrs. J. McLeod and Mrs. A. Duncan.

Plain Sewing and Fancy Work—Mrs. W. L. Sandison, Mrs. Neil McDonald and Mrs. William McLeod.

Christmas Gifts—Mrs. E. J. Smith, Mrs. H. N. Brooklesby and Mrs. James L. Lee.

Grab Box—Mrs. James Simpson and girls of the junior choir.

FIRED UPON AT RUPERT

SEATTLE, Nov. 17. (CP)—The Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Coast, Capt. A. J. Borklund, tells of being stopped by a cannon which fired a shell across her bows as she entered Prince Rupert Harbor. There was some misunderstanding about signals and the North Coast failed to stop when called upon. She quickly turned around when fired upon by the naval examining authorities at the entrance of Prince Rupert Harbor.

Borklund, stating that Canadian officers apparently thought the United States ship had not stopped quickly enough when ordered to do so, said he had thought it necessary to keep his ship moving to safeguard against grounding but he stopped immediately at the warning shot.

In regard to the incident referred to, Commander C. D. Donald, naval officer in charge at Prince Rupert, stated this morning that the stopping of the North Coast had been but a routine matter in connection with the examination service which is now effective at this port.

Warns 'Flappers' About Cocktails

Australian Doctor Says Bad Results Will Mark The Future

HOBART, Tasmania, Nov. 17. (CP)—Cocktail drinking among "flappers" was condemned by Dr. C. R. D. Brothers, medical superintendent of a Tasmanian mental hospital.

"It is all right to have a cocktail, but it makes me annoyed when I see girls of about 18 or 19 years in society 'swiping up' cocktails," he said. "I can assure you of the bad results in a few years."

"I also condemn the popularity of flats," he added. "My chief objection is the attendant curtailment of families or the curtailment of the liberty of the child. They are ideal for the elderly retired couple, whose family has grown up, but disastrous to the young married couples, because they tend to do away with family life."

SPORT CHAT

To round out the eight teams in the Commercial Bowling League, entries from the Electrical Workers, Moose Lodge, Printers and Imperial Oil are expected. The first four teams—Angus Apartments, Gyro Club, Canadian National Recreation Association and Canadian Scottish—got the league away to a good start Wednesday night. The next games are to be played Monday night, the final date for league entries being set for this Saturday.

Although troubles have been encountered, hope has not been given up of getting some activity in the way of senior basketball in Prince Rupert this winter. The war, is, of course, responsible for the difficulties. In the first place, many of the boys are in uniforms. Secondly, there is the old difficulty of obtaining suitable premises. Possibly before long there may be some played to benefit the Red Cross. Later on, there will, no doubt, be the Northern British Columbia championship series.

WANDERERS WIN SOCCER

The second round of the King Edward School football league was completed yesterday when, after a very close game, the Wanderers won from the Beavers by one goal to nil.

The Beavers have been out of luck through the inability of some of the players originally picked to turn out. A re-arrangement has been made and the closeness of yesterday's game showed the wisdom of the change. The Wanderers' goal was scored by Joe Davies whose high shot just beat Mairs.

Teams—Wanderers—Leland; Teng, Jerstad; Leavitt, G. Prince, L. Intermeja; S. Hemmons, Joe Davies (captain); Buddy Pierce, Itsuu Matsumoto.

Beavers—Mairs; C. Piffold, H. Menzies; F. Wesch, Rupert Holkestad (captain); B. Prince; H. Bye, J. Haugan, D. Murray, Leiv Husoy, J. Bond, E. Pierce.

Referee—J. S. Wilson; linesmen Pat Wilson, Asle Arntsen.

Fussy Furbelows Take N.Y. Fancy

Fashion Adopts Furs, Good Luck Charms To Dress-up Milady

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (CP)—New fur-bearing fashions taking the town by storm are mink-tail necklaces, fur-trimmed spats and leopard hair bows.

Smart New Yorkers are wearing gold Chinese jewelry hung with good luck charms and prosperity motifs. "Firefly wools" embroidered in gold threads or sequins which shimmer in the light have come to town as a smart cocktail and dinner fashion.

Reds are making a noteworthy splash in the evening mode—hoods attached to coats and suits are going to a lot of football games this fall—War-time hues, polka blue, trench brown and plane grey—are featured in Schiaparelli's midseason collection.

War In Nursery This Christmas

Toys Will Be Last Word In Realism Of Conflict

LONDON, Nov. 17. (CP)—Britain's war against Germany may not seem very real to some people, but the toys she will give her children to play with this Christmas are the last word in realism. The big stores are showing play-time versions of balloon barrages, outfits for anti-aircraft activity and searchlights with real bulbs. One can also buy sandbag emplacements and armored trucks.

ROTARY CLINIC

School Nurse Tells Members Of Club About Work Being Done By Their Committees In The Schools

Miss E. D. Priestly, R.N., local public health nurse, in addressing the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon yesterday afternoon, said she was glad to be present if only for the purpose of thanking the club for what it had done in initiating the dental clinic and carrying it on this far. She hoped the interest would continue. It was a work in which she was keenly interested and which she had suggested.

Miss Priestly said that much appreciation of the work of the clinic had been expressed by grateful parents. It had a much more convincing effect than all the notices sent to parents. In as many cases as possible she had visited the parents of children who had been in need of work on the teeth. She spoke of the loss to the whole province of the late D. H. E. Young, provincial health officer who had been a good friend to the public schools and nurses.

Telling of the work locally, Miss Priestly said: "Pupils in the entrance class of all schools were examined along with all pupils of the Seal Cove School who were transported to King Edward school by some of the club members. After this examination notices were sent to all that had been examined and those needing dental care were advised to visit their family dentist. Your clinic undertook to care for the underprivileged children and appointments were made for them."

"In February we began the survey of grades two and three children which was finished by the end of March. We found 75 percent of our eight year olds had cavities in their permanent teeth." Miss Priestly said she thought that for the present the clinic should concentrate on the younger children in the schools each year so as to prevent a condition found in the first year of the Junior High. There in a class of 38 children no fewer than 30 had cavities in their permanent teeth and one or two had as many as ten or twelve cavities. Four children in this class had normal teeth and three of these were children who had come from outside points, in the past year and a half. The other three had corrections during the three years in which the examination of teeth had been proceeding.

"It is to be hoped so very much that we will not have such a picture when the Grade I children that we started with become grade sevens. By that time they should be quite conscious of the care that must be taken of their teeth," stated Miss Priestly. She said there were a great many families in addition to those helped that needed dental care. They were from the low salaried families that found it difficult to budget for doctor and dentist, especially when there were a number of growing children in the family. Very necessary care was often put off. Other figures were quoted to show the absolute need of treatment for very many of the children in the older grades.

In the course of her address Miss Priestly urged the parents to be careful of their children's diet, particularly in seeing that they were given the right kind of foods and that too many candies and other sweet foods were not given them. In this connection it was planned to send out to the parents a pamphlet which was being prepared.

Dr. C. H. Hankinson, who presided, thanked Miss Priestly on behalf of the club for the interesting address she had given.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

With a good sized list of passengers including loggers from the Queen Charlotte Islands where camps are beginning to taper off operations preparatory to the winter shut-down. C.N.R. steamer Prince John, Capt. Neil McLean, arrived in port at midnight last night after another stormy passage. The Prince John is scheduled to sail at 10:30 tonight on her return south over the same route

Having on board a total of 141 passengers including six who disembarked here C.P.R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. William Palmer, arrived in port at 8:30 this morning from Alaska and sailed at 10:30 in continuation of her voyage to Vancouver via Ocean Falls and Alert Bay. The Princess Norah should have been here yesterday afternoon but was delayed at Skagway waiting for planes bringing out passengers from the Yukon which had been held up by unfavorable flying conditions.

Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, is due in port at 8 o'clock this evening from the south and will sail at 10:30 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

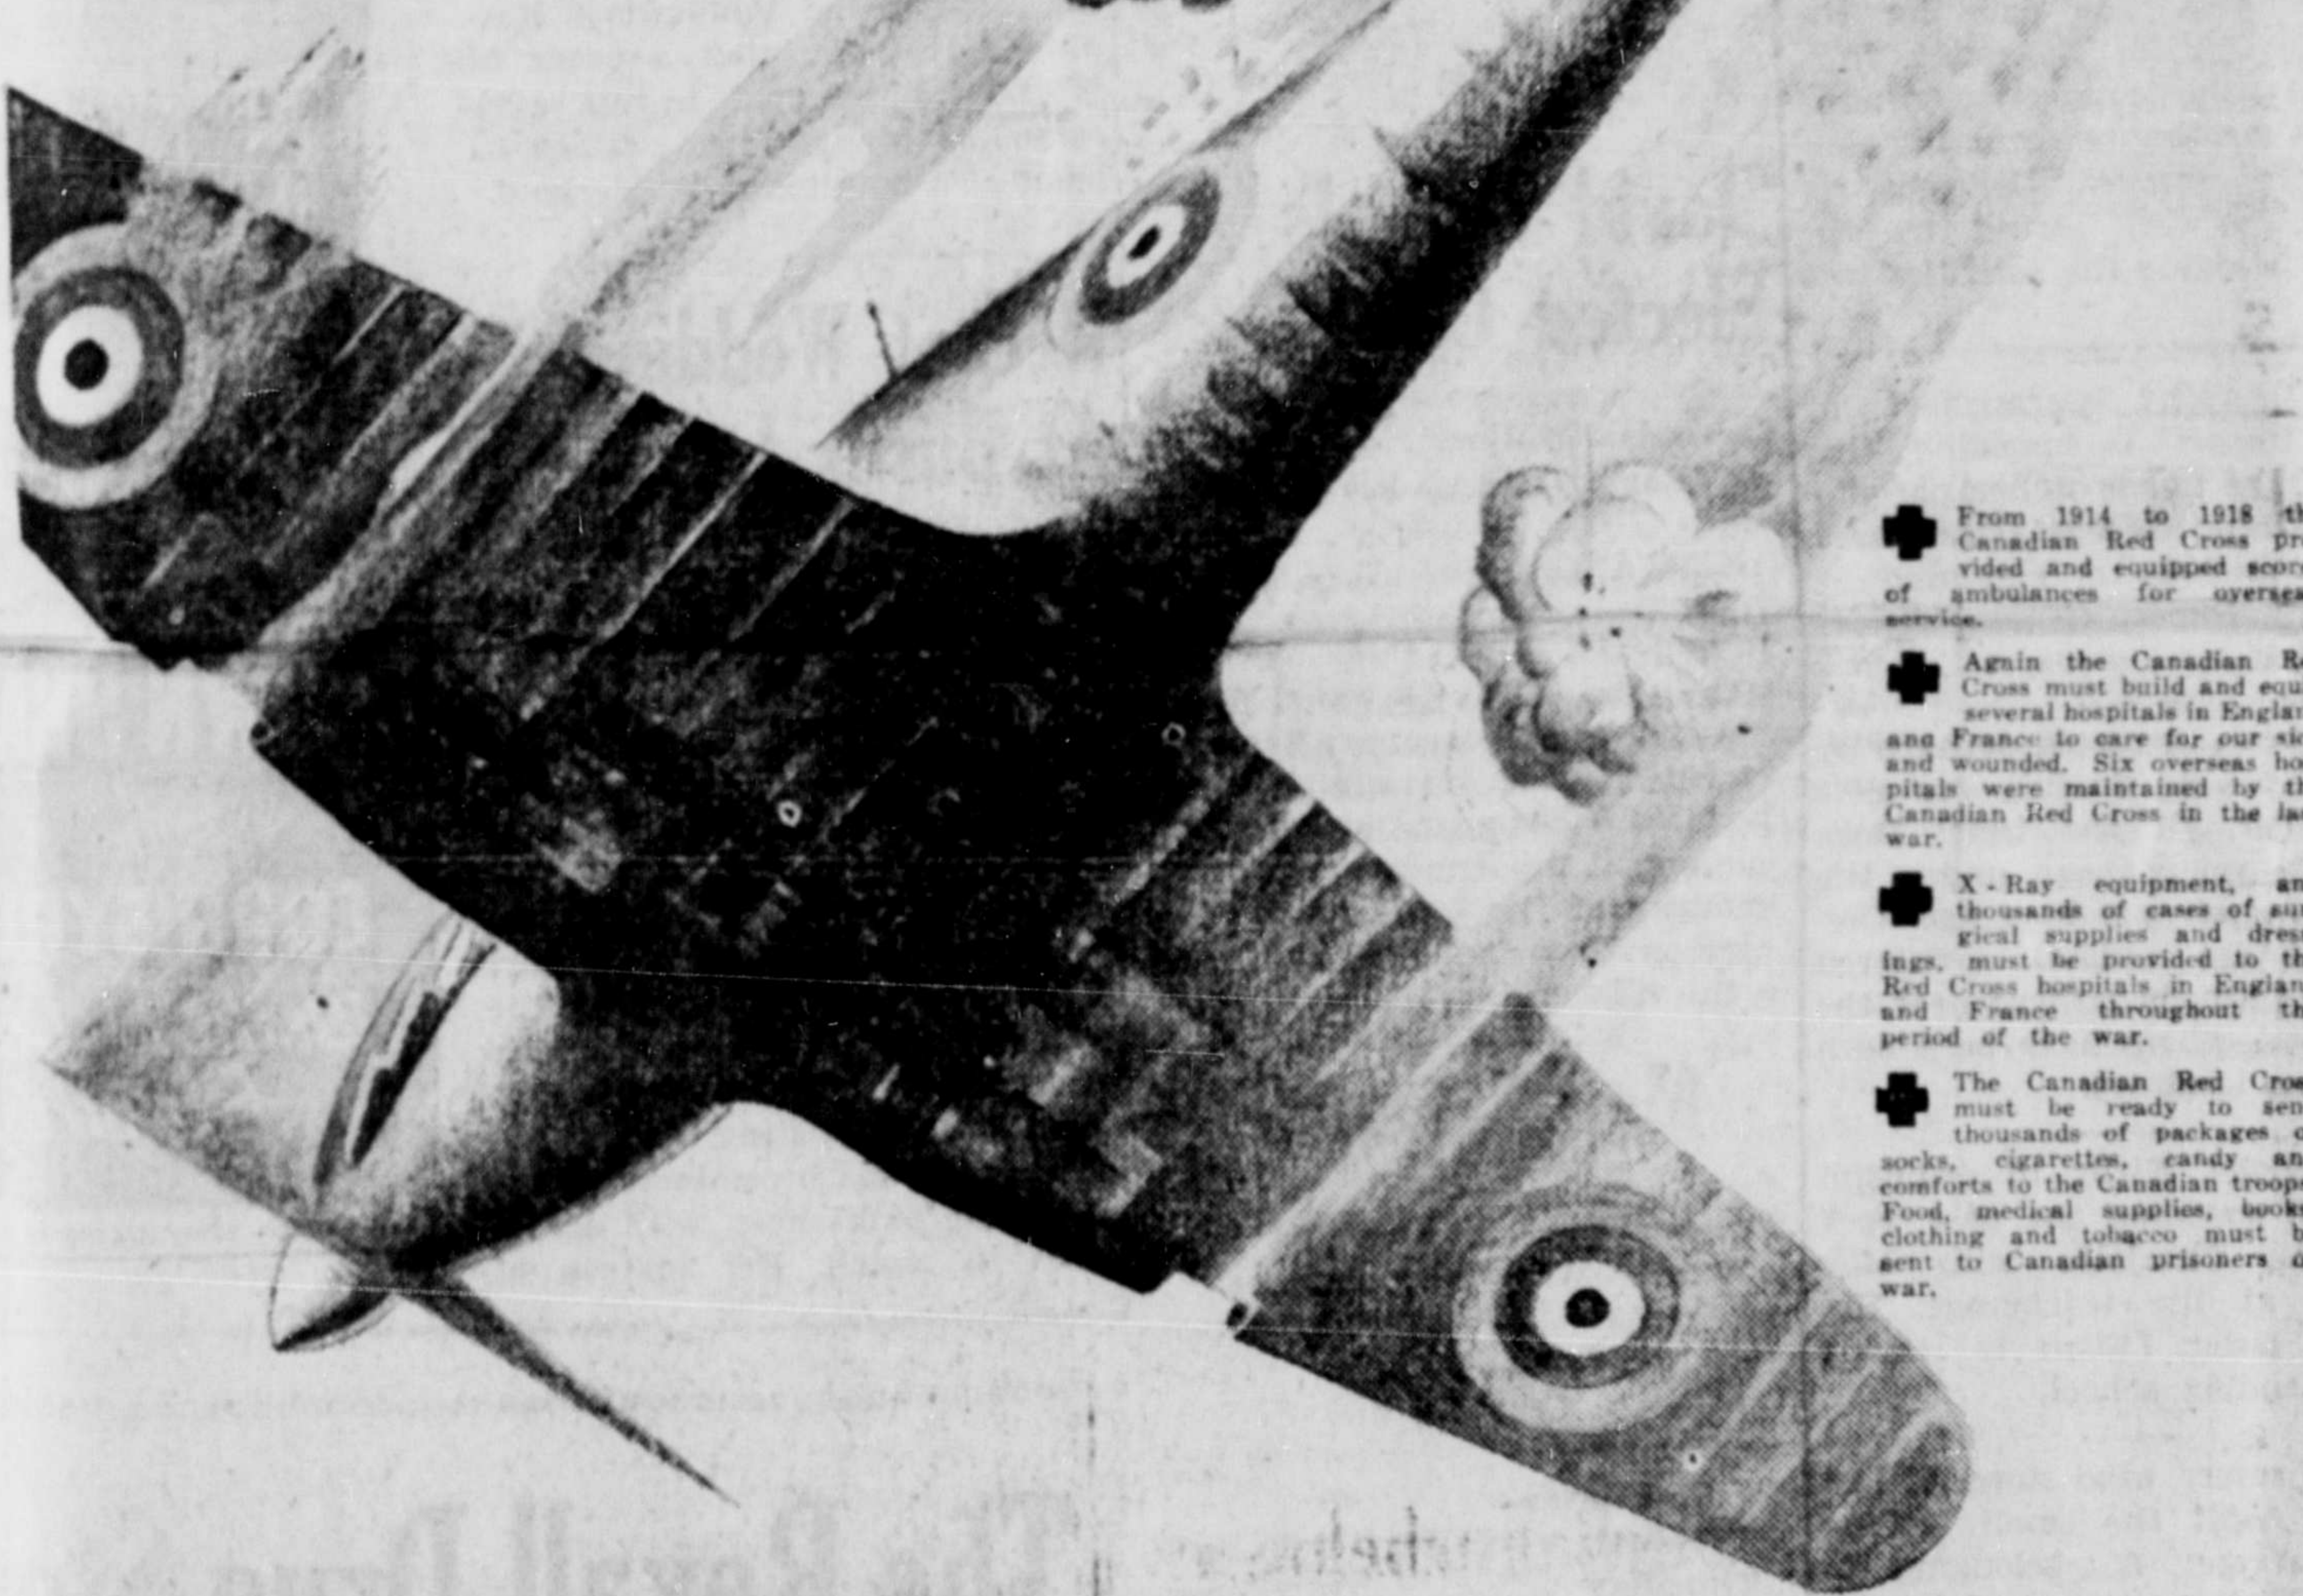

Tony Christian Jr. leaves on this evening's train for Belleville, Ontario, to enter Albert College.

NATIONAL RED CROSS WAR DRIVE FOR $3,000,000

- From 1914 to 1918 the Canadian Red Cross provided and equipped scores of ambulances for overseas service.
- Again the Canadian Red Cross must build and equip several hospitals in England and France to care for our sick and wounded. Six overseas hospitals were maintained by the Canadian Red Cross in the last war.
- X-Ray equipment, and thousands of cases of surgical supplies and dressings, must be provided to the Red Cross hospitals in England and France throughout the period of the war.
- The Canadian Red Cross must be ready to send thousands of packages of socks, cigarettes, candy and comforts to the Canadian troops. Food, medical supplies, books, clothing and tobacco must be sent to Canadian prisoners of war.

THE NEED IS URGENT

DIG IN AND GIVE!

The need is urgent even now. The call again goes forth from the Canadian Red Cross. You are asked to give big-heartedly, to give willingly, to give enthusiastically, to give quickly. The work of equipping hospitals for Canadian heroes in England and France must be started at once in preparation for the suffering which is to come. Our delay will be measured in human agony. Nurses and ambulances must be waiting. Surgical supplies, X-ray equipment, bandages and countless other necessities must be on hand. Not a moment can be lost, lest we fail those who will not fail us.

Here is a great work in which we all can share. Thousands of lives will be saved and untold suffering will be avoided if only we are prepared. In the last war Canada gave nobly of herself in humanity's name. Without coercion, without the painful domination of a barbaric government, Canada gave a generous offering in recognition of her debt to those who so nobly represented her in the battle for liberty.

Once again has come the opportunity to display our devotion to duty. There is only one answer. We must be prepared. We must not fail. We cannot all go overseas, but we can at least be ready to help those who do—we dare not forget that they will be fighting for us.

Let us be watchful and waiting to save life, to alleviate pain, to give comfort. We have a definite part to play. Be proud to help those who make the greater sacrifice.

A corps of voluntary workers will make a canvass of as many people as possible during this drive. If one of these workers should fail to get in touch with you, please send your contribution to your local Red Cross branch. Give big-heartedly.
