Fifty-Three Dead in Canada And States As Thermometer Soaring

Excessive Weather Conditions Prevail From Toronto to Nova Scotia and New Mexico to Illinois TORONTO, July 8: (CP)—Canada and the United States set the toll of heat victims at forty-three today while the mercury climbed steadily toward record figures from Toronto to Nova Scotia and from New Mexico to Illinois. Canada counted twenty-one dead from various causes attributable to the two-day heat period. Eight fatalities, seven in Montreal, were directly due to heat. There were six drownings and seven accidents. In the United States the heat took a toll of forty-five and was continuing today with no immediate relief in sight.

Count Resources For War's Alarms

Australia Taking Stock of Productive Capacity for Defence Purposes

CANBERRA, Australia, July 8: (CP)—Supplementary to the National Register which the Federal government will bring into operation immediately its introduction is allowed by Parliament, a compulsory register of the productive capacity and resources of industries of defence significance will probably be taken in Australia. Power to compile such a register is contained in a bill now before Parliament to establish the new Supply Department. The Minister of Supply, Reginald Casey, explains an industrial as well as national register is needed because Australian factory managements and industrial organizations have shown little disposition to co-operate voluntarily with the government. Questionnaires which had been sent to industrial concerns some time ago had received a poor response, only about a third of them being returned, the Minister said.

PROBLEM OF LADY

Position of Titled Wife of Austrian Starts Debate

By DILYS THOMAS Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 8: (CP)—British Home and Foreign Office officials are tearing their hair over the problem of Lady Elizabeth Paget's nationality.

Daughter of the Marquis of Anglesey, Lady Elizabeth, one of Queen Elizabeth's train-bearers at the Coronation in 1937 was recently married here to Reinhard von Hofmannstahl, an Austrian subject.

Hofmannstahl has been a man without a country for a number of years. Under international law, a woman who marries a stateless subject is entitled to retain her British citizenship and passport. Under English law, if she marries an alien she loses her nationality, but she may be granted a British Foreign Office passport.

Experts on international law say Lady Elizabeth's case rests entirely with the British authorities. Hofmannstahl has applied for British citizenship. If this is granted both husband and wife will achieve British status and the problem will be solved.

Meanwhile Col. G. Sandeman Allen, Conservative M.P. for Birkenhead West, proposes to call a House committee to consider the whole question of English women who have married aliens and stateless persons. He has decided on this step in view of the growing urgency of the problem, arising partly from a vast increase in the influx of European refugees.

Balliol's Appointment

Oxford University has taken one more step in history making by appointing a woman as Home Bursar of Balliol. She is Miss A. Bradbury, who has for the past five years been Stewardess of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge. This is the first time a woman has held such an appointment at a men's college in the university.

Miss Bradbury succeeds Col. A. C. H. Duke who has been Home Bursar since 1920 and a Fellow since 1929 and will retire at the end of this term. Miss Bradbury will not be a Fellow of the College and will not take part in college affairs outside her immediate province.

A. D. Lindsay, Master of Balliol, asked why the college had taken such a revolutionary step said: "we thought it would be a good thing. The undergraduates strongly supported the idea." The office of Home Bursar is entirely distinct from that of estates Bursar, which is concerned with the administration of the general finances, income and expenditures of the college. Miss Bradbury has charge of domestic affairs.

CONFLICT STILL ON

A communique also reported a new air battle between the rival forces in which 25 Russian planes had been brought down.

Pearson, minister of labor, said yesterday that $1,026,000 would be made available to municipalities to carry out municipal improvement prospects during the next fiscal year, the provincial and federal governments sharing the costs on a fifty-fifty basis. The money will be available only for improvements which would otherwise be deferred, not for those which should be normally undertaken.

HALF YEAR MARK FINDS IMPROVED BUSINESS IN CANADA, SURVEY SHOWS

Canada's Economic and Industrial Fields Reveal Encouraging Factors in Many Quarters According To Review

By ALEX PRINGLE Canadian Press Financial Writer

TORONTO, July 8: (CP)—Canadian business wove a pattern of hope and hard grubbing in the first six months of 1938 but it managed to keep its nose tilted a little higher than in the corresponding months of last year. Barometers indicate an improvement of about three per cent, compiled chiefly on faster late spring turnover following a first quarter of hesitating tempo and indecisive trends.

The royal visit, starting in May, not only gave a spurt to spending generally and even a measure of prosperity to certain lines but it turned thoughts away from unsettling fears of war and produced an atmosphere helpful to industrial planning.

April brought a new quota of gains on top of the mild first quarter betterment and, by the end of May, many key factors in Canadian economy were definitely on the upgrade. Gains of 20 to 35 per cent over May, 1938, are shown for exports of lumber and nickel and production of newsprint and 10 to 13 per cent in copper exports and car-loadings. Expansion of export trade generally and a promising opening of the tourist season were features tending to brighten the business picture.

As in past year, Canadian business was influenced in recent months by United States trends. The persistence of low industrial vitality in that country worked with the succession of war scares in shackling Canadian recovery from the intermediate slump that set in late in the fall of 1937 and bottomed around June of last year. Great Britain recorded rapid industrial pick-up between December and May and recently France and the United States have displayed definite signs of business revival. Canada's second-quarter pick-up, therefore, appears to be in harmony with world tendencies.

Recent tariff adjustments with Great Britain and the United States have worked to the advantage of Canadian farming and lumbering but low prices still impose a considerable handicap. The Dominion Bureau's index of prices stands currently around 73 (1926-100) compared with 80 a year ago. The decline in the price of wheat has been severe. The review (Continued on Page Three)

COMMISSION IS IN AREA

Highway Board in Hazelton Today After Spending Last Evening In Smithers

SMITHERS, July 8: (Special to Daily News)—The Canadian section of the British Columbia-Alaska Highway Commission arrived in Smithers from Burns Lake yesterday afternoon and last night the Smithers Chamber of Commerce tendered the commission party, headed by Hon. Charles Stewart, a dinner in the large banquet hall of the Hudson Hotel. There was no formal sitting of the commission here, discussions regarding the probable route of the highway being reserved for meetings at Hazelton this afternoon and evening, where a brief on proposed routes will be presented. Accompanying the Commission through this part of the interior are Olof Hanson M.P. and E. T. Kenney M.L.A. who went to Burns Lake on Thursday to meet the party. The Commission was accompanied here by M. M. Connelly, M.L.A. for Omineca, and J. G. Turgeon, M.P. for Cariboo.

Speaking at the dinner last night, the visitors expressed themselves as being astonished at the wonderful farming country and fine scenery all along the route to Smithers. They were loud in their praises of the Bulkley Valley as a farming district and of the splendid crops seen everywhere. Members of the Commission were also very pleased with the reception received everywhere they had stopped and with the splendid hospitality of the people of the north.

After enjoying golf here this morning, the party left later by auto for Hazelton. They will arrive in Prince Rupert on tomorrow night's train.

AUSTRALIA GROWS UP

Australia is growing up and becoming a full-fledged nation. She is establishing a legation at Washington and is hoping that the American government will reciprocate and establish a legation in Canberra. It is also quite possible that in the near future she may open a legation in Japan, one of her close neighbors.

POWERFUL INFLUENCES

There are, evidently, powerful influences at work in Russia trying to secure a closer working agreement with Germany instead of tying in with the democracies. The first thing to remember is that Russia is not a democracy and cannot be one, at any rate for many years to come. Its government is more like that of Germany than that of Great Britain or France. The only force that would cause Russia to fight on the same side as the democracies is fear that Germany might seek territorial concessions which would be a danger to Russia as a nation. The thought is that Germany might be a better enemy than friend.

FEAR AND TREPIDATION

With fear and trepidation we pass on to our readers a paragraph from another British Columbia newspaper, written by a man who has visited Great Britain and made a study of the press of that country. We say "with fear and trepidation" because we feel sure we shall be attacked for publishing heresy. We also suggest that what is true of the city where the original article was published is also true of Prince Rupert. Here is the extract:

"Apart from a few high-class papers, with small circulations, the metropolitan press of Britain is pretty bad. It might surprise a lot of people in this town to know that they get five times as much world news every night in this newspaper as they can get in the Daily Mail or the Daily Express, the great papers of London. And we have the added advantage here that we are not reading in every column, including the want ads, the personal prejudices, ambitions and distortions of some noble press lords. On the whole, the press of Canada is infinitely superior to that of Britain with a few brilliant exceptions like The Times of London and the Guardian. But few Englishmen read them.

SPORT CHAT

Mary Rose Thacker of Winnipeg, 16-year-old North American figure skating champion and logical choice to represent Canada in the 1940 Olympics, is enroute to England for summer training and plans to compete in British championships in December. Howard Nicholson, famed coach, who has applied the finishing touches to many figure skaters, including Sonja Henie, will take Miss Thacker under his guidance. Miss Thacker succeeded Maribel Vinson of New York to the North American crown in an upset victory at Toronto last February, defeating Joan Tozzer of Boston in the final.

Going to London will bring Mary Rose nearer probably her greatest ambition—to attend Oxford University. She specializes in languages and is a brilliant scholar. Music, horseback riding and bowling are a few of the attractive, brown-haired Mary Rose's pastimes. Other ambitions Miss Thacker has talked of include a professional skating career or an instructor's position. She was offered a part in an exhibition tour in England two years ago but at that time said: "When I think I have reached the height of my proficiency I might turn professional." Her rise to the North American title and a place among the world's prominent skaters was no surprise to her club-mates and instructors but only in the last three years has she shown the ability that guided her to the crown. During her first 10 years of skating her sole competition was the annual Winter Club carnival in which she was just one of the little bunnies and fairies in the Junior choruses.

Persistent practices improved the young star's figures and in 1937 she won the ladies' championship of the club. In 1937 came her first outside victory when she won the Canadian Junior championship at Toronto. That year she also had her first taste of English competition, returning with a British gold medal. Last year, when the Canadian championships were held in Winnipeg, proved a great disappointment for the serious young skater when a knee injury forced her to withdraw. Winnipegpe officials believe Miss Thacker is a certainty for an Olympic berth and are basing hopes for another championship on her background of expert coaching and another six months of severe practice this summer.

Ferdinand Chatte, Montreal Skating Club professional, was Mary Rose's first instructor but she had been skating long before she was old enough to understand Mr. Chatte's advice. When only three she used to go with her mother to the Winnipeg Hockey Arena for daily practice at sunrise when the ice was unoccupied. Mrs. Thacker said she had no intention of developing an international champion but thought skating was "fine for the figure." Mary Rose's next training came from Dr. Louis Maier-Labergo, former German champion and Winnipeg Winter Club tutor until his death this spring. On Miss Thacker's trips to Toronto in 1937 and last year Nicholson devoted his time to the polishing of the young titlist.

READY FOR GOLF MEET

Entries For Big Event at Jasper Park Were Never Heavier

JASPER, July 8.—With more than fifty reservations already made, Manager Robert Sommerville of Jasper Park Lodge believes the fourteenth annual Totem Pole golf tournament, September 3 to 9, will equal the record breaking entry of last year.

"Our reservation books do not show a similar entry at this time in any previous year which points to the ever increasing popularity of this tournament," manager Sommerville stated today.

One of the interesting changes in this year's Totem Pole event will be the inclusion in the program of a special event for seniors. This will be played on Thursday afternoon of golf week and is an 18-hole handicap event with the full home club handicap allowed. The players will be divided into two groups: the first for players from 55 to 60 years of age and the second group for those players more than 60 years of age. The introduction of his special seniors event is made at the request of many of the veteran golfers who play at Jasper year after year and is sure to prove popular.

Another event that has added very keen interest to the Totem Pole golf week is the Hole-in-One Club which was inaugurated several years ago. A gold medal is given to every competitor who makes a hole in one during the golf week. The first year the club was formed cost the management three gold medals and nearly every year since an ace has been recorded.

Because of the early spring and summer rains and the fact that last fall the entire course was heavily mowed, the 18-hole championship layout is in perfect condition. Those who have played the course say it has never played better than at the moment.

Jimmy Hogan, holder of the Canadian Junior Golf Championship, has played several games this summer at Jasper and has rarely touched the 80 mark. Most of his games have been in the low seventies and his defeat at the hands of Henry Martell recently in the Alberta amateur was no disgrace as Martell was eight under par when the match was finished. The present holder of the Totem Pole trophy is Lyle Hoar of Edmonton who defeated Bobby Heidbrink of Minneapolis in the final last year. This year is the fourteenth competition for this much travelled golf trophy which has not only been held by United States golfers but has made one trip to Portrush, Ireland.

Following time honored custom, His Honor J. C. Bowen, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, will officially open the tournament.

VIENNA, July 8: (CP)—Several hitherto unknown works of Mozart will be performed at this year's Salzburg festival, including a short C Major symphony and a serenade nocturne in D Major for two solo violins.

SOFTBALL STUFFING

Owing to rain, Senior Softball League fixtures scheduled for last night between Acropolis and Three Two and Moose and Lipsett were postponed. Tonight there will be a play-off game between Grotto and Moose with a view to deciding first half honors which are now dead-lock. If Grotto wins, it will have taken the first half title. On the other hand, a win for Moose would create a four-way tie between Grotto, Moose, Lipsett and Three Two. Incidentally, tonight's game is being staged as a benefit for Walter Bird of Acropolis who was injured while playing on Monday of this week and is still in hospital as a result.

COLD CURED ICE

For the Halibut and Salmon Fleets
Following the investigations of the Fisheries Research Station, the Company has just completed extensive changes and improvements in ice storage and ice delivery methods.

Ice for the boats will all be old ice, thoroughly cured or aged at new low temperatures. It will be delivered into the hold, even in the hottest weather, as cold as the storage room.
Fishermen are invited to inspect the new system. Better ice than ever before, at no increase in cost, means economy to the boat and improved quality in fish delivery.

BIRTHDAY OF CANADA

Dominion's Day Recalls Faith of Her Fathers

The welcome to the King and Queen in the first visit of a British monarch to a self-governing British Dominion still echoed throughout the land as Canada celebrated the 72nd anniversary of Confederation this year.

It may be the far-seeing fathers of the much beset pact that made Canada a Dominion in 1867 envisioned such a visit by a Sovereign. In any case, Canada's position as one of the "autonomous communities within the British Empire in no way subordinate one to another," as provided in the later day Statute of Westminster, 1926, was heightened in the public imagination when George VI at Ottawa just seven weeks ago gave consent to provisional legislation of his Canadian Parliament.

The British North America Act, 1867, often referred to as Canada's constitution, brought together at first only four provinces, the previously united Ontario and Quebec (Upper and Lower Canada), Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. But the Fathers of Confederation made provision for expansion of the nation named "Dominion of Canada" with an objective of "Dominion from sea to sea" as in the Biblical phrase.

Three weeks ago King George and Queen Elizabeth were shown the "Confederation Chamber" in Charlottetown, P.E.I., where the young nation's statesmen met in 1864 to lay the groundwork of the Canada of today. In the varieties of nation-building, however, the island province itself did not enter the Dominion until 1871 during the first administration of Sir John A. Macdonald, the first prime minister.

Added Provinces
Manitoba—half her present size—had entered confederation in 1870. Assured of bonds with central and eastern Canada in the steel of a transcontinental railway, British Columbia, with its century old British settlements on the Pacific coast, came into the Dominion in 1871.

With the entry of Prince Edward Island, Canada's territorial boundaries became as they are today although the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan had yet to be carved out of the giant North West Territories, in 1905. The early statesmen dreamed of a nation more completely fulfilling the prophecy which would include Newfoundland, oldest British colony but still a separate entity in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The United Canada of 1939—nine provinces, North West Territories, and the Yukon—recalls the rare vision, courage and loyalty of the country's leaders of 1867 whose object was expressed in the statements of two of their number, one of them of English-speaking Canada, the other of the French Canadians.

George Brown, reform leader of the day, described with enthusiasm the Dominion with "one united government under the British flag from shore to shore."

Sir George Etienne Cartier, leader of Quebec advocates of Confederation, declared the union of the British North American colonies was "necessary to increase our power and to maintain the ties which attach us to the mother country."

Model Contest At Playgrounds

McClaymont Park Has Winning Sandbox Project

The first major event of the Gyro Playground season was held on Friday in the form of a sand box contest. The children on each of the playgrounds were given the option of building in the sand boxes any scene or project they chose. McClaymont, the winning playground, under the direction of Miss Kitty Cameron, chose to model a miniature playground.

The children from Aeropolis Hill, under Miss Frances Robertson, modelled in sand a medieval feudal manor, complete with moat, drawbridge, castle and surrounded by the farms of the landed gentry.

In modelling the prize-winning entry, the children of McClaymont playground showed a great deal of ingenuity in constructing replicas of the various pieces of playground equipment from the tin-lined swimming pool to the mastick horizontal ladder.

Interesting and well made, too, were the Arctic village scene at Seal Cove and the airport with its airplanes and ground crews at Westview.

Mrs. Joe Scott was the judge of the contest.

R. C. St. Clair, district forester left on last evening's train for a trip to Smithers on official duties.

Mrs. Ernest Warren is sailing this evening on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver.

Albert Farrow, steamboat inspector, left on last evening's train for Burns Lake. After making an inspection of the Francois Lake ferry he will proceed to Vancouver.

This afternoon's train from the East arrived at 2:50 p.m., twenty minutes late, bringing in a goodly number of passengers to go south on the steamer Prince George this evening.

Roy Larsen, appearing in city police court this morning on charges of driving in a manner dangerous to the public and driving a motor vehicle without a current year's license, was remanded for eight days. R. L. McLennan appeared as his counsel.

The fire department was called at 11:50 yesterday morning to the residence of J. G. Johns on Fourth Avenue West, formerly owned by J. Fred Ritchie, where a corner of the building had become ignited through using a blow torch in removing old paint. Slight damage was done.

Scots Clash Over High Civic Costs

Edinburgh and Glasgow Treasurers Argue About Modern Trends

EDINBURGH, July 8: (CP)—The municipal treasurers of Edinburgh and Glasgow don't see eye to eye concerning rising civic expenditures. Treasurer Will Darling of Scotland's capital laments it. Treasurer E. Greenhill of her largest city commends it as a sign of improved living conditions.

Treasurer Darling centred his disapproval upon the community centre, which he called "the new megalomania of a disordered mind."

He told the annual conference of the Institute of Municipal Treasurers and Accountants he didn't believe "community centres should be created to descend from the heavens like a new Jerusalem. They should grow up from the community."

Darling continued: "They cannot be superimposed on a community already suffering. Down in their new houses they do not need Grecian dances or carrots in their window boxes."

But Treasurer Greenhill told the Institute "the upward curve in public expenditure is an inevitable trend for the ultimate advantage of the people as a whole." An enlightened electorate, he added, ought not to say "What is the amount of our rates?" but "What is the health of our municipality?"

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

HALF YEAR MARK FINDS IMPROVED BUSINESS

turn was only $22,473,500 for 36,076,000 bushels of wheat exported in five months of this year compared with $22,830,500 for 18,508,500 bushels exported in the same months of last year. Flour exports almost equal increase of volume at correspondingly low prices.

Canadian cattle and sheep are finding a market in the United States in volume far above that of recent years. Shipments of cattle to June 15 totalled 83,007 head compared with 22,358 in the same period of last year, a gain of 300 percent. Export of calves in the same period totalled 41,354 against 2,601.

Sales of cattle at public stock yards in 24 weeks totalled 310,753, bettering the 1938 comparable total by 11,000 head. Hog marketings show a minor decline. Production of creamery butter in five months was up 1.5 percent and cheese production 18 percent.

Gold mining continues to play an increasingly important role in Canadian economy. Output of the yellow metal in the first four months of this year was valued at $57,000,000, a gain of 12 percent over the corresponding 1938 period. About 80 mills are now producing gold in the Dominion and a dozen more are planned. Production of base metals out-runs the demand despite heavy armament building programs in all leading countries. Prices also remain low, forcing a number of Canadian non-ferrous metal mines to remain closed.

Industrial Impetus

The manufacturing industry is currently operating at a higher level than a year ago. Production is at a higher tempo in footwear and foodstuffs, including flour and sugar, and a little lower for textiles, iron and steel. Motor car production was down but is now doing better. Factory output of passenger cars and trucks in five months totalled 79,240 compared with 87,426 in the same months of last year, a drop of nine percent. Raw rubber imports, a measure of the production planned for the immediate future, bounded upward 50 percent in recent months.

The building industry has received no unusual impetus from the various aids provided, chiefly low-rate building loans. Burdensome municipal taxation possibly provides the explanation. Building contracts awarded to the end of May aggregated $58,000,000 as against $60,000,000 in the same months of 1938. Some pick-up in factory building and enlargements is noted, the result, evidently, of allowances of income tax credits for plant extensions.

In the field of external trade Canada maintains a satisfactory balance of exports over imports. Domestic exports to the end of May were valued at $368,723,000 compared with $324,415,000 in the same 1938 period, a gain of $44,308,000 or 13.7 percent. In the first four months imports at $184,412,109 were down 12 percent from the previous year. Financial factors confirm the signs of a stir in industry. Bank debits, commercial loans and deposits are in a rising trend. Loans are up $40,000,000 and deposits $100,000,000 from a year ago. Canadian corporations disbursed $6,089,500 in dividends in May compared with $5,783,124 in May last year. The five months period was slightly in favor of 1938.

NURSING PICTURE

"Four Girls in White" Showing Tonight at Capitol Theatre Here

"Four Girls in White," showing at the Capitol Theatre tonight, pays tribute to the profession of nursing. Featuring a cast of five principals, comprising Florence Rice, Una Merkel, Ann Rutherford, Mary Howard and Alan Marshal with Kent Taylor, Buddy Ebsen and Jessie Ralph in support, the picture comes as a companion piece to "Men in White" of several years ago and the more recent "Young Dr. Kildare."

"Four Girls in White" is the story of four girls who enter upon nursing with different purposes. It treats mainly with Norma Page, played by Florence Rice, whose real purpose in embracing the noble calling is to win a rich doctor or patient for a husband. Unscrupulously she schemes to gain her end. When Dr. Stephen Melford, played by Alan Marshal, seems more interested in his work as a career than for money Norma discards him and turns her attention to Robert Maitland, a rich playboy, played by Kent Taylor.

Her scheming results in the death of a fellow nurse at the hands of an insane patient and, when she returns to the hospital from a yachting trip, she finds herself shunned by fellow nurses. Before she can resign, the dreaded "disaster call" comes in. Norma joins the other nurses and risks her life to return a heroine with the respect of the girls and the love of Dr. Melford as a reward.

Prince Rupert Getting Larger Share of Halibut This Year—Salmon Picture So Far None Too Bright

Prince Rupert is getting a substantially larger portion of the Pacific Coast halibut catch this year. Whereas the aggregate catch for the whole coast this season up to July was practically the same as last year, landings at Prince Rupert are running some twenty-five per cent ahead of 1938 at a corresponding date. In other words, Prince Rupert is getting more fish this year while other landing ports are receiving less. The catch at Prince Rupert is running about one-third of the total for all ports at a corresponding date last year.

Up to and including yesterday landings at Prince Rupert had reached a total of 8,277,700 pounds as compared with 6,504,050 pounds at a corresponding date last year. Canadian landings were 3,633,700 pounds in comparison with 3,119,150 pounds and American 4,644,000 pounds as against 3,384,900 pounds at the same date a year ago.

Landings for the past week were heavy at a total of 932,700 pounds consisting of 420,700 pounds Canadian and 512,000 pounds American fish. Despite the heavy landings, prices held up well and were about the same as those being paid at Seattle. The high price of the week for Canadian fish was 7.3c and 5c which the Covenant was paid for 20,000 pounds and the low 6.2c and 5c which the Joe Baker received for 11,000 pounds. For American fish the top bid of the week was 7.9c and 5.5c which the Rapid was paid for 9,500 pounds and the low 7.3c and 5.5c which the Parshing and Visitor were paid for 10,000 pounds in each case.

While fisheries department figures show gillnetters of the Skeena and Naas Rivers to be averaging some twenty fish per day to the boat for the first couple of weeks of the present season, reports from other sources are inclined to be not so optimistic. Some are saying that the average is really much less than that. Trollers have also been doing rather badly so far this year and the salmon picture for the season, it cannot be gainsaid, looks none too bright. However, there have been some signs of an improvement in the coho run just lately.

The salmon pack for the British Columbia coast, according to latest official figures up to the end of last week was 39,982 cases as compared with 33,287 cases at a similar date last year. The Skeena River pack this year so far was 11,242 cases in comparison with 16,651 cases last year. The Naas River is getting a poor start with only 1,051 cases so far this year as against 2,211 cases last year. The pack of sockeye on the Skeena so far this year was 8,575 cases as compared with 8,860 cases last year.

Native Carver And Engraver Is Here

Work of John Marks of Massett at McRae Bros Attracts Attention—Visitors Are Welcomed

John Marks of Massett, one of the few remaining native silver engravers left on the Queen Charlotte Islands and an expert also in the carving of slate totem poles, is carrying on his handicraft at McRae Bros. store these days and his bench and products are a centre of interest. He is turning out fine specimens of the native handicraft for souvenirs and gifts which are much in demand.

Mr. Marks' work really has to be seen to be appreciated. Even to the finest and most exacting detail, it is really excellent. The principal value, of course, is that it is hand done and original. The management of McRae Bros. extends an invitation to all visitors to call at the store to see Mr. Marks at work at his bench and to inspect the products of his handicraft.

Malcolm Wilding is sailing tonight on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver.
