WHAT DOES PACT MEAN?

Widely Varying Interpretations of Accord Between Germany and Russia

LONDON, Aug. 23: (CP)—Widely varying interpretations continue to be taken of the Russo-German non-aggression pact which Joachim von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister arrived in Moscow today to formally conclude. He expects to return to Berlin with the agreement signed and sealed.

British and French quarters believe the Soviet is using German negotiations to pry concessions from London and Paris in connection with the treaty negotiations with Great Britain and France.

Whitehall sees no reason to suppose that staff consultations in Moscow between Great Britain, France and the Soviet should be abandoned. On the contrary, they may be accelerated with a three-power pact emerging that much quicker. Meantime negotiations are marking time.

In Berlin the momentous "hand shaking" between Germany and Russia was seen by Germans as having the effect of accelerating Nazi determination to regain not only "war lost" Danzig but all the rest of present-day Poland which was once Austrian or German. The Nazi press expresses jubilation over the pact.

PROMOTE TRAINER

France Orders Partial Mobilization Putting French Army At Nearly Two Million

President Roosevelt Returns From Holiday in Hurry—Halifax Will Broadcast Statement Tomorrow

PARIS, August 23: (CP)—France tonight ordered partial mobilization after an emergency meeting of her National Defence Council. The order meant that French troops called to the colors will number between a million and a half and two million. It meant that further men, who had completed their military service less than two years ago were specialists who had already been called. The decision was reached at a meeting of France's army, navy and air chiefs at the war ministry under Premier Deladier.

Meanwhile reports were current that France had despatched "strong" instructions to her ambassadors in Europe. Contents of the despatches were not disclosed but it was believed they reasserted that France and Britain were prepared to go to war if Poland saw fit to resist a German attack.

STRIKE OF RAILWAYS

Major Tie-Up of British Transportation Impending This Saturday

LONDON, August 23: (CP)—A strike of the United Kingdom's four main railroads, effective Saturday, was decided upon yesterday by the executive committee of the Association Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen following failure of the railways to raise the minimum weekly wage rate. The union announced that all labor would be withdrawn unless an agreement was reached before Saturday.

Only intervention of the minister of labor, it appeared today, would avoid the strike although one union involved was reported to be prepared to postpone strike action at this time owing to the serious international situation. This would be a critical time for England to be faced with internal trouble. Locomotive engineers and firemen are workers who have served notice that, unless their demands for wage increases are conformed with, the general strike will take place.

BRITISH PREMIER AND GERMAN FEUHRER HAVE EXCHANGED MESSAGES

Demands of Latter Even More Far-Reaching—Evidently is Seeking to Grab All Poland—Europe On Brink Of War

LONDON, August 23: (CP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain exchanged messages today on the Danzig issue. Der Fuehrer is reported to have demanded a full settlement on terms greatly more far-reaching than had been previously indicated. In addition to the return of Danzig to the Reich he is said to be asking for a German protectorate over Poland or, otherwise, partition of the country. Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, is delivering the Prime Minister's reply to Hitler which it is understood reiterates British intention to resist to the uttermost any aggression against Poland. With the cabinet in almost constant session and Parliament summoned for tomorrow in emergency session, the King is returning today from Balmoral in Scotland where he has been spending a holiday. The Queen and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose are remaining at Balmoral.

Reliable sources declared that Hitler had told Sir Neville Henderson, the British ambassador, for transmission to the British Premier and the cabinet that Germany could not modify her demands or vital rights because of the British guarantee of Poland. It was understood the "vital rights" were the unconditional return of Danzig to the Reich the return of those sections of Poland and Polish which were once German and rearrangement of Polish-German relations much along the lines of the protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia. Hitler according to advices considered reliable is determined to settle the dispute with Poland in one of two days after signing of the German-Russian non-aggression pact at Moscow.

Either Poland agrees to these demands peacefully in which case there will be no bloodshed or she fights in which case Germany will see to it that a new partition of Poland occurs Hitler is said to insist.

Ready For War With Great Britain and France both reasserting their determination to fight alongside Poland if the latter country resists Germany, both countries are ready for war. One million Frenchmen are under arms and others are being prepared. Great Britain is calling out an additional 250,000 men. Italy and other nations are also preparing. More than a million Polish soldiers are massed on the German and Slovakian frontiers ready to go into action.

Three German soldiers are reported to have crossed the frontier into Poland. They refused to halt and were thereupon shot upon by the Poles. The Germans escaped unhurt. British and United States consulates have advised their nationals to leave Poland if possible in view of the imminence of war. French and British subjects are hastening home from Berlin.

All avenues of travel out of Germany were jammed with French and British citizens today and other foreigners were also fleeing for fear of war. Trains ran throughout the day with corridors filled and air flight passages were practically unavailable.

At Washington United States government officials are making plans to get Americans out of Europe. Warships will be ready to assist in evacuating them if necessary. The United States government is also moving to maintain its neutrality in the event of European war.

TOKYO, August 23.—Resentment continues to be intensely felt in Japan over the Russian-German non-aggression pact. Japan feels that she has been "sold out" by Germany. She had thought that Germany would keep Russia busy in the west while she continued her campaign against China in the East.

ANOTHER ELECTION PREDICTION

"Canadian Business," a magazine sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce with headquarters at Montreal, predicts that in the election, which it expects will take place in October, the Liberals will be returned by a small majority. The admission is made rather reluctantly. Other predictions are that the government party will go back to Ottawa just as strong as it is today, if not stronger. We think it much too early to make predictions. Also it is plain that many things may happen before October and that there may not be an election in October.

CHANGED POSHON

The announcement two days ago that Russia and Germany had made a non-aggression pact following the trade pact announcement came as a great shock to people of all the democratic countries who were looking to Russia to help hold Germany back from further aggressive movements. It has upset the calculations of all the prophets and experts and even now it is difficult to decide what is likely to happen. People are wondering how it will affect Japan or is Italy, leader of the anti-comintern movement, agreeing to the move? All we can do is to await developments.

The suggested possibility that the Russian move may have been for the purpose of preventing any country precipitating war would sound reasonable were it not for the fact that we know so much of Germany and German methods. It is evident that Germany expects to gain from the move or she would not have made it.

It is just possible that Danzig may decide to join Germany and then it might be looked upon as an act of aggression to stop her. There are all sorts of angles to this situation.

WHAT ABOUT JAPAN?

What about Japan? It is just possible that she is damning the white men as being without honor, undependable, vacillating. She was used by the axis powers for their own ends and then cast off like an old shoe. At the suggestion of Germany she has been irritating Great Britain to try to draw her forces from the European area and make it easier for Hitler to get what he wanted. Now she has lost Britain as a friend and has no friend to replace her.

McCLYMONT REDS LOSE WIN EASY OUT AGAIN

Defeated Acropolis 15 to 1 In Senior Playground Softball Play-off

The play-offs in the senior boys section of the Gyro Softball League continued last night at the Gyro Ball Park with McClymont boys copping an easy 15 to 1 verdict over the Acropolis team.

Acropolis scored its only run of the game in the first inning on hit by O'Neill and D. Clark. Tight fielding behind the steady pitching of Simundson held the hill men scoreless for the rest of the game. With a little help from Magnet, on the mound for Acropolis, who issued eight free passes, the McClymont boys had little trouble hitting the ball hard enough to account for their 15 runs.

If McClymont can play the kind of ball it showed in this game when it meets Westview next Thursday, there should be little doubt as to who will win the cup for finishing on top of the league.

Possibly Passage Of Time Will Help Them Win Flag—Yanks Make Five Homers To Win

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23. (CP)—Possibly the passage of time will help Cincinnati Reds to win the National League pennant should they fail to come out of their present slump. Yesterday the Reds were blanked 4 to nothing by the lowly Phillies but the running up St. Louis Cardinals also last to the Brooklyn Dodgers as did the third place Chicago Cubs to the New York Giants. The margin of leadership of the Reds is still four-and-a-half games over the Cardinals who, in turn, are four-and-a-half games ahead of the Cubs.

In the American League yesterday the New York Yankees made no less than five home runs in registering a 14 to 5 victory over Chicago White Sox. The Boston Red Sox kept in step seven-and-a-half games behind the Yankees by winning from St. Louis Browns.

The clubs move to new stands today as follows:
National League—St. Louis at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at Brooklyn, Chicago at Boston, Pittsburgh at New York.
American League—New York at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Cleveland, Washington at Detroit, Boston at Chicago.

Yesterday's Big League scores:

PRINCIPLES OF ROTARY EXPOUNDED

Never Did World Need Their Application More Than Today, District Governor Tells Local Club

There was never a time when the principles of friendship and goodwill as exemplified by the Rotary organization were more needed by the world than today, declared Dr. Henry Cline Fixott of Portland, Oregon, district governor of Rotary International, in an address at an official visitation to the Prince Rupert club last evening. Dr. Fixott, in an inspirational manner, spoke of the possibilities of Rotary activities in an international way as well as from the standpoint of the local communities. He stressed the idea of youth service, expressing the view, however, that the principle of self-reliance should always be inculcated.

Rotarians, Dr. Fixott said, should keep the aims of their organization ever in view and work steadfastly toward their accomplishment. They should not give in to discouragement wherein lay defeat. Nor should the idea be that the happiest man was one with the most money. The speaker developed the cardinal Rotary principle of service before self.

Dr. Fixott traced the phenomenal growth of Rotary from the time of its founding in 1905 by Paul Harris and his small group of friends in Chicago up to today which found the organization with hundreds of thousands of members in hundreds of countries in all parts of the world. The district governor considered a tribute to Rotary the disbanding a year ago of the clubs in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. This was an admission by the dictators, he felt, of the force and influence of Rotary for peace and international understanding.

President Peter Lakie was in the chair at the dinner and duly welcomed Dr. Fixott, later expressing appreciation of the members for the fine address. There were about thirty members present.

AMUSED BY AFFRONTS

General Sir Hubert Gough and Field Marshal Lord Milne Given Minor National Defence Posts

LONDON, August 23: (CP)—How Evacuation Officer Gough and Air Raid Warden Milne waded through official red tape to their National Service posts has created a cheery diversion for English newspapers on an otherwise serious newsfront.

General Sir Hubert Gough, 68, commander of the Fifth Army in the battles of the Somme and Ypres, told with a chuckle how he finally got the job of escorting a group of mothers and their children from a Fulham school to the nearest railway station in an emergency.

Field Marshal Lord Milne, 72, for seven years chief of the Imperial General Staff and commander of the Salonika and Black Sea forces in the Great War, also was amused at the job allotted to him.

Trained from boyhood for the army, General Gough thought there might still be a place for him in the defence program.

He saw Prime Minister Chamberlain who thanked him for his offer but said there was nothing he could do "at the moment." Then Sir Hubert wrote Sir Auckland Geddes, collaborator of Sir John Anderson, ARP chief. Once again he was told there was nothing for him "at the moment."

Then he wrote the Labor Ministry. "They passed my letter to the London County Council who passed it to their education committee. They sent me a printed card asking if I could cook; if I knew anything about camping, and what training I had in the care of children.

"I replied that I was a good plain cook, able to make a cup of tea and boil an egg; that I thought I knew a little about camping but that my knowledge of the care of children was nil.

"That didn't put them off one little bit. They handed my dossier to the L. C. C. and in due course I got a circular from the L. C. C.

Doctor In Command
"They wanted to know if I had common sense and the capacity to keep my head in a crisis. I have now got my mobilization orders and I am, presumably, to carry out the orders of a Kensington doctor my commander-in-chief."

He said there could have been no doubt as to who he was because all his letters had been addressed to "General Sir Hubert Gough." "I had an idea," Mr. Chamberlain might like to send me in charge of food control or something like that. It seems I'm more useful as a nurse. Still there's always one job I'm not too old for. I could be Prime Minister."

The Evening Standard took up the General's last point and declared: "If 68 is the limit, we should apply it to our legislators and put them in positions more suitable to their capacities. If not, why not make better use of Sir Hubert's fine patriotism?"

Meantime, after an exchange of letters extending over six months, officialdom found a job for Field Marshal Lord Milne. He announced the City of Westminster had accepted him as Air Raid Warden. "I will train with 20 other men and will go through the whole syllabus." When he completes his course he will be posted for the Strand district.
