MODERN ARMIES ARE FULLY TRAINED FOR FASTER MOVING NOW

Western Front Is Quiet Today

PARIS, Sept. 18: (CP)—Thousands of German reserves are reported today to be flooding into the Siegfried Line on the western front. A staff communique reported only "local activities" on the western front during the night. Yesterday was a quiet day. Unfavorable weather prevented aerial activity.

Infantry Still "Shock Troops" But Battalions Should Move 50-70 Miles A Day By Motorized Vehicles

By Capt. W. W. Murray, M. C. Canadian Press Staff Writer
The outbreak of war has created abnormal conditions with respect to Canada's armed forces and the country finds itself precipitated into a condition vastly changed from the easy-going and indifferent atmosphere within which the militia, the navy and the air force have had to exist heretofore. For practical purposes the non-permanent militia has become the Canadian Active Service Force. Nearly all its units have now been called out and instructions given them to recruit to full strength. This applies to the three arms of the service, both permanent and non-permanent.

That training will be lengthy, there can be no doubt. In recent years the torch of soldiering was carried by only a few enthusiastic souls. Little of a serious nature was attempted, and even in the huge appropriations for military purposes voted since 1936 by Parliament, the amount doled out to the militia was a meagre trickle. Undiscouraged, however, many patriotic citizens carried on. It is these, now, who are the backbone of the active service force. In general the strength of units, for which training monies were voted was roughly from a quarter to a third of their normal peacetime establishment. Because of that, recruiting now, in numerous instances, means the constitution of an entirely new unit, since the recruits will ordinarily outnumber the experienced men. Not a few units existed on paper, equipped only with an officer framework and practically no other personnel. Little change will be made in the training of the infantry, al-

Nazis Lack Money To Obtain Soviet Goods

Washington Opinion Is Germany Cannot Draw Heavily On

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Commerce Department officials cannot see where Germany can draw heavily on abundant Russia for war materials.

Reasons given are:
1. Germany hasn't the money to pay for them.
2. Russia has not much surplus to export.
3. Germany, even in peace times, could not make machinery deliveries, Russia's main need, in time.

Shrouded in mystery is the question whether Russia, for political reasons, will do without important goods in order to create a surplus to ship to Germany on credit. Her non-aggression alliance does not call for that sort of treatment. Further, it is doubtful, as viewed here, whether it would be a smart thing for Russia to deprive her own economy of necessities in order to help Germany. Even in peace times the above factors steadily choked off trade between Germany and Russia. Germany lately made an effort to revive it by offering Russia a 200,000,000 mark credit. Russia agreed to take it out in machinery, and pay back over a seven-year period. In turn, Germany was to buy a corresponding amount of Russian goods it needed. (200,000,000 marks is about $80,000,000.) Germany will now be even more hard pressed to make machinery deliveries. Experts here believe she won't even attempt it, as her iron shortage will be terrific. Almost half of her normal iron ore supplies have been cut off. She still has access to Sweden, her principal supplier. In 1937 she took 122,000,000 marks worth of iron ore out of Sweden, out of her 220,000,000 marks of foreign iron ore purchases. In that year France sold her 36,000,000 marks worth of ore. Spain and Spanish Morocco ordinarily supply an additional 30,000,000 marks. That can't get through because of the British blockade. There is a strong suspicion that a long war will have Germany scraping the bottom of the ore bins.

War News

BERLIN—D.N.B. reports tonight that German military effort to force Warsaw's surrender was resumed after failure of the Poles to negotiate for withdrawal of the city's inhabitants.

OSLO—Richard Harcourt, aged 21, Vancouver, is one of the missing members of the crew of the Norwegian motorship Ronda which was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine yesterday. Sixteen others are also missing.

LONDON—Germany, claiming that the British are dominating the neutral states, threatens that she will retaliate if these states submit to the British search for contraband. Several vessels bound for Antwerp with goods, possibly for Germany, had been stopped. On receiving assurance that the goods were for Dutch consumption only, Britain allowed the ships to pass and two have already proceeded to Antwerp and discharged their freights.

PARIS—The first German attacks on the French lines in mass formation were made Saturday and were repulsed by the French who had dug themselves in. Many Germans were killed. German troops are being rapidly moved from the east front to the west and wave after wave of German troops have been attacking the French lines, evidently with the hope of driving the French out of Germany but with little success. German casualties have been heavy in the neighborhood of Saarbrücken.

LONDON—The Germans claim that the Siegfried line is holding well and that recent bombardments of artillery have had little effect on it.

MOSCOW—The Turkish foreign minister has been invited by the Russian government to visit Moscow.

PARIS—President Eduard Daladier paid a visit to the front lines yesterday on a trip of inspection.

WARSAW—The Germans yesterday sent an emissary with a white flag to ask for a parley but was not admitted. The Germans then broadcast from a plane thousands of leaflets stating that if the city did not surrender within twelve hours there would be indiscriminate bombing of the whole city. As there had been indiscriminate bombing for several days, the threat was without force.

LONDON—The Germans allege that the allies are carrying

Sinking Of British Aircraft Carrier Courageous Is First Major Loss For British Navy

LONDON, September 17: (CP)—H.M.S. Courageous, 22,500-ton aircraft carrier, was sunk by a German submarine, the Admiralty announced today. The announcement said that the survivors had been picked up by destroyers and merchant ships. The Admiralty said that the enemy submarine had been attacked by destroyers and was believed to have been sunk.

The Courageous was on service with the reserve fleet and carried a reduced complement of planes. Launched in 1916, the Courageous had a complement of 1216 men, including Royal Air Force personnel, and could carry forty-eight aircraft.

It is the first major loss the British Navy has suffered since the war began. Submarine attacks by the Germans are still continuing with four more merchant vessels reported sunk yesterday.

Nazi Swastika And Bolshevik Hammer And Sickle Met Today; Polish Army Evacuates Country

MOSCOW, September 18: (CP)—The Nazi Swastika and the Bolshevik hammer and sickle met today in the fallen Polish city of Brest Litovsk. Red armies invaded Poland from the East as diplomatic circles predicted that the republic would be divided again between the two invaders. Word from the Red Army general staff of a constantly narrowing wedge between the Russian and German invaders revived reports that an armistice would be proposed as soon as Poland's fate is determined.

Foreign Commissar Molotoff describes the action of the Russian forces in moving into Poland as necessary to protect the once-Russian minorities in Eastern Poland. Molotoff said the Polish government had "ceased to exist."

Reports from Cernauti, Roumania, are that the Russian army now holds the Polish-Roumanian border towns of Zaleszkeski and Sniatyn and are closing in on Kutu. The battered remnant of the Polish army crossed the Roumanian frontier before advancing Russian troops following President Moscicki, Foreign Minister Beck and other members of the government who had reached Cernauti earlier. More than 250 Polish planes have also landed in Roumania.

Concerns with which Mr. Thomson was at one time or another identified in directorial capacity included Turner, Beeton Co. Ltd., Colonist Printing & Publishing Co. and Victoria Transfer Co. He was educated in England and was a clerk in London before coming to British Columbia. He was a Conservative and an Anglican.

Four Killed In Crash Of Plane

YAKIMA, September 18: (CP)—Four lives were lost when an airplane crashed into an orchard near here yesterday. All the dead were Yakima people. Two other occupants of the plane escaped with injuries.

Considered As Japan Enemies

TOKYO, Sept. 18.—If the democracies continue to persist in their support of General Chiang Kai Shek in China, they will have to be considered as enemies of Japan, said a Tokyo spokesman yesterday.

on war against German women and children by stopping food supplies from reaching them. They state that in future they will not be bound by the promise not to wage war against women and children but will be guided by the circumstances.

Russia, Moving Into Poland, Still Puzzle Of Europe Situation

Still Insists She is Neutral and Desirous Only of Protecting Own Interests—May Have Effect of Releasing Germany to Western Front

Still declaring that "the Soviet Union is retaining its neutrality but that it feels it necessary to protect White Russian and Ukrainian minorities in Poland and will do everything to keep peace and order," Russia sent Red armies across the Polish frontier on Sunday to occupy Ukraine and White Russia. Prior to the movement of the Army across the Polish border, the Soviet government was understood to have unofficially sent a note to the Polish ambassador announcing its intention. The note said that the action was being taken because the Polish state, with the government reported fleeing, no longer existed.

CANNOT BE JUSTIFIED

LONDON, Sept. 18: (CP)—The British government said tonight that Russia's "attack upon Poland" could not "be justified by the arguments put forward by the Soviet government."

In a communique issued by the Ministry of information, the government said it would "prosecute the war with all energy" until "objects have been achieved."

PASSES IN VANCOUVER

H. B. Thomson, For Years Prominent Citizen, Dead at Age of Seventy

VANCOUVER, September 18: (CP)—Henry Broughton Thomson, aged 69, former Conservative member of the Legislative Assembly from 1907 to 1916 and Canadian food controller during the last war, died in hospital here last night after a brief illness. He was born in Newry, Ireland, July 21, 1870, and came to Canada in 1893. He was also a former British Columbia Liquor Control Board Commissioner.

Concerns with which Mr. Thomson was at one time or another identified in directorial capacity included Turner, Beeton Co. Ltd., Colonist Printing & Publishing Co. and Victoria Transfer Co. He was educated in England and was a clerk in London before coming to British Columbia. He was a Conservative and an Anglican.

BRITAIN LAUNCHES LARGEST COMMERCIAL AIR LINER YET ATTEMPTED

Britain's mightiest commercial air liner, built for Imperial Airways who also sponsored trial flights of the giant trans-ocean flying boats, is shown as it took off on its trial flights at Hamble, Eng., after being many months in the building shops. The giant craft has an overall length of 110 feet and a wing span of 123 feet. She is the first of 14 similar machines each built to carry 42 passengers, which are expected to be placed in service eventually on long-distance routes to India and other Empire countries. The ship is the biggest commercial aeroplane Britain has yet produced.

WHERE IS THE AXIS?

Where is the Anti-Comintern Axis of which so much was heard only a few months ago? It is gone and with it the orientation of European powers. The Communist Communists were the people who shouted loudest for the participation of Great Britain and France against the dictatorial dictatorship in Spain. Now we wonder what they think. There were some well-meaning people who thought Great Britain should take part in the civil war. The evils of a dictatorship were shouted in the streets. Now we see the union of two of the greatest dictatorships planning to dismember Poland and threatening every country opposed to them. It is not a pleasant picture.

MANY ANGLES

It is still difficult for Canadians to realize just where they stand in relation to the war. Until recently Japan was looked upon as a likely foe and she might be yet judged by a recent report in regard to the situation at Shanghai. The treaty with Russia also seems to indicate an Oriental line-up of a somewhat threatening character.

Newspapers in Germany, it is reported, seemed to be preparing their readers for Russia participating in the dividing up of Poland, leaving a buffer state between Germany and Russia.

So far the advance on the western front has been rather surprising. The French armies have overrun a large territory giving Germany the first taste of war in her own country. This campaign has shown that Germany is not so formidable as was expected. She can be beaten. Even in Poland this has been suggested.

Italy seems to have settled down to the idea of being a neutral nation. Her ships are engaging in commerce in all the seas and, as long as they are away from home, we may be pretty sure she will not take any part on either side, particularly on the side of Germany.

The "incident" between China and Japan seems to have faded out of the picture so far as the news is concerned. Yet it may flare up at any time. Evidently the Chinese are trying to wear down the invaders.

It is too early yet to comment on the entry of Russia into Poland. It is possible that it may not mean much or it may mean a great deal. Within a few days we shall know more about the intentions of the various interested parties.

Galento-Nova Fight Not So Hot In Money

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—In view of the disappointing gate of the Galento-Nova fight at Philadelphia Friday night, Manager Mike Jacobs says he will not permit Tony Galento to fight outside of New York again. Promoter Joe Jacobs says that a permit will not be granted for Galento to fight in New York. The gate Friday night amounted to a mere $69,896. Galento and Nova each received $14,163.

SPORT CHAT

Stan Horne came from behind to win his third straight Canadian Professional Golfers' championship at Kingston a year ago last Thursday. Two strokes behind at the start of the day's play, the young Ottawa pro beat out Toronto's Bob Gray by a single stroke, finishing the 72-hole test with a total of 284.

Pancho Villa, Filipino boxer, knocked out Johnny Buff, fly-weight champion of the world, at New York 17 years ago Friday night. Subsequently Villa, after defeating Jimmy Wilde, the English champion, became known as the world fly-weight boxing champion, although Frankie Genaro, who had outpointed the Asiatic in 1923, retained the American title. Villa died in July, 1925.

Montreal Canadians, oldest team in professional hockey, was sold to Ernest Savard, owner of the Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League, for a reported price of $200,000 four years ago Saturday. The sale broke up a 15-year partnership between Leo Dandurand and Joe Cattarinich, former owners of the National Hockey Hockey League entry.

McClymont Park was the winner of two more games played yesterday in the Junior Baseball League with Fraser Street. The score of the first game was 9 to 8 and the second 6 to 1.

In the first game Fraser Street was ahead until the fourth inning after which McClymont Park came up from behind to win in spite of Fraser Street's good hitting.

The second game was all in favor of McClymont from start to finish, Fraser Street weakening in its hitting.

Next week a series of games for the city championships will be started. Both teams are in fine fettle and rearing for action. Mike Pustak will be umpire.

Here are thumbnail sketches of some of the players:

McClymont Park
A. Bill—Who left Fraser Street on a misunderstanding, a good catcher.
Zbura—Catcher, with good batting average.
MacDonald—Moundsman, should be good for plenty of action.
B. Scherk—Back on first base after missing a few games.
Astoria—Second baseman and good fielder.
Simundsen—Short stop, good hitter and fielder.
Santerbane—Third base who has good catching and hitting average.
Oland—Outfielder, another newcomer who looks good.
Keays—Outfielder, should also be effective.

WEDDED ON SATURDAY

Miss Ena Lineham Becomes Bride Of Jack Cherry

A well known local couple, Miss Ena Dorothy Lineham, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lineham and Jack Harlock Cherry, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Cherry, were quietly united in marriage at a pretty ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. W. F. Rushbrook officiating. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of iris blue with a gold band encircling her hair and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and roses. She was attended by Miss Grace Clark as bridesmaid, whose dress was of mauve and sand with a bandeau of gold leaves in her hair, carrying a bouquet of pink and yellow gladioli. Earl Brochu was groomsmen.

Only relatives attended the ceremony, after which a quiet reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, only a few immediate friends being present. The rooms were beautifully decorated with fall flowers and pink and white streamers and white wedding bells and roses. The bride and groom stood under a lovely decorated arch of pink and white and silver with large white wedding bell, to receive the best wishes of their friends. Later a buffet supper was served. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, surrounded by pink tapers, which was duly cut by the bride. A toast to the bride was proposed by the groomsmen with the groom responding. Rev. W. F. Rushbrook gave a very interesting speech, having known the happy couple since childhood. Both were born and raised in Prince Rupert. Mr. and Mrs. Cherry will reside in the Steele Block and will receive the hearty congratulations and best wishes of many friends. Many beautiful gifts were received by the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Astori and family, who have been on a holiday trip to Melville, Saskatchewan, returned to the city on Saturday night's train.

SINGAPORE GUARD FOR AUSTRALIA

British Expert Plans For Commonwealth's Navy and Other Warships

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 10; (AP)—Should conflict break out in the Pacific, Australia would largely depend on Singapore, the nearest British centre of any military or naval consequence...

Consequently, the federal government has temporarily shelved the battleship proposal, and is going ahead with proposals for the reception, if needed, of battleships from Singapore...

Naval experts point out that, even if Australia does not herself possess any capital ships, the existence of a dock in Australia capable of taking such vessels will enable British warships to operate with much more freedom than if they were thousands of miles from any port where they might be refitted and repaired.

Also, it is said, the United States would undoubtedly regard sympathetically any effort by Australia to provide a base from which warships could operate.

The government's dock plans are, however, only in the preliminary stage now. Sir Leopold Saville, former Civil Engineer-in-Chief at the British Admiralty, and at present a principal in a big British shipping firm, has toured Australia for more than two months investigating possible sites for the dock at the request of the Commonwealth government...

The fleet, it is stressed, is based in Sydney, and existing dockyard and engineering facilities are good. The dock itself would take at least two years to build, according to naval opinion, and would have to be undertaken by a British contractor because no Australian could carry out work of such magnitude.

QUIETLY MARRIED

A quiet but interesting wedding took place at 9 o'clock Saturday night at the Manse of First Presbyterian Church, Rev. H. G. Funston officiating, when Miss Catherine Stewart McMeekin, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McMeekin, was united in marriage to John Armstrong, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong. Only immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting couples were in attendance at the ceremony.

The bride, who wore a navy blue suit with dubonnet accessories and corsage of carnations and roses, was attended, as bridesmaid, by Miss Lillian Croxford who wore a coral suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of carnations. The groomsmen were David McMeekin. A wedding dinner was held at the Boston Cafe for about forty invited guests after which a reception took place at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake which was duly cut by the bride. A toast to the bride was proposed by S. E. Parker and responded to by the groom.

The couple will reside in the city temporarily. They will have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of numerous friends. The bride was born in Prince Rupert and has lived here all her life. The groom has lived here for several years with his family.

Boy Scouts Disorganized

Advent of War Has Hit Staff of Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters Rather Heavily

The organization of scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters having been seriously disrupted through departure from the city and enlistment, the Prince Rupert Boy Scouts' Association is confronted with rather a large task of reorganization for the coming season. There was to have been a meeting of the Association last week but, owing to the general uncertainty of the situation, the meeting was deferred and may take place in the course of the next week or so.

MIDDLE AGES THERE

CORSETS OR NOT?

New York Writer Finds People For And Against

By JOAN DURHAM. Associated Press Staff Writer. NEW YORK, Sept. 18: (CP)—To corset or not to corset has become the question before the fashion world. And it looks as if we, the women, might get ourselves worked up as we did when Irene Castle bobbed her hair.

The last time we women went in for whalebones and piano wire laces, the doctors had a lot to say about it. How do they react today? "Big women with lots of fat around the waist," said one doctor "may be able to stand slightly lighter waists. But little women who are already quite small will suffer seriously if they lace themselves too tightly."

What do women think about corsets? "Women who take part in sports have good muscles and don't need them," says Helen Willis Moody, the tennis star. "Tennis is particularly good for the waist, anyway. Women who play a lot of tennis have very small waists, you'll notice."

Says Jean Spadea, designer of smart mannequins: "Indeed I am going to wear one of the new corsets. This new silhouette is a much more natural one for women than those awful hips we've been trying to get. I can't see how we'll be any more unhealthy if we pull our waists in a little."

Then there's the office girl. For instance, Ray Hanger, Virginia born young woman who directs activities of New York's largest news photograph library.

"Never!" she exploded. "Can't you imagine me all laced up, stooping over the cabinets getting out letters of Hitler and Stalin and Chamberlain and Roosevelt? I'd be a pretty sight, now, wouldn't I?"

Outlook On Life Is Discussed By United Pastor

Last evening in First United Church Rev. J. C. Jackson spoke on "Our Attitude Towards Life." He contrasted the outlook of Jacob in the Old Testament with that of Paul as given in the New. Jacob found "all things are against me." Paul found "All things work together for good to them that love the Lord." While one's temperament might color one's outlook on life, there were factors that could be controlled. People should learn to look up, not down; forward, not back; outwards, not inwards. The Christian's point of view was a long, wide view and, seeing things far ahead, then indeed was the Christian "more than conqueror."

Mrs. R. G. Large was heard to much advantage in her rendering of the solo "O Let Me Hear Thy Loving Kindness."

In the morning Mr. Jackson gave the second in the series on the Book of Jonah. The Junior Choir sang the anthem "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus."

NEW HAZELTON

Supposedly overcome with excitement over listening to war news on the radio, Sydney Browning, resident of South Hazelton for a number of years, suffered collapse and died a few minutes later after being rushed to the Hazelton Hospital. For over twenty years he had been teacher at the Hagwilget Indian school, having lived in retirement for the past few years at South Hazelton. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Fred Williams.

MODERN ARMIES ARE FULLY TRAINED

though the tempo of infantry tactics has become speeded up by mechanization. Fundamentally however, the infantry are the "shock troops," the fellows who, after all the preliminaries relating to aerial and artillery operations are finished, have to go in and meet the enemy's infantry and decide the issue. In spite of all the developments which have featured the past two decades, none has altered the position of the infantryman in that respect.

The machine gun, particularly the light machine gun employed as an infantry weapon, has a value all its own, and a supremely important part of the infantryman's training is the co-ordination of his own operations with those of the machine gunners. The fire-strength of an infantry battalion is incalculably greater now than it was 20 years ago. But that does not mean that the machine gun has ousted the rifleman or the bayonet and bomb have become back numbers. Training in those features differs little from what it used to be.

Mobility Essential The greatest change will manifest itself in operation calling for the movement of troops. Training will require battalions to move not 20 miles a day as formerly, but 50 and 70 miles, by motorized vehicles. Defense against an attack while such movement is in progress is an important element. Details have long been worked out as to the number of troop-carrying vehicles per mile it is safe to move by day or night.

Training in the employment of armored fighting vehicles is equally necessary. Whether this will be undertaken extensively in the Canadian Active Service Force, however, remains to be seen. It is more likely that exercises will emphasize methods of co-operation between infantry and tanks rather than the actual training in the operation of these.

As to how long must elapse before an infantryman is trained, it depends more on the capability of the man to assimilate the element of time with that of training. In Great Britain a recruit's training period is usually placed at one year. He enters the regimental depot at the age of 18 and emerges as a trained soldier just about his 19th birthday. With fewer facilities than in Great Britain a longer time might be necessary in Canada.

During the Great War troops usually underwent a training period of about four months in England, on top of their period in Canada, before they were sent to the front. In emergencies this English training period was cut down, and in some cases omitted altogether. But those conditions were exceptional.

PRINCE GEORGE

Harvesting of alaska seed in this district has been unduly delayed on account of unfavorable weather conditions and the present situation is now becoming alarming. The crop is still on the ground and is being subjected to intermittent rains while shortening days and lack of sufficient sunshine are further delaying progress. Quite a number of crops are already reported as being beyond salvaging.

Henry P. Zuidema, night city editor of the Detroit Daily News, was a visitor in Prince George last week in the course of a tour of the district. He expressed the opinion that United States could do more for democracy and better uphold the principles for which Great Britain and France are fighting by remaining out of the war in Europe. Most of Americans, Zuidema said, believe that the Allies have the right cause. There was, however, an overwhelming feeling in favor of neutrality.

The work of renewing the city water mains on George Street from Fifth to Sixth Avenues is being undertaken at a cost of $25,000. The city has also decided to go ahead with the reconditioning of the Ritts-Kifer Hall for use as a firehall.

Edward All-yne Wright, president of Prince George Motors after a lengthy illness, passed away last Tuesday at the Prince George Hospital. He was sixty-one years of age and had been in the Prince George district since 1910.

EXCITING, ROMANTIC

"The Sun Never Sets" With Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Basil Rathbone, at Capitol Theatre

An exciting and romantic story of the British colonial service on the Gold Coast of Africa, "The Sun Never Sets," with Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Basil Rathbone, playing leading brother roles, comes as the feature offering of this week. The action of the play moves between London and the heart of the Gold Coast. The brothers are officers in the colonial service who are detailed to investigate a plot against world peace. Intrigue and adventures provide plenty of thrills while there is plenty of romantic interest as well.

Virginia Field is the sweetheart of Douglas Fairbanks Jr. while Barbara O'Neil is the wife of Basil Rathbone. Conflict of duty and personal interest and desire provides dramatic interest. Lionel Atwill plays the part of a nefarious international conspirator. C. Aubrey Smith appears as the aged grandfather of the two young officers.

From The Waterfront

Southbound from Skagway Vancouver on a regular voyage. C. F. R. steamer Princess Louise Capt. S. K. Gray, arrived in port at 7 o'clock Saturday afternoon and sailed at 5:45 p.m. for Vancouver. The vessel had on board 20 passengers of whom twenty-two disembarked here. Half a dozen took passage from this port for the south.

It appears that our correspondent of last week in telling about the visit of two charming young Vancouver nurses to the logging camp of Nelson Bros. at Klushnah Bay did not give all the story. He did not tell about the dance to which Harry Scott came, the only one reported in his Sunday go to meeting and Oxforda. Succumbing to the charming wiles of the fair visitors Harry, we are advised, was quite the life of the party. Further we hear that Harry has become so inspired that he has decided to put up the prosaic business of logging and take up story writing. Oscar Haveroy says he has already started.

Halibut landings at Seattle last week were somewhat light at a total of 348,000 pounds but are expected to be heavier this week. The average price at Seattle last week was 12 1/2¢, considerably higher than usual.

McQuarrie of Vancouver, medical officer of the department for British Columbia, arrived in the city on Saturday night's train. They visited Port Simpson yesterday and will leave tomorrow for Bella Bella on the Naskeena. Later they will be back here en route to Hazelton.
