President of Bank is New Premier of Finland-War Continues-Red Warship Sunk

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 1: (CP)-Finland formed a new government tonight, dropping leaders who had been assailed by Moscow, as Russian armed forces renewed their extended attack upon the country.

While the new government was being formed, Russian bombers machine gunned civilians in the streets of the capital.

Viipuri and other cities were also being raided.

Russian attacks extended from Finland's extreme Arctic tip. where soldiers are reported to have been dropped by parachute from war planes to seize important towns, to the extreme southwestern corner wher Red warships blaster strategic Port Hangoe guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Findland.

Finnish defence batteries on Russaroe fortress were reported to have sunk one attacking warship and were still holding out.

The new Premier of Finland is Risto Ryti, fifty-year-old governer of the Bank of Finland. The foreign minister is Vaino Tanner, Socialist finance minister in the outgoing government, who is regarded as friendly to Russia. The chief of police of Helsingfors said that thirty women and children had been killed today by Russian bombs.

The Finns said that sixteen Russian tanks had been wrecked by gunfire or mines in bitter fighting along the southwestern frontier.

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIMENT

Now that everybody seems to be looking forward to a new international order at the close of this great war one thing stands out clearly, and that is that small no FOR SALE Petter diesel engine. tions are always in danger. Evidently it is a sin to be small and weak. It might well be included although it does not seem likely. When Germany FOUND-Two keys on ring, one has been purged of Hitlerism, she will be in need of something to take its place and will be ready for such a move otherwise she may gravitate toward Russia.

This is an age of change and there is no doubt that great changes will take place in the world nationally and internationally when the war is over. We have all been seeing our neighbors in a different light. England has been learning about London and London has been learning about England. Possibly in time New York may learn about the United States but not just yet, judging by some of the New York radio commentators. At any rate we are being carried along by a power greater than ourselves and the nations are in the melting pot. What they will look like when the process has advanced ten years we can only conjecture. We believe we are moving forward although there are people who still fear that we are moving backwards.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY

The financial condition of the country is always reflected in its banks. Today we are publishing the financial statement of the Bank of Montreal, and it will be seen that commercial loans have been increased during the year by about thirty million dollars. Everything points to increased business, possibly due to some extent to defense activity.

NOT SO QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT

What was once a peaceful French barnyard did not take long to be transformed into a British gun turret and this excellent picture from "somewhere in France" shows a British gun crew in action around a camouflaged heavy gun. The gun has just been fired, the muzzle lowered and the man at the left is ready to swab out the firing chamber after the breech has been opened. The men at the right await the signal to place the projettile, seen resting on its carrier at their feet, into the breech, and in a few short moments another shell will be screaming towards a German gun emplacement. Notice the precision of the members of the gun crew as they go about their duties.

HOLLAND FULLY MOBILIZED AND DETERMINED TO MAINTAIN ITS NEUTRALITY

In a speech broadcast to the nation and its colonies, Premie r Dirk J. De Geer, premier of Holland, declared that Holland's mobilization stands as a guarantee to all belligerents that her ne utrality in the present conflict will be maintained. Referring to current rumors that Germany was threatening The Netherlands, the premier declared: "The government has not the slightest reliable information at hand which could shake its belief in as surances received from both warring powers." Despite the assurances of Premier De Geer, the small, but well-equipped Dutch army is standing grimly ready to fight if the reported massing of German troops on the Dutch border leads to the invasion of the tiny country. A regiment is shown, Upper Left, on the march for an unknown destination recently. General Baron von Voorst Tot Voorst, commander-in-chief, is shown. Upper Right. Left, with an aide, as he toured part of Holland's flooded defence sector after the dykes had been opened in several places to make use of Holland's natural barrier to invasion. A gun crew of the Dutch army is shown in action, Lower Left, while the machine gun crew, Lower Right, is typical of the men who man the borders of peaceful Holland.
