Hitler Looks For "Long Peace"

New Industrial Development Here Would Involve Project For New Power Development

Entirely contingent upon possible new industrial developments at Prince Rupert the northern British Columbia Power Co. is having surveys carried out at the present time for a projected $750,000 power extension undertaking at Shawatlans Lake, it was stated this morning by J. J. Little, general manager of the company, in answer to inquiries. The surveys are being made at this time so that data may be readily available without delay in the event of such industrial development being proceeded with at any time. There is no immediate prospect of proceeding with the work.

The Shawatlans Lake program which is being studied includes raising the Woodworth Lake dam, possibly by twenty-five feet, to give twenty thousand acre feet storage instead of eight thousand as at present. The new dam would be located a short distance below the present one. It would be capable of supplying six weeks emergency storage. The present circuitous pipe line from Woodworth Lake to the Shawatlans Lake power house would probably be abandoned and there would be either a direct tunnel or conduit from the new dam to a new power house which would be installed at the eastern end of Shawatlans Lake.

The new power house at Shawatlans Lake would be of two 5,000 horse power units instead of the total of 1,200 h.p. at the existing plant. One machine would be used to take the continuous run-off from the area. The Shawatlans power would continue, as at present, an auxiliary to Falls River for emergency use.

The new Woodworth-Shawatlans Lake project would also provide for the diversion of Lake Bannock drainage area, now flowing into Louise Arm, to Lake Mahlon which in turn, would take it into Woodworth Lake.

INSURGENTS PUSHING ON

BARCELONA, Jan. 30: (CP)—Insurgents have pushed beyond Matanzas, north of Barcelona, in their drive to mop up Catalonia. Today they were reported to be within fifty miles of the French frontier. Loyalist soldiers are said to have long lines of war-starved citizens still form before food dispensaries which have been set up since the insurgent occupation of Barcelona. The job of maintaining order has been turned over to a special corps of eighteen thousand armed men.

Fleeing before the insurgent armies driving northward from Barcelona, tragic hordes of refugees continue to cross into France. Five thousand crossed the border within an hour after the first refugees reached the line and since Saturday it is estimated 75,000 crossed the frontier at Perpignan. Five thousand French troops were sent to the Spanish border for use in connection with keeping of order among the refugees. Ten thousand loyalist soldiers are said to have crossed into France with the other refugees in spite of the strict French orders against admitting deserters. Loyalist officials are also reported among the refugees.

One group of loyalist militiamen were reported today to have refused to return to Spain even at the point of guns of French soldiers. They gave up their arms to the French. Premier Negrin, in a radio broadcast at the week-end, said the government was more determined than ever to win the war.

All that Italy asked, said Gayda was Great Britain's support "in vital problems which do not directly affect Great Britain." Gayda had personal praise for Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain.

WILL CARRY PASSENGERS

Air Travel Between Vancouver And Montreal To Commence On April 1 Over TransCanada

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 30: (CP)—Speaking here at the week-end, Hon. Clarence D. Howe, minister of transport, announced that passenger carrying service would be instituted between Montreal and Vancouver by TransCanada Air Lines on April 1. Before the end of the year, it was expected to extend the service to the Maritime Provinces.

Hitler ridiculed any idea of Germany being out to attack or divide North or South America, China, Australia or the Netherlands.

The Chancellor warned western powers against interfering "in matters concerning us alone with the purpose of preventing natural and sensible solutions."

He declared that Germany, in establishing the right of self-determination in Austria and Czechoslovakia, had only defended itself against attempts of interfering third parties.

Hitler again attacked Bolshevism, hailed the success of the Spanish insurgents, and paid tributes to Benito Mussolini, Neville Chamberlain and Edouard Daladier for assisting in solving the Sudeten problem.

Speaks of Colonies Hitler declared that the "robbery of German colonies" after the Great War had been "morally wrong and economically sheer madness. No people were born to be "have nots" and none to be "haves." Great German colonial possessions, which the Reich had once acquired in peace through treaty and purchase, had been "stolen from us."

"The pretext that these possessions are of no value anyhow should justify their return without any trouble." The Chancellor concluded his address at 1:20 Pacific Standard Time.

ENGLISH POLITICS

If war does not intervene, it seems likely that there will be a general election soon in Britain and we find that there is a great deal of interest taken in this election in Prince Rupert and neighborhood. Speaking generally those who favor labor representation here seem to think that the Chamberlain government will be defeated and will be succeeded by a Labor government, possibly with the support of the Liberals, if there are any Liberals left in the next Parliament. This government may have a foreign policy more like that of Anthony Eden which will refuse to take any nonsense from the dictator nations and which will be ready to fight for democracy in any part of the world. Also they will try to re-establish the League of Nations. That, in a general way, seems to be the view held.

Those who believe in Prime Minister Chamberlain and his administration see the return of the Chamberlain government although possibly not quite as strong as at present. They point to recent elections to show that, while there may have been slight local irritation in some quarters with a falling off of government support, any defections would not be sufficient to defeat Chamberlain. It is expected by them that, when a general election campaign is launched, the government will be able to show that it is not a weakling administration as has been represented and that it would be a source of strength to the country to ask for Chamberlain's return with an increased majority.

In the meantime anything may happen. If there should be war the Government would remain in power, at any rate for a time. If war is avoided, it will strengthen the National government. If the government is returned, we believe it will be largely because of the weakness of the opposition. They seem to lack efficient leaders and also lack cohesion.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TONE

Prime Minister Chamberlain seems to be taking a more firm stand in regard to possible aggression in Europe or Africa. This tone is appreciated here and evidently also in Britain. Pussyfooting does not seem to get anywhere under present conditions. It is usually misunderstood.

STICKING TOGETHER

In all matters of public policy there are bound to be differences. There can never be unity of opinion on everything and neither can there be unity of action. Those who have helped to develop democratic opinion are well aware of these differences. All that can be expected is to develop a strong preponderating opinion that will carry such policies as will be best for the country or community. Because the majority of people support something does not necessarily mean that it is right. It is so easy to sway a multitude. Many people make up their minds that something is right and then try to prove it afterwards. Some are influenced by politics, others by religion, others again by class-consciousness. To some people labor is always right, to others capital is always right. To some people Liberalism is always right and to others Conservatism is always right. That is what makes it difficult for a community to act as a unit.

BISHOP RIX IS SPEAKER

Addresses Japanese Young People's Association on Wonders of Nature Which He Likens To Man

Speaking on the satisfaction that it was possible to derive from nature and God's handiwork, Rev. G. A. Rix D. D., Bishop of Caledonia, gave an interesting address Saturday afternoon before members of the Nippon Young People's Association at a fellowship tea in St. Andrew's Japanese Mission.

After describing some of the wonders of plants and lower animals, the Bishop compared these things to man who was the "last supreme handiwork of God" but over which the Creator was superior. His Lordship referred to the beauty, grace and endurance of man and other living things and alluded to man's victory over certain diseases and bodily enemies. "If a person owns his own house, he should keep it in good shape," he declared. "He should do likewise with his body which should not be abused by drinking, overeating, overwork or wrong doing."

United Church Boys' Service

Ned Tobey Tells of Boy's Parliament and Advocates More Youth Work

In their annual observance of Boy's Week, the Tuxis, Trail Rangers and Explorer groups of First United Church took charge of the morning service of that church yesterday. The principal speaker was Ned Tobey, president of the "Crusaders" Tuxis Square, who gave an inspiring address on his recent visit to the Boy's Parliament of British Columbia. Stressing the need for leaders of boys' organizations in this city, he urged closer co-operation between the churches in regard to the formation of Christ-centred boys' groups. He mentioned the possibility of securing a competent instructor from the Religious Education Council in Vancouver to conduct a brief course of leadership training in the city. Boys' Parliament was a truly wonderful experience in the life of any young fellow and he urged all parents who had the opportunity to make it possible for their sons to attend a session of Parliament.

Allan Large of the Trail Ranger group led in the responsive reading while the scripture lesson was read by David Barclay of the Explorer group. The chairman, Ken Harding, spoke of the new interest in boys' work in Prince Rupert and asked the congregation for support in the financial campaign which the groups will be conducting in the near future. Announcement, was also made of the annual Father and Son banquet which will be held on Wednesday of this week and for which a special program is being arranged.

The Junior Choir rendered in a splendid manner the official Tuxis hymn as an anthem. Ushers were Albert Phillipson and Lorne Wamnamaker.

Mother-In-Law Now Has Day

New York Starts Another Date for Flowers and So On

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (CP)—The Mother-in-Law Association of New York is getting started. This organization places the mater of husband or wife on an honored pedestal and has set February 7 as the day when flowers may be sent. The day has been established with a legal flourish, the society's certificate being formally filed in the County Clerk's office.

There's one woman who is living up to the modern mother-in-law pattern. Nobody has ever heard Mrs. Roosevelt pointing out the faults of son-in-law or daughter-in-law. Their marriages and even their divorces are their affairs, not hers, and she manages to be the cherished friend of even members of the family who are now outsiders.

The other night when her two youngest sons and their wives took Mrs. Roosevelt out for a good time, it was to the season's most daring play they escorted her, apparently assuming that, since she was their pal, a show that wouldn't be too shocking for them would be all right for her.

A couple of days later, in the White House, this mother, mother-in-law and grandmother was a central figure in a family crowd at a quite different kind of good time—the christening of the youngest Roosevelt grandchild.

Ease
CHEST COLD misery

First massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. This relieves the distress.

Then, to make its long-continued poultice-and-vapor action last even longer, spread a thick layer of VapoRub on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth. This also gives the skin extra protection against chilling.

Long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps on working—loosens phlegm—eases muscular soreness or tightness—clears air passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion.

Often, by morning the cold is over.

ESSINGTON BAND AID

Ladies' Auxiliary Elects Officers For Year—Social and Dance

PORT ESSINGTON, Jan. 30.—The annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Essington Concert Band was held recently in the Essington Band Hall.

After the reports of the officers and the President, Mrs. Matthew Wesley, were read, the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Honorable President, Mrs. Joseph Roberts. President, Mrs. David Spalding. Secretary, Miss Josephine Bolton. Assistant Secretary, Miss Grace Spalding. Treasurer, Miss Rosa Spalding. Social Committee—Mrs. C. A. Miller, Mrs. James Gray and Mrs. Elizabeth Bolton.

On Friday evening the auxiliary entertained the entire village with a social evening and dance. The most interesting feature of the evening was a grand parade led by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary dressed in their colorful native costumes, with specially designed head-gear which displayed the crest of the tribes of the wearers. They paraded into the band hall, then formed a circle and performed a festival native dance. Ben Brown headed the parade and performed the duties of the tom-tom man.

Under the leadership of Arthur Stewart, floor manager, a delightful program of games and dancing was enjoyed by both children and adults.

Close to midnight the ladies served a dainty lunch which was appreciated by all.

On behalf of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Joseph Roberts made a short speech of welcome to the guests. Miss Josephine Bolton read the reports of the meeting.

Music was provided by the "Essingtonians" under the direction of Herbert Spalding.

The party broke up about 2 a.m.

PROJECTS ON POWER IN NORTH

Would Create New Industrial Areas; Defence Aid

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30. (CP)—British Columbia government engineers are working on plans for a mighty power development scheme, creating three new industrial centres and yielding more than 4,000,000 horsepower.

By damming rivers and lakes in northern British Columbia west of the Rocky Mountains, they hope to divert waters running roughly eastward into the west coast's deepest harbors, Dean Channel and Bute Inlet.

They will explore the Dean Channel area this spring to map plans for diversion of the eastern flow of the Nechako and other rivers.

A 1,000,000-horsepower plant at the head of Bute Inlet, 200 miles farther south, would be made possible by canalizing in a westward direction the waters of several inland lakes.

Largest scheme, which would probably take half a century to complete, is damming of the Fraser River at three points. Fishermen oppose the idea on the ground the salmon run would be killed.

Engineers state the Fraser River dams would have a minimum potential value of $10,000,000. The salmon industry yields only $3,000,000 annually.

Defence of the west coast in case of invasion is another important factor in the power development scheme. Power plants at Dean Channel and Bute Inlet would be well protected from attack by water or land, advocates of the scheme claim.

Moreover, all the raw materials required in the manufacture of munitions are at hand. There are huge iron deposits on Texada Island, heretofore unworkable because of the difficulty of smelting with coal. Electric energy would smelt Texada ore.

With international attention focussed with some frequency on the Pacific, with British Columbia's vulnerability frequently discussed and questioned, engineers are consciously studying power development from an angle of defence. They are losing no time in getting to their field of study this year.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Jan. 30. (CP)—The municipality of the city and county of Saint John finished the calendar year 1938 with a cash deficit of $59,187. Expenditures amounted to $723,011. The previous year's deficit was $48,254.

HENIE HAS FINE FILM

Popular Skating Star Tops Cast in "My Lucky Star" at Capitol Theatre

The radiant Sonja Henie, in "My Lucky Star," which is the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for the first half of this week, appears in a setting far removed from Switzerland's Alpine peaks or Norway's remote peasant villages. She is a happy modern girl having a good time on a co-ed campus, wearing swanky clothes and having swell dates.

The story opens with Sonja enrolling as a student at Plymouth College where she is to model smart sports clothes of Cesar Romero's Fifth Avenue store. In the school's annual ice carnival, Sonja is so sensational that a picture magazine publishes her photograph on its cover. Romero's alimony-minded wife uses this as an excuse for a scandal which forces Sonja's resignation from the school. Then the skating star, who already has a romance with Richard Greene, stages her ice carnival in the Fifth Avenue store. A magnificent "Alice in Wonderland" ballet is featured, this being one of the six big skating sequences of the picture.

The supporting cast includes Joan Davis, Buddy Ebsen, Arthur Treacher, George Barbie, Louis Hovick, Billy Gilbert, Patricia Wilder and Paul Hurst.

Several delightful new melodies were especially written for the great ice ensemble.
