DAILY EDITION

Monday, July 24, 1939.

People in the east are already beginning to see conditions improving, partly as a result of the good crop on the prairies. This added to the busy time they are having in southern British Columbia is likely to cause a general improvement everywhere. A letter arrived from Toronto, at the week-end full of hope and buoyancy and happy in the already busier conditions.

We in Prince Rupert have every reason to be hopeful for we have every expectation of work going ahead which will be bound to reflect itself throughout the community and district.

BANKS ALSO PLEASED

The monthly commercial letter of the Bank of Commerce opens with "The general business situation may now be regarded as an a satisfactory basis." Evidently new construction is on the upswing and foreign trade has an improved trend. This is a general improvement from the spring bulletin which was of a somewhat pessimistic nature.

Investigating Fishing

Mr. Justice Sloan of the Supreme Court of Canada is conducting an investigation into the fish trap operations at Sooke and incidently is hearing evidence bearing on seining in British Columbia waters.

It is clear that any decision made by the commissioner that relates to the Sooke fish traps will also affect oth. er parts of the province. It is intimated that the whole question of fishing methods will be before the commission as an attempt may be made to prove that seining is more destructive to fish than traps. The question of employment will also arise as that seems to be behind the whole movement to have traps prohibited. It is possible that some good may come from the investigation.

FISHERIES COMMISSION WORK

At Vancouver recently Colonel Nicholls is reported northern waters, due to the intelligent co-operative conto have said: "British Columbia's halibut industry in servation policy of the International Joint Fisheries Commission, is steadily coming back and within a few years will have recovered most of the ground lost through ruthless overfishing in an earlier era. During the last several vears the catch of halibut off this coast has more than doubled, conclusive evidence of the success of the conservation plans carried out by the Canadian and United States governments."
