This is left to the provincial governments, the railways or the various municipal and other tourist organizations.

Prince Rupert is about to engage in an extended publicity campaign to look after tourists when they arrive and also to try to secure for the city more stop-over visitors who may like to take advantage of the hunting or fishing and, if possible, to break into the salmon fishing B-1. Usually visitors are quite ready to pay for guides and transportation if only they can get what they want.

As fish become less plentiful it is probable that many fishermen might be glad to charter their boats to take out tourists instead of continuing their commercial fish- Hockey Finals ing. More and more there will be a demand for sport fishing as this part of the country becomes known.

Now that the two governments are doing their part in publicizing the whole of Canada in one case and British Columbia in the other, it is up to Prince Rupert to see that this district gets its share of the visitors.

ANOTHER WAR POSSIBILITY

Some despatches from Europe hint at the probability of war between Japan and Russia which might also mean that Germany would at the same time atack Russia on the west.
