Compulsory Training

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of war services told the House of Commons today that every unmarried man in Canada medically fit and between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five may be compelled to take thirty days' military training within one year. There is no reason why Canada should not train a million men under this system and still operate state industry and primary production to meet the demands, Mr. Gardiner said.

Department of National Defence requirements may be set by calling up during the first year only those single men who are from 21 to 35 years of age.

Employers must furnish lists of male employers between the required ages and, under penalty, must put the employees back on their jobs on completion of training. Turning Out Arms

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, told the House that Canadian factories were expected to turn out planes at the rate of 360 per month early in 1941 and "Mark III" tanks at the rate of thirty per month as soon as plants and equipment are complete. The minister outlined plans for rifle and artillery plants to make weapons up to 25-pounder cannons and naval artillery, the latter plants to cost $10,000,000 and to be the largest and most modern in the British Empire.

TOO GREAT SPEED

If what the Nazis claim were true, it would mean that by this time the British navy should be almost annihilated. Fortunately, it is not true and the British navy today ist stronger than ever it has been. Destroyers have been getting most of the casualties because they are used most extensively for defence of convoys and other risky jobs. They have speed and are well armed. So they are in the thick of the fight most of the time. Losing a destroyer is quite different from losing a cruiser or a battleship. Possibly it is necessary to let the German people think they are winning ing all the time. So it is with Italy. If Mussolini could win the war by over-statement he would soon have us all beaten.

TAKING HEAVY TOLL

While enemy losses announced by the Royal Air Force FOR SALE-1969 Dodge. Custom today and a good deal livelier. are heavy, there are probably many more losses than those counted as such. When an airplane goes off limping, it is ery. often stated that a German plane was badly injured and probably may not reach home. It is not counted as a victim. Many of these planes do not reach home. The only ones announced are those which are seen fall into the seal or smash to pieces on land or are blown to pieces in the air. It is enough to let the people know that German losses are For sale. To close estate. One very heavy, so heavy that they are being acutely felt. An-i other source of loss is the machines destroyed when on the ground at or near the airdromes which are bombed. Doz-i ens also are restroyed at the German factories bombed by the British airmen in various parts of the country. On the whole the actual losses are possibly twice as large as those announced as having been shot down.

CHINA AND RUSSIA

Russia is unofficially supporting the Chinese campaign against the Japanese and is supplying that country. with a great deal of her needs. Evidently Russia is treating China better than she is treating Germany. Hitherto Britain has been supplying China with much food, arms and ammunition. To avoid friction at a time when Britain is being pressed by Germany, the British have closed to munitions traffic the road through Burma for three months, at a time when it is little used because of weather conditions. Now the Japanese have arrested a number of British subjects which is likely to prove an irritation. Russia, in the meantime, sits tight in her huge territory and gives encouragement to China to continue the war against Japan so that the power of Japan may be lessened in the Orient and the manace to Russia be less. What we must remember is that Russians do not love the Chinese except to the extent that they can serve Russia's purpose. Stalin. has used Bolshevism because it has served his purpose. He also is using China as long as China can serve his purpose. R.A.F. BOMBER BAGS ENEMY TANKER
