ELECTION POT BOILING

The election pot seems to be coming to a boil. Canadians are being chosen in every part of the country and within a few days all will be set for the campaign to start in earnest. There will be a great deal of talk during the coming month and many things said that would have better been unsaid. Political opponents will be charged with saying and doing things they know nothing or little about. Small things will be magnified and important matters minimized. Efforts will be made to bamboozle the public and every party, it is safe to say, will be guilty. Usually those who protest most are the most guilty.

It seems that this sort of campaign is part of our democracy. Many people like it. The average person seems to enjoy being fooled. He is a poor fish that snaps at the bait and takes it along with the hook and sinker. The bait is often the glib talker who spins the old time platitudes dressed up with a few stories and jibes at the opponents.

Of course it is but nothing like so detestable as refusing to fight to prevent oppression.

Just now a great ogre is trying to eat up little Finland. The nations are sorry for her but that is all. A brave few are rushing to her aid. Will the few be sufficient to stop the ogre?
