LONDON IS BESET FOR 4TH NIGHT

Again Enemy Is Reckless Of Objectives, Hesitating At Nothing In His Effort to Deal Death And Destruction

Part Of Buckingham Palace Suffers Damage From Time Bomb - Two Hospitals And Schools Again Hit

MORE ALARMS TODAY

LONDON, Sept. 11: (CP) — London had three air raid alarms today. At the third German planes could be seen flying over a target off to the southeast. Anti-aircraft batteries put up an unusually heavy barrage. Attacks by British fighters appeared to break up circular formation of the German bombers. Up to thirty German bombers swept in from the southeast. British fighters attacked and for two minutes the air was filled with planes. The Germans scattered. When the Thames Estuary another battle raged. The all clear sounded at 4:40 p.m.

LONDON, Sept. 11:—London was subjected to its fourth successive night of intensified Nazi air raids. After eight hours and 29 minutes the all clear signal was given at 4:40 this morning. An official statement, which promised further details later, said preliminary reports indicated damage by the enemy raids in many parts of London was less severe and casualties less than in preceding nights' raids. However, fires had been started in warehouses and factories along the Thames River and in other parts of the city. In South West and East London there also been raids, it was announced, but damage was slight and casualties small in these areas. Again during today brief air raid alarms were sounded.

Once more the enemy was reckoned as to whether the bombs struck at military objectives or otherwise. Hospitals, schools and apartment houses were indiscriminately struck. Fifty mothers who had been evacuated from a maternity hospital in a previous air raid were reported to have been killed in another. Many persons were believed killed when 500 people were reported trapped in a West End schoolhouse which was struck by an aerial torpedo.

German raiders were unable to penetrate London's defences during daylight yesterday so dropped bombs in the outskirts and elsewhere in England and Scotland. Efforts were made by the enemy to go through the balloon barrage yesterday.

Early in the evening only a few planes were able to get past the defences of the metropolis and, at first, only a few isolated bombs were dropped. As the night wore on the attacks became more intensive, reaching the most furious degree early in the morning. At the same time, anti-aircraft fire also became more intense.

The News-Chronicle said today that while bodies were exhausted and nerves strained, London's spirit was unbroken. The incessant nightly bombings have caused no flight from the city although the government is encouraging as many people as possible to leave.

A small wing of Buckingham Palace, containing the royal swimming pool, was wrecked by the explosion of a German time bomb. No members of the Royal Family were present when the bomb dropped or when it exploded and no members of the Royal Household staff were injured.

Important Railway Station In Heart Of Berlin Badly Damaged; Reichstag Is Hit

BERLIN, September 11.—In a lightning attack on Berlin today the Royal Air Force scored several direct hits on important Potsdam Railway station in the heart of the city. The station, one of the German capital's main terminals, was hit repeatedly by heavy bombs and numerous incendiaries which set it afire and did heavy damage.

Today's stroke by the British Royal Air Force with demolition and incendiary bombs was the most spectacular so far on Berlin. It forced the evacuation of several streets lest bomb-weakened buildings collapse.

Yesterday several British bombers hit the German Reichstag and the heart of Berlin's business section.

The official German news agency admitted that Berlin had been heavily bombed. A famous gate in Unter der Linden had been struck. Art treasures were destroyed and incendiary bombs dropped in the United States embassy gardens. School houses had also been bombed. Five persons had been killed in Berlin and several injured, the official German statement said.

In addition to the Reichstag building, the Academy of Arts and the damaging of the famous Brandenburg Gate, the German High Command claimed also that two hospitals had been hit.

There was one particularly large fire and several smaller ones.

It was also officially announced by the German authorities that there had been British raids in France and Belgium and elsewhere in Germany although "little damage had been done."

The British Royal Air Force claimed that more than a score of military points in Germany and German-occupied territory had been raided. There had been further widespread bombing of Nazi barge concentrations along the Channel coast such as it is believed might be used for a sea invasion of England.

In a special bulletin the British Air Ministry said: "British dive bombers over Berlin scored direct hits on the Potsdam railway station in the heart of the capital. Pilots made gliding attacks through a fierce anti-aircraft barrage and found their targets despite ground haze. The pilots reported one particularly large fire and several smaller ones."

The same Air Ministry bulletin which told of the Berlin raid also described widespread bombing attacks on the barge concentrations along the German held French, Belgian and Dutch coasts.

WEAPON OF NEW TYPE

"Incendiary Leaves" Being Used in Large Quantities and Effectively By Royal Air Force

LONDON, Sept. 11: (CP)—A new type of incendiary weapon, known as a "self-igniting leaf," is being used by the Royal Air Force in its aerial attacks on Germany. The weapon is not poisonous, as the Germans have alleged, but certainly will burn a person if handled.

The leaf is like a card about two inches square. After it is dropped it dries out and flares up with a flame of about eight inches in height. It is made on the base of a preparation of phosphorus.

Raiding planes can carry large quantities of the little missiles of which millions have already been dropped on the Reich, being effective in setting widespread fires.

Italy Finds It Necessary To Take Drastic Measures—Prince Is Arrested

ROME, Sept. 11:—In the course of a campaign against defeatism and anti-Fascist talk, Prince Alessandro, a son-in-law of the former King Alfonso of Spain, has been arrested. Scores of other arrests have been made in the drive to prevent breaking up of Italian morale in the war crisis.

Germans Must Move Very Soon If At All, Winston Churchill Tells Britons In Stirring Speech Today

Describes Preparations Which Have Been Made to Counter Assault — Pays Tribute to London Under Stress of Attack

IN NAVY SERVICE

Prince Robert, Prince David and Prince Henry Will Be Largest Units

OTTAWA, Sept. 11: (CP) — Three converted liners will be added to the Royal Canadian Navy as auxiliary cruisers this fall. The first, the steamer Prince Robert, which has already been converted from the yards, followed by the Prince David and the North Star, formerly the Prince Henry, Hon. Clarence D. Howe, minister of munitions, announces. The vessels will form the largest units in Canada's naval service.

LONDON, September 11: (CP)— Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today that Germany is preparing for an invasion of Great Britain by moving hundreds of self-propelled barges down from northern ports to the French coast opposite English shores. These craft and troop convoys, he said, are moving into position under the protection of big German guns set up on the French coast. "No one should blind himself to the fact that this German invasion is being planned with all the German craft and method characteristic to them," the Prime Minister declared. "Next week every man and woman must prepare to do his duty, whatever it may be, with special pride and care. Our fleet is very powerful, our shores are well fortified and well-manned and, behind these lines, we have a better-equipped and far stronger army than ever before."

In opening, the Prime Minister explained that, when he told Parliament last week that it was improbable the enemy attack in September would not be three times greater than in August, he referred not to barbarous attacks on civilian population but to battle between "our fighters and theirs." When the weather had been favorable for fighting, the enemy had been met by the British air fighters and broken up with losses of three to one in the British favor in machines and six to one in pilots. The effort to secure daylight mastery of the air over England was the crux of the whole war, Mr. Churchill said. In this, the enemy had failed conspicuously and it had cost them dearly. The British air force was a good deal stronger today than it was when the hard fighting began in August. Hitler had, no doubt, been using up his air fighting force at a great rate, and a few more weeks would ruin this part of his force and give the British a great advantage.

Mastery of Air
Hitler must secure mastery of the air, the Prime Minister declared, before he could attempt an invasion. Full preparations were going ahead to meet the invasion.

Many barges had been moved to ports in northern France, to Dunkerque, Brest and the Bay of Biscay, by the enemy. Convoys of merchant ships had been moved from port in the Channel under the protection of the new batteries on the French shore. Preparations had also been made to carry forces from Norwegian harbors. Large numbers of enemy troops were standing ready to embark for the dangerous voyage.

"We cannot tell when he will come or if he will try to come at all," declared Mr. Churchill, "but we cannot deny that a large scale invasion is planned with the usual German craft and method. The invasion cannot be long delayed if it is to be tried at all for the weather may break at any time."

However, the Prime Minister declared that the enemy would find it difficult when he was bombed from the air and shelled by the Navy which waited outside.

"The next week or so must be regarded as very important in our history," said Mr. Churchill. We are reminded of the Spanish Armada and Napoleon's attempt at invasion of which the history books tell us. Today, however, the proposed invasion is on a far greater scale and much more important to the civilization of the whole world. Every man and woman must be prepared to do his or her duty. The fleet was powerful and numerous. The air force was at the height of its strength, confident of its superiority in men and machines, although possibly not in numbers. British shores were well fortified and manned. There was a larger, better equipped and more mobile army than ever before. Behind the army were one and a half million home guards who were just as much soldiers and just as determined to fight for every inch of every village and every street.

"With full confidence I say: "God defends the right."

The cruel invasion of London from the air was part of the Hitler plan to terrorize the people of the mighty city, to detract attention from the ferocious onslaughts which were planned elsewhere.

Hitler Unaware
"Little does Hitler know," continued the Prime Minister "of the spirit of the British citizen and the fibre of the Londoner, people who value freedom above their lives. This wicked man, this monstrous product of wanton shame, has kindled a fire in British hearts which will glow long after all traces of London's conflagrations have been removed. He has kindled a steady flame that will continue long after the last vestiges of Nazi tyranny have been burned out of the world, long after the foundations upon which it has been built have been overthrown.

"Now is the time to stand together shoulder to shoulder as we are all doing."

Mr. Churchill paid high tribute to air raid protection services and the fire fighting forces.

All the world marvelled at the composure and resolution of London under attack, the ultimate severity of which could not be foreseen. It was an inspiration and a message of good cheer for all Britons abroad.

"We shall draw from our suffering means of inspiration for survival and victory not only of ourselves and not only in our own time but in the long and better days to come."

SING AS THEY WAIT

The radio tells of the people of London as the city is being bombed by the Nazis. The people sing, tell stories and keep happy in the air raid shelters, with the bombs bursting around them and with the possibility of their homes being destroyed. They are confident of victory so they sing. That is the kind of spirit that cannot be defeated.

This bombing was expected immediately the war began. The people even then, more than a year ago, were prepared to endure and since that there has been no change in the situation except that they are much better prepared now than they were at that time.

Some of us in this country worry over the situation, except that they are much better prepared now than they were at that time.

Some of us in this country worry over the situation, wondering what the end will be. We might well learn a lesson from the Londoners who are in the midst of the battle and who sing as they wait for the bombs to drop. Surely if they can sing, we in this wonderfully peaceful country can be cheerful and optimistic.

DIVINE PROTECTION

A good many Prince Rupert people have expressed the opinion that Britain is under divine protection and that nothing can happen to cause defeat of the people. They may be bombed, some of them killed, wounded or otherwise injured but they must win. Possibly that is why they are so cheerful. It is a nuisance having to retire at the sound of the air raid sirens but it is not as serious as it might seem. One of the broadcasters last night said that a person might ride on top of a bus for miles across London without knowing that anything was happening except for the noise of anti-aircraft guns and an occasional bursting of a bomb in the distance. It was only in certain districts that bombs were dropped.

A BEAUTIFUL GARDEN

England is like a beautiful garden. Visitors who have gone there from this continent have always been struck by the pleasant vistas—the neat irregular fields surrounded by trimmed hedges of hawthorn and with elm or oak trees in some places, particularly in the neighborhood of the farm houses. Cattle graze peacefully in the fields. Flocks of sheep are seen occasionally, especially in the uplands. Everything speaks of peace and beauty. Only occasionally a stray German plane drops a bomb which buries itself in the fields or strikes a house, a hall or a church. Life goes on pretty much as usual, except that the young men are in uniform helping to protect the countryside or joining in the nightly raids on German military objectives.

SOFTBALL TIE GAME

Opener in City Senior Series Is Called on Account of Darkness

Starting rather late and finding themselves in the thick of the oncoming darkness, the Irish Fusiliers and Three Sisters' softball teams were forced to give up last night with the score at two all after playing four innings of the first of the play-off games for the City Championship title.

This short meeting was a first class crowd pleaser until the fielders were no longer visible. What went on out there in the pasture surrounding the pitcher still remains a mystery as the players would not talk and the umpires would not commit themselves. The game ended up in a terrific struggle between the players, the umpires and the spectators and peace terms finally being offered and accepted, a rendezvous was set for earlier this evening.

This play-off series shows promise of being nothing short of a pitchers' duel with Amadio and Dido Gurvich the battery for the Cafe team and Brown and Palmer for the Irish.

Statement Of Significance

Local Pastor Alludes to Comment of Einstein Regarding Church

A statement of significance in the sermon of Rev. E. E. Brandt at First Baptist Church Sunday night dealt with a practice on the part of enlightened men during recent years to "damn the church with faint praise" as though it were an out-grown or parasitical institution unworthy of the support of wide-awake thinkers. Mr. Brandt quoted Prof. Albert Einstein who recently stated he had come to feel a great admiration for the church because only in the churches of Germany did he find the courageous voices raised in opposition to Hitler's regime. The universities, the great newspapers and the leading intellectuals all took shelter in silence during the days when the most cherished institutions of liberty were being taken from them. It was the churches alone that had the courage to speak. Prof. Einstein felt obliged now to recognize and admire what he used to consider of little value.

Mr. Brandt asked: "What might have happened in Germany in those same despised churches had been receiving the enthusiastic support of the enlightened men like Professor Einstein prior to Hitler's rise to power?"
"We are not doing our duty to ourselves, to the Empire, to humanity and to God until we repent of our sins, personal and corporate, seek God in all honesty and become His willing servants," declared the Baptist pastor. "Only then will we have the morale, the courage of a people that is unconquerable and a readiness to assume our God-appointed mission in the world."

Large Turnout As Drill Scene Moves To Ocean Dock

There was another large and enthusiastic attendance at the weekly drill of the Prince Rupert Legion Defence Corps last evening. The first part of the parade took place in the spacious quarters of the Ocean Dock sheds. Here the corps paraded and then carried out movements under the individual platoon commanders. There was a marked improvement as a result of this more intensive training.

The corps then formed up and marched to the Legion Hall for the second period when Regimental Sergeant Major Parsonage Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, gave a talk on map reading and then on the set-up of communications and signalling in the active service forces. This proved to be most interesting.

Before dismissal there was community singing with Peter Lien at the piano and then the session finished with the singing of the National Anthem.

There were five new recruits on parade.

A new and interesting attraction was the presence of pipers who played for the march from the dock to the Legion Hall. With Alex. MacDonald, Hugh M. Smith and G. S. Copeland forming the pipe band the members found the skirl of the pipes a real asset in their marching.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Halibut Catch From Area No. 3 Running Heavy—Sea Cadets Resume Drills—Charlotte at Victoria

Up to the end of August 19,622,717 pounds of halibut had been taken during the 1940 season from Area No. 3, the only area still remaining open, the International Fisheries Commission announces, this comparing with 17,108,311 pounds for the corresponding period last year. Of the total 18,733,846 pounds had been taken by the American fleet as against 15,879,520 pounds last year, while the take of the Canadian fleet from the more remote area was 888,871 pounds in comparison with 1,228,791 pounds last year. During the month of August this year 5,089,639 pounds was taken from Area No. 3, 4,307,472 pounds by American vessels and 782,167 pounds by Canadian. During August only 95,976 pounds was taken from the closed Area No. 2 by both United States and Canadian fleet, this being caught incidental to fishing for other species under permit.

The Sea Cadet Corps of the Prince Rupert Branch of the Navy League of Canada will be resuming weekly drills this evening at headquarters of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. New boys applying for enrolment will attend this drill and all cadets will be bringing all items of uniform equipment. Drills will be held Wednesdays henceforth instead of Tuesdays as previously.
