

Lord Lothian Says Battle Of Britain Is Already Won Because Invaders Have Failed

Many Big Raids on Germany With Famous Krupp Works Bombed and Fires Set—Oil Supplies Punctured and Ruhr Factories Hit

BERLIN, August 31.—British warplanes bombed the centre of Berlin early today damaging the big Siemens Schuckert Electrical Equipment factory.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Lord Lothian, British Ambassador to this country, declared yesterday in an interview with newspapermen that the Battle of Britain was already won because the German bombers were unable to smash British air power.

Lord Lothian drew attention to the fact that the German raids on Britain had been publicized to a much greater extent than the British raids on Germany but these British raids had been most effective in halting production of war material and in hampering the war efforts of the enemy.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Word has been received here of the killing of two Americans at a mission station in North Africa.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The vital supplies of Germany received another puncture last night when the British planes bombed many synthetic oil factories and storage tanks and supply bases.

The famous Krupp works at Essen were again set on fire last night by Royal Air Force incendiary bombs and explosives.

Enemy Over Britain German planes to the estimated number of twelve hundred flew over Britain last night in a mass effort to try to destroy London and other British centres.

All-Canadian Airplane Squadron Bagged A Dozen German Bombers In Hour

LONDON, August 31.—The Royal Air Force all-Canadian squadron polished off an even dozen German raiders in one hour during a bitter afternoon battle over Britain, the Air Ministry announced today.

Figured In Rescue Of The Athenia

JASPER PARK LODGE, Aug. 31.—Axel Wenner-Gren, wealthy Swedish yachtsman who figured prominently in the rescue of survivors of the Athenia when the Canadian liner was sunk during the early stages of the war, arrived in Jasper today for a brief holiday at this mountain resort.

Wheat Crop

The storage and marketing of Canada's wheat crop is, of course, a serious and perplexing problem, and it is one which is not susceptible to any quick and ready solution.

Mr. Hungerford was accompanied on his trip by R. J. Moffat and B. L. Daly, members of the Board of Directors, N. B. Walton, vice-president in charge of operations, and

Labor Day Message

By A. R. MOSHER President of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor

Shortly before Labor Day last year, the German war-machine, created by unscrupulous gangsters and brought to a high peak of murderous efficiency, began its relentless march over Europe.

The workers of Canada pledged their allegiance to the war-effort as soon as the titanic conflict began, and that pledge has been kept both in the letter and the spirit.

Now amid the stress and strain of a great war, they are striving with all their energies to quicken and intensify the war-effort and to increase the material forces which are so essential.

Winter Campaigns

Through the winter was waged a war of position. It was the stage of the defensive behind the Maginot Line, the naval blockade of Germany and the examination of ships going to neutral countries surrounding the Reich.

The first contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force landed in the United Kingdom December 17 and others followed during the winter until a strength of two divisions in the United Kingdom was obtained.

EMPIRE IS RALLYING MEN AND SUPPLIES TO HELP BRITAIN

Dominions Achieve New Heights in Making Instruments of War for Fight With Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy

By H. M. PETERS Canadian Press Staff Writer

After a year of war Hitler sprawls over Europe, behind him a string of military triumphs over weak nations. Before him, rising to greater military strength than ever before, stand Great Britain and the Empire.

Behind her, contributing a never-ending stream of men and war materials, are Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the other nations of the Empire.

A year of war, started September 1, 1939, when Germany invaded Poland, divided itself into four main phases. They were:

- 1. The eastern campaign in which Germany and Russia defeated and divided Poland, and Russia attacked little Finland. 2. The winter defensive behind the Maginot Line and the West-wall of naval blockade and conflict at sea. 3. Land war in the West, the German overrunning of five nations from Norway south to France. 4. The Battle of Britain, and the attendant Anglo-Italian war in Africa.

The Polish campaign gave the first real hint that this war was not to be fought as other wars. The Germans threw mechanized troops out far ahead of the main troops to disrupt communications.

In this period came the winter's brightest spot, the flashing of naval guns off Montevideo in the 14-hour running seafight in which three British cruisers—the Exeter, Achilles and Ajax—disabled and drove the pocket-battleship Admiral Graf Spee into the Uruguayan capital, ending a threat to Allied and neutral shipping in the South Atlantic.

The first contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force landed in the United Kingdom December 17 and others followed during the winter until a strength of two divisions in the United Kingdom was obtained.

The third stage—war of movement—opened with dramatic suddenness April 9 when Germany invaded and then overran Denmark and Southern Norway.

Jail For Exporting Atlin Gold

ATLIN, Aug. 31.—Olaf Johnson was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 in the police court when he pleaded guilty to two charges under the Foreign Exchange Control Board Act.

Bulletins

BUCHAREST — The establishment of German air bases and headquarters for the Nazi tank corps and motorized units on Rumanian soil was reported upon at the Vienna Conference yesterday which gave half Rumania's Transylvania to Hungary.

Thursday night there arrived back in Prince Rupert a party consisting of Louis Amadio, his daughter Marie and son Victor, Mike Colussi, Miss Rita Turgeon and Miss Lucille Peltier.

The Germans smashed with their mechanized forces at the hinge near historic Sedan, where the advancing French troops pivoted from the permanent Maginot Line.

The Germans broke through, crossed the Meuse River and split off the British expeditionary force from the main French army.

The defeat of France followed quickly. While Britain made an amazing rescue of more than 300,000 British and French troops from Dunkerque, Italy entered the war on Germany's side and struck France in the back.

The war's fourth stage opened with Hitler's declaration that Britain must "capitulate" or he would destroy the Empire.

EACH TO OUR PART

"Come, then, let us to the task, to the battle and the toil — each to our part, each to our station. Fill the armies, rule the air, pour out munitions, strangle the U-boats, sweep the mines, plough the land, build the ships, guard the streets, succour the wounded, uplift the down-cast and honor the brave."

WINSTON CHURCHILL.

FIRST YEAR OF WAR

Tomorrow will be just a year since Poland was invaded and Monday ends the year of war for the British Empire. In that time we may not seem to have done much but happily we have Hitler checked and pretty soon we will have him on the run. Already he is worrying over the situation in which he finds himself.

We know it is unwise to prophesy but it looks to us just now as if the axis powers may turn their attention next to the Mediterranean where the Italians may be given an opportunity to show their sea strength and possibly Egypt may be invaded. Gibraltar is also a rather likely spot for the axis to tackle especially if they can persuade Spain to enter the war.

On the other hand if they leave Britain alone they will find that every day the campaign against their munitions works and other war time factories will be increased until work in many of them will have to cease.

A year of war has pepped up the British, given them that determination and effrontery which is necessary for success in a modern war. It has only intensified the feeling that it is up to them to save the world and they will do it.

Yesterday a Canadian Press staff writer told about the growing war power of Canada. Today another writer reviews the events of the year. It is now up to all of us to make the history of the future.

FRENCH POWER GROWING

The power of the pro-British colonies of France are growing in power. The first of these to declare themselves was Chad, a sparsely populated part of Africa. Now comes Equatorial Africa and the Cameroons. It is said that others will follow. By acting in concert they would be in a position to prevent the overrunning of the southern French colonies.

It seems clear that every day sees the growing tendency of the French people to help the British in the effort to free France from an unpleasant thralldom.

ANOTHER HOLIDAY

Monday is a holiday, the last prior to the setting in of autumn and the turning towards winter sports. If the weather is fine it will be an outdoor day. Relaxation from work is necessary and we hope all our readers will do this and have a very happy time.

MISS HARTIN TELLS ABOUT OLD ENGLAND

She Saw No Sign Of Weakening In That Country And Declared The People Orderly

"The people of England and Scotland are all that they have been said to be just now. They are wonderful." That was an outstanding remark by Miss May Hartin of the King Edward School teaching staff who recently returned from London, where she had been an exchange teacher for a year. She says there is not the least sign of flinching from the task they have set themselves and she does not think there is the least chance of their weakening. They feel that they are growing stronger every day and will continue to do so.

Miss Hartin says she had a very enjoyable year in spite of the trouble over there. She had charge of a London class of cockneys, going with them when they were evacuated to the country. This, outing the children enjoyed and they would have liked to stay in the country. They knew nothing of country life but they had been to the seaside and knew something about that.

The outstanding and most thrilling part of her visit to England, according to Miss Hartin, was the parade of the men from the steamer Exeter and Ajax through London after their return from the defeat of the Graf Spee. Londoners were greatly stirred and the air was electric with emotion. She also saw the prisoners released from the Altmark when they returned from the coast of Norway.

Miss Hartin saw no actual air fighting although she caught sight of one enemy plane high in the skies. She became used to the air shelters. While many people did not use the shelters as much as they might, the government tried to impress upon them the desirability of taking no needless risks. Her school children marched quietly to the shelter and her job was to tell them stories and keep them happy while there.

Among outside work done by the Prince Rupert lady was giving one shift a week to the canteen at British Columbia House in lower Regent Street. There she met many of the Prince Rupert boys and others. She said that Acting British Columbia Agent, Mr. McAdam, worked day and night to make the work of B. C. House effective.

Most of the travelling outside London was done by coach. The coaches were one deck motor buses distinguished from the two deckers in the city. The number of these had been reduced of late but there were still a great many operating to various parts of the country and in spite of the black-out regulations they managed to keep their time schedules.

Going on the street at night was an experience and crossing the street was difficult because the cars were on you before you realized it. Once Miss Hartin got lost, but not for very long. During the holidays the Prince Rupert visitors had opportunities to visit different parts of the country. She spent a month in northern Ireland and planned to return and visit the south but was prevented from doing so owing to changing conditions. She also went to Edinburgh and the Lakes country of England. Also she went to Devonshire, taking in Ilfracombe and other favorite resorts. The flowers in spring, the primroses and violets everywhere by the roadsides and throughout the country were a revelation and an inspiration. The country was extremely beautiful and the visit enjoyable, Miss Hartin concluded.

Wedding Today At Belleville Of Local Couple

Miss Ethel Lorraine Brockway Being Married to Lieut. Wisner Bryant R.C.A.

The wedding is taking place today at Belleville, Ontario, of Miss Ethel Lorraine Brockway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Brockway, formerly of Prince Rupert, to Lieutenant Thomas Wisner Bryant, R.C.A. at present at Camp Osborne near Winnipeg.

Lieutenant Bryant is one of Prince Rupert's native sons and Miss Brockway resided in the city with her parents for several years.

Man in the Moon

There is a proposal afoot to change the name Prince Rupert to Irish Town or Emeraldia. It all comes from having these Fusillers here.

Jake says they are a fine lot of boys and he hopes a lot more will come.

If there should be war on the Pacific the Irish would be nice company to have around.

The letter "E" is an unfortunate letter, since it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time.

But those who traduce the letter "E" should not forget that it is never in war, always in peace, is the beginning of existence, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life, no heaven; no wine or women, both so necessary to make song enjoyable. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, is the beginning of eternity, the end of time and space, end of every place. Without it there could be no editors, writers, or even wives or children.

Coho Trolling Keeping Up Well—Pinks Almost Wholly Absent This Year—Waterfront Beginning to Feel Fall Quiet

Trolling for cohoes is keeping up well in the area around Wark Canal, according to information received from there, and for some little time the men have been making pretty good money. The black spot in the fishing season this year is the almost total failure of the pinks to arrive although it is not yet too late for some of them to come. The seiners have had a very poor season and the outlook for making this up is not good.

A good many of the fishermen who went back to the Skeena after the close of the sockeye season have pulled out for the season. Many natives have returned to Hazelton, Skeena Crossing, Kitwanga and Kitsegukla, Port Simpson, Kitkatla and the Naas River villages. Only the persistent fishermen are staying with the river, fishing cohoes, pinks and chums.

A beam trawler, the Phyllis Carlisle from the south has been here for some weeks fishing flat fish for the Cold Storage Company.

DOCTOR TAKES WIFE IS NEW THEATRE HIT

Loretta Young and Ray Milland Co-starring in Picture That Is Sure Cure for Blues

Infectious laughter is the delightful product of the contagious comedy to be found in Columbia's "The Doctor Takes a Wife," hectic hilarious, happy new hit at the Capitol Theatre. With Loretta Young appearing in her first all-comedy role—and appearing to greater advantage than ever before!—with Ray Milland as her dashing co-star, and a splendid supporting cast which includes Reginald Gardiner, Gail Patrick, Edmund Gwenn and Georges Metaxa. "The Doctor Takes a Wife" is a sure cure for the blues!

Important to the side-splitting effects of this gay, giddy new comedy is the delightfully delirious story which the players present under the accomplished baton of Alexander Hall, whose swift-paced tempo made memorable such other fine films as "The Amazing Mr. Williams" and "There's Always a Woman."

Miss Young's metamorphosis from ravishingly radiant leading lady to riotously unrestrained comedienne is a spectacular highlight in a spectacularly hectic hit. As a young author who writes books in praise of spinsterhood, Miss Young brings to the screen an entirely new conception of herself, as an actress, and of career women in general. And fun-packed fireworks result when America's favorite spinster suddenly "marries" a young doctor to whom all women are poison, with the fond exception of his own fiancée!

Milland, as the young doctor, is forced by circumstances to bill and coo in public with the "wife" he has taken, holding for more private moments the battles between them.

As though this glowing picture of felicitous domesticity were insufficient of itself—which, incidentally, it definitely is not!—to evoke a new high in audience laughter, the comedy has additional complications, all of them delightful.
