EIGHT ITALIANS DOWNED

LONDON-The Ministry of Information announces that eight Italian planes were destroyed and others damaged in fighting with the Royal Air Force over Albania on Wednesday. No British planes were lost.

BRISTOL BOMBED AGAIN

LONDON-Bristol was under heavy attack by Nazi raiding planes Friday night. A number of fires were started and a number were killed and wounded. In a south coast town a hospital and several buildings were bombed and a number of persons were killed. Trouble in the vicinity of Bristol disrupted Western Union cable service between England and New York for six hours last night. It is believed this may have been due to bombing in the vicinity of Bristol. The Nazi attack last night extended as far as Wales. London had one alarm.

ITALIAN RETREAT CONTINUES

ATHENS- All along the 100-mile front in Albania the Italians continue their retreat before the victorious Greeks who vesterday captured Porto Edda and were closing in on Argirocastro. The Greek occupants of Koritza, which was captured over two weeks ago, have found thousands of tons of Italian war equipment concealed underground.

TROUBLE IN ITALY

ROME-The resignation of Marshal Pietro Badoglio as chief of staff of the Italian Army indicates a serious internal situation in Italy. It is believed that his resignation was in protest at political interference with the army. Another suggestion is that Badoglio has been made the goat by Premier Mussolini for the bungling in the campaign against Greece. A further sensation was caused in high Italian official circles today by the resignation and replacement of the Governor of Dodocanese Islands.

GERMAN AIRDROMES BOMBED

Albanian Oil Fields Being Menaced -New Base of Direct Attack On Italy

ATHENS, Dec. 7: (CP)- Italian forces were reported today to have abandoned Argirocastro, leaving part of the important Italian Albanian base in flames. Dispatches from the front said that Greek troops were advancing on the Argirocastro front in several directions and had established contact preparatory to occupation. The road between Porto Edda and Delvina and Rouad, south of Argirocastro, was already occupied by Greek forces, it was said. President Roosevelt Pledges United States to Aid That Nation in Resisting Aggression

WASHINGTON, D.C., Dec. 7: (CP)- In an exchange of messages with King George II. President Franklin D. Roosevelt today pledged United States aid to Greece in the war against Italy.

Answering a message from the Greek King thanking the United States for aid already received and urgently appealing for more assistance. Mr. Roosevelt said: "The settled policy of the United States government is to extend aid to governments and peoples who defend themselves against aggression."

The exchange of messages between President Roosevelt and King George was effected yesterday as U.S.S. Tuscaloosa, carrying th President on his cruise of West Indies and Caribbean Sea defences, was off Porto Rico. United States Navy planes flew messages between ship and shore.

Former Bank Clerk Finds New Job Thrilling But Real Fun

LONDON, Dec. 7: (CP)-A London bank clerk who gave up his job to become a member of a bomb dispagal equad of the Royal Engineers | finds "much fun and real pleasure" in his new work of taking the sting from delayed action bomba

"I'm surprised to find how much fun and real pleasure I get working with the parties." he said in a letter ' to a friend, in which he described the "biggest thrill of my life."

"About a fortnight ago," he wrote, "I was standing in a hole in about; three feet of mud. Suddenly Jerry started dropping bombs around us ind machine-gunning us. I amazed myself with the speed with which I covered so long a distance on so short a time. The blast of another bomb simply blew me down the steps of a shelter-and all I suffered was some lack of breath.

"But the spirit of our people!" the sapper goes on. "The spirit of these Londoners. Our section was' called to - - - the other day. There were houses smashed like matchwood. Yet the people carried on, and were laughing too.

"One good soul said she was sorry! she couldn't make me a cup of tea, but the milk was a little later than usual. And she had nothing, absolutely nothing, left of home!"

As an epiloque, he added "we are all looking forward, you know, to our spring tour of Germany, visiting such interesting places as Berlin and Hamburg."

Always French In N.Y. Styles

Former Paris Designer Back In Country Of Birth For Successes

NEW YORK, Dec. 7: (CP)-He was born Main Bocher (pronounced Maine Bocker) in Chicago 50 years ago. He became Mainbocher (pronounced Man-bo-shay) during 10 years as a highly successful Paris dressmaker.

Now back in America, he is to be Main Bocher again. But to the admiring throng of "big name" women who packed his newlyopened New York salon to view his "First American Collection." he will always be Mainbocher, and very French.

After all didn't he design the of Windsor's wedding gown?

At the New York showing, every gilt chair was occupied and several women sat on the floor.
