King George Hears From Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and King Leopold of Belgium

LONDON, May 13.—King George has received messages from Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and King Leopold of Belgium expressing their appreciation for the message of sympathy and encouragement which His Majesty had sent to them. Queen Wilhelmina was happy to have the British and French people with their fleets and planes fighting side by side with the Dutch. She was satisfied of an ultimate Allied victory.

King Leopold appreciated the valuable proof of the fidelity of the British people to their pledged word. He too was confident for the future. Similar messages were sent by Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold to President Albert Lebrun of France.

LOWLANDS INVADERS ARE HELD

Nazis Run Into Bitter Resistance as British, French, Dutch and Belgians Line Up Against Them

Siege Of Liege

Conflict Appears to be Forming Similarly to That of 1914

LONDON, May 13: (CP)—Authoritative British sources said that the main German attack on the lowlands was developing as expected with an attempt to drive a wedge between the Belgian and Dutch armies. There were many indications, not necessarily military, these sources said, that the Nazis "will stake almost everything on the attempt to win this war quickly."

LONDON, May 13.—With Brussels and Antwerp their evident immediate objectives, the Nazi invaders of Belgium are, with redoubled violence, laying siege to Liege and Namur which in the First Great War were similarly the scene of bloody engagements. In 1914 it took the Germans six days and cost them forty thousand men before they were finally able to take the citadel of Liege which is about fifty miles from Brussels.

German mechanized columns and tanks were effectively held up and the enemy lost many tanks, the Allies claim. In spite of Allied claims of a successful defence, the Germans declared that they had entered Liege and have crossed the Meuse River. Successful attacks by land and air against the Nazi invasion of Belgium and Holland were claimed on behalf of the Allies, the advance with motorized units, supported by aircraft, continuing as planned.

At Amsterdam the Netherlands command announced that forces were making strategic retreats under pressure but still held the water defence line. However, at Paris it was announced that the German advance through southern Holland and Belgium appeared to be checked.

Although Brussels was attacked no less than six times yesterday from the air, many civilians and soldiers being killed and wounded, the Belgian government is not seriously considering leaving there although arrangements were not being neglected for evacuation should that become necessary.

There have been particularly violent engagements in the Ardennes Mountains in Belgium. In Berlin it was predicted today that Belgium, as it did in the Great War, would again evacuate Brussels, Antwerp and Ghent.

British and French reinforcements continue moving up today to support the Belgians and the Dutch in their resistance to the German invasion of the lowlands. The Nazis continue to drop parachute troops and there is continued bombing of cities and towns. Many parachutists continue to be killed, being effectively dealt with as they land.

Generally, the Allies appear to be checking the German advance and the situation is officially reported to be satisfactory.

Limited German advances were made over the week-end into Holland and Belgium. These advances were definitely slowed up in Holland. They were halted in Belgium twenty miles from the frontier and twelve miles west of Liege.

A British communique said that successful advances had been made into Belgium by the British and French as planned.

THE INVADER CHECKED

The invader is being checked hard in efforts to overrun neutral and inoffensive countries. Ruthlessness has not entirely succeeded. Men trying to get behind the lines by parachutes are being shot down like dogs and others of the invaders allowed to burn to death, victims of their own incendiary bombs. The only way to meet a ruthless destroyer of homes, it appears, is to be ruthless.

THE FIGHTING SPIRIT

In order to keep up the fighting spirit it is to be hoped that the British will attack instead of waiting to be attacked. Possibly this is the time when real action will be taken and the fighting be carried into the enemy's territory. At any rate the long awaited action for which the British soldiers had waited seems to have arrived.

IRISH GO TO FINAL

Defeated Dry Dock By Fluke In Stuart Shield Football Game

The semi-final for the Stuart Football Shield played yesterday ended in a 3-2 win for the Irish Fusiliers over Dry Dock. The Irish will meet Velvet Wednesday evening in the final.

It was a spirited game with both teams fighting tooth and nail the entire game and giving referee Sonny Dickens many trying moments. The score opened with Jack Campbell scoring Dry Dock's first goal after about three minutes of play. The game was soon back on equal basis when Martin of the Fusiliers drove one into the net. The game continued tied at one all until ten minutes of the first half remained. At this point young Jack Campbell again sneaked one past the Fusiliers' goalie with a spectacular over the head shot, giving Dry Dock a 2 to 1 lead which they held the remainder of the first half.

After the rest period the game resumed with the Irish moving at a faster clip to soon tie the score up when Potter converted a penalty kick, allowed after Kelsey of the Dry Dock handled the ball in the penalty area. The third and winning goal for the Irish came as a fluke when Ted Smith, Dry Dock's goalie, in attempting to clear, kicked the ball onto the head of a Fusilier forward and it rebounded back into the goal before Smith had a chance to recover.

The game was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd with many old-timers present and also some new faces.

Beta Wins Over Alpha In Soccer

As a result of strong defence the Beta soccer team defeated Alpha two to nothing on Saturday afternoon in the High School League. The play was vigorous from the start with both teams concentrating on defence. The Alpha backs did well to stop the Beta forwards in the first half. In the second half Alpha forwards couldn't get past the Beta defence but later in the second half Gurvich out Beta in the lead with two good shots. Wilson was the pick of the Beta defence and Holtby for Alpha. Johnson played well at right half for Alpha. Beta—Olsen, Sharp, Wilson, Finley, Silversides, Franks, Gurvich, D. McLachlan, McLeod, Postuk, Wong, R. McLachlan. Alpha—Calderwood, Holtby, Grimmsom, Breen, Moore, Johnson, Hankinson, Ciccone, Severeth, King, Landry, Sakamoto. Referee was James Clark and linesmen were Pavlikis and Bartlett.

LOWLANDS INVADERS ARE HELD

Liege Holds Out
Liege, scene of a bitter siege in the opening days of the First Great War, was reported Sunday to be holding out vigorously. Its defences have been most effective in the face of the assault of armored troops supported by aircraft. The ground in that area is strewn with German dead. Allied forces are in control of the most of Rotterdam. The British co-operating with the Dutch in clearing out the Nazis, the Allied forces recapturing the marine barracks. In the Albert Canal sector British and French forces energetically and effectively co-operated in repelling the invaders. The enemy were held up north and east of the Canal through the destruction of bridges and roads. British and French air forces are active in the destruction of bridges and railways as well as in raiding of German troop columns between Holland and the Rhine. Brussels was bombed twice Saturday while the Belgian army's strong line of defence continued to hold up the German invaders and British and French troops, supported by tanks and artillery, moved up to bolster the Belgian positions. Lieut. General Henri Dennis, Belgian minister of defence, declared that the Nazi thrust had been bogged down on land in a maze of traps, obstructions, mined roads and bridges long prepared to halt just such a blitzkrieg. The German invaders were halted in all border areas and behind the lines, Belgian defenders mopped up German parachute troops. Dutch shock troops were reported officially to have recaptured airdromes at The Hague and Rotterdam. Foreign Minister Eelco van Kleffens, in London to confer with British officials, said that no airdromes in the Netherlands remained in the hands of Germans. He also declared that German forces on the left bank of the Nieuwemass River at Rotterdam had been repulsed at the cost of one thousand Dutch lives. Germans continue to be landed by parachute and seaplane. German planes smashed Saturday at the centre of Amsterdam, killing an estimated thirty persons, while stout defence troops in the eastern frontier lines gave engineers time to complete inundation of the main flood water defences, cutting Holland in half. The Dutch army, after having held its own in the first surprise attack, fought vigorously to wipe out "islands" of German parachute troops who were trying to gain control of strategic points behind the defences. The Dutch High Command announced that French and British troops had made junction with Dutch forces. Planes were reported to be flying "all over" the lowlands. The British Air Ministry announced that the Royal Air Force had destroyed at least fifty enemy aircraft on a single day and had put many more out of action. It is estimated that 400 German planes have been brought down since the war in the lowlands commenced.
