Berlin Caught By Surprise British Raid—"Sustained And Successful" Reported

LONDON, November 2: (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers last night carried out "sustained and successful" attack on railway communications in Berlin, the Air Ministry reported. At the same time other bombers struck the Krupp armament works in Essen, synthetic oil plants in Magdeburg and an industrial factory near Gelsenkirchen. A surprise attack by the Royal Air Force on Berlin shortly after midnight caught thousands of Berliners in cafes and on the streets at night and set the German capital defence guns thundering. A communiqué from Berlin today said at least twenty-six persons, including nineteen Nazi soldiers, were killed in Amsterdam while "Berlins" Berlin civilians were killed and injured but the extent of damage was not disclosed. The raid was early and at some points surprise was so complete that numbers of Berliners were turned away from packed public refuges. There was a raiding on the German capital at 3 a.m.

Question Of Language . . .

Approximately one-third of the population of Canada is of French origin and a considerable proportion of these people are proud of their origin, their language and religion. They are to be admired for this.

The difficulty that arises is that some of the young men have been ill-advised and have refused to learn English. Now these young men have volunteered for service in the air force and they cannot take part in any offensive until they have learned to speak English. They are getting this instruction just now but it takes time to learn a language.

With the United States people all speaking English and with the rest of Canada doing the same, the Quebec people might as well make up their minds that sooner or later English will be the accepted language of the country. It is very desirable that they continue to speak French, if they wish, as long as they also have a working vocabulary of English so that they may not be handicapped in after life.

We suggest this not because we speak English and they speak French but because the general trend of the times is toward an extension of the English language throughout the world. Not to speak English is today a great handicap. In all parts of Canada and the United States except Quebec there seems to be a general desire to speak the language of the continent. It is heard on the streets and on the air and official documents are printed in the language.

Canadian statesmen, realizing the natural aspirations of the French Canadian people, have made French, equally with English, the official language of the country. We are not suggesting that this was unwise but we are suggesting that it is unwise to persuade the French-Canadian young people not to speak and write English as doing so restricts their activities on a continent that is almost wholly English in language. It often proves to be a life-long handicap.

Watch Our Advertisers . . .

We are rather proud of the merchants and others who advertise in the Daily News. We are proud to have them because we know they will get good results if they treat the public right and we know that most of them do.

It is the advertisers who enable us to publish this paper. Without them we could not operate. Elbert Hubbard once said that any deal from which both parties did not benefit was immoral. We benefit from the advertising and so does the merchant or manufacturer.

It will be noticed that this paper carries a number of exclusive lines of advertising. That is because we have the circulation and it is circulation that counts both in the city and in the surrounding country. Our press run yesterday was 2210 of which about nine hundred went out of town.

We are always glad to increase our circulation because that helps our advertisers. We help them and then they continue to help us. They do not worry about our policy but they want people to read their advertisements. That is what happens in this newspaper.

FINE JOB BY WOMEN

Canadian Soldiers' Club Workers Give Reactions to Sleeping in Air Raid Shelter

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, Nov. 2: (CP)—Women workers at the Beaver Club, the Second Great War's London "bug-out" for Canadian troops on leave, have been driven to the club shelter which they have converted into a temporary home. It isn't because they fear air raids or shrapnel showers but because they want to carry on as usual.

The devotion of the women workers drew warm praise from the club manager, Capt. H. J. Sweetman, a Y.M.C.A. officer during the First Great War who came from Kapuskasing, Ont., to take charge of the club here.

"The ladies are giving cheerful service under extreme difficulties and often in the face of danger," he said. "They have not counted the hardships. They are keeping up the services since the London air raids started and all meals have been served on time. Hot meals have been served continuously. They are doing a grand job."

When the Battle of London heralded a series of increasing air raids that delayed them on their way to work some of the women, including a number of Canadians, solved the problem of being on the job on time by remaining in the shelter overnight. So pleased were they that they decided to stay longer. Rows of cots were set up in the vaulted underground shelter at the club and it was equipped with cooking and other facilities.

Finds Work Relief
Some of the Canadians spent almost a week at the club without going home. One of them, Mrs. Lalla Collier, formerly of Vancouver, was out of the club only once during the week "and I don't even know if my flat is still there." She stayed at the club after spending three nights in a public shelter, during the last of which she had to stand all the time.

"It was a marvellous rest after those nights in the public shelter, with people crying and babies whimpering" was the way Mrs. Collier described her first night's rest in the Beaver Club shelter.

The sound of dropping bombs and the terrific roar of hundreds of anti-aircraft guns doesn't disturb her sleep now. "I sleep through the gunfire without any trouble," said Mrs. Collier who is a voluntary worker at the club.

"I think it's a grand idea this sleeping in the shelter," said Mrs. Norman Mackintosh of Toronto. "We hear the ping-ping of the guns and the women all chuckle when they are fired. Isn't it wonderful?"

Mrs. Mackintosh is in charge of the Snack Bar and among her co-workers are Mrs. Gerald Portman and Miss Georgina Murphy. Mrs. Edward Pope of Ottawa and Mrs. Hugh Kindersley of Toronto. They did double duty when the Snack Bar turned from serving sandwiches to complete meals after the main dining room was closed to avoid the possible danger of glass falling from the skylighted roof over it.

Mrs. Marguerite Benson of Belleville, Ont., thinks the shelter home is rather a good idea.

"At least, we're here early for breakfast," she said. "Except for the gunfire I sleep very well." Her husband is in the R.C.A.F. in England.

WEEK-END FILM BILL

"The Saint Takes Over" And "Pop Always Pays" Comprise Double Feature Program

"The Saint Takes Over," story of a resourceful super-crook's campaign to save the reputation of a police inspector in his time of need, and "Pop Always Pays," an hilarious comedy, comprise the double bill for this afternoon and evening at the Capitol Theatre here.

George Sanders, Wendy Barrie and Jonathan Hale head the cast of "The Saint Takes Over." George Sanders again plays the title role of the noted fiction figure of "The Saint." Jonathan Hale plays the part of the police inspector while Miss Barrie has the feminine lead as a vengeful girl out to get retribution for the death of her brother at the hands of a ring. The supporting cast includes Paul Guilfoyle, Morgan Conway, Robert Keane, Cyrus W. Kendall, James Burke and Pierre Watkin.

In "Pop Always Pays," Jeff Thompson (Dennis O'Keefe) is always having his car repossessed by the finance company. Finally, with the help of his girl, Adele Pearce, he gets the car paid off and the couple wish to get married but the girl's father, Leon Errol, refuses consent until the young man shows he is able to save $1000. Complications begin to pile up, leading to a happy and interesting culmination after many vicissitudes.

'XMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN

Plans Under Way For Sale Here as Well as Elsewhere

Plans for the annual Christmas Seal campaign, the proceeds of which are used to combat tuberculosis in the province, are now under way in this as well as other communities. Keen appreciation of the work of the society in fighting the White Plague in the province is expressed by Dr. N. M. Carter, patron of the Christmas Seal Campaign, who urges citizens to continue to support this very necessary crusade.

"With the war at a critical stage, the need for close control of tuberculosis cannot be over-emphasized," says a statement. "The Dominion government recognizes the danger of tuberculosis to the defence forces and takes adequate measures to meet it.

"The people in general must recognize the equal danger to themselves and help provincial and voluntary health agencies prevent the disease. Public funds are not readily available for clinic, survey and educational preventive work that means so much in checking tuberculosis.

"Such funds can be raised through the sale of Christmas Seals, which offer an attractive and effective way of providing protection for the public. Nearly 32,000 clinical examinations were made in B.C. last year. At least that many, and preferably more, must be made this year and next to help keep Canada strong."

THEY USED TO LIVE THERE

Two London boys look at the debris piled up in front of their ruined home after a German air raid. There are gaping holes in the wall, large sections of the roof are blown away. Children like adults are taking an optimistic attitude toward the orgy of destruction and often prefer to watch the planes with their fateful loads, rather than seek the safety of bomb shelters.

Herring Run is Now Being Awaited—Local Cannery Was Last to Close

With no other fishing activity in sight in the meantime, watch is now being kept out for herring to put in an appearance hereabouts. It is still, however, a little early as the run did not commence last year until mid-November. As soon as the fish become available in seining quantities, reduction plants at Tucks Inlet, Port Edward and elsewhere along the north coast will start operations. The usual bait requirements are also to be put up.

After a long season of production which included a substantial pack of fall varieties, Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. cannery on the Ocean Dock here was the last salmon packing plant in this district to close down. It will resume operations later on herring canning, preparations for same being under way.

On a regular voyage from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands Union steamer Venture, Capt. George Coles, arrived in port at 12:30 noon today and will sail at 8 o'clock tonight on her return south over the same route.

The Canadian Fishing Co. is planning to commence operations on herring at its Butedale reduction and canning plant next week, according to word received in the city. The plant will provide employment for native labor from Kitimaat in addition to the regular staff.

Indian Department's cruiser Naskeena is on a ten-day trip down the coast to such points as Kitkatla, Kitimaat, Hartley Bay, Kiemtu, Bella Bella and Bella Coola with James Coleman of Vancouver, inspector of Indian agencies, who is making a tour of the district on official duties. The Naskeena left on Wednesday of this week and is expected back about the end of next week. Indian Agent James Gillett, who went as far as Butedale with the Naskeena, returned to the city on the Cardena last evening.

A German language broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation said that a German expedition of fifty men had been captured in an unsuccessful attempt to seize the observation station in Greenland. A Norwegian patrol boat made them prisoners, the broadcast said.

School In Which She Taught Has Been Destroyed

Mrs. G. H. Arnold is in receipt of a paper from Northamptonshire, England, describing the bombing and showing pictures of a school in which she taught before leaving the Old Country. In the destruction of the school four adults and six children were killed. School classes were in session as the bombing took place. A factory across the street was hit by the enemy bombs at the same time.

WHAT TO DO WIT IT?
