King Confident Of Final Victory

Churchill Realistically Says There Is Long Row to Hoe But He Is Certain Of Success

FOR HELP OF FLIERS

Railway Trains Will Sound Their Whistles in Hope of Guiding Parachutists Out

EDMUNDSTON, New Brunswick, Nov. 21.—Drivers of locomotives on Canadian National trains operating between this railway terminal and Monk, Quebec, have been instructed to sound their locomotive whistles when passing East Lake, which is situated about thirty miles east of Monk in the search for four Royal Canadian Air Force airmen who parachuted from an Atlantic Coast bomber on Saturday last.

War Situation Discussed as New Session of Parliament is Formally Opened Today in London

LONDON, November 21: (CP)—The King opened a new session of Parliament today, driving with the Queen through bomb-scarred London streets between air raid alarms to deliver a message of confidence to the people. The Speech from the Throne recorded the King's confidence that victory was "assured not only by prowess of the armed forces of my Empire—but also by the devotion of the civil defence forces and the tenacity and industry of my peoples."

BULGARIA, RUMANIA

London Realistically Expects They Will Succumb To Axis Demands LONDON, Nov. 21.—London observers, looking realistically at the Balkan situation, anticipate that the next Axis move will be directed against Bulgaria and Rumania in order to force their cooperation in a Nazis southeastern European drive.

"My people stand united to fight the aggressors until freedom is secure," declared His Majesty. Germany, he said, had placed a yoke upon many free nations and, since the collapse of France, Italy had seen her opportunity. "I welcome the struggle against tyranny," declared the King.

Premier Churchill Prime Minister Winston Churchill admitted that Great Britain was still behind Germany in the matter of munitions. "We have a long row to hoe," declared the Prime Minister with his customary realism "but I am confident we will give a good account of ourselves. With Germany fully armed and ourselves only one-quarter or one-half armed I think so far we have not done too badly."

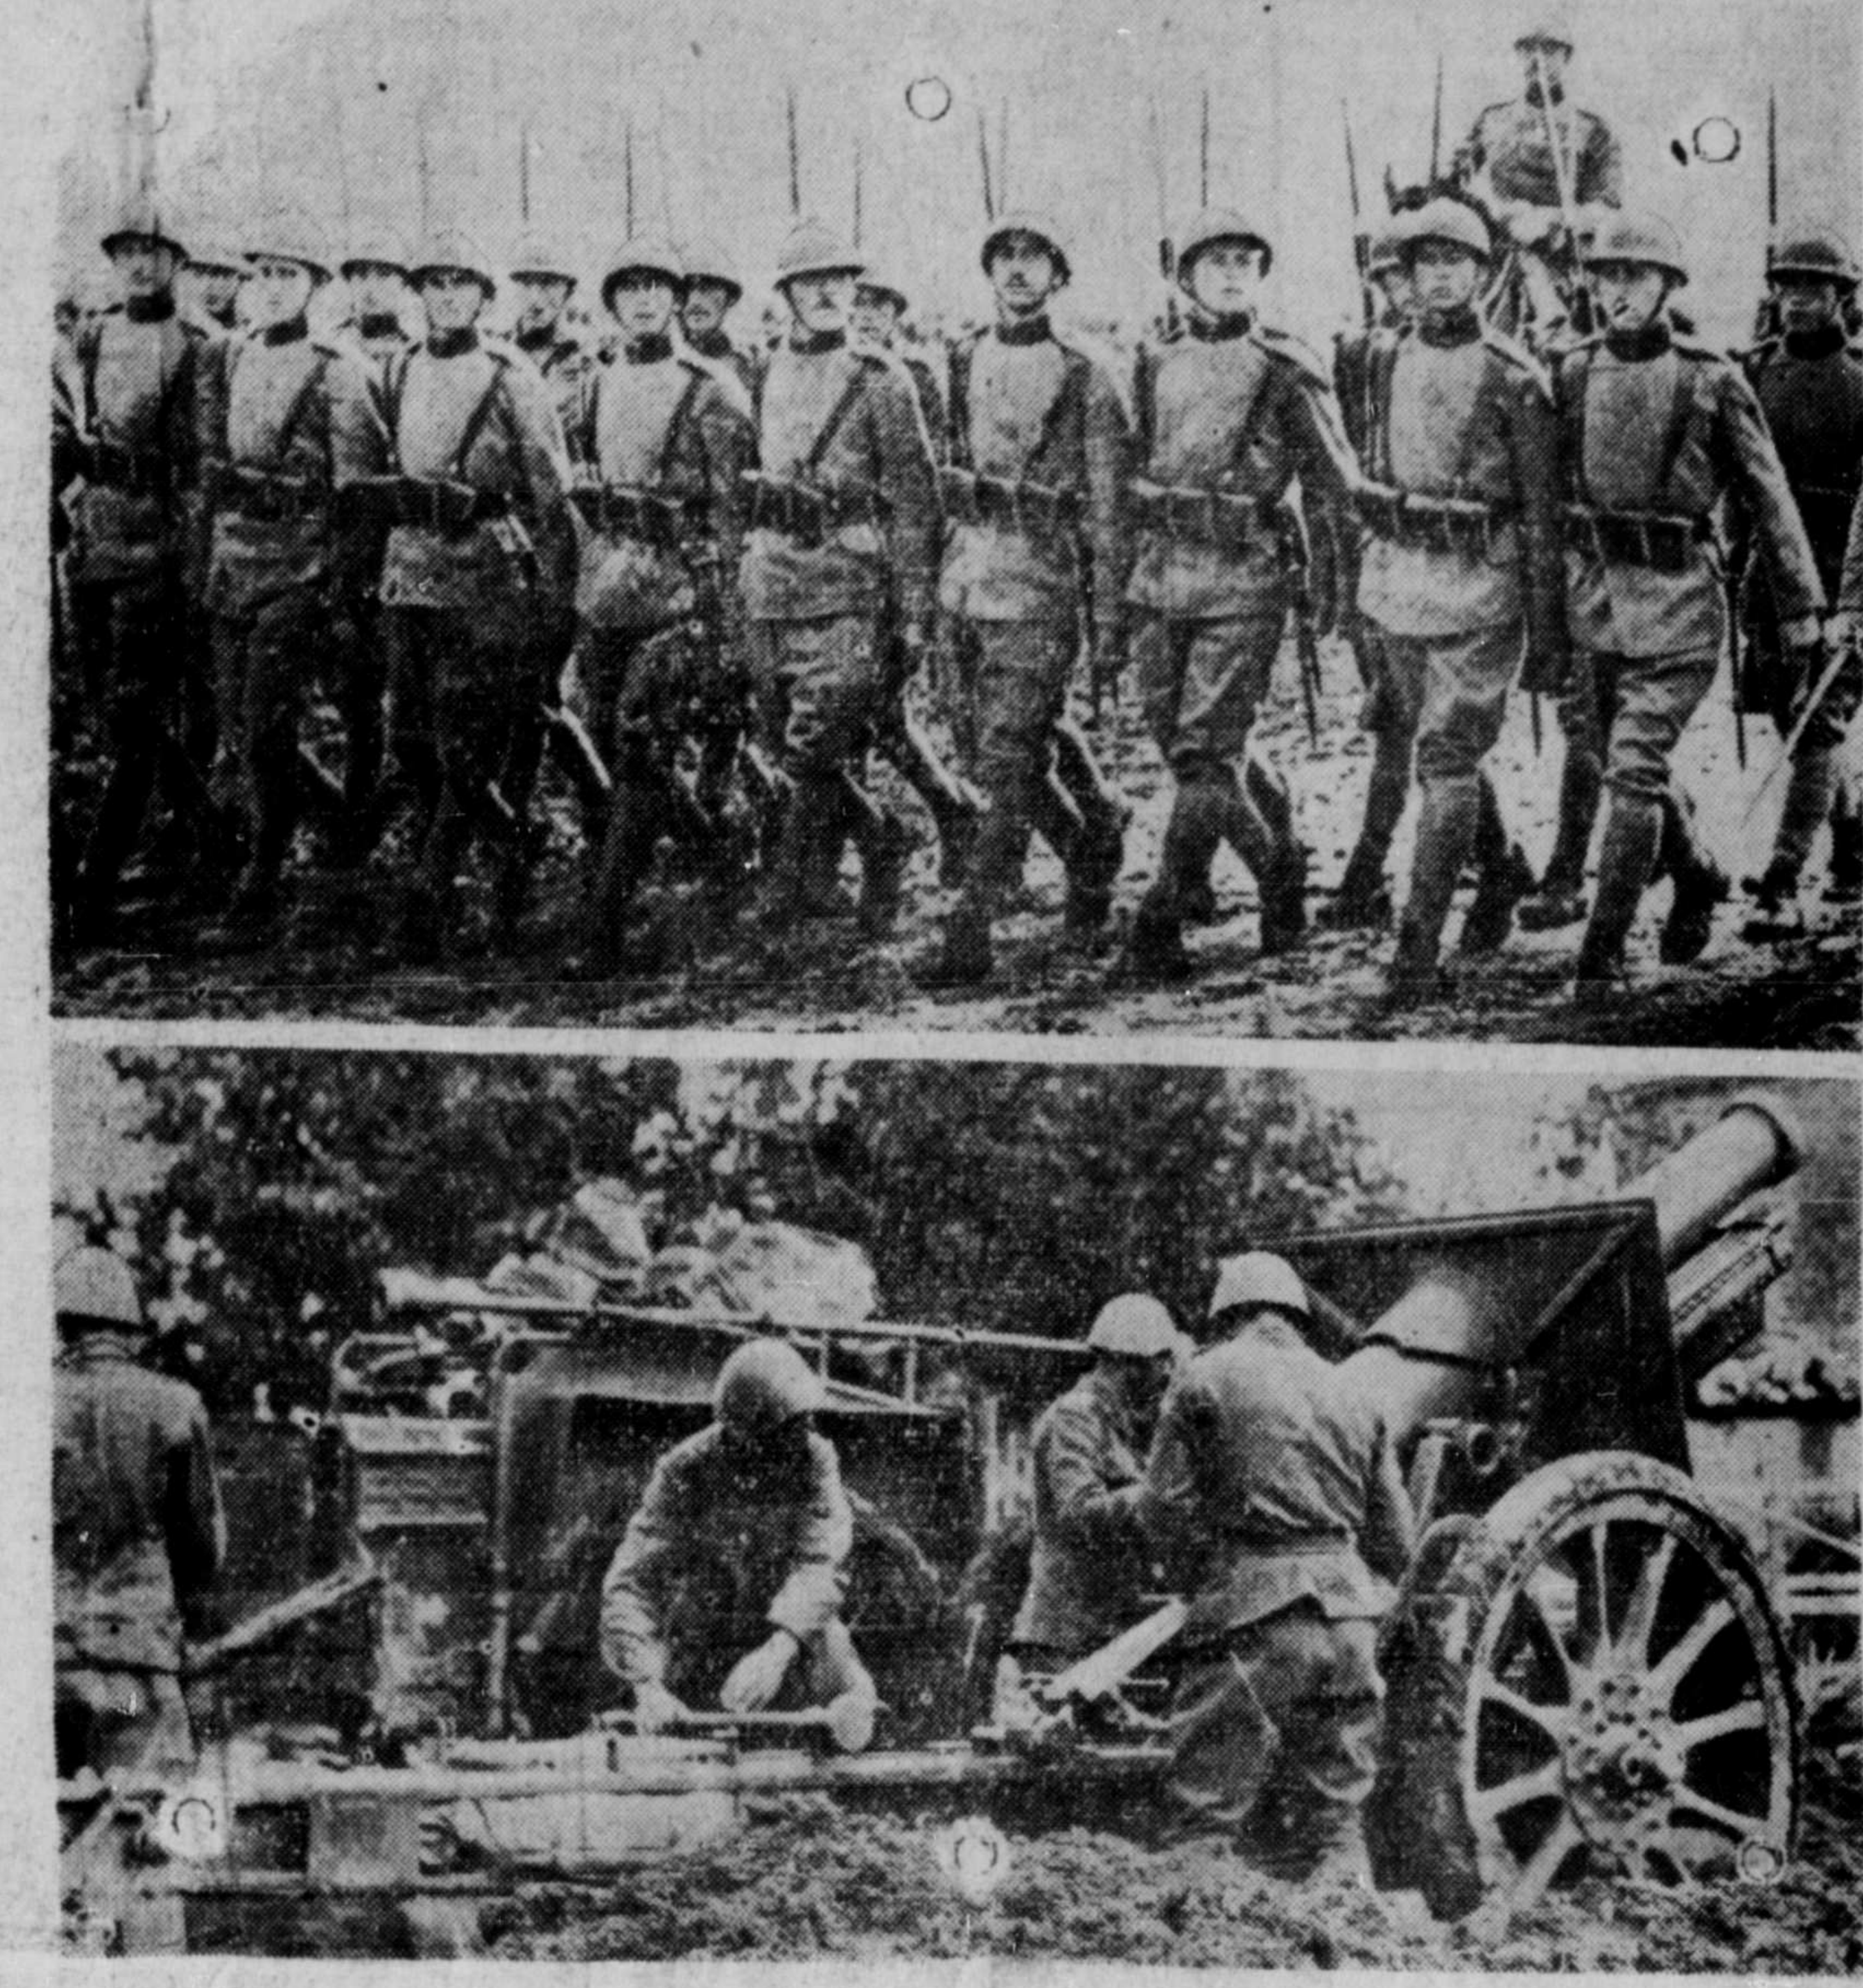

Reiterating British determination to assist the Greeks, Mr. Churchill said that, in helping the Greeks, it was necessary to remember the need of defending Egypt and the Suez Canal. "I can only say we will do our best," the Prime Minister said.

PASSING OF LIEF HUSOY

Well Known Local Halibut Fisherman Dies Suddenly at New Westminster

Word has been received in the city and will be learned of with regret by numerous friends of the death in New Westminster of Lief Husoy, well known local halibut fisherman. He had been in rather indifferent health for some time and, after arriving at New Westminster with a load of salmon, collapsed on the dock, passing away later in hospital. Deceased and his brother, Arne Husoy, operated the boat Fredella III which they purchased last year from Capt. Ole Skog.

SMALL GREEK ARMY SUCCESSFULLY DEFYING IL DUCE'S MIGHT

Made during recent Greek army manoeuvres, these pictures give an idea of the types of modern soldiers making up the small army of Greece which is battling the numerically superior Italian invaders. Experts in mountain fighting, the Greek soldiers are reported to be successfully holding up the advance of the Italian forces from Albania. Reports that Germany was preparing to send a force through Bulgaria against Greece led to grave doubts as how long the Greeks could hold out against the combined forces of Italy and Germany.

A.A. MORE EFFECTIVE

Germans Strike Again At Midlands But Not With Such Damaging Results

LONDON, Nov. 21: (CP)—Nazi aerial raiders attempted another mass attack last night upon an east Midlands town similar to those which Birmingham and Coventry had been subjected to but ran into such a terrific hail of anti-aircraft fire from ground guns of new effectiveness, that, after two hours, they turned back. The enemy machines started off with the customary intensive wave of dropping incendiaries but the steady defence blasts evidently discouraged the bombers from following up. As a result, the fires set by the incendiaries were soon put out and no serious bombing materialized. Silence shrouded the fate of other Midlands towns similarly attacked.

There was also a spasmodic attack on London during the night but the damage and casualties were comparatively light owing to effectiveness of anti-aircraft fire. No more than twenty were known to be dead up to last night as a result of Tuesday night's attack by the Nazis on Birmingham, this despite the fact that entire blocks of houses were demolished and entire large stores. The Germans claimed that eight thousand smaller workshops were attacked. Last night's smashing attack on England came on the heels of a warning from Germany that there would be reprisals for a raid on Potsdam, cultural centre of Germany.

ITALIANS CORNERED

Further Successes Claimed By Greeks Around Koritza

ATHENS, Nov. 21.—New successes in the war against Italy are claimed by the Greeks, particularly in the Koritza area where the Greeks have gained commanding positions on hills overlooking the important Italian base of operations in Albania upon which they were commencing to descend. Further Greek advances threaten to cut the retreating Italian forces in two.

Kenney Seeks Highway Work VICTORIA, Nov. 21: (CP)—E. T. Kenney, M.L.A. for Skeena, in the Legislature last night urged that attention be given to the northern trans-provincial highway, mentioning the twenty-mile gap between Terrace and Hazelton and the 77-mile gap between Terrace and Prince Rupert which has no road outlet.

Bulletins

BULGARIA MAKES DEMAND SOFIA—It is reported here that Bulgaria has demanded of Greece a corridor through Macedonian territory to the Aegean Sea.

BIG GUNS IN ACTION DOVER—British and German big guns hammered again across the Straits of Dover today. The duel lasted for an hour. There was no damage nor were there any casualties on this side, at least.

NAZIS ARE BUSY WASHINGTON—The Dies committee on American activities issued a 413-page white paper today disclosing widespread Nazi propaganda in United States and Latin American and that organization was under way to give Germany control of United States industry after the war. There was also widespread espionage and fifth column activity. The report urges that United States not wait until it was too late, as France had done, in striking against such activities.

SIX THOUSAND CHILDREN OTTAWA—Since the war began some 6000 British children have been brought to Canada to live, it is disclosed by Minister of Natural Resources Creer. Some 1300 were under the British government aid plan and the others under private arrangement.

AUSTRALIANS FIGHTING CAIRO—Australian airmen had their baptism of fire in western Egypt yesterday. While on patrol they encountered a body of Italian planes, much larger, and succeeded in bringing five down with loss of two of their own machines although one pilot is safe.

FISHERY COMMITTEES OTTAWA—Special committees are being set up to study problems of the fishing industry in connection with the war. Major J. A. Motherwell is chairman for the west.

DELIVERING PLANES WASHINGTON—First of the "flying fortresses," which, with Sperry bomb sights, United States has agreed to deliver to Canada was delivered Saturday. Another twenty will be delivered between now and March 1.

AUSTRALIANS ARRIVE AT A WESTERN CANADIAN PORT—The largest contingent so far of Australian and New Zealand airmen for the Empire training scheme reached here yesterday for training as pilots, mechanics and observers. They were welcomed by Air Commodore Earl Godfrey.

NO NEW CARS OTTAWA—Hon. C. D. Howe announced yesterday that the manufacture of new model cars, radios, washing machines and other appliances in Canada is banned. Canadians will have to content themselves with existing models to prevent the economic wastage which new fads and fashions produce. This is so Canadian industry may give its full possible capacity to war production. The peak of Canada's production is expected to be reached in eight months. Mr. Howe said that effective steps had been taken to limit profits and he confidently believed that no new millionaires would be made in this war.

MORE MERCHANT VESSELS OTTAWA—Negotiations are under way for the building of eighteen merchant vessels to British account in St. Lawrence and Pacific Coast shipyards, it is announced.

Help Appreciated . . .

The quick response of the United States government to the appeal for help made by the Greek government will be appreciated by Canadians just as much as by Greeks. Evidently, the United States authorities thought it better to send the planes to Great Britain than direct to Greece. They would not be so likely to fall into the hands of the enemy.

It is possible that it may have been the intention to release those planes any way but the time for doing so was particularly appropriate.

Sympathy With Birmingham . . .

Doubtless we all sympathize with the people of Birmingham in being the victims of German frightfulness. Some lost their lives, others lost property and others again lost relatives or friends. To all these we feel ourselves under a debt of gratitude in that they are bearing the brunt of the attack which, if they did not stand firm, night have been directed at us.

PR. RUPERT WAR SAVING

Stamps And Certificates To Value Of $30,718 Disposed Of Since June

Since the war savings campaign began in June $30,718 worth of stamps and certificates have been sold through the banks and post office here. This does not include subscriptions made through local concerns under the employer-employee co-operation scheme for which figures are not yet available.

A comparison with other cities in the province shows that within an approximate period Kelowna, with a population of 5,250, has subscribed $35,000, Nelson, population 8,500, $47,000 and Vernon, population 5,000, $37,000.

The committee feels that the citizens of Prince Rupert have responded very well to the War Savings campaign, even though the per capita saving is not as large as among cities of similar size in the province.

The response made by the children of the local schools has been very gratifying. In the three principal schools, $1,709.50 has been contributed to date in stamps and certificates out of the small savings of school children—540 of whom are now saving regularly under the scheme with the number continually increasing.

PATTULLO SPEAKS TO MEMBERS

Was in Good Form When Addressing Legislature—Spanked Leader of Opposition Maitland

Prince Rupert's member, Premier T. D. Pattullo, had an afternoon to himself in the Legislature recently, according to the newspapers in the south. One newspaper says that he spoke for eighty minutes and was seldom interrupted and even the hard boiled opposition listened attentively, actually clinging to every word. Not a soul left the chamber or dozed quietly. All were amazed at the vitality of the Liberal leader whose delivery was better and voice clearer and stronger than ever before.

James K. Nesbitt, for the Victoria Times, told of the event. According to him Mr. Pattullo criticized the newspapers, especially the Vancouver Province, for its attitude on public questions. Then he said:

"The papers were not alone in the Pattullo spanking. Mr. Maitland was spanked, too, and quite soundly. Mr. Maitland, the Premier said, was always talking 'somewhere or other' about the necessity of confidence in government. And yet, the Tolmie government, in which Mr. Maitland was a minister, never missed a day to create lack of confidence in government. It was all very ridiculous, especially since Mr. Maitland wanted those days forgotten. Mr. Maitland seemed to believe, said the Premier, almost sneeringly, that a new administration created by Mr. Maitland, would restore confidence in government. Preposterous idea!

"Let's get off the roads, as we're not going to have a highway commission anyway" said the Premier, and his brows moved upwards in fury, as he stared across the floor, particularly at Mr. Maitland and Mr. Bruhn, once a minister of public works. And then his eyes twinkled as he said Rolph Bruhn and Tom Uphill were always elected because they were so popular, and had nothing to do with patronage.

"Up in the gallery sat the Premier's only daughter, Doris, Mrs. Clifford Colison, and one of his three small grand-daughters, who didn't seem a bit bored by her grandfather's long speech. Up there, too, was Capt. Bowen-Colthurst, the Irish Social Creditor gentleman farmer from Sooke, who tried to beat Mr. Pattullo in Prince Rupert in the last election. He was trying to understand how the good people of Rupert every four years return Mr. Pattullo. He looked doubtful and a little discouraged as he left the gallery. It's safe to say the genial, lanky captain won't run in Prince Rupert next time.

"On the floor of the House sat Dean Spencer Elliott, in red and black robes. He had read the opening prayers. Conservative Herbert Anson made copious notes. He will hit back at the Premier next week. C.C.F. member Mrs. Jamieson peeled and ate a rosy apple.

"No one was bored when Mr. Pattullo repeated his old story—how he had not taken any leaf out of President Roosevelt's book, but that the President had copied him, for was he not in power before Mr. Roosevelt? He was so sure of himself in this regard he flatly said F.R.D. had obviously been following very closely the policies formulated by the Liberal Party of British Columbia.

Opposition Applause
"Good Liberals (and every Liberal member is a very good Liberal indeed) applauded their chief every now and then and gazed at him admiringly. They even pounded their desks. Tories applauded when the Premier said, if he had his way, he would send Canadian manpower anywhere in the world to battle Hitler. C.C.F. members showed no sign of any feeling at this broad remark. But Socialist Dolly Steeves thumped her desk when the Premier said the re-election of President Roosevelt was 'an indication of the trend of social and economic measures in the United States,' which were bound to be reflected in Canada.

"The Premier, looking at Conservatives Capt. J. D. Hunter and Flying Officer E. V. Finland, said he was always jealous of men in uniform, but admitted everyone could not serve their country so spectacularly.

"To Mrs. Paul Smith, Liberal lady from Vancouver-Burrard, fell the honor of first congratulating the Premier on his speech. She shook

GENERAL AT VETS' MEET

Distinguished Military Visitor At Canadian Legion Session Last Night

The Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, in regular session last evening, was visited by Major-General H. O. Alexander, general officer commanding, Pacific Command, Canadian Active Service Force, who was introduced to the members by Lt.-Col. S. D. Johnston, M. C., V. D.

General Alexander stressed the two ways in which the members of the Legion could assist the troops now serving. One was in a material way and the other in a psychological way. One of the hardest trials, particularly of the young soldier, was the boredom resulting from inaction. The "old soldier," in the person of the veteran, could tell him from his own experience that the carrying out of monotonous daily routine was as essential to the winning of the war as the most spectacular exploits of men in the thick of battle. General Alexander congratulated the members on their fine record in the way in which they had already helped the soldiers.

President D. G. Borland thanked General Alexander and assured him that the members would continue to do everything possible to assist the troops now and after the war. Reports of committees showed that the local branch was endeavouring in every way to assist needy comrades and also the troops now serving. In co-operation with their service auxiliaries, the Legion was supplying Christmas gifts for members of His Majesty's Forces who have gone from Prince Rupert. Two cases of men discharged from the Canadian Active Service Force were being taken under advisement through the Legion Service Bureau.

Vice-President H. A. Breen was in the chair for the first part of the meeting until President D. G. Borland, who was attending another meeting, arrived.

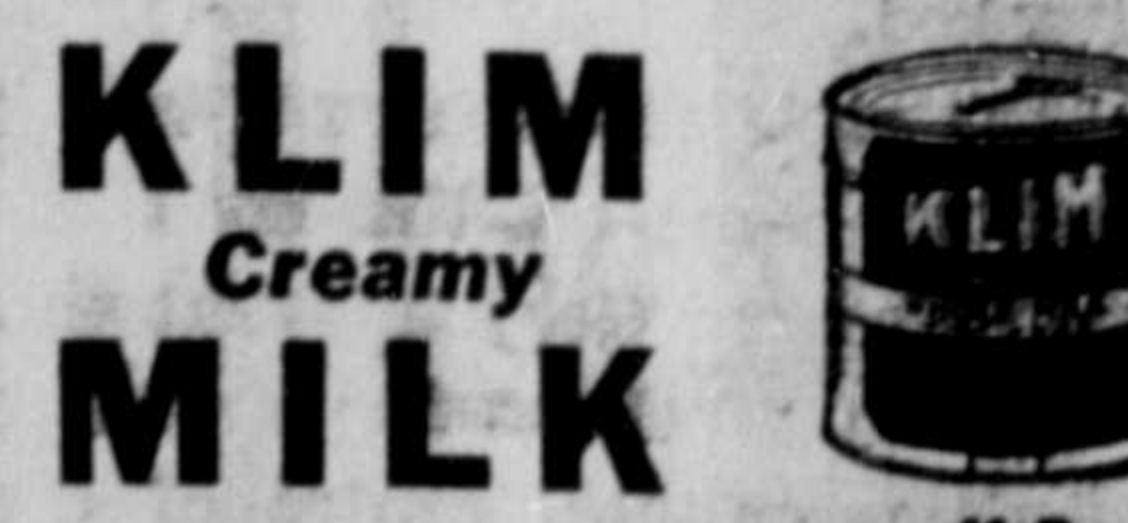

At the opening of the meeting a period of silence was observed in tribute to the memory of the late Major General Sir Percy Lake, Grand President of the Legion, who died a few days ago in Victoria.

Patrick McCready and James Sinclair, members of a contingent of young Dawson men who passed through Prince Rupert a couple of weeks ago to enlist for active service in the war, returned to Prince Rupert yesterday from Vancouver. Having enlisted in the 102nd Battery, they are to be stationed at Barrett Point and left for there yesterday afternoon. Other members of the Dawson contingent enlisted in various units in Vancouver.

hands with him and said he was wonderful, referring to the speech. "Mr. Pattullo left the Chamber feeling he had done a good job—and he had, in the opinion of seasoned Parliamentarians."

"When a hunting you will go," says ELSIE, the Borden Cow, "remember to take along a supply of KLIM. It's my rich milk, with all the cream left in, made into a fine soft powder by a process which takes out only the natural water. Simply add KLIM to cold water—whisk with a beater—and you have an instant supply of natural-tasting pasteurized creamy milk. There's no need for refrigeration with KLIM, no waste, no spoiling. It's the ideal milk supply for the outdoors. You can buy it at all good grocers and drug stores."

SILLY RAID ON LONDON

Cousin of Thomas Graham of This City Writes of Conditions in England as He Sees Them

Shopping As Usual

Cockney Women Amuse Crowd as Bombs Burst and Shrapnel Flies

A letter from a cousin who is with the First Division overseas has been forwarded to Thomas Graham of this city from Comox:

"Well, the war progresses and England still lives and London carries on business as usual. Perhaps there are no front windows in the stores, but they still go on and people still buy and argue over prices of what they happen to want. I took a trip to town to actually have the experience of being in the city when the raids were in full swing.

"While we have our own little troubles here and while we can see the raids on the city from where we are situated, about 20 miles away, one has to actually be there to experience the full significance of what goes on. And I did. I hit a beautiful day and night. They were over in swarms, dropping everything they had. It was something I wouldn't have missed for anything and it did me a lot of good.

"It's a very queer thing to say, but nevertheless an absolute fact, that one goes to London and gets thoroughly bombed to have his morale lifted. You march home with a grin on your face and the conviction in your heart that nothing Adolf can do, even his very worst, can ever ruffle the daily life of one city in this Empire. The cold-blooded indifference of these people to Jerry and his silly air raids has you wondering what kind of people they are. Foreigners gaze at them in utter amazement—people who have experienced moral disintegration caused by the piddling little raids on Madrid and Barcelona look at these English suffering worse raids than the human mind has ever conceived with utter boredom and are convinced that they can't lose the war.

Business as Usual

"There seems to be no slackening of activity during the day. The streets are just as crowded as ever. Women and girls crowd the streets on their ordinary shopping. Men go on about their business and pay absolutely no attention to Jerry overhead at all. I saw a huge crowd gathered on the street in Covent Garden when I was there and thought that a bomb must have dropped there but it wasn't; only two Cockney women staging a hair-pulling contest for the amusement of the population. There were twenty-odd bombers overhead at that time and no one could find time to even look at them. They tell of a Cockney standing beside his truck with a stick of bombs bursting all around him and roaring up at Jerry, 'Ere ye - - - idiot, mind me ruddy lorry.' That's the way they are though. Nothing gets them down.

"Myself, I was jumpy as a kitten for a while, what with bombs and A.A. fire, but one gets used to it. Just how I don't know because it's entirely impossible to describe the noise. You have to experience it to even have an idea of what it is like. It's just plain hell of noise and shrapnel. The stuff just falls like hail everywhere when the guns really get going."

BAZAAR IS SUCCESSFUL

Annual Affair of Lutheran Sewing Circle Bosh in Afternoon and Evening

In spite of unfavorable weather, the bazaar of the Lutheran Sewing Circle last Saturday was a very successful affair. There was a tea and sale of home cooking in the afternoon at which the guests were received by Mrs. Chris Jensen who was also the general convener. The evening was given over to an enjoyable social featured by an excellent musical program.

The following ladies were in charge in the afternoon:
Home Cooking—Mrs. M. Hveding and Mrs. H. Hagen.
Fancy Work—Mrs. C. Johnson, Mrs. J. Moen and Mrs. M. Holkestad.
Raffles—Mrs. Leon Sandver and Mrs. B. Pedersen.

Mrs. T. Sollien, Mrs. P. Petersen, Miss E. Knutsen, Miss A. Petersen and Miss R. Kildal were servers; Mrs. M. Jensen and Mrs. H. Simonson were in charge of the kitchen and Mrs. P. Anderson was cashier.

During the afternoon Mrs. J. H. Myrwang rendered an acceptable piano solo.
Rev. J. H. Myrwang presided in the evening and the program included piano solos by Peter Lien, Miss Ingrid Skog and Miss Edith Murvold; singing by Toftager brothers; violin solos by Dick Skog and Frankie James; vocal solos by Mrs. O. Wick; string band selections and choruses by Varden Singers.

Results of raffles, looked after by Mrs. J. Murvold, J. Moen and C. Johnson, were as follows:

- Pyrex set, donated by A. Antonson, won by Mrs. Arntsen, No. 680.
- Flower vase, donated by Dollar Store, won by N. Storvik, No. 255.

Edwin S. Johnson Named Military Correspondent After Varied News Experience

TORONTO, Nov. 21; (CP)—Appointment of Edwin S. Johnson, former London Superintendent, as Military Correspondent at Ottawa is announced by J. A. McNeil, general manager of The Canadian Press.

Mr. Johnson will arrive in Canada shortly to take up the newly created post. He will report and interpret Canada's military war efforts.

C.P. War Expert

EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Former London Superintendent and War Correspondent for The Canadian Press who returning to Canada shortly to take up a new post as military correspondent for the C.P. at Ottawa.

fort with a background of experience as War Correspondent with the Canadian Active Service Force in England.

First appointed war correspondent with the First Division last February, his sphere of activity was appreciably enlarged in July when the Division was absorbed in a Corps under command of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton. Later he served for a time as correspondent with the Second Division at training base. He will be succeeded alternately at corps headquarters by S. S. Robertson, London Superintendent, and Ross Munro, formerly of the C.P. Press Gallery staff at Ottawa.

Johnson brings to his new position more than 20 years' newspaper experience, most of it with The Canadian Press. Appointed London Superintendent in 1937, after working in Ottawa, Toronto and New York, he directed the bureau's output of news during the momentous pre-war years and in the early months of the conflict.

In the summer of 1939 he toured France, Italy, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Austria and Poland with W. Rupert Davies, president of The Canadian Press, acquiring background that was to be valuable in later months.

In France
Shortly after war broke out he visited British General Headquarters in France with a party of Dominion ministers, the first Canadian correspondent to reach headquarters.

Last June while serving as War Correspondent with the First Division he packed his bags to leave with the Division for France and was at a Channel port ready to embark when the Division received orders to remain in England.

Johnson stayed to report the stirring story of the Division's advance parties who reached France and barely managed to effect a retreat to the Channel when French resistance broke down and the Germans swept into the area.

A native of Manitoba, Johnson began his newspaper career with the Winnipeg Free Press in 1919 after serving in the First Great War with the Royal Flying Corps. He entered the Canadian Press service in Winnipeg in 1924 and has held some of its most important news staff positions, including those of parliamentary correspondent at Ottawa, night superintendent at Toronto and New York Superintendent.

Announcing...
Tomorrow's Hearing Aid
...Today

We have just received the new AUROPHONE Hearing Aid with a view to accepting the agency in connection with our optical department if there are enough people here who are interested.

A radio hearing device with three tiny vacuum tubes, and crystal microphone it is a remarkable improvement.

You hear from any position and hear in church at meetings, etc., with unmatched clarity.

We have this on approval for a short time and would like to meet people who are in need of hearing aid and get their opinions.

On account of having some experience in the radio business we would be able to service the instruments here without sending away.

The sixth bridge party of the season by the Eagles' Lodge was held at the lodge's hall last night.

with fourteen tables in play. Prize-winners for the evening were: ladies' first, Mrs. Norton; second, Mrs. Peter Solem; men's first, L. C. Hill; second, H. Wainman. The door prize was won by Mrs. Frank Ellison. After serving of delicious refreshments, dancing was enjoyed from midnight until 2 a.m. to the strains of Jean de Carlo's Orchestra, about forty couples taking to the floor. Robert McKay was master of ceremonies, Henry Smith presided at the door and F. Ellison, Angello Astori, S. Jensen and L. C. Hill superintended the serving of refreshments.

FRANCOIS LAKE HAS WEDDINGS

Marriage and Golden Anniversary Celebrated Jointly

FRANCOIS SLAKE, Nov. 21.—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walker was the scene of a wedding and a golden anniversary on Tuesday afternoon last. The wedding couple was William Gair of Forestdale and Prince Rupert and Miss Lillian Jessie Adelia Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker. Rev. Adam Crisp of Burns Lake officiated. The bride, who entered the room on the arm of her father and was attended by Miss Edith Gair of Forestdale, wore a gown of white satin with necklace of white pearls, a long veil crowned with orange blossoms and silver slippers. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations tied with white tulle streamers. She was preceded by her little sister Hazel who, as flower girl, was dressed in sky blue chiffon and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. The bridesmaid was gowned in pale blue taffeta, carrying an armful of varied chrysanthemums. The groom was attended by Jack Walker, brother of the bride. Many of the intimate friends and many relatives from far and wide were present, the commodious dining room being turned into a conservatory by the huge bunches of flowers which arrived by every car, some just off the train from Prince Rupert conspicuous by their fresh beauty and fragrance and a tub full of golden chrysanthemums sent by L. H. Eyres, A. L. Eyres, H. A. Eyres and Mrs. W. Blow all of Victoria, especially for the golden wedding celebration which was to follow.

The Wedding March from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Adam Crisp, as the bridal procession entered, and "Promise Me" during the signing of the register. After the serving of the wedding supper, a further reception was held, bride and groom being showered with congratulations and good wishes. Toasts proposed to the bride and groom were fittingly responded to. Then the next young couple were introduced to the continually arriving guests, most of whom had known them for many years.

The hosts of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Walker who were commemorating their golden wedding anniversary. They were given a rousing reception which fully equalled that given to "Lucky Bill" Gair and their granddaughter Lillian.

John R. Walker was born in Lachute, Quebec, in September 1866. He lived in Quebec until he was eighteen, came to Colorado and wintered there in the snows of the high altitude for eighteen months, then moved to Manitoba where he farmed until 1904.

Here he met his boyhood sweetheart. They were married in 1890. In 1904 they moved to the Fraser Valley and developed one of the show places for which Chilliwack is famed. This became too civilized for the pioneer, whose father had arrived in Montreal one hundred and eight years ago and five of whose brothers have also celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries, and he moved to Francois Lake in 1921, renting in succession two of the best farms on the shore of Tchesinkut Lake within ten miles of Burns Lake where the couple are spending their declining years in a life of active retirement.

Big Reception

Following the home reception, the wedding parties adjourned to the more spacious Francois Lake Farmers Institute Hall where arrangements had been made by the Walker families for the entertainment of all who might be able to attend. In response to a widely circulated general invitation, a record crowd filled

"GOVERNMENT LIQUOR ACT"

(Section 28.)
Notice Of Application For A Beer Licence

Notice is hereby given that on the Fifteenth day of December, A. D. 1940 next, the undersigned intends to apply to the Liquor Control Board for a licence in respect of premises being part of a building known as the Meeker Block, situate at No. 727, Third Avenue, West, Prince Rupert, upon the lands described as Lots Nos. 5 and 6, Block No. 32, Section 1, Prince Rupert Township, Map 923, Prince Rupert Land Registration District, in the Province of British Columbia, for the sale of beer by the glass or by the bottle for consumption on the premises or elsewhere.

Dated this 26th day of October, A. D. 1940.

ed the hall. Immediately after the Burns Lake orchestra had tuned up, the oldest wedded couple in the Francois Lake district, followed by the youngest newly weds—their grand-daughter—Lillian—born in Chilliwack, and "Lucky Bill" Gair—entered to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. Peggy Deeder by special request, leading the whole crowd, then numbering 150 with the precision of trained infantrymen.

The Grand March was followed by a waltz with the older couple still leading. Dance followed dance with John R. and his bride still going strong, true to Walker tradition, proving to be one of the most graceful couples on the floor. By midnight the crowd had swelled to over 200. A sumptuous supper was served to a crowd which filled the hall, lobbies, balcony, dressing room and kitchen. Standing room only was the order. The local boys and girls took charge of the serving of refreshments which was handled most efficiently despite the size of the gathering. The two great wedding cakes, of which two storeys only were missing from the previous onslaught, were cut by the respective brides. Following the supper intermission, a few brief addresses were given and the longevity of the Walker family commented on. The hope that Andrew Walker and his wife and Bill Gair and his bride would uphold that historical reputation and that John R. and his wife might lead many Grand Marches of the future was vociferously endorsed by the crowd and best wishes and congratulations were extended to the two brides and their mates.

"If I Had My Way," With Bing Crosby and Gloria Jean, At Capitol Theatre

New songs in the popular Bing Crosby manner, the second appearance of the gifted juvenile song bird, Gloria Jean, and the addition of some famous old vaudevillians
are features of "If I Had My Way," which is the screen attraction at the Capitol Theatre for tonight and tomorrow.

The picture centres around Crosby and El Brendel who adopt Gloria Jean when her father is killed in an accident. The trio ultimately find themselves in possession of a cafe in which Bing and Gloria furnish the entertainment, aided by the vaudevillians.

Eight tuneful melodies are featured in the music. These are "Meet the Sun Half Way," "I Haven't Time to be a Millionaire," "Pessimistic Character," "If I Had My Way,"
"Little Grey Home in the West,"
"April Played the Fiddle," "Ida" and
"Rings on My Fingers."

Eddie Leonard and Blanche Ring, vaudeville singers of many years'
standing and popularity, are prominent in the cast which also includes El Brendel, noted Swedish dialect
comedian, Trixie Friganza, Grace Farue, Julian Eltinge, Charles Winninger, Claire Dodd, Nana Bryant and Donald Woods.

BRITAIN'S GENERALS HIT THE HAY FOR CHOW

On a tour of inspection of Britain's defences, General Sir Alan Brooke, commander-in-chief of the home forces, is shown here, second from left, enjoying an al fresco lunch with other army commanders in the shelter of a hay stack. The be-ribboned soldier at left is Lieut.-General Alexander, who commands the First Army Corps. The kneeling warrior is Lieut.-General Sir Ronald Adam, and the general taking a bite is Brigadier Morgan.

WEDDED AT HOME RITES NURSE ON EDUCATION

The marriage took place at 7:30 last evening at the home of the bride's parents, 435 Fourth Avenue
East, of Miss Muriel Eileen Eby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Eby, and Martin Kare Erikson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erikson, 209
Seventh Avenue West. It was a pretty and interesting ceremony.

Under a bridal arch of roses and holiaria, the ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. Funston, pastor of First Presbyterian Church. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a charming picture in white Swiss net, bouffant style, with lace trimmed jacket and cuffs to match with veil. Her bouquet was of Hollywood roses.

The dress of the bridesmaid, Miss Peggy Blackhall, was of turquoise blue taffeta with gold shot tuck jacket. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groomsmen were Donald Eby,
brother of the bride.

Mrs. Eby played the Wedding March.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Commodore Cafe where many friends gathered to tender their congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.
The cake was cut by the bride and served by the bridesmaid, Miss Marjorie Eby and Miss E. M. Earl. D. C.
McRae proposed a toast to the bride with the groom responding.
Inge Valen proposed a toast to the bridesmaid with the groomsmen responding.

The evening was enjoyably spent in dancing with music by Mrs.
Charles Anderson and Robert Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. Erikson will reside at 436 Fourth Avenue East. They are a well known and popular local young couple, having both resided in Prince Rupert since childhood, and will receive the felicitations of numerous well-wishing friends.

Miss Margaret Jamieson Urges
More Lofty Ideals And More Practical Curricula

"Education For Living" was the subject of an interesting address
given by Miss Margaret Jamieson R. N., lady superintendent of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, to the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association last evening in the Borden Street School. At the outset, Miss Jamieson discussed the pre-school education of the young child, emphasizing particularly the influence of the home training. The desires, interests and conversations of the parents; the reading aloud by the parents of Bible history and story and of carefully selected books all had an important influence upon the educational background of the child prior to his entering the public school.

Discussing the present curricula
of the schools with their required courses and their emphasis upon the accumulation of credits for graduation diplomas, the speaker
raised the pertinent question whether curricula and methods today really met the needs for worthy adult living. The courses prescribed were too much of the blanket type and did not allow of sufficient attention being given to the individual differences and the natural aptitudes of the pupils.
Present day education was not always suited to the natural needs of the people. From her own professional experience as a nurse, Miss Jamieson told that lack of knowledge in the buying and preparing of food by mothers for their children was sometimes the cause of scurvy, rickets and malnutrition among children.

"There is no royal road to learning," the speaker declared "and such methods as cramming and mechanical memorizing of facts does not result in permanence of learning. Nor can such methods prepare the pupil to meet successfully the unexpected situations
and problems of life."

Miss Jamieson then discussed
the educational preparation for the nursing profession, explaining the importance of such subjects
as chemistry, physics, biology, zoology, history and historical method, cultural reading, the classical languages and elementary arithmetic. The failure to include religious instruction in the public school curriculum was, in the opinion of the speaker, a potent contributing cause of much of the injustice, sorrow and instability in the world today. Again referring to nursing, Miss Jamieson concluded her address by stating that a deep religious faith in the Saviour of the world on the part of a nurse must greatly increase the influence and efficiency of the nursing service.

At the business meeting which preceded the address, the association, as a result of the successful telephone bridge, was able to give further donations to the schools of the city—$25 being voted to each of the Borden, King Edward and Booth Memorial School, and president, Mrs. George Hill, thanked conveners and all who helped to make the telephone bridge so successful.

A special feature of the musical program was the skilful playing of violin solos by William Jacobenik who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Anderson. Following the singing of the National Anthem, refreshments were served and a pleasant time was spent in the conversation.

Gvro Club In Business Meet

In addition to receiving nominations for 1941 officers, the Prince Rupert Gyro Club dealt with miscellaneous routine matters at its regular monthly business luncheon yesterday. Reports of various committees were received. These included one on the recent hoedown dance which resulted in something over $240 being netted for the purpose of purchasing an incubator for the Prince Rupert General Hospital.
The incubator is already on order
and a suitable ceremony of presentation will be arranged when it arrives.

The nominations were W. F.
Stone for president, W. J. Scott for secretary, William Cruickshank for treasurer and Frank Dibb, Arnold
Flaten, G. L. Rorie, Frank Skinner,
H. S. Meadows, J. H. Bulger, L. M.
Asemussen and Croft Brook for executive.

The luncheon fare consisted of venison provided by Arnold Flaten.
Capt. B. L. Johnson Jr. was a guest.
