Attack On Lowlands Turns Into Reverse As Belgians And Dutch Are Reinforced By Allied Help

Belgium and Holland Well Satisfied With Aid Being Given—Enemy Unable to Hold Single Airport—The Hague Was Never Taken

The Belgian military authorities announced today that Belgium and Holland had been given all the aid they requested from Great Britain and France in resisting the German invasion. British and French forces had been in contact with the enemy who were being held back at all points and being driven off at various points.

as being such places where there were no troops apparent, no aircraft and no railway facilities. This, of course, is intended to justify the air attacking by the Nazis of any community, giving the German air force a free hand to drop bombs anywhere which is just what they are doing.

The British ministry of home security warned the British that "we must all be prepared" as a result of Germany's lowland invasion. The government last night warned every Briton to be on the look-out for German troops landing by parachute in Great Britain.

The Air Ministry announced that British air forces in France had bombed German troops. Belgian and German troops engaged in a fight on Belgian territory. No less than four German armored trains were claimed to have been destroyed near Aix-la-Chapelle at a point where a railway from Germany crosses the frontier.

Dutch incendiary shells set fire to large hotels from which Germans were operating. The fire spread rapidly, threatening thin German lines. The Belgians, including the members of the fire department, stood by and watched the hotels and the enemy soldiers burn.

Back in Holland, Germany's plane and parachute troops, attempting to fight their way through Rotterdam, were driven back into dangerous position by the attacks of reinforced Dutch troops and the pounding of Dutch artillery.

It is announced that the Royal Air Force of Great Britain attacked enemy occupied airdromes with marked success yesterday, playing an important part in driving the Germans out of every one of them.

OTTAWA, May 11: (CP)—Publication of the Sirios report on Dominion - provincial relations, which was to have been made next Monday, has been deferred until next Thursday. The report will be tabled at the opening of Parliament next Thursday. It is announced.

"Our navy is the most efficient and modern machine of its kind in the world. The fleet is manned by men who have the courage that our naval men have always had. NAZIS ARE CONDEMNED BY RUSSIA

Russia Says Lowlands Invasion Incompatible With Socialistic Principles

LONDON, May 11.—A startling dispatch in the Daily Herald from Moscow said that Soviet Russia condemned the German invasion of Holland and Belgium as a ruthless use of force. "We cannot sympathize with the imperialistic methods of our dramatic neighbor," a Soviet spokesman is quoted as saying. They were not compatible with Russian principles.

SWISS ARE IN ALARM

In Readiness For Becoming Involved in Spreading European War

BERNE, May 11: (CP)—Fearing that it too will become embroiled in the war and comforted little by a German statement that the bombing of a Swiss railway station near the frontier yesterday had been an accident, the Swiss government ordered general mobilization yesterday and a state of alarm.

The fighting, in which opposing aircraft are playing an important part, can be easily heard from Switzerland. Allied airplanes have been violently attacking German troop trains on the Basle-Frankfurt Railway and service through Brenner Pass has been interrupted.

There have been anti-German demonstrations in Lausanne and Zurich and special police guards have been posted to German embassies to prevent recurrence.

HIGHWAY SURVEYS

Two Routes—One From Hazelton, Other From Prince George—Considered

OTTAWA, May 11: (CP)—Further surveys to be made this summer are recommended in an interim report of the Alaska Highway Commission made public yesterday. The Commission offered two alternate routes for the high estimated cost of each just under $25,000,000. The reports consider details involved both in extending sections of the existing highways and construction of links from Prince George or Hazelton through Northern British Columbia to the Yukon boundary, thence through Yukon Territory and in Alaska by way of the Richardson Highway to Fairbanks.

Two main routes outlined in the report were: 1. Linking Hazelton to Atlin. 2. Starting from Prince George and following the Parsnip and Finlay valleys to Liard River and Frances Lake.

FORMING CABINET

Extensive Changes Expected In British War Administration But Halifax Will Remain As Foreign Secretary

BERLIN BITTER BERLIN, May 11: (CP)—Official Germany does not appear to be very happy over the accession of Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill to the Prime Ministry of Great Britain. The Nazi press describes him as a "representative of most brutal imperialistic policies" succeeding the man (referring to Chamberlain) "who hid his intentions behind the guise of humanitarianism."

LONDON, May 10: (CP)—Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, who formally succeeded Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain last night as Prime Minister of Great Britain, is busy forming his new war cabinet but no announcements as to its personnel were made up to today. It appears to be the general consensus of opinion that Lord Halifax will remain as Foreign Secretary. Some believe that room will be found for Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George, Britain's Premier of the First Great War. The reorganization will, it is conceded be along extensive lines.

As previously announced, the executive committee of the British Labor Party had said before resignation of Mr. Chamberlain that the Labor Opposition in Parliament would join the British cabinet "under a new Prime Minister." In a statement after Mr. Churchill took over he said he "desires all ministers to remain at their posts and discharge functions with full freedom while necessary arrangements are being made for the formation of a new administration. Chamberlain, in a broadcast announcing his resignation, said: "I had no doubt that some new and drastic action would have to be taken to restore public confidence after this week's Commons debate. By today it was apparent that unity could be attained under some other Prime Minister. My duty was plain."

The Premier added that he had told Churchill he would be happy to be in a new government. Mr. Chamberlain, who held the post for three years, reviewed his work as Prime Minister and said the new Nazi invasion had truly put the British nation to the test.

Canada Back Of Lowlands

OTTAWA, May 11: (CP) — Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King pledged his support to Belgium and Holland in the "greatest war for the greatest cause." He condemned in strong language the "treachery and barbarism" of Nazi Germany in its succession of intrigues. There seemed to be no limit in Hitler's lust for conquest. He said that further steps were being taken to assist the Mother Land but did not disclose details. A report on the war would be given at the opening of Parliament next week, the Premier stated.

CHAMBERLAIN RETIRES

Right Hon. Neville Chamberlain has retired from the leadership of the British government. His last speech to the people of Great Britain and the Empire was full of confidence that the Allies would win and that the world would be saved from German domination. He expressed horror at the tactics of the enemy and his abhorrence of all that they stood for.

Most people will be pleased to know that Chamberlain was a big enough man to be willing to continue to serve under the new leader.

THE NEW PRIME MINISTER

The new Prime Minister of Great Britain is an able, brilliant man who should prove to be more than a match for Hitler and his minions. He has courage and initiative and will satisfy most of the people of Britain who look for action in the conduct of the war. His appointment will also prove most acceptable to the people of Canada who today are looking for leadership to inspire them.

WAS FORCED TO MOVE

The Germans were in a position where they were forced to move. Economic stress and the mentality of the people demanded action. The move was expected so the Allies were able to prepare to resist. Once more the Germans have had to break cover and in doing so exposed themselves to an enemy that is welcoming them. We do not see how he could have done better than he did in order to please the Allies. It is hard on Belgium and Holland to have the fighting take place in their territory but it had to be somewhere and it was hardly likely it could have been where there was a highly fortified line such as on the French border.

FAITH IN OUR MEN

Canadian people can have full confidence that their men and the men of Britain and France will make good in the struggle. There must be many casualties but we shall most certainly be proud of their achievements. All we hope is that they be given a fair chance to meet the enemy under anything like equal conditions. If they get this, they must win. The navy has proved itself more than once already in this war and we look for the soldiers and airmen to do the same. There will be no surrender or scuttling of ships.

many crepe-hangers are expressing quite openly. The remark that it is not a question of when we win the war but if we win the war may not be disloyal but such a remark can do a lot of harm and, if made in Germany, would put a person in a concentration camp or up against the wall facing a firing squad. The facts do not warrant such remarks.

"Thank God the men of our navy do not think that way. The crews of the Ajax and Achilles and Exeter did not say that when they chased the Graf Spee into Montevideo. The men on the destroyers who went into Narvik and smashed the German destroyers thought differently. The men of our air services who risked their lives night after night bombing the airports in Norway, Denmark and Germany certainly do not doubt their ability to win the war.

"Here are we in Canada sitting back enjoying all the comforts of peace time. Our farmers are able to ship their wheat, our miners their metals, our sawyers their lumber. Our shores are safe from invasion and our wives and children safe from bombing attacks. This all because we have the British navy to save us and keep our sea lanes open to our produce and protect our shores.

"At the start of the war we had an inferiority complex about our air fleet. Now we have shown that our air force is equal, if not better, than the German air force. At least our men are superior and have taken the initiative. As the days go by it is becoming so superior that in a few months it will be so far ahead that the Germans will be afraid to tackle it.

"Last September the British standing army numbered 80,000 men plus 400,000 territorials or civilians. Today they have in England over two million men in uniform. Those men who are joining up in England, Canada and other parts of the Empire are willing to sacrifice their lives for us who are not privileged to wear the uniforms and it is our duty, to say the least.

"Instead of pessimism, we should be filled with optimism. A few months ago things might have been bad but all the advantage is now on our side."

The Fishing Industry

In opening his address Colonel Nicholls told of attending the session of the Wartime Fisheries Board called to discuss the many problems besetting the fishing industry during the war. The findings of the board were in the interests of the fisheries as a whole and not of any one section. Its function was purely advisory and had nothing to do with controlling prices. If price control comes, it will not be from any action taken by the board.

Colonel Nicholls spoke appreciatively of the work of the war supply board and of the western representative, W. C. Woodward. He was equally appreciative of the Canadian minister, Loring Christie, whom he met at Washington, and Mr. Mahoney, the commercial councillor. The people whom he met at the American capital were outspoken in their friendship for the Allied cause.

From what the Colonel heard in the United States he came to the conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt would run again and be elected but would not have the support of Congress in his schemes which had been tried and found wanting.

The biggest problem facing Canada today, said the speaker, was how Canada would finance her own war effort and also how England would pay for the huge amount of goods she required from Canada. He urged economy in spending. The Dominion would have to find a billion dollars for ordinary expenditure and war costs. In addition, another half billion would be required to be expended by Britain in Canada this year. This money would be raised by selling English goods in Canada and by selling in Canada English holdings of Canadian investments. Possibly also there might be borrowing in Canada. Every hundred dollars worth of good purchased in Great Britain would enable Great Britain to buy one hundred dollars worth of goods in Canada. Cutting down on personal expenses would be helpful.

IMPROVING OF GROUNDS

This One of Principal Matters at Monthly Meeting of Hospital
Board Last Evening

With business of a routine and not very important nature, the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital was in regular monthly session last night. President Frank Dibb was in the chair and others present were W. O. Fulton, F. A. MacCallum, Arnold Flaten, D. G. Borland, G. P. Tinker and Mrs. H. L. Landry, directors; Miss Jean Harrison R.N., lady superintendent, and H. W. Birch, managing secretary.

Improvement of the new hospital grounds came up for discussion and the grounds committee, of which D. G. Borland is chairman, was authorized to proceed with plans for the erection of a wall along the Fifth Avenue lot line outside of which alongside the sidewalk there will be a smaller curb wall the cost of which will be borne by the city. The walls will be of reinforced concrete and will conform with the color of the hospital. The inner wall will be 117 feet long and 18 inches high, tapering from ten to six inches. The cost of the two walls is estimated at $250. Authorization of the purchase of a lawn mower for the grounds was given. Permission was also given for the erection of a marker for a tree recently planted by the Girl Guides.

The finance committee, Arnold Flaten chairman, reported negotiations proceeding with the Department of Pensions and National Health and Department of Indian Affairs in connection with contracts covering treatment for departmental patients in the hospital. The negotiations are in connection with revision of rates. The finance committee's report for the month showed expenditures for the month of $4958.65 with capital expenditure of $189.79. There had been 1294 hospital days at cost per diem of $3.68.

Miss Jean Harrison R.N., lady superintendent, reported the hospital not quite so busy as usual at this time. The work was going along satisfactorily.

The existence of a radio nuisance in the hospital was again drawn to the attention of the board. Receivers were being spirited into the hospital and sometimes the use of them was proving a discomfort and annoyance to other patients. It was left to the lady superintendent to regulate the entry and use of radios in the hospital. Notices will be put up drawing attention to the regulation that permission must be obtained before any radio receiver can be taken into the hospital.

The house committee, F. A. MacCallum, chairman, reported the necessity of making repairs and adjustments to some of the operating room sterilizers.

Reference was made to a letter from Miss Blanche Curtin expressing appreciation for the treatment accorded her mother, the late Mrs. Curtin, in the hospital.

The monthly report of the fire chief, H. T. Lock, stated the alarm systems and housekeeping conditions both in hospital and nurses' home were in good order.

FILM BILL ENTERTAINS

"Television Spy," an imaginative romance of the world of tomorrow, and "Unexpected Father," a lively comedy romance, comprise an entertaining double bill program billed for the Capitol Theatre tonight.

"Television Spy" presents, in addition to a conception of the battles which may come for the control of long-range television, involve a long-distance romance of novel character with William Henry and Judith Barrett playing the principal parts. The story resolves itself into a thrilling pattern of intrigue and romance and speeds to a dramatic denouement and a thrilling climax. William Henry, William Collier sr., Anthony Quinn and Richard Denning are also featured members of the cast.

Infant charm, hilarious comedy and romantic intrigue are effectively combined in "Unexpected Father." The infant charm is supplied by Baby Sandy, who has already captivated movie audiences in a big way. The comedy comes largely from Mische Auer. The romantic intrigue is provided by Dennis O'Keefe and Shirley Ross. The story is about an orphaned baby who is taken by a group of theatre employees. Their unconventional methods of taking care of him provide the basis of the comedy.
