Invasion Attempt Close At Hand

Next Forty-Eight Hours Will Present Greatest Danger To Britain, Militarists Believe

Enemy Tests Southeast Coast Defences—Weather Not Quite So Favorable For Landing—Further Air Raids on London

LONDON, September 14: (CP)—The next forty-eight hours are a "period of intense danger of invasion to Britain" neutral military sources said today. The statement came as German raiders tested southeast coast defences following the eighth consecutive nightly raid on London. However, weather conditions off Dover were described as slightly less favorable for invasion possibilities with a stiff southeast breeze and mist. Three daylight alarms sounded today but only one bombing was reported. Last night bombers dropped explosive and incendiary bombs on the south, east and western areas of the capital. Bombs were dropped during the third alarm—the seventy-fifth so far of the war. Anti-aircraft guns sprang into action and Royal Air Force formations took to the wing. The raid did not last long. The enemy was in small formations, the Nazi planes having darted from cloud to cloud to reach the capital. A number of fires started during last night were soon put out.

REPORT ON CARNIVAL

Meeting Last Night Hears That Net Profit on Undertaking Was $2,054.60

Some Discussion

Prof of Concessions in Hall Lost—Others Made Good Profit

At a meeting of the Civic Centre Carnival Committee in the city hall last night it was reported that the net revenue from the Carnival was $515.00, disbursements were $3,000 and the total surplus $2,054.60. There was criticism of some of the concessions as insufficient revenue was secured from some sources with the profits on others. Mostly the difficulties arose from inexperience. It was pointed out that the experience this year would be an aid in carrying out another carnival, the suggestion being that next year it be held around Labor Day and might be a five-day event. Norton presided at the meeting and there were present Gorge Rorie, Trevor Williams, W. M. Watts, Dr. Carter, C. A. Brind, A. S. Nickerson, William Stone and C. A. Kellie. Mr. Young's report on the carnival follows in part: "Our treasurer's detailed report will give you the exact figures of revenue, construction and operating costs and operating profit or loss on the various operations of the carnival. Roughly speaking, our gross revenue was $5600 and our total costs $3550, leaving a profit of approximately $2050. Based on these figures, I believe that I can reasonably state that the Carnival was a financial success. The ticket sale for the Carnival was an outstanding success. The figures speak for themselves. The gross ticket revenue, including receipts at the door, amounted to $2229.25. Against this should be charged direct expenses in connection with the ticket sale and queen contest and, for want of any other place to charge them, such expenses as photo contest, flower show and exhibits, wedding, entertainment and dance and general overhead. These expenses total $1143.15, leaving an actual direct profit of $1086.10. The concessions, including the bumper, race track and derby, shooting gallery and wheels and hoop game, show a profit of $184.27. The meagreness of the figure is due to excessive costs of construction of the shooting gallery and bumper, the breakdown of the bumper in operation, which caused it to be out of operation part of the night and the fact that one of the wheels was run at a loss the second night, due to a misunderstanding on the part of the operators. The hot dog and pop and ice cream stands showed a profit of $211. I note that no construction costs were shown against these stands and I think that possibly the $11 would be a fair charge for this item, leaving $200 profit. This is indeed a very creditable showing, particularly so when it is realized that it was necessary to sell some 3200 hot dogs and over 4000 bottles of pop, to say nothing of countless cups of coffee and ice cream cones, to realize this profit. The tea room showed a profit of $132.82 on an operating cost of only $54.85. This indicates the extent to which we are indebted to the ladies who donated cakes, etc. Here also I note that no construction

OTTAWA, Sept. 14: (CP)—Cash subscriptions to Canada's second war loan reached $227,166,000 last night.

AIR FORCE HITS HARD ON ENEMY

Invasion Bases Across English Channel Smashed By British Aircraft

LONDON, Sept. 14: (CP)—Smashing at possible invasion bases across the English Channel, large forces of Royal Air Force bombers wrecked barge concentration and started fires amid German shipping, harbors and docks on the French and Belgian coasts last night, the Air Ministry announced. Key distribution centres were effectively raided. Two British aircraft were lost, said a communique, adding that two enemy bombers had been shot down. From Dover could be heard the roar and seen the spurts of anti-aircraft fire during the night. One large fire indicated an oil or ammunition dump had been struck. Enemy artillery emplacements were also blasted.

BATTLE OF LONDON IS CONTINUING

New Type Of Balloon Barrage And Heavy Anti-aircraft Fire Still Prove Effective—More Damage Done

LONDON, Sept. 14:—After the seventh consecutive night of their intensive attack, German bombers were back over London again today and, up to this afternoon, there had been three alarms during the day. Last night's attacks were largely concentrated upon the London area and South Wales. Many bombs were dropped on the east, south and southwest districts of the city and houses and industrial premises, it was stated today, had been damaged. Two particularly heavy salvos were dropped in South London. A woman and a cat she was nursing were killed. The woman was sitting in a chair. A number of houses in South Wales were struck. South Africa House and the Law Courts in the Strand were among buildings to be damaged in the latest raids on London. More intensive and violent anti-aircraft fire was again effective in holding the brunt of the enemy attack off the centre of the city during the night, forcing the enemy in the main to drop his high explosive and incendiary bombs on the fringe and outskirts of the city and elsewhere in the country. A new type of balloon barrage at greater height than before is also proving effective. The air ministry said that a British barrage balloon snared a German plane yesterday. The German attacks are becoming even more vicious and fire, incendiary and scream bombs are being used. Numerous famous landmarks have already been damaged, some quite severely. Canada House was struck with an incendiary bomb yesterday but no serious damage was done. The building formerly occupied by the Italian tourist bureau and the Ford Motor Co. offices were among places which suffered damage yesterday. An incendiary missile fell on the House of Lords yesterday but the historic building escaped serious damage. Up to Thursday, according to an official statement, 1245 Londoners have been killed and 4820 injured since the intensive air raiding began last Saturday night.

"Boche Will Get It In Neck When Invasion Comes," Says High British Air Officer

"We no longer regard invasion as a major risk," declares a letter written by an air vice marshal of the Royal Air Force in England to a friend in the United States, a copy of which has come to hand from private sources in Prince Rupert. "If the Boche likes to try it, he will get it in the neck. As for the air war, we are now well on top. The Boche has been prodigal in throwing away his trained crews and we have not. Of course one cannot stop occasional hit and run raids but they make the people more determined than ever to carry on and get their own back. As for what we're doing to him (the Boche) on the other side... we are just giving him Hell from the Baltic to the Alps and, what's more, he can't stop us. As for the general situation, we've faced up to many much worse and came out smiling. The state of Europe today is exactly the same as in 1808 when Wellington landed in Spain to start unbuttoning Napoleon. We shall not have to do that because Adolf will unbutton himself as soon as the Boche gets hungry enough. He has had a lot of cheap successes so far, not excluding France, and now he can try what the real thing feels like. We shall keep slamming at Germany until she's had enough and that will be long before we have.

HOSPITAL BUSINESS

Regular Monthly Meeting Last Night—Secretary To Attend Convention

The board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital was in regular monthly session last night. It was a brief meeting and business to a large extent was of routine character. G. P. Tinker occupied the chair in the absence of the president, Frank Dibb. Others present were D. G. Borland, Arnold Flaten and R. E. Benson and Mrs. H. L. Landry, directors; Miss Jean Harrison R. N., lady superintendent, and H. W. Birch, managing secretary. Mr. Birch, the managing secretary, was delegated to attend the annual convention of the British Columbia Hospitals Association to be held October 15, 16 and 17 in Victoria. Many important hospital problems will be discussed at this meeting and there will be interesting discourses by noted hospital authorities. One matter to be taken up will be the question of scale of fees to be paid by the Workmen's Compensation Board which, a resolution to be presented to the convention will submit, should pay for its patients the same charges as other patients have to pay. The proposal is, if necessary, to make a test case of this principle in the courts. Prince Rupert will also have a resolution before the convention in regard to standardization of charges to be paid hospitals for contract services. The board authorized the signing with the Department of National Defence of a favorable contract to cover patients under the department receiving hospital treatment. A letter will also be sent to the department expressing appreciation for co-operation in this connection. The report of the finance committee, Arnold Flaten, chairman, for the month showed expenditures for August totalling $5417.62 with capital expenditure of $74.70. Hospital days for the month numbered 1808 at a per diem cost of $2.99. Miss Harrison reported the hospital to be fairly quiet at this time following very busy months of July and August. Operation of the ambulance was reported upon by the house committee, R. E. Benson, chairman, and discussed. D. G. Borland reported briefly for the grounds committee, announcing that a plaque had been embedded near a tree which had been planted by the Girl Guides in commemoration of the visit of the King and Queen to Canada last year. Mr. Borland also said that arrangements had been made to paint a stone wall erected on the hospital grounds. The report of the fire chief, following a routine inspection, was that conditions were satisfactory both in hospital and nurses' home. Tenders for coal supply during the coming year were opened and the lowest, those of Philpott, Evitt & Co., accepted. The tenders were: Albert & McCaffery—double screen Nanaimo-Wellington lump, $13.10; Foothills lump, $11.35; Nanaimo-Wellington washed pea, $10.35. Philpott, Evitt—Double screen

Iron Lung Is On Way Here

An iron lung, presented to the Prince Rupert General Hospital, like other hospitals in the British Empire, is now on its way here and should arrive soon, the local hospital was informed at its meeting last night, by the Provincial Board of Health. Due to war conditions, there will be certain charges to be paid through war risk insurance and increased freight rates.

TAKING IT LIKE REST OF PEOPLE

Taste Of Nazi Barbarity Only Makes Resolution Of Londoners Stronger, Declares Monarch

LONDON, Sept. 14:—After emerging from shelter yesterday following the bombing attack upon Buckingham Palace, King George said: "Like the rest of you we have had a personal experience with German barbarity. It will only strengthen our resolution to fight through to ultimate victory." The King and Queen received messages from the government, Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King of Canada and many others. A time bomb dropped in yesterday's attack on Buckingham Palace exploded today, demolishing a gate post and a section of fence. While the King and Queen were present in Buckingham Palace at the time of the raid, the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were not. Indignant London scoffed at an explanation from Berlin that the bombs which hit Buckingham Palace were aimed at nearby oil depots. There are no oil depots within miles of Buckingham Palace which, in its spacious grounds, cannot be mistaken. London accepts the Buckingham Palace bombings as an open attempt upon the lives of the King and Queen. The Department of Information vehemently denies that there is any intention of the government or any part of it to leave London as suggested by German propaganda.

PRINCE RUPERT AFFECTED

The "Politician with a Notebook," writing in Maclean's Magazine, speculates as to what will be the effect of the appointment of the joint board of defense. He suggests it will mean "stronger and more modern fortifications for Halifax, St. John and Sydney on the Atlantic and for Victoria, Vancouver and Prince Rupert on the Pacific" and also "The immediate completion of the Alaska Highway."

There's something to remember about this writer. He is sometimes right, so he may be right this time or he may not. At any rate the speculation is interesting.

AMERICAN FEAR

The people of the United States are more afraid of Hitler than are the people of Canada. They are showing it in many ways and especially through the passing of the recent conscription measure which is more stringent than that coming into force in Canada. Saturday Night speaks of the Canadian law as simply a gesture whereas the United States has the real thing.

People on this continent have never before had any idea that their country might be invaded. Evidently they don't like the idea.

NEWS OF SUCCESSES

The news of British successes in Germany are much slower coming through than are the German bombings of Britain. At first they are very sketchy. Hours later when the Department of Information has had time to study the records of the pilots who carried out the raids, slight information is given to the public. The Germans say almost nothing of their losses so it is very difficult to ascertain what the situation in Germany is like.

TERRIBLE COMMUNISTS

Down east it is said that, if a person is generally known to be a Communist, he is liable to be interned. That is hardly fair to the Communists. Many thousands of people who held pro-German views a year ago have now changed their minds. Gradually it has come to them that any system such as that now in Germany is not one to be desired in a democracy. Communists have changed their minds as well as others. People in Prince Rupert who called themselves Communists probably did not realize what it meant but they have had opportunities of learning since last year. They were mostly either ignorant or disappointed people who were easily led to believe that they were ill-used or that if they could upset the present system they would be better off than they are today—a fallacy, of course.

It's interesting to know when reading the Daily News that the people of the whole district are doing the same.

ONE WAY OF FINANCING THE WAR AND THE RED CROSS

A little British girl is shown contributing to the Red Cross fund after paying her admission to view a German Messerschmitt plane which was shot down near Croydon. It seems the Germans bombed Croydon, so now Croydon is helping Britain by aiding the Red Cross and also monies are being collected from sightseers who view the plane, to buy a Spitfire. Spectators pay sixpence to look at it and the fund goes to the Croydon Spitfire fund.

charges were made. These should have been approximately $12, leaving an actual direct profit of $120.

"Crown and anchor games are mentioned separately from the other games because they appear to be in a class by themselves. An actual direct profit of $528.45 was made on these games.

"A profit of $13.40 was made on an investment of $28.10 on the carnival novelty booth.

"In our profits, I suppose we should also show a generous, unsolicited donation of $50 made by the Hon. T. D. Pattullo.

"In the following summary of our success or otherwise, with the various lines of endeavour, all criticism is meant to be constructive and for purposes of future reference.

"Of the concessions, only the debunker and shooting gallery showed an actual loss. The debunker showed a loss of $4.90 on operation, due, as before mentioned, to the fact that it broke down on the second third night and had less than 50 per cent of the revenue which it would probably have had had it been in continuous operation. This game was put in primarily as a carnival attraction and it is believed that it well served its purpose and gave good value for its total loss cost of $56.21.

"The shooting gallery was an experiment on my part and, due to construction difficulties, cost at least twice what I had expected it to. In actual operation it proved slow to operate and it was only when the operators changed their plan of operation that this game showed a reasonable return. It, however, provided a certain amount of general entertainment for the spectators.

"The wheels and bingo had a gross revenue of $1246.40, of which approximately $800 was returned to the public in prizes. One of the wheels operated at a loss of approximately $20 on the second night, instead of a profit of around $80. In the rush of starting new operators each night on the different games, I was probably not sufficiently explicit in giving them their instructions and the tickets on this wheel were sold at 3 for 25 instead of three numbers on one ticket for 25c.

"The first night's operation of the Carnival was greatly hampered by the failure of the Power Company's transformer on the line outside the building. Our gross revenue on this night was undoubtedly reduced by approximately $400 due to this power failure.

Suggestions for Future
"For future Carnivals, I would make the following suggestions:

"That a five-day Carnival be put on instead of three days. The majority of the general expenses would remain constant and I believe that, by having some special attraction for each night, the interest could be kept up sufficiently for the five days as to show very close to the same daily turnover as on the 3-day Carnival.

"That preparations for the Carnival be started at least six weeks before the date set.

"That a purchasing committee be set up to handle all purchases in a business-like manner rather than in the haphazard manner I was forced, for lack of time, to use in this case.

"And last but probably most important, that all organizations connected with the Carnival be urged to take a more active part in preparing and operating the Carnival.

"I wish to sincerely thank all those who so ably assisted in putting on this Carnival. It would be impossible to name all those who helped in various ways so I am merely saying 'Thank You' to all those who helped.

"One thing I wish to stress at this time is the fact that, contrary to the usual custom, no canvas for donations from merchants was made. The wedding gifts presented by the merchant, were the only things not paid for. All prizes given at the Carnival were bought from local merchants and paid for at retail prices less 10 per cent which, considering the volume and the fact that no effort was required of the merchants in selling these goods, showed a reasonable return to the merchants.

"In closing I wish to say that I believe that even in our mistakes, we have done a service to future Carnival committees and that next year, conditions being as they are at present, an even more successful Carnival could be put on."

Reports were heard from committee chairmen and, after some discussion, it was decided to invest $2,000 of the money in War Loan bonds and that the present committee would be permanent until another was chosen to replace it. The paraphernalia is to be stored until next year and not loaned to any other organization so that it may be available when required.

Man in the Moon

Evidently the Hitlerites think that, if they could eliminate the King, the invasion of Britain would be easier. They have another think coming.

Now boys, straighten your backs, square your shoulders and keep your chins up. We shall make men of you yet.

This is about the last chance to get in on the war loan that is going to lick Hitler.

The Germans started out to bomb the London slum districts thinking to arouse the poor people there. This having failed they tried bombing the King's palace but it too is without effect.

"Oh, doctor, I have sent for you, but still I must confess I have not the slightest faith in modern medical science."

"Well," said the doctor, "that doesn't matter in the least. You see, a mule has no faith in the veterinary surgeon, yet the mule gets cured just the same."

"I understand your husband is a good amateur actor?"

"Well, you'll see for yourself. He'll be here in a moment to explain why he wasn't in for dinner."

"I was so glad when my musical neighbor on one side got rid of his baby grand."

"I suppose so."

"But I got no relief from that, for my neighbor on the other side had a grand baby."

Then there was the little fellow who told his mother that he had found out "why chickens come out of eggs. It's 'cas they're afraid they'll be boiled if they don't."

It was his startling reply to her inquiry.

I wish you could sit in my chair here a bit, or come round my station and get the real story. We are just giving him hell from the Baltic to the Alps—and what's more he can't stop us, though he tries everything. You can take it from me therefore that we are right on top in the air and that we intend to stay there. As for the general situation—what of it. We've faced up to many worse and come out smiling. The state of Europe today is exactly the same as in 1808 when Wellington landed in Soain with 20,000 to start unbuttoning Napoleon. We shan't have to do that because Adolf will unbutton himself as soon as the Boche gets hungry enough. He has had a lot of cheap successes so far—not excluding France—and now he can try what the real thing feels like. Must Get Together "Meanwhile the English speaking peoples must inevitably get more and more together, and may the good work you are doing in this regard prosper. Someone will have to tell the Japs where they get off sooner or later, although one imagines that their latest efforts are born more of exasperation at their inability to fix China and their growing home troubles than due to their being flushed with success. "Don't forget this—modern wars run on straight lines and Adolf can go sliding round corners anyway he pleases but it won't get him any permanent result. Meanwhile we shall keep slamming straight at Germany until she's had enough—and that will be long before we have. The German people have been on short commons and under "war" strain for 10 years. We've just started taking the pull—and they are therefore just that much more out of breath. "On the whole, therefore, although we want every bit of help you can get for us, you can take it that we are on a good wicket and that it gets more to our liking every day. As for morale—well I wish you could hear what my lads say when I threaten to send any of them back to the training units for a spell of rest off operations. They send their nights all over Germany and do as they like there for all the Boche can do to stop them and you can take it from me that what they do is more and more effective. As for our losses, they are so negligible, they do not reach the peace time weather and accident losses for the same amount of flying. "Again, many, many thanks to you both for your offer to take Jill and the kiddie. It is a nice comfortable feeling to have that at the back of one if things get tough. Meanwhile you can rest assured that everything goes fine here and, as for rationing, well we haven't yet reached the stage that any doctor would advise us to get down to for our own benefit!"

Canadian Red Cross officials in England are working night and day in their emergency efforts on behalf of people rendered homeless by German air raids.

A cable received at Red Cross headquarters in Toronto states that thousands of blankets, articles of clothing and tins of food are being distributed daily. The cable, signed by the overseas commissioner Colonel George Nasmith of Toronto, whose office is right in the heart of London, ended "all well and cheery close." In making the cable public Mrs. H. P. Plumpre, chairman of war activities, said: "The people of Canada who contributed over one hundred thousand blankets during the recent appeal made by the Canadian Red Cross must derive great satisfaction from the knowledge that their blankets are being used to bring warmth to thousands of homeless men, women and children in Britain." Preparing itself for such an emergency the Canadian Red Cross has already shipped 45,000 blankets to England. Other shipments will go forward immediately. "Similarly thousands of dollars worth of clothing and canned food had been shipped from Canada to England during the past months and had been stored in Canadian Red Cross warehouses in England for emergency use," Mrs. Plumpre said. "With the support of the people of Canada the Canadian Red Cross Society is doing everything possible to alleviate the suffering of the people of Britain" she concluded.

This Year Has Been Better for at Least Some Branches of Fishing Industry — Million and a Half Pounds More Halibut

The first year of war may be said to have brought an increased measure of prosperity to at least some branches of Prince Rupert's fishing industry. That, despite some disorganization and some disturbing factors, to say nothing of certain disappointments in the way of runs and prices, is the record. The war year, although it did not restore the fabulous earning records set up in the closing years of the First Great War and the period immediately following it, brought a better revenue to those engaged in halibut fishing than they had enjoyed during the past few years. Again, however, the economic feature was the shortage of the fishing season due to the limitation measures of international agreement. From the price standpoint, there was certainly nothing to complain of as far as the halibut fishery was concerned this year. Turning to the salmon picture, the gillnetters in Prince Rupert district, with quite a satisfactory sockeye run, did fairly well even though prices might not have been all they could have been wished for. The seining, with a light run of pinks and chums, was not all that it might have been and there can be no claims of excessive profit in this department. As for

Comedy And Drama Make For Interesting Entertainment At Capitol Tonight

"Barricade," bringing together Alice Faye and Warner Baxter as a romantic team, and "The Ghost Comes Home," an hilarious comedy starring Frank Morgan, are double-billed tonight at the Capitol Theatre and should combine to make excellent entertainment. In "Barricade" Miss Faye plays the part of a frightened American girl in China running away from murder straight into fury and danger in a remote United States consulate which is besieged by fierce bandits. Baxter is a ne'er-do-well adventurer looking for trouble and making it when he cannot find it. The two live a startling drama with death seemingly only a short time away. Also featured in the cast are Charles Winninger, as the heroic American consul, Arthur Treacher, Key Luke and Willie Fung. Frank Morgan, in "The Ghost Comes Home," plays the part of a hen-pecked husband, an amateur playboy when he arrives in New York, who is entrusted with a family fortune. After exposing the town banker and other crooks, in the course of which he has devious and diverting adventures, he emerges as the town's most popular figure. Billie Burke, Ann Rutherford, Reginald Owen, Donald Meek, Nat Pendleton and other well known screen figures are in the cast.

With American landings mounting as the season nears its close on September 26, set as the final date for the taking of fish from Area No. 3, it is likely that the halibut catch at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1940 season will exceed that of 1939 by some million and a half pounds. Up to yesterday the landings at Prince Rupert had reached a total of 15,485,819 pounds as compared with 13,907,900 pounds at a corresponding date last year. The greater American landings are entirely responsible for this year's increase, the Canadian catch being less than in 1939 due, no doubt, to the fact that some of the Prince Rupert boats throughout the year have been engaged in naval duty rather than their usual pursuit of fishing. The American landings up to and including yesterday were 9,617,600 pounds as compared with 7,679,300 pounds as against 6,228,600 pounds. During the week ending yesterday landings at Prince Rupert totalled 629,000 pounds — 107,000 pounds from Canadian vessels and 522,000 pounds from American. Prices during the week remained steady at a very satisfactory level. The top bid of the week for Canadian fish was 11.6c and 8c which the Cape Race and May West received for catches of 16,000 and 18,000 pounds respectively, the Canadian low being 10.5c and 8c paid the Salda for 1200 pounds. For American fish the high price of the week was 12.3c and 8c which the Tatoosh was paid for 17,000 and the low 10c and 8c which a number of vessels received for their catches.
