Money Dealers Are Hard Hit

Nothing Doing in Foreign Exchange Trading Now

NEW YORK, July 23: (CP)—Business of the money lenders on foreign exchange has fallen off almost to the disappearing point. Many foreign currencies have entirely disappeared as a result of the war. The British government has clamped down a tight control on sterling.

FIRES IN B.C. BAD

Last Week Was Worst in History of Province From This Standpoint, Assistant Chief Forester Says

VICTORIA, July 23: (CP)—Last week was the worst in the history of British Columbia for forest fires, declared C. D. Orchard, assistant chief forester for the province, yesterday. Unless rain falls in considerable quantity within the next few days, it may be necessary to further restrict logging operations by closure as a measure of safeguard.

The situation is particularly serious on Vancouver Island, Lower Mainland and the southern interior. During the week there were 600 new fires, mostly in the Kamloops and Nelson districts. A new fire near Alert Bay is reported.

Rescued From Burning Hotel

Man Taken Out of New Westminster Hostelry by Firemen

More Machinery For West's Use

Combine Harvesters On Increase Both In Prairies And East

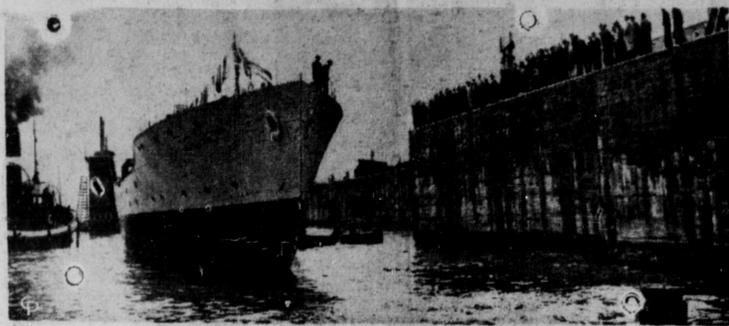

MONTREAL, July 23: (CP)—The use of the combine in Canadian agriculture is increasing notably. Sales of these harvesting implements rose 97 percent last year.

Most of the combines are used in the prairie provinces but they are coming into extensive employment in eastern Canada. In 1939 an official bulletin reported over 400 combine harvesters in use in eastern Canada.

PETITION TO SOVIET

Foregone Conclusion That Three Baltic States Will Be Accepted By Russia

RIGA, Latvia, July 23: (CP)—Communist Parliaments of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania sped plans yesterday for state control of property, industry and banks after voting to petition Soviet Russia for membership. Approval of the petitions, with which delegates were expected to depart for Moscow later in the day, was regarded as a foregone conclusion and union with Russia was accepted as an accomplished fact. Tallin, Riga and Kaunas—the capitals of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania—are in festive air.

New Argument On War Slang

English Writer Not So Sure Of Mencken's Version Of Things

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—H. L. Mencken, American writer, thought he had something when he interpreted the "first crop of English war slang" for his countrymen. But Lionel Hale, in "The News Chronicle" here, contradicts Mr. Mencken's translation of new colloquialisms.

To begin with, "Flap," meaning a scare, originated with the air-men," according to Mencken. But Hale says the word originated in the Navy at the beginning of the century and has been in common use for years.

Mencken's "Blitzflu," meaning a sudden attack of "flu," is dismissed by Hale, who said he "never heard of it." "And I doubt if you have either," he challenges his readers. Mencken was too hasty in including "vackie" for evacuee. The word was used in the early days of the war but was not popular.

Mencken explains "to brown off" is "to be fed up." He's partly right but Hale says the phrase is "to be browned off." It is an army term which derives from the hot suns of India.

There are some good slang terms Mencken has missed entirely, says the English writer. Two of them are "to get cracking," and "to lay it on." But he neglects to explain what they mean.

Best Fishing In Ten Years

Salmon gillnetters are making their heaviest catches in ten years on the Skeena River, according to reports reaching the Dominion Fisheries offices here. Last week boats on the Skeena River averaged 275 sockeye daily with the high boat getting 800 fish. So far this season the high boat for a single day has been 1900 fish. Best fishing is around Stand-ard cannery, the Gap and Eddy Pass.

WILL TRAIN CIVILIANS

Formation Of Local Defence Corps To Be Proceeded With

At a meeting of the executive in the Canadian Legion Clubrooms last evening further plans were outlined for the formation of a local civil defence corps. This will be in co-operation with other local units already formed. A meeting is called for Thursday evening in the Legion clubrooms and to this are invited those who registered under the local voluntary registration plan as well as any others who are interested.

Arrangements are being made to proceed with active drills with instructors lent from the local military units. There will be instruction in anti-gas measures, the use of gas-masks and actual experience of passing through gas-filled chambers under the protection of gas-masks. Light physical training exercises will form a part of the activities. First-aid and signalling instruction will also be provided. The committee felt that the people of Prince Rupert would be as anxious to equip themselves as those in the British Isles who are fighting our battles in the front line. This organization hopes to provide the citizens with a desirable outlet for their activities.

It is anticipated that the Legion Defence Corps will provide the nucleus of the organization as the ex-service man is already by virtue of his training to a large extent trained but the committee is anxious that the male citizens of Prince Rupert should feel that this is their opportunity to show that they are keenly desirous of doing what they can.

Stuck To Plane, Saved Comrade

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—The story of a British bomber pilot who brought his flaming plane to earth in order to save the life of his wounded gunner is revealed in an official Royal Air Force report.

The act of outstanding bravery occurred just before the R. A. F. withdrew from France. The report of the bomber squadron-commander read:

"One of my pilots was leading a bombing raid on strong enemy columns. After the task had been completed his aircraft was attacked by seven Messerschmitt 109s. In the course of the pursuit the rear-gunner shot down one Messerschmitt in flames and disabled another. After that the British pilot found cover in a cloud.

"On emerging, however, the bomber was again attacked by a stray Messerschmitt 110 from a range of only 50 yards. The attack was at once returned and once more the air-gunner saw his opponent burst into flames and dive headlong to the ground. The German pilot had, however, scored a number of hits which set the port petrol tank on fire. The order was given to abandon aircraft. The observer jumped and made a safe landing. The pilot stood on the wing and was about to jump when he saw that his rear-gunner was still inside wounded. Without hesitation the pilot got back into the aircraft and brought the flaming mass safely to earth. He then helped his gunner out. Within a few minutes of their getting clear, the aircraft blew up."

WEEK-END IN REVIEW

Churchill Expected To Reiterate "No Compromise" Today—Principal Events Of Last Three Days Summarized

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, it is expected, may declare anew the British government's stand on the war in answer to Chancellor Adolf Hitler's "last" peace offer when he appears before the House of Commons today. A final and resounding "No" is anticipated. Churchill's speech today will follow that of Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax who, as had been taken for granted, yesterday replied in the negative to Hitler's peace overtures. As expected, it was a "no compromise" reply that Halifax made to Hitler. Halifax address was addressed to the British Empire and the United States and was heard by radio at 12 noon Pacific standard time.

Outstanding developments of the war at sea and in the air over the week-end as recorded in the Daily News were as follows:

The air battle over the English Channel Sunday in which six British Hurricane fighters drove off an enemy bombing squadron of eight planes without loss to themselves.

The destruction of twenty-one German raiders Saturday, three Sunday and two or possibly three more Monday morning when they appeared near a town in south-west England.

Royal Air Force raids on the German naval base of Wilhelmshaven and other targets in Hamburg, Bremen, the Ruhr district and Nazi-occupied Norway, Holland and Belgium during the week-end, eleven British planes being lost.

The British Admiralty announcement of the loss of the destroyer Brazen, damaged in an air attack; the submarine Salmon, of courageous record, long overdue with a crew of twenty-four, and the small mine-sweeping Crestflower with two seamen. The Brazen sank while being towed to port following an aerial attack. There was no loss of life. She had shot down three of her attackers.

Damaging of supply ships and blowing up of an enemy oil tanker in the Mediterranean area by British planes.

LOSSES IN SHIPPING

British Destroyer Strength Greater Than It Was In September

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—The Admiralty announced today that nine British merchant ships totalling almost thirty thousand tons, four allied ships, totalling more than seven thousand tons, and six neutral ships, totalling more than twenty thousand tons, were sunk by enemy action during the week ending July 14.

Naval correspondents at London say that, while losses have been heavy in destroyers, the navy's destroyer strength is greater now than it was at the outbreak of war in September.

WAR ON WEEDS

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—Invasion or no invasion, the Minister of Agriculture has warned English building estates must not permit land to become so overgrown with weeds it cannot readily be built on.

INDIA STOPS EXPORT

DELHI, July 23: (CP)—An "extraordinary" official gazette has prohibited taking out of India, by land or sea, any arms, munitions, military stores, chemicals and chemical preparations.

TAXES ARE INCREASED

Income Impost in England Boosted To Forty-Two and One-Half Per Cent

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood presented his first emergency war budget today, calling for vastly increased taxes to meet with an estimated annual expenditure of three billion pounds, or more than thirteen billion dollars. The income tax is increased one shilling to eight shillings six pence per pound or forty-two and one half per cent.

Sir Kingsley said that the proposed sales tax was being withdrawn and a new measure involving fundamental changes would be introduced.

House May Be Able Next Week To Rise

OTTAWA, July 23.—Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King expressed the belief that Parliament may be able to prorogue next week. Morning sessions are about to commence in order to facilitate the speeding up of remaining business.

The Prime Minister urges that there be a minimum of political activity in forthcoming federal by-elections.

DAMAGE IS NOT GREAT

German Air Raids Not Having Much Effect—French With R.A.F.

LONDON, July 23.—Far flung German air raids during the night extending from the Thames estuary on the east to Wales on the west and from northern Scotland to southern England caused little material damage and resulted in no fatalities although some houses and civilian property were hit and a few people injured, the government announced today. High explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped in midland industrial areas but fell wide of their objectives.

Twelve enemy planes flew over Wales, the largest number to be seen there so far in the war. The enemy seemed to be particularly interested in attacking shipping.

During the night one Scottish town was hit twice and several persons were injured. Houses and shops were damaged.

General Charles DeGaulle announced that French fliers took part for the first time with the Royal Air Force in successful air raids on oil tanks, barges, ships and other objectives in Germany and German-occupied territory. Off the Danish coast a 14,000-ton enemy supply ship was successfully bombed. At least one German plane was brought down during the day.

Sank Ship at Bergen

The Admiralty announced today that British naval dive bombers attacked a German base at Bergen and, although hampered by adverse weather and poor visibility in striking some of their objectives, succeeded in sinking an anti-aircraft ship.

The 24-foot yawl Hunter, Alaska-bound from Seattle with a couple of men on board, is tied up at the Canadian National Recreation Association Yacht Club floats, having arrived yesterday afternoon.

BUTTER OR GUNS?

At the beginning of this war the Germans declared that guns were more important than butter. Today it is beginning to dawn upon them that butter is just as important as guns and tomorrow they will be realizing the possibility that butter may be the chief factor in winning the war. Butter, of course, means food of any kind. Hungry people do not fight well and hunger is one of the chief causes of discontent.

The blockade against enemy countries has tightened. Temporarily the Germans have been getting food and other supplies from France and the conquered countries but that will make these countries short before long. Italy is also not very well supplied. There is a shortage of wheat and flour in that country. All this means that if Germany is to win, she must have a quick victory—something that is not at all likely. The British stores of wheat, flour, bacon and other supplies look good to the Germans and she knows, if she can take Britain within a month, she can raid the British storehouses. The Germans are fighting for food as well as for imperial domination. In Germany guns have been more important than butter. Now butter is beginning to take precedence.

OFFICIAL ANSWERS

British statesmen have answered Adolf Hitler in no uncertain manner. His offer of peace on his own terms is not even considered. As one broadcaster mentioned Sunday, it caused only one big laugh from the British Empire. Great Britain will not stop fighting until she can dictate peace on her own terms instead of accepting terms from the enemy.

MINOR ENGAGEMENTS

The land fighting in Africa is of no particular importance except that the results may have some slight effect on morale of the Mohammedan population which today is largely pro-British. More important have been the bombing of air bases and ammunition dumps on the north coast of Italian Africa where large quantities of supplies had been assembled for the use of the enemy against Britain. Most of these have been bombed, the oil set on fire and airdromes destroyed.

STUDENTS DID WELL

Evidently students of the Prince Rupert High School did well in the recent University senior matriculation examinations. They scored high marks and two students won scholarships. We congratulate those students and also the schools that have been responsible for their education. We hope this result will be an incentive to further successes.

TERRIBLE WARNING

The auto accident which occurred at the week-end brought sorrow to a widow and fatherless child, besides ending the life of a man engaged in a useful calling. It should prove to be a solemn warning to those who use automobiles. We cannot comment further because the case is before the courts but it is clear that one man lost his life, one woman lost a husband, and one young boy lost a father as a result of what happened. Prince Rupert is no place for speeding cars.

ON WESTERN FRONT

Situated in an advance position, this French village was the target for local artillery duels on the Western Front. It was evacuated at the beginning of the war as were other villages along the Western Front.

BOYS' CAMP COMMENCES

Party Of Eighteen Leaves For Porcher Island Monday

Extensive plans which have been continuing for many months reached a successful culmination when the first annual boys camp commenced at Porcher Island with a party of eighteen leaving town at noon yesterday.

The camp will continue for ten days after which it is hoped that a girl's camp under the auspices of the girl's work board of the Religious Education Council will commence.

Mail and provisions are planned to go out to the camp on Sunday next which will be a general visitors day at camp. Plans are under way for a special boat to take visitors out in order that parents and friends may inspect the camp site and visit the boys. The boys will be given the afternoon free of any special program so that they may be with the visitors.

The highlights of the program will be exercises, dress parade, flag-raising, morning watch, breakfast, camp clean-up, Bible study, handicrafts, softball, swimming, lunch, rest hour, afternoon activity, swimming, dinner, evening sports, sunset services, flag-lowering, camp fire and bed.

Special activities are planned for each afternoon among them being hike, treasure hunt, sports day and visitors' day.

Three rowboats are to be with the camp and great care has been given to the supervising of swimming, hikes, etc., all such activities will be done as a group and not individually.

Signalling, swimming and first aid instruction will be given to the boys. Leather work, belt work, woodcraft and building will be some of the handicraft subjects.

A small library has been gathered and approved by the boys work board as suitable for the camp.

GROTTO WINS, ALSO COOKIES

Decisive Scores in Ladies' Softball League Fixtures Last Night

In the regular Ladies' League softball fixtures last night the league-leading Grotto had no trouble in defeating Velvet by a score of 18 to 10 while, in the second game, Cookies white-washed the Service Club 31 to 1.

McLeod did the hurling for the Service Club while Thompson and Barber were on the receiving end. For Cookies, Hingston and Arnsten comprised the battery.

The harum-scarum tomboyish Babe Didrikson—whose running and jumping turned the 1932 Olympic Games into a one-girl show—has matured into a pleasant, snappily-dressed young lady who is just about tops in another sport, golf. After she went professional, following the Olympics, Babe took a fling at exhibitions in various sports, then concentrated on golf. She won her first major golf championship at Milwaukee the other day—the U. S. women's western open. "No other woman in the world can hit like she does," says a rival, the veteran Mrs. Opal Hill.

New Hat Style Is Anti-Bombs

Head-Covering to Offset Effect of Air Attacks Appears in London

LONDON, July 23: (CP)—Newest idea for protecting individuals from the effects of air bombing, the Contra Blast Bandeau has made its appearance in London stores.

Resembling a football helmet with the top removed and the ear muffs longer, the bandeau for men as well as women is made of aerated rubber and is designed to guard delicate nerve centres, particularly the ear centres and the front and base of the skull. The rubber is supposed to absorb the shattering elements of concussion from bomb blasts and gunfire.

The bandeau comes in colors of brown, blue or black and costs about $1.20 in Canadian money.

The top part of band must be pulled well down over the forehead so that its base is just above the eyes. The two ear muffs hang below the chin and are held in place when laces attached to the two are tied beneath the chin.

About Half Folks Are Good Natured

Acc Waitress Tells Experience in Getting Along With People

OAKLAND, Calif., July 23: (CP)—Democracy, whatever its troubles elsewhere, is making good in the restaurant business, says Dorothy Uttecht, hotelman's choice as the Pacific Coast's No. 1 waitress.

"We seem to be getting out of the servant class," she says. "People recognize our line of work and their attitude is more human and friendly."

But there's still trouble; she wouldn't classify more than 50 percent of her customers as really good natured. Although she's a pretty blond of 26, Dorothy says she doesn't get any special breaks from men customers.

In eight years of table waiting, Dorothy never spilled soup down a patron's back. Her worst accident was dropping a tray of dishes.

Girls who don't make good at waitress jobs, says Dorothy, are usually temperamentally incapable of keeping sweet tempered and getting on with people. "Sometimes they regard their job as just a temporary lull while they're waiting to get married, so they won't learn how to serve properly," she adds.

Dorothy got part of her training from a boss who was quite patient with her. Later she married him.

WEDDED ON SATURDAY

Miss Mary Nelson Becomes Bride of Sergeant Kenneth Malthouse

A wedding of much local interest took place Saturday evening in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral when Miss Mary Nelson was united in marriage to Sergeant Kenneth Malthouse.

The bride, charmingly attired in blue with matching accessories and carrying roses and sweet peas, was given in marriage by her father, J. S. Nelson. The bride's sister Mrs. W. M. Watts, wearing navy blue and white accessories with corsage of gladioli and carnations, was matron of honor while the groom's brother.

The happy couple left the church under a bayonet arch formed by a guard of honor from the groom's unit—the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held in the Canadian Legion hall which had been prettily decorated for the occasion. Mrs. Thomas Boulter and Mrs. Jack Nelson received with the bride. The guests numbered about 150.

As they were standing in an archway of flowers and greenery accepting the best wishes of friends and associates, a toast to the happy couple was proposed by Colonel J. J. Burton-Wellington R.C.A.S.C.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. R. J. Kerón, Mrs. A. E. Lowan, Mrs. Hibbard, Mrs. John McLeod, Mrs. Jack Wrathall, Mrs. Frank Glass, the Misses Bea Hunter, Ann McLeod, Netta McLeod. Also helping were the young Misses Joyce Watts and Kay Nickerson and Master Billy Watts.

Refreshments were in the capable hands of Sgt. and Mrs. William Young.

A beautifully decorated three-tier wedding cake was cut by the bride with a bayonet.

Later in the evening, as the company were enjoying dancing, Sgt. and Mrs. Malthouse left by motor for Diana Lake. They will return early in the week and Sgt. Malthouse will resume military duties here.

RELIEVE SUFFERING QUICKLY WITH KELLOGG'S ASTHMA RELIEF

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chambers of Vancouver, who arrived in the city at the end of the week from the south aboard the Cardena and have been spending the past couple of days in the city, are sailing by the Catala this afternoon on their return south.

Dean and Mrs. J. B. Gibson left last night for their farm at Kitwanga for the holidays. They expect to remain away nearly a month. The Misses Eileen and Noreen Gibson are holidaying at Lakelse. While the dean is away the services at the Anglican Cathedral will be taken by Rev. W. F. Canon Rushbrook, Rev. W. E. Collison and Rev. James Gillett, one Sunday each.

Flower Show To Be First Carnival Day

The executive of the Prince Rupert Horticultural Society, at a meeting last night, decided to hold its annual flower show on August 21 at the Exhibition Hall. Owing to war conditions the garden competition will be eliminated this year. The date and place for the show was decided on in deference to the wishes of the committee handling the Carnival and will be in conjunction with the carnival and a part of its attractions.

Charles Balagno was appointed manager of the flower show and he and Frank Warne are a special committee to arrange for the revision of the prize list which will be distributed by Secretary C. G. Ham.

If an outside judge cannot be obtained, the show manager will arrange for local judges, at least two to be appointed to act in consultation with each other.

It was suggested at the meeting that the Horticultural Society should withdraw for this year and let the carnival committee handle the flower show but this was voted down and the decision arrived at to stage the show as usual except with a slightly restricted prize list.

Miss Louise Norman arrived in the city on the Prince Rupert yesterday morning from Ketchikan and proceeded by the evening train to St. Ignace, Michigan.

Charles Yeltzke and Willis White, Indians, for drunkenness, were each fined $10, with option of five days' imprisonment, in city police court yesterday.

R. E. Moore sailed Saturday afternoon on the Prince George for a business trip to Vancouver. He was accompanied by his daughter, Glenna.

A meeting of all who registered under the local National Voluntary Registration will be held in the Canadian Legion Clubrooms, Thursday, July 25 at 8 p.m. to proceed with the formation of a local defence corps. All interested are invited.

BRITISH FLIERS WHO BOMBED NAZIS AT BER GEN

The crew of a big British bombing plane is shown waiting for a re-load of bombs after a flight across the North Sea and return on a bombing raid on Bergen, the Norwegian port held by invading Germans. The bombs shown on the carriage are of the type used in the series of raids made by the R.A.F. on Norse coastal points held by Nazis.

FACTS OF OCCUPATION OF

landed in Oslo the same morning and at once drove to Hamar where the Norwegian Storting was in session. The unit was led by members of the German legation in their own cars, marked "diplomatic corps." When the order went out for Norwegian headquarters for general mobilization the Oslo radio station said that the order was a mistake and there would be no mobilization. This order presumably came in the name of the commanding general of the Norwegian army. The fact was that it was issued fraudulently by the Germans who had by force taken over the radio in Oslo. The result was that for many days the people did not know what to do or believe. Still more, in order to make the betrayal effective, many of the German troops that came first wore Norwegian uniforms and spoke excellent Norwegian. They were recruited among a large number of German and Austrian young boys, who during the starvation period after the former war, had been taken into thousands of homes in Norway where they were brought back to health and vigor. These young men were now told that they were going back to Norway to help their benefactors to resist the Allied invasion. When the young men finally realized the actual facts, many of them committed suicide, rather than wage war against the Norwegian homes that had nourished them back to life and health.

Few Quisling Supporters

During the first frightful days, many people believe that Norway had been betrayed by its own men. However, almost every case reported of inside betrayal proved false. Self-evidently, there were a few Quislings but Quisling's own experiences serve as the best proof that he had very little support even among those closest to him. He had been in Berlin the week before the invasion. The invasion had been minutely prepared a very long time beforehand. Quisling returned to Oslo April 7. He was accompanied by a few of his Nazi friends, some young men, who served as his guard. They finally proved to be the only real supporters he had. When he was ordered by the Germans to secure a Nazi government, which lasted only two days, he did not succeed in securing a single one of them he appointed to actually serve. When he called them in to give the oath of obedience, not one person appeared. He ordered the heads of many organizations, labor shipowners and business men to come to a conference. Not one appeared.

The truth is that there was and there is much less of a "Fifth Column" in Norway than in any of the other countries in Europe. Hitler uses continuously the "Fifth Column" idea as his most effective propaganda material. It is a part of his program to create the impression that there are hundreds, thousands, millions of Nazi supporters all over the world.

It must be remembered that Norway, which had been at peace for nearly 150 years, had gradually come to believe that it never would be attacked. Norway had come to think and work for other things and values than war. Therefore, Norway had practically no equipment for even defensive warfare. The nation had no warplanes, no anti-aircraft equipment. The Norwegian government had never asked for Allied help and had never been promised such help. Still, when the invasion became a reality and the Storting met at Elverum to decide what to do, the 140 members present voted unanimously that Norway would resist the invasion. As president, I asked if the four party groups would like to take time to consider and discuss the matter as is our practice. One of the older members, who was not in sympathy with the administration group, answered at once for all that in a time like the present there were no parties, no groups. There were only Norsemen, only friends and defenders of the fatherland. The decision to fight for liberty and the country was immediate and unanimous.

Mr. Hambro declared that there never were more than 27,000 Allied troops in Norway. Of those 4000 were Poles; 19,000 French and the rest British. All of them were insufficiently equipped and never numerous enough to become a decisive factor in the war in Norway. However, if it had not been for the first British expedition that came to Gudbrandsdalen, King Haakon and the government could not have escaped being taken prisoners by the Germans.

At the present time the Germans threaten to take over the entire administration of Norway and to discharge all officials belonging to the former government. The Germans have a governor, or "Gauleiter" as he is called. He has his offices in the Kings Palace and he has by force established his living quarters in the beautiful private home of Crown Prince Olav at Skaugum. He did not think that the summer home of King Haakon at Bygdo was elaborate enough to satisfy his tastes. The civil administration in Norway is in the hands of a group of able, patriotic citizens. In the interest of the country they seek to avoid all acts and attitudes that would cause unnecessary friction and complications. They meet in the parliament building. But there they find that the former bronze tablet, where the names of the Norwegian sailors who gave their lives in the former war were engraved, has been taken away and a large statue of Adolf Hitler has been put in its place.

Norway With Allies

Mr. Hambro stated that he has spent the time since April 9 in Norway and Sweden and after June 9 in England to which country he escorted King Haakon and the government after the war came to an end. After two weeks in England, he left on a slow Norwegian freighter for Halifax. The boat sailed under British convoy. This boat, together with 1000 other Norwegian boats, still belongs to the Norwegian shipowners. Norway saved practically its entire commercial fleet consisting of more than four million tons. Most of these ships have been chartered by England and some by France. But they all sail under the Norwegian flag, on the seven seas of the world. Fewer Norwegian ships have been lost lately than during the time they were supposed to be protected by the neutrality regulations—this in spite of Hitler's submarines. Of the Norwegian sailors, 6000 are in England. There are also practically all the men formerly engaged in the whaling industry. They are occupied in the North Sea patrol.

One of the things Norway takes special pride in is the fact that practically the entire gold reserve in the banks of Norway at the time the Hitler hordes came has been brought out of the country. Some of the gold was brought across the ocean in small freight steamers, some of it in ordinary fishing schooners. Over one hundred million in gold is now deposited in United States and Canada.

Dr. Hambro stated that with this credit and a King and a government that has said "No" to the Hitler demand that the king should abdicate and the government resign, the people in Norway still hold that their country is "a going concern."

Dry Canteen Is Being Extended

Resort For Soldiers Is Proving Highly Popular

The dry canteen recently opened in the Stork Block on Second Avenue for the local troops has proven so popular that the other half of the ground floor of the building has been taken over for the purpose. The Irish Fusiliers will be responsible for the furnishings and, among other things, will put in a billiard table.
