Berlin Is Heavily Hit By Royal Air Force In Biggest Attack of War

British Bombers Stage Three Hour Raid and Drop Hail Of High Explosive and Incendiary Missiles—Only Part of General Raid

Strings of British bombers, flying at low altitude, made the most spectacular and heaviest raid of the war on Berlin during the night and, centering their attack on the north side of the Reich capital with hail of incendiary and high explosive bombs, started several fires and caused considerable damage with their salvos in widespread metropolitan areas. Bombs fell within minutes of the Reichstag. At least two civilians and some soldiers were killed and twenty injured, a Berlin announcement said, and it was expected the number of casualties would turn out to be considerably greater. The three hours' raid on Berlin people huddled in shelters. A warehouse near the diplomatic quarter and a police station were among the buildings hit and a number of homes were wrecked, according to the Berlin announcement. Elsewhere deep in Germany and in German-occupied France there were devastating bombings of military objectives.

The British pilots made long, low dives despite a furious barrage of anti-aircraft fire. Fires started in the centre of the German capital and especially the northern section. Blazes lit up the morning skies long after the clear signals had been given. A check-up showed one railway station in Tegel suburb to be damaged and a warehouse in the centre of the city and a railroad yard set afire.

The attack on Berlin was part of a general raid on Germany in which the Royal Air Force bombers in waves also struck at the Ruhr Valley. Thus is marked a further intensification of the aerial warfare with Britain in the night.

The British Air Ministry announced but few raids by Nazi planes over the British Isles during the night, the attack being directed principally against London. Damage and casualties were described as "slight" although some persons were killed and injured. Early today was exceptionally quiet as far as bombing of London was concerned although indiscriminate bombing was resumed at 4:58 p.m. A hospital, church hall and warehouse were among the buildings hit.

HEAVIEST RAID YET
Today's attack turned out to be the heaviest thus far on London. Huge waves of German bombers, attacking in groups of more than a score each, swept against London late in the day and the dull boom of bombs reverberated over the city. The city over the Canadian Press office in the heart of London was rocked by anti-aircraft bursts and the line of the raiders roared high over the centre of the capital. It was the first attack in sixteen hours and continued into the night.

Buildings shook with the thud of bombs and the crash of defensive fire. The waves of attackers broke up into formations of from five to more than twenty.

The all clear signal sounded at 6:30 p.m. after an hour and forty-two minutes.

Spectators saw four planes come down in one of the many battles which developed. Germans in that area were, apparently, after oil tanks but anti-aircraft guns threw up a steady barrage that gave them trouble.

As the raid continued a blanket of smoke rolled up from the East. In the distance big columns of smoke were visible.

NAZILAND OBJECTIVE

Second Division Told By General Odium That It Will Not Rest Until Fight Carried to Germany

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 7: (CP)—Major General Victor Odium, in an order-of-the-day, declared that the Canadian Second Division was "at last concentrated and now comes under my command."

It was the first official statement that the movement of the second Division from Canada was now complete.

Odium told his men: "We will not rest until we defend our homes on German soil."

flying above the balloon barrage, was seen to drop fifteen bombs. A moment later three Spitfires dived into them.

Yesterday vast Nazi air fleets pounded Great Britain with renewed violence. The Germans lost 45 planes during the day and the British nineteen, ten Royal Air Force pilots being saved. During the day a factory was hit as well as a railway station. Homes were smashed on the outskirts of London but no airports were seriously damaged. Hundreds of planes battled violently off the southeast coast. One high explosive bomb dropped within fifty yards of a London cinema house last night as crowds were making their exit.

Despite persistent raids, an independent observer, after a survey, stated last night that the important west coast port of Liverpool had been only slightly damaged.

GERMANS LOSE MOST

A British announcement today said that 1688 German aircraft had been shot down by the Royal Air Force during the period between June 17 and September 6, the number including 688 of the heavy type of bombers. In the same period the loss of German fliers had been more than 4,000. These figures, it was stated, were out of all proportion to the British losses. During the past week alone Germany had lost 800 pilots as compared with 57 British.

ROOSEVELT DICTATOR

Wendell Willkie Comments On Manner Of Roosevelt's Deal With Great Britain

RUSHFORD, Indiana, Sept. 7:—Speaking here yesterday, Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for President of the United States, described President Franklin D. Roosevelt's deal with Great Britain for the exchange of American destroyers for defence sites on British Western Hemisphere possessions as "the most dictatorial act of any president" in the history of the United States. He held that there should have been congressional approval. Mr. Willkie pointed out that he was not discussing "the advantage or disadvantage" of the case.

Wait Ten Years
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7:—Asked yesterday for particulars of negotiations with Great Britain in regard to the exchange of destroyers for defence sites in the Western Hemisphere, President Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday referred to the State Department policy of not making public details of diplomatic negotiations until ten years after they had taken place.

Michael Is Applauded

People of Rumania Hail Their New Puppet King in Succession to Admitted Carol

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 7: (CP)—There were sweeping demonstrations in Bucharest and elsewhere in Rumania yesterday applauding the accession to the throne of Prince Michael following the abdication of his father, King Carol, now a broken and weeping man, who surrendered in favor of his eighteen-year-old son to the demands of Rumania's new military dictatorship. There were open demands for the head of Carol and indeed reports that he had been assassinated. However, he was believed to have left the capital to join Madame Magda Lupescu in exile.

Michael was proclaimed King although he is only a figurehead under General Ion Antonescu. His Mother, Princess Helene, has arrived in Bucharest.

At Berne today it was announced that the Swiss government had given Carol permission to reside temporarily in Switzerland.

General Antonescu said today that Rumania must adjust herself to the policies of Germany and Italy and make no move against Hungary, Bulgaria or Russia. The cession of Rumanian territory to Hungary and Russia was now a thing of the past.

Return of Dobruja to Bulgaria is already said to have been agreed upon.

PROPOSING UNION—STRONG, FLEXIBLE—FOR DEMOCRACY

Movement Headed By Former American Foreign Writer Gaining Support in U.S. Public Opinion

My ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 7: (CP)—As closer relations develop between the United States and the Empire, a proposal for a Federal Union of the British democracies and the United States is receiving considerable attention in this country in the wake of a strenuous campaign being carried on by the "Union now" movement, headed by Clarence K. Streit, former American foreign correspondent.

From its New York headquarters, the movement has extended its organization to half a dozen large American cities and is establishing organizers in scores of other urban centres.

Known formally as Federal Union, Incorporated, it was founded here 16 months ago but the French collapse and Britain's peril led to an intensification of activity in the past few months. The movement's most spectacular publicity effort has been publication of two full-page advertisements in leading American daily newspapers outlining in detail the case for a federal union of the remaining democracies.

Its New York office is growing weekly and officials of the movement claim the campaign is finding a response in American public opinion.

A declaration of inter-dependence, modelled broadly on the American constitution, has been drafted as the constitution for the "Union of the Free"—the name of the proposed federal governmental set-up.

An inter-continental congress is suggested on the basis of this Federal Union, with each democracy entitled to one representative and one more additional representative for each 5,000,000 people.

For Common Welfare
The Union plan, as summarized by the movement, is:

1.—Federal Unionists propose a strong but flexible union—like the American union of 48 states—to be founded by more experienced surviving democracies—to include the captive and suppressed democracies as soon as they are rescued and eventually all other nations as they

CHINESE IN INDO-CHINA

French Forces, However, Repulse Them—Situation Following Agreement With Japan

VICHY, France, Sept. 7: (CP)—An official dispatch today from Hanoi claimed that Chinese troops had crossed the Indo-China frontier on September 5 and were repulsed by French colonial troops after a sharp engagement. French losses were one dead and one wounded. Measures had been taken "to face any eventuality," the dispatch said.

The crossing of the Chinese troops into French Indo-China followed the agreement between the French colonial government of the latter country and Japan whereby Nipponese forces are to be allowed passage through the country to China.

It is stated here that the agreement provides the Japanese troops must not leave the railway right-of-way while passing through Indo-China.

Japanese demands for air bases in French Indo-China are said to have been rejected.

MANAGER FOR CITY

Hon. A. Wells Gray Promises to Introduce Measure in Legislature if Possible this Fall

At a meeting of representatives of the Prince Rupert Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce, the Prince Rupert Ratepayers' Association and the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council with Hon. A. Wells Gray, minister of municipalities, last night in the council chamber of the city hall, the whole municipal set-up was discussed and it was decided, so far as the meeting had power, that it would be satisfactory in connection with the proposed city manager plan that a clause be inserted giving the commissioner the right of appeal to the Lieutenant Governor in Council as the final authority.

Mr. Wells Gray said the provincial government was anxious to have the city take over its own administration but wanted it to set out right so as to avoid some of the mistakes of the past. He had had almost a lifetime of experience in municipal work and he knew how difficult it was to draw up a scheme of administration that would meet every situation.

W. M. Watts, president of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, presided. Captain J. T. Harvey, past president, stated the case for the committee that had drawn up a tentative plan, the one that had been published twice in newspapers under which the city council would choose a city manager who would be the city executive, handling all the detail of administration.

"OUR SEA"

Mussolini stated some time ago that he planned to make the Mediterranean "Mare Nostrum" or "Our Sea." During the past week the British have been sailing throughout that sea and there was none to dispute their passage. Also they sent more ships from the North Sea and other British bases to strengthen the Mediterranean fleet and there were none to dispute their passage into the sea as far as Alexandria.

We are not trying to make light of the value of the Italian fleet which may be holding itself for some supreme effort at a later date. By retiring to the protection of their forts they are able to choose their time for engaging the British, if they really intend to do so. Possibly they are awaiting an opportunity to take the British by surprise. At any rate, "Mare Nostrum" may be used by the British until its possession is disputed by the Italians.

PEACE POSSIBILITIES

There is once more talk of peace possibilities. We do not think there can be any peace until the power of the Nazis to overrun Europe has been eliminated. It is not for Hitler or Mussolini to set the time or place for making peace. Prime Minister Churchill, in consultation with other British leaders and with the approval of the King, will be one to set the time and place for the signing of any pact for ending the war. Peace will be dictated from London this time.

There have been criticisms recently of people who prayed for peace. It is said that peace without victory would be of no advantage to the world. What we should pray for is victory for our gallant forces so that the forces of evil may be subdued.

DESTROYERS ARRIVING

The destroyers which Great Britain secured from United States in exchange for naval bases on the east coast are being delivered and a few of them are already in service. These destroyers will be used chiefly for convoy purposes to defend fleets or merchant ships against submarines or airplanes, replacing speedier and more modern craft. All merchant ships are also armed and usually there are one or more cruisers with the larger convoys.

It is quite likely that these destroyers will replace some of the vessels recently sent to the Mediterranean.

Closing of 1940 Halibut Season Late This Month—Falling Off in Trolling Is Seen

Most important announcement of the past week in fisheries circles was that of the International Fisheries Commission intimating that, under authority of the convention between the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada, the International Fisheries Commission has determined upon the date of midnight, September 26, 1940 as that upon which Areas 3 and 4 shall be closed to all halibut fishing. This will terminate all halibut fishing on the Pacific Coast until after the end of the closed season. Permits for the retention and landing of halibut taken incidentally to fishing for other species in any area will become invalid at midnight September 30, 1940.

The Omineca Herald records that "W. O. Fulton came up from Prince Rupert on Friday and spent the week-end at his Lakelse Lake summer home. Pressure of legal business has held Mr. Fulton at the coast most of the holiday season. The boss is away earning money so Bill has to stay home and look after the business. It was always a mystery why L. W. Patmore was appointed to the Fishery Commission instead of W. O. Fulton. Mr. Patmore was never known to fish while that is the second best thing his partner Fulton likes."

C. P. R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. William Hughes, arrived in port at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the south and sailed at 10 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

During last week's extremely stormy weather trolling fishing fell off suddenly to a near vanishing point and the run has not yet resumed to any degree of volume. Prior to the sudden dropping off, there had been a fairly good run of cohoes.

The Forest Branch cruiser Lillian D. is back in commission, again after a thorough overhaul and cleaning up at the McLean yard at Seal Cove. The vessel is spick and span and in fine shape for her arduous duties with Ranger Jack Scott in charge.

Several hours late, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 11 o'clock this morning from the south, sailing at noon on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

Sonja Henie Has New Type Of Role In "Everything Happens At Night" At Capitol Theatre

A completely different type of picture for Sonja Henie presents the famed Norwegian skating star in a combined dramatic and comedy role in "Everything Happens at Night," an outstanding Saturday night feature at the Capitol Theatre here. Sonja's well developed acting ability makes her at home in the story and, of course, there are sequences in which she displays herself not only on skates but on sheer, shimmering ski slides.

Miss Henie's role is essentially dramatic but there are also light comedy touches which are injected as Ray Milland and Robert Cummings, as two rival newspaper reporters, fall for her and fight for her love as well as for one of the biggest stories of the day.

As the daughter of a famous European statesman hiding in Switzerland from enemies who are intent on extinguishing the light of freedom from Europe, Sonja aids her father in revealing to the world the sensational inside story of new international intrigue.

The cast also includes Maurice Moscovitz, Leonid Kinskey, Alan Dinehart and Fritz Feld.

MANAGER FOR CITY

ministration, the council dealing only with matters of policy.

Delay Suggested

When Mr. Gray was called upon, he said he had come expressly to inquire into the local situation in regard to this proposed legislation. He was not sure that it might not be better to wait another year before introducing the legislation. There were various federal and provincial reasons why delay might be desirable. He thought things were going on very well in the city and the new system would be largely a change of name. Many cities that had started out with a city manager had changed back to the old system. However, the government did not want to run the affairs of the municipality and, if the people here wanted the law, they would try to have it ready in time to be dealt with by the legislature. In any event the city would be consulted before it was passed.

When it was published that Prince Rupert was likely to have a city manager he had had about twenty applications for the position and not one of them was worth considering. All each wanted was a job.

The minister suggested that the city commissioner could hold monthly meetings to discuss civic problems. He suggested that the new manager be given the same powers as the present city commissioner but he would be appointed by the city council instead of by the government. However, in order to insure stability, the manager would have the right of appeal to the municipal department at Victoria.

After the minister had spoken there was further discussion in which J. J. Little, D. C. McRae, W.

It being finally agreed that, possible, the bill should be put before the Legislature this year and that the proposal of the minister to the final authority should be embodied in it.

Provincial Constable W. Aylward of Bella Coola was here today aboard the steamer Cardena going through to Vancouver with a passenger in his charge.

Constable Alex Gaunt, who has been stationed on the Naas River during the past summer in the provincial police service, sailed this afternoon by the Cardena on his way to turn to Vancouver.
