HUN GETS WORST OF AIR FIGHT

Has Been Losing Heavily in Air Attacks—R.A.F. Strikes Hard At Germany

LONDON, July 15.—British and German aircraft were in fierce combat again Sunday afternoon over the English Channel and anti-aircraft guns and pursuit planes brought down at least seven German planes while the British lost one. Dive bombers were used in the attack against convoyed British shipping. Royal Air Force counter-attacks being highly successful, chasing the enemy back to their bases. Earlier in the day Nazi raiders flew over northeast and other parts of England at great height but dropped no bombs. Being driven off before they could reach their objective.

Twelve German planes were brought down Saturday with the loss of three British machines. The Nazis concentrated on the Straits of Dover in the endeavour to harass shipping there. Three German fighters were destroyed by British fighters off the southeast coast of England Saturday night.

Meantime, the Royal Air Force continued devastating raids on enemy bases such as Kiel and Emden in Germany, Brussels and Ostend in Belgium and in France, the object being to stifle Nazi attacks on the British Isles. Germany claimed victories over the Royal Air Force in fighting off the German coast, 10 British planes being brought down with the loss of two Germans, these claims being denied by Britain.

Fourteen airdromes all over Germany and in the Netherlands were blasted by the Royal Air Force during Sunday. In addition, docks, aircraft factories, oil refineries, ammunition dumps, supply factories and other plants at many points such as Bremen, Hamburg, Emden, Wilhelmshaven and Mannheim were hit and damaged. On Saturday German naval bases and objectives in the Rhineland had been pounded by the British planes. Concentrations of barges at Bruges were set afire. There were many explosions.

In a single week, it is claimed, Germany has lost planes to the value of four million dollars while doing but little damage to British shipping or military objectives.

PETAWAWA, Ont., July 15: (CP)—Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, visited the artillery and engineer camps here yesterday.

Former members of 102nd Battery from Prince Rupert are now at Petawawa camp.

Gibraltar Raider Was Driven Off

Lone Plane, Believed To Have Been French, Visited Rock On Saturday

GIBRALTAR, July 15:—A lone air raider—believed to have been French—flew over Gibraltar Saturday. It was soon driven off by shore batteries.

Terrace Girl Is Home From England; Unusual Crossing Of Atlantic Is Described

TERRACE, July 15.—Miss Barbara Sherwood returned to Terrace Saturday by train from England. Miss Sherwood recently completed a course of nursing extending over the past four years. She is pleased to be home again with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nigel Sherwood, and away from the war zone. The journey from the Old Country proved to be very unusual as Atlantic crossings go. The ship contained a large number of notables and an even larger number of children and young people who were being sent to Canada to stay for the duration of the war, safe with friends.

One of the experiences Miss Sherwood does not regret was the work of a committee of ladies with whom she joined in attending to the wants of many of the children. A number of young women formed themselves into a committee to do this work which was too much for the available staff on board, so crowded was the 20,000 liner.

The authorities allowed the passengers to carry with them only £10 in cash. This brought some minor hardships on the long journey from Montreal to Terrace. However, Miss Sherwood stepped off the train looking well and strong and she says she would not have missed the trip for worlds.

ASKS NO QUARTER

"No Terms, No Parley" Wanted By Britain, Says Premier—Unafraid And Ready

LONDON, July 15: (CP)—Great Britain "seeks no terms and tolerates no parley," declared Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a speech to the world last night.

He said Great Britain was unafraid and undismayed by the prospect of attack or attempted invasion. There was every indication of a long and hard war extending not only through summer into winter but from 1941 into 1942 by which time it was trusted it would have taken a different form—an offensive instead of a defensive phase. Mr. Churchill was as convinced as ever of ultimate victory.

Great Britain now had 1,500,000 men under arms, fully trained and equipped, ready to assist the Navy and air force. Behind the forces stood a resolute people and a united and determined government.

If Germany ever attempted invasion, it would not find a people who would lie down in submission. Every city, every town, every village would be defended. Britons would rather see London in ashes and ruins than enslaved.

As for France, it would be treated with every sympathy, the Prime Minister said.

DEMANDS REJECTED

Central American Nations Not To Concede To German Economic Demands

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 15:—German, in a note to Costa Rica, has made economic demands. McNaughton, commander of the First Canadian Division, has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-General and has been placed in command of a new British Army Corps which has been set up by the British War Office and which includes the Canadian forces now in Britain. Announcement of the promotion is made by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence. General McNaughton is in his early fifties. The corps he is to head is being formed for a special contingency, it is understood.

Ark Royal And Hood Damaged

Big Naval Vessels Were Hit In Attack on Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, July 15:—It was reported two days ago that the British battleship Hood and the aircraft carrier Ark Royal were damaged in an air raid near Gibraltar. Further details were given out last night. Italian and German bombers made three attacks on Gibraltar and on the British vessels in the harbor of Gibraltar. Most of the superstructure on both the Hood and the Ark Royal was demolished by bombs. Yesterday Italian planes made another series of attacks on Gibraltar and guns aboard warships in the harbor and shore anti-aircraft batteries heavily shelled the attacking planes. Some direct hits were said to have been made on the fort.

LONDON, July 15: (CP)—The British Admiralty announces the loss of the 1375-ton destroyer Escort, after being torpedoed in the Mediterranean Sea. Two sailors lost their lives. The Escort sank while being towed to port after the torpedoing. It was not determined whether it was a German or Italian torpedo.

The Escort was built only recently at a cost of $1,200,000, carried a complement of 155 officers and men and was of the Eclipse class with a speed of 35 knots. Today the Admiralty further announced that H. M. S. Shark, a submarine, was presumed lost. There were no details as to how or where she met her fate. She was valued at $1,500,000 and had a crew of 40 men.

Rome reports, not confirmed in London, had said that a British submarine and a destroyer were sunk and British battleships and cruisers damaged and in flight after a battle with an Italian submarine in the Eastern Mediterranean. An Italian submarine failed to return. An attack was made by the Italians on Malta, it was further stated. Four British planes were brought down.

ATTACKS ERITREA

R.A.F. Sets Fire To Military Objectives—Effective Raiding Along North African Coast

CAIRO, July 15: (CP)—Heavy fires resulted from Royal Air Force bombing raids on Italian stores, barracks, ammunition dumps, tanks and airdromes in Eritrea, a Royal Air Force communique said today.

The Air Force engaged in extensive raids yesterday all along the enemy controlled coast of North Africa from Libya eastward along the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden. Bases and supply dumps were effectively attacked. Shipping was bombed at Tobruk.

Two British planes were brought down. Aden and Malta were ineffectively raided by the enemy.

At Mayale, base on the Kenya-Ethiopian frontier, the British garrison has withdrawn after heavy attacks.

FIRST LORD TELLS HOW WAR GOES

Great Britain Getting Stronger Every Day While Enemy Loses Ground

LONDON, July 15:—Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the British Admiralty, says that, within eighty days, the British have shot down at least eighty German planes and probably fifty more.

"Surrender!" exclaimed Alexander, "why, Great Britain has just started to fight! We are more than ever determined to maintain our way of civilization, our tolerant, kindly way. Daily our defences are growing stronger against invasion. Daily we are producing more and more munitions of war. Every dominion and every colony is giving help with devotion and sacrifice. We also have the sympathy and understanding of the United States. We would ask the United States to regard that this fight is as much for them as it is for us."

Despite the new submarine campaign of the last six weeks, in which 60,000 tons of shipping had been lost, and the much boasted German blockade, Mr. Alexander pointed out that shipping to the extent of 2,750,000 tons weekly was being handled through British ports. The chance of vessels being sunk in convoy was still 681 to one against. Where, on the other hand, was Germany's merchant shipping?

Great Britain was not only fighting defensively but was hitting hard and carrying the battle into the enemy camp. Thirteen Italian submarines and three destroyers had been lost in one month in addition to other vessels.

UNITY OF EFFORT IN CANADA

Recently Hon. Piere Casgrain, French-Canadian, Secretary of State, speaking over a French broadcast, spoke of the value of unity in Canada in the win the war effort. This unity was shown in the way the emergency law had been received everywhere in this country. He said in part:

"The world has its eyes on us. On what we do in the present conflict will inevitably depend our ultimate destiny. Until now, we have been able more or less to orient our future if not always with the desired success. But now we must face the facts. Today, circumstances decide our fate and these circumstances are so much stronger than we are, that we ought to look them in the face, adapt ourselves to them with all our intelligence and with a clear understanding of the consequences which might result from a stupid obstinacy. The world which we have known up to now is falling around us. We must henceforth choose our place in the new world which will rise from this catastrophe. History has shown us, and events have confirmed it with a brutality beyond words, that small nations, even when they inhabit vast territories, need for their survival, the protection direct or indirect of one of the great powers directing the world.

"To this realistic conception of the life of nations, one might oppose a superior ideal, but we should be ignoring our most important social and economic interest if we were to disregard political facts and pretend to forget our allegiance with the great nations which, as a whole, share our ways of thought and life. For a long time we have been able to delude ourselves with a fictitious insolation. Fundamentally, we have always had common cause with Europe and our great neighbor to the south. Hitler's ambition clearly shows us today that Canada, as Andre Siegfried wrote "is an international power which ought to act as such.

"It said just now that circumstances are dictating our line of conduct. They are of such gravity that they also require us to consider them on a plane quite superior to that to which we have been accustomed. This means that to safeguard our liberties, our language, our economic and social life we must cease every quarrel and every campaign which has not, for immediate object, the pursuit of the war and our final victory. Anything can divert us from our present task, from assuring our liberty and our national survival should be completely ignored. Only on this condition will we Canadians, a small people with great ideals, survive. Our reward will be according to the way we act and the example we set now."

WHY WE SHALL WIN

Voltaire, the great French writer, said: "The English people are people who defend themselves." It is the knowledge of this that makes us sure that victory will come to our side. Canadians are helping, but it is the people of the British Isles on whom the brunt of the fighting will fall. They will fight, holding on like the British bulldog. They don't have sense enough to let go, even when beaten. That is why they will win.

ENLISTMENT DRAWBACK

One of the drawbacks to early enlistment in this war was the knowledge in some cases that as soon as a man enlisted, there was a man unsympathetic to the cause who would step into his job. Now that all are to be called up, there can be no such objection. The unsympathetic person has no advantage over the others. If all are registered and taken as they are required there is no objection to duty on the part of any. It is the only democratic method of carrying on the war.

Need Of World For Christian Service Great

The need of the world for Christian service was never greater than it is today, asserted Rev. H. G. Funston, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, at morning service yesterday. The responsibility of Christians for the well-being of their fellowmen was the minister's subject. Despite the conditions which beset the world—conditions which it was suggested were God's punishment for neglect by His people of His commands—there were still few who were willing to make sacrifices, complacently letting others assume the responsibility while they carried on in their own courses, still striving for social, perhaps financial, prestige. In the past persons and nations had had to make sacrifices to bring others to God. But never was it more necessary than today to bear the torch of Christ. Nor could the priest carry all the burden. Many felt that the time had indeed come for the layman to more and more proclaim God's word. Here everyone by precept and example could do great service in these trying times.

Employees of three logging companies of Queen Charlotte Islands—Allison, Kelly and Morgan—have sent to the Provincial Red Cross headquarters a sufficient sum to purchase a fully-equipped ambulance, which costs $1,750. Allison camp has installed a moving picture machine and net proceeds are remitted weekly to the Red Cross.

The members of the Chilliwack Red Cross branch are marvelling at the workmanship of garments knitted and sewn by Indian residential school children at Sardis. The most successful Red Cross show ever put on in the town netted $50.00 for the branch treasury.

Red Cross branches have now been instructed to accept "good remainder, about 60,000 will be held as new" washed or cleaned used in Canada. Already the Dominion government has asked for the loan and stored locally for use of a quantity of them to equip fugees in Canada. No used clothing cars carrying overseas is being shipped overseas.

ANDY HARDY STORY HERE

Feature picture for the special "Win the War" free show tonight as well as for the regular showings Tuesday and Wednesday, another of the popular Judge Hardy family pictures, starring Mickey Rooney and Lewis Stone, is the current attraction for the first of this week at the Capitol Theatre. This time it is "Judge Hardy and Son."

This picture deals with Mickey's efforts at amateur detection and involves him with three pretty girls, financial trouble and comical trials and tribulations in plenty. The plot starts with the judge interesting himself in the forclosure case of a loveable old couple, Mickey turning sleuth in order to locate an essential relative. This gets Mickey into contact with three pretty girls and in trouble with his own sweetheart. He also engages in a daring speed-boat trip on a flooded river.

Other members of the cast include Cecilia Parker, Fay Holden, Sara Haden and Ann Rutherford, all playing their parts as people in the country hamlet.

CONVENTION UNDER WAY

Conceded That Roosevelt Will Be Renominated by Draft

CHICAGO, July 15.—With the consensus of opinion that President Franklin D. Roosevelt will accept a third term nomination by draft, the Democratic national convention opened here today. It is not expected the President's name will be placed in formal nomination but that there will be a draft resolution. At least 790 delegates are pledged to the chief executive. He himself has made no direct promise to run.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the resolutions committee, indicates that the platform will include planks opposing the sending of American youths to foreign wars, approving Roosevelt preparedness policies, reaffirmation of the Monroe Doctrine, condemnation of totalitarian governments which would undermine world democracies and the security of human rights. Postmaster General James A. Farley, who managed the last two Roosevelt campaigns and who is supposed to be in the President's confidence as to third term intentions, said today that his name would go before the convention and would not be withdrawn until balloting was completed.
