Keen Tension In Far East Now

Crisis Between Japan And Indo-China Near Point Of Breakdown

Naval and Air Bases Said To Be Demanded by Nippon—United States Ready to Take Hand?

HANOI, French Indo-China, Sept. 20: (CP)—With all Japanese civilian nationals moved from this French colonial capital and Japan placing a time limit for the settlement of military demands, negotiations with Japan reached a crisis if not an actual breakdown today.

Major General Nishihara, head of the Japanese mission trying to work out details of the Vichy-authorized grant of "limited facilities" for Japanese troops, has terminated negotiations and is preparing to leave. "When I leave you may say a crisis has been reached," he stated.

The deadline set for acceptance of Japanese demands is Sunday. Negotiations, it is said, reached a deadlock after Japan demanded naval and air base sites in Indo-China as well as permission to let troops go through to fight against China.

In Washington it is suggested that United States may move if Japan violates the status quo of Indo-China. Such a move might take the form of transferring the United States Pacific fleet from Honolulu to Singapore.

A British naval spokesman said yesterday that Great Britain was demonstrating in the campaign in Egypt, her complete mastery of sea and air in the Mediterranean area. ANOTHER NAZI ASSAULT, AIMED AT LONDON, HAS BEEN BADLY BROKEN UP

Enemy Planes Hurtle to Ground While Others of Huge Attacking Force Flee in Disorder—London Is Still Target

LONDON, Sept. 20.—A gigantic armada of between 300 and 400 enemy planes, in squadrons of about sixty each, passed over Dover today, evidently on their way for another attack upon London, but they met with furious resistance from British anti-aircraft fire and Royal Air Force fighters in a new type of ambush strategy and few were successful in reaching their objective.

OVERNIGHT IN LONDON

Strong forces of German raiders swept over the French coast this morning but Britain's vigilant defences repulsed most of them before they reached London. The Royal Air Force turned back more than two hundred enemy planes in battle over the southeast coast and the raiders were seen racing in disorder towards the French coast.

The daylight thrust followed a night of attack on London less intensive and on smaller scale than previous nights. Besides London, five Midland counties and the southwest were raided.

Major damage in London was to private homes. Some fatalities were caused when a bomb hit the escape hatch of a public shelter in a north London park.

The east end of London also suffered some casualties. Buildings damaged in recent raids, it is now announced, have included the London County Hall, Inner Temple of the Law Courts, library and public record office.

During last night's raid the German used a new type of "comet" bomb which shattered into fragments in mid-air like fireworks. The falling fragments set fire but were not excessively damaging.

One of the Nazi planes brought down during last night fell near a hospital. An anti-aircraft gun in southeast England, with a direct hit, was responsible for the disposing of another raiding ship.

There were also raids during the night on southeast and northwest England intervening parts of the country.

Thirteenth Consecutive Night Anti-aircraft fire opened on three London fronts last night and indicated that German bombers were attacking the city for the thirteenth consecutive night. Many Londoners were already in shelters when the firing began.

In an official communique the government estimated that ninety persons had been killed and 350 severely injured in Wednesday night's raids on London.

Royal Air Force Strikes Hard At Channel Bases Including LeHavre

LONDON, Sept. 20: (CP)—The Royal Air Force is continuing its slashing attacks on shipping concentrations along the German-held Channel coast "to disconcert the enemy's invasion plans," the Air Ministry said today.

OUR HIGHWAY

With action on the Alaska Highway through British Columbia as an international defence project, there is also good reason to suppose that the highway to the coast at Prince Rupert will be linked up with the undertaking we are advised in well-informed quarters that the Prince Rupert phase of the great undertaking is being seriously considered. Meanwhile, Premier Pattullo and his provincial government have not ceased pressing Ottawa a federal assistance for the Prince Rupert road as a national highway project. Possibly Prince Rupert's highway connection with the rest of the world may not be so far off in accomplishment as it might have seemed even though it has taken the menace of war to clarify its necessity.

SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Owing to the all-important business of war effort, the announcement of the opening of the British Columbia Legislature session does not appear to be a matter of much moment. Nevertheless, war or no war, the provincial administration has its important task of carrying on. Possibly, its functioning is even more important than in peace-time when, from the public at least, it receives a good deal more attention than it does today. Even in furthering the war effort, the provincial governments have an important role to play. Therefore it behooves us to continue our interest in them.

Earlier in the year there was some suggestion that a provincial election might be held before long. However, we are assured now that nothing along that line is contemplated in the immediate future. The present Legislature has two years to go yet and there appears to be nothing at the moment that would warrant the government making an appeal to the people before the time has expired.

OVER THE TOP

By the time this appears in print, Canada's Second War Loan, the books for which close at noon tomorrow, will probably be "over the top." It took the small investors of Canada longer than usual to realize that, if Canada's bonds are not good, neither will be the money in the bank or in the "sock" for that matter. Also, it might have been pointed out but the fact was not stressed, that, if the people had not chosen to contribute voluntarily, the government had the power to get its cash requirements by less pleasant means. However, that, happily, will not have to be resorted to at this time. It is a point, however, that might be remembered because there is nothing to indicate that this will be the last war loan. Indeed, unless there is some unanticipated and sudden change in the situation, generally, we may anticipate there will be several more.

Meanwhile until tomorrow there is still the opportunity for people to avail themselves of this pleasant opportunity of helping to win the war. Those who are able to and have not yet done so should not delay longer.

For the very small investors there will still be the war saving certificates and stamps which are quite as good as the bonds and equally effective as far as helping in the war are concerned.

AUSTRALIA IS VOTING

Government Has Had Hard Going And Labor Opposition Is Divided

CANBERRA, Sept. 21: (CP) — The Australian coalition government led by Prime Minister Robert Menzies, whose fate is being decided at the polls today, with labor groups as the opposition in the general election, has had a stormy career since it was formed in May, 1939.

A split developed between the United Australia Party and the United Country Party following the death of Joseph Lyons, prime minister and leader of the U. A. P. in the spring of last year. It hinged on personal antagonism between Mr. Menzies and Sir Earle Page, U. C. P. leader.

When Mr. Menzies formed a cabinet Sir Earle refused to cooperate and bitterly attacked the new prime minister in the House of Representatives.

Fate of the Menzies government hung in the balance for several months, since the U. A. P. needed support of the Country party to avoid defeat in the lower house. Obstructionist tactics by the U. C. P. didn't help matters.

When war broke out a coalition became inevitable. It was made possible by the resignation of Sir Earle as U. C. P. leader. His successor was A. G. Cameron. Finally, six months later, the coalition was formed. The partnership has been uneasy and the two leaders—both individualists—haven't pulled together smoothly.

Efforts by Mr. Menzies to get Labor to accept seats in an all-party government were without success.

Labor Split Too

The Labor opposition, led by John Curtin, also has its troubles. For instance, in New South Wales, three sections of Labor are contesting seats in the September 21 elections. All along, there has been a dissident left wing group of nine members in the House of Representatives. This group includes J. T. Lang, former New South Wales state Labor leader, who remains a stormy petrel of politics. This faction has compelled Mr. Curtin to move warily. Because of this, he rejected offers to enter an "all the talents" government under Mr. Menzies, though emphasizing Labor's support for the British Commonwealth in the war effort.

The left-wingers are mainly concerned with domestic political issues including restoration of Mr. Lang to party leadership in New South Wales.

Possibility of a deadlock after the election is foreseen by some observers. The government is expected to retain a majority in the lower house. But in the Senate it must capture 14 of the 19 vacancies to hold its majority.

Winnipeg Boy Caught Eye of Director and Is Given a Part

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20: (CP)—Ray Beque, youthful Winnipeg Canadian Pacific Railway telegraph boy, delivered a telegram the other day and became a movie actor.

Ray was spotted by a director of the film "49th Parallel," now being "shot" in this area, as a perfect double for Eric Portman, one of the leading men. Offered the job of playing the part of a Nazi aviator, Beque speedily accepted. He says lucky charms had nothing to do with his good fortune. He is listed as No. 13 on the C.P.R. records.

Divide Over Appointment

Archbishop Sweeney's elevation in 1909 from the rectorship of St. Philip's Toronto, to the Bishopric came as a result of protracted discussion in the synod over the appointment of a successor to Archbishop Sweatman. Controversy raged between the High and Low Church parties. The former desired the translation of Bishop George Thornloe from Algoma and a deadlock ensued when the Low party insisted on naming Canon H. J. Cody, rector of St. Paul's, Toronto, later president of the University of Toronto.

Neither could be elected and the synod compromised by appointing the popular rector of St. Philip's. He had been in charge of the parish for 27 years. It was his only post as rector in Toronto. He had come from Montreal soon after his ordination in 1880.

Born in London, England, November 15, 1857, Archbishop Sweeney came to Canada 11 years later, his parents taking up residence in Montreal. Educated at McGill University and Montreal Diocesan Theological College, his ordination was followed by two years' work in a Montreal parish.

Highly regarded in and out of the church for his consistency and fair-mindedness, the archbishop's sermons were thoroughly sound on the fundamentals of the Christian faith. Mankind's need of the supernatural in life met with adequate recognition in his preaching and he was especially happy when treating on questions of applied Christianity.

Doctrinally, Archbishop Sweeney would be best described as a moderate churchman. His preaching was remarkably devout and frequently noted for its simplicity, especially in addresses to children at confirmations.

He could hit straight from the shoulder. With only a few sympathizers he faced the big Toronto synod in 1929 to put forward the claims of St. Alban's Cathedral. Despite the synod's long disapproval of the proposal to go ahead with the scheme, the diocesan head declared the grand chapter of St. Alban's was an autonomous body and would proceed with the building.

Claimed Old Mandate

"I took a mandate to carry on from the synod of 1910," he told the synod. "I have asked to be allowed to continue until I die. After that you can do as you like. I feel I have opened my mouth unto God and I cannot go back."

"The very men who are bringing pressure to bear, if I yielded, would despise me in their hearts. I would go down to posterity as a man who was a coward and wouldn't stand by his guns."

With characteristic straightforwardness, Archbishop Sweeney threw all his weight to the cause of prohibition of the liquor traffic. He issued a formal letter to the clergy of his diocese during the campaign of 1921 when importation was the main issue. It was a challenge to moderate drinkers in which he fought the personal liberty argument.

"Surely as followers of the self-denying Master it is reasonable that those to whom liberty has never meant license should be willing to impose upon themselves a self-denying measure in the interests of those whose moral strength is insufficient to resist temptation," he wrote.

He concluded his farewell sermon at St. Alban's with the words: "I commend you to God and to the word of His grace which is able to build you up and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified. God bless you with all the riches of blessing in Christ Jesus."

Following his resignation, Archbishop Sweeney, on account of poor health, made few public appearances. He continued to take

Scottish Grouse Intrigue Gotham

Even With War On New York's Fancy Eaters Get English Pheasants, Too

NEW YORK, Sept. 20: (CP)—The Nazi "Total Blockade" of the British Isles hasn't made any appreciable change in the menus at Twenty One Club, sometimes known as Jack and Charlie's, where Manhattan's gourmets don't mind paying fancy prices for imported delicacies such as Scottish grouse, English sole and pheasants.

Jack Kreindler, one of the partners in the West 52nd Street 1/2 ng out for cafe society, said he has been receiving shipments of pheasant and sole quite regularly and has been notified that a shipment of 500 brace of grouse is en route. Due to the secrecy surrounding ship movements, he was not certain when they would arrive.

Last fall Jack and Charlie's sold 650 brace of grouse to their patrons, the price to customers being about $5 a bird. Import prices are lower this season, due to exchange and the fact that the demand is slower in the United Kingdom and other markets.

AMBITION TO BUILD

TORONTO, Sept. 20: (CP) — Most Rev. James Fielding Sweeney, who is dead here, served the Church of England in Canada for 52 years before retiring in 1932 as Archbishop of Toronto and Metropolitan of Ontario. Broken in health, he relinquished supervision of Canada's most populous diocese after a prebacy of 23 years.

Capable and courageous, Archbishop Sweeney brought to his high post a dignity and impressiveness that made him an outstanding figure in any assembly. Throughout his long term of office, the short, bearded churchman displayed a tremendous capacity for work and study.

His incumbency was notable for the long — and in the end unsuccessful—struggle to complete St. Alban's Cathedral, the foundation stone of which was laid by Archbishop Sweatman in 1887. In season and out, as bishop and later as archbishop, Bishop Sweeney sought to implement the pledge, made at his consecration in 1909, to complete this structure.

The cathedral project, an ambitious one, proposed the erection of a large Gothic structure, 343 feet in length, in a residential section in the northwest centre of the city. The choir of the cathedral was built early in the '90s. During his term as head of the diocese, Archbishop Sweeney raised approximately $125,000 which was spent on the foundation and crypt. For many years part of the foundation has been roofed over in the hope of completing the superstructure.

From its inception the plan for a pretentious building failed to elicit the support expected by its original sponsors. Subscriptions were slow in coming and, after the Great War had dealt the project a severe blow, a disastrous fire in 1929 practically put an end to hopes cherished by the archbishop. Bitterly disappointed, he sought to revivify the scheme but, a month after the fire, the synod of Toronto voted 103 to 29 against it.

He retired September 30, 1932, only a few months after becoming metropolitan on the death of Archbishop David Williams of Huron. Two years later the synod decided to complete a portion of St. Alban's for use as a parish church. The episcopal seat was removed to St. James in the downtown area when it was named as pro-cathedral in 1935.

Telling incidents and impressions of a trip he made last winter to Australia and New Zealand, Edward Lipsett of Vancouver was the speaker at yesterday's regular weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club, making his talk in the usual informal and entertaining manner. Former City Commissioner W. J. Alder also spoke briefly at the Rotary luncheon, referring to the weather and saying that it seemed to rain quite as hard on occasion in Victoria as it did here and that down in New Orleans, where he had been this past summer, they would be grateful indeed of some of Prince Rupert's moisture. W. R. McAfee named members of the Rotary Club whom he had selected to assist him in canvassing the downtown business section next week in the annual Red Cross campaign.

ENJOYING NAVY LIFE

Bob Eby Writes Interestingly of Naval Convoy Service on Atlantic Ocean

Life in the convoy service of the navy on the Atlantic Ocean is described interestingly by Bob Eby of Prince Rupert in writing to a local friend. Of course, it is not without its grim moments but, judging from what Bob has to say, there is also plenty of enjoyment and it seems to be a rather comfortable life for a young chap.

A grim incident which Bob describes in his letter is that of picking up a man on a raft. He had been adrift for seven days. On the raft were two other men but they were dead, having been wounded and succumbing to exposure. Their ship had been sunk by an Italian submarine and they had been machine-gunned as they struggled in the sea after the sinking of the ship. The rescued man was wounded in the legs.

The ship on which Bob is serving, evidently a converted cruiser, is twice as big, he says, as any ship that ever came into Prince Rupert. There is plenty of room for all manner of games. There are moving pictures on board and the latest feature pictures are shown.

Bob, on writing, had finished his first round trip across the Atlantic Ocean to within twenty-four hours steaming of England. On the ship he is a sub look-out and gun layer.

Describing the day on which he wrote, Bob said: "It's a swell day. The sun is shining brightly. The water is about as smooth as are moving pictures on board and the rough weather up to the time of writing but no doubt since then has experienced some."

HUNTING IS GOOD

Prince Rupert Nimrods Among Those In Field In Smithers District

SMITHERS, Sept. 20.—The shooting season opened last Sunday and all the hunters were out bright and early looking for ducks and grouse.

Every back road and lane had cars parked during the day while the owners beat the bush or skirted a lake looking for something to shoot at.

Both grouse and ducks seem to be quite plentiful this year and many of the hunters returned quite satisfied with the results of the day.

A number of Prince Rupert nimrods are in the field competing with the local hunters for the first shot at the birds.

CUPS WERE PRESENTED

Softball Banquet And Dance Draws Good Crowd And Is Enjoyable Affair

Marking the close of the softball season in Prince Rupert, a banquet and dance was held last night at the Boston Cafe. Sixty-five persons attended the banquet while 140 were present at the dance. Both affairs proved highly enjoyable.

With W. F. Stone, president of the Association, in the chair, the feature of the banquet proceedings was the presentation of the season's championship cups. The cup for the girl's championship was received on behalf of the Gretches by Miss Eileen Thomas and the men's senior cup by Corp. Brown for the Irish Fusiliers. Suitable comments were made by Mr. Stone and by the recipients. An acceptable program of entertainment included accordion solos by Mario Bussanich, songs by Miss Yvonne Riffou, stories by Fusilier Palmer and impersonations by Henry Montesano. Mrs. J. S. Black was accompanist for the evening.

For the dancing which followed the banquet, excellent music was furnished by Mrs. DeCarlo's Orchestra. William Stone was master of ceremonies. The affair concluded at 2:30 a.m.

DRAWING UP INCOME TAX

But They Are Given A Hand In Working Out What's To Be Paid

LONDON, Sept. 20: (CP)—British taxpayers, now paying record high rates of income tax to meet war costs, find new problems to harass them in the forms which the inland revenue department requires them to fill out for assessment purposes.

The British taxpayer has one advantage over the Canadian taxpayer—even if it's a minor one. The income tax authorities work out the amount the individual owes, based on his estimate of his annual income. In cases where the estimate differs from the actual income, the authorities adjust the assessment and the amount of tax payable.

But the British forms have always been complicated. Sundry cryptic abbreviations have made them still more difficult to fathom.

One taxpayer, baffled by the abbreviations, got the Income Tax

After several days' effort which resulted in the recovery of the body of Mrs. Donald Crerar, provincial police and Canadian National Railway searchers in Tchesinkut Lake have now given up the quest for the bodies of three other victims—Donald Crerar, Prince Rupert and Mike Umbo and Alex Erickson—of Sunday's interior drowning tragedy.

Here's what they told him: CY means current year; EIR, earned income relief (in other words exemption allowed on earned income); AS, allowance to a dependent person; DR, dependent relief; RR, rate relief (that portion of the income chargeable at less than the standard rate).

Put Wheat Germ
In White Bread

New Zealand Research Has Bakers
Getting Out Wholemeal Quality

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Sept. 20: (CP)— A process for incorporating in white bread the wheat germ, the source of the valuable vitamin B1,
has been perfected after a year's tests by the New Zealand Wheat Research Institute. The formula has been supplied to all bakers and it is predicted that the new process will supplant wholemeal bread.

The wheat germ is removed from white flour and the stress laid by dietitians on the value of vitamin B1 has led to the use of wholemeal bread, which includes the germ.
This is unpalatable to many people and some authorities maintain that the inclusion of a certain amount of husk in wholemeal is injurious.

Following recent discoveries in America of the ingredients of the wheat germ injurious to the quality of the loaf the chemists of the Wheat Research Institute found that the harmful effect could be overcome by a process of pre-fermentation. By lengthy tests the method has been adapted to ordinary bakers' practice and it is claimed the bread can be produced
as cheaply as the normal white loaf.

Four percent of the germ, as against two percent in a whole-meal loaf, gives bread hardly distinguishable from an ordinary white loaf. Feeding trials show that the nutritive qualities of the germ are retained.

TRIPLE FIRE TRAGEDY

suffered when a tin of varnish
caught fire on the hearth.

WILL CARRY ON

LONDON, Sept. 20: (CP)— Though previously stating that the factory, said to be the oldest of its kind in England, would close on account of the war, the Wilton Royal Carpet Company has decided to carry on production.

Artman Snyder, who for many years has been a settler in the Stuart River district, has decided to move into Vanderhoof to take up future residence.

of appropriating government funds to his own use, G. F. Bradley, formerly corporal in charge of the provincial police in charge of the provincial police at Vanderhoof, will take trial before Judge H. A. Robertson in County Court at Prince George next week.

and Mrs. G. E. Austin of Vancouver are spending a couple of weeks
here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs.
George Hawker.

completed and other improvements
made at the Jejac School, W. Warren of Kamloops having been supervisor of the work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fraser of Fort
St. James are on a three weeks'

VANDERHOOF

There are seventy-seven pupils
enrolled in the Vanderhoof School this term, twenty of these being in the High School grades. The teachers are Dr. James E. Horning, J. A.
Thomas and Miss Mary Piper.

Thomas Moran of Vanderhoof shipped a carload of Nechako Valley cattle to Vancouver last week.

Mrs. E. Patterson and her daughter, Mrs. T. Temple, have taken up residence in their new home on Burrard Avenue in Vanderhoof.

Miss Naida Thompson has returned from a motor trip to Grand Forks. Her brother, Darrell Thompson, remained there.

Mrs. L. F. Murphy has returned to Vanderhoof from a trip to New Westminster. She was accompanied by her daughters, Diane and Rosemary.

Miss Jean McGeachy of Vanderhoof is now in Ottawa where she has taken a position as stenographer in the Department of State offices.

Miss Olive Murray is teaching school this term at Darfield district
in the North Thompson area.

Mrs. John Gehrig returned to the Okanagan Valley last week after a visit here with her father, E. A.
Ahlm.

Miss Phyllis Reid returned to her home at Chilco last week from the Prince George General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Griffin of Victoria have been paying a week's visit here with their son, George Griffin, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff.

Rev. J. M. McCormack, in addition to Vanderhoof, held services last Sunday at Northside and Fort St.
James. Next week, Rt. Rev. G. A.
Rix, Bishop of Caledonia, on his way west after attending annual meetings of the Missionary Society of Canada in Stratford, will visit Vanderhoof.

Harvest operations are now in progress in the Vanderhoof district.
Throughout the Nechako Valley crops are for the most part very good. There is an abundant yield and the quality of the crops is excellent. The question of profitable markets is, however, a problem as usual.

With a number of matters affecting the welfare of the district under consideration, the Vanderhoof and District Board of Trade on Tuesday evening of this week held its first regular meeting of the season, meetings having been suspended during the summer months.

It's 1940 Minks
For 1941 Coats

Material Is Already In Production
In Fur Farms

NEW YORK, Sept. 20: (CP)— That mink coat Milady will buy at the 1941 August fur sale is already in production—on the mink farms.
Minks from which 1941 coats
will come were born last spring.
Living on a balanced diet, a mink comes to the age of six months with all attention of the owner on its fur. When this reaches peak in texture and shade, the "twilight sleep" treatment is applied and the pelt enters the processes which precede its selection for a particular garment.

HARVESTING PROCEEDING

Splendid Weather In Bulkley Valley For Getting In Seed And Grain

SMITHERS, Sept. 20:—Threshing of the timothy seed and grain crops of the Bulkley Valley has been proceeding apace for the past two weeks under ideal weather conditions. There has not been a single bad day to hold up operations during the past few weeks and the weather still remains settled. It has been taken full advantage of by the farmers in their harvesting operations.

The timothy hay and seed crop is lighter than usual owing to the dry weather in the growing season but later rains helped the grain crops immensely and these are quite satisfactory.

Binders and threshing machines are operating overtime to get as far along with the work as possible while the weather holds good.
