DEAN OF SENATE IS DEAD

Loss of Idaho Passes Away—Had Long and Colorful Career In Public Life

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 20: (CP)—William Edgar Borah, dean of the United States Senate, died last night at the age of seventy-four.

Mr. Borah's death ended one of the longest and most colorful careers in American politics. Had he lived until March 4 next he would have completed thirty-three years of uninterrupted service in the Senate.

The foe of trusts and monopolies, after taking his seat in the Senate in 1907, Senator Borah was also the champion of complete independence for the United States in foreign affairs.

He is survived by a widow. Life-long devotion to cherished principles and implacable opposition to others of which he disapproved characterized the career of William Edgar Borah of Idaho.

His more than 30 years in the Senate included two of the most crucial periods in American history, the World War years and the economic upheaval of the early 1930's.

These long fingers of sound—of bells, whistles and sirens snatching the covers back and tugging you wide-eyed and shivering from your bed at 4 o'clock in the morning.

The moment it opened a series of ear-splitting whistles from the policemen below and shouts of "fermez-fermez" (shut it) brought the realization the electric lights were on.

In a second they were off. In the corridor outside could be heard the clatter of feet and voices as the inhabitants of other apartments descended.

JUST A GESTURE

On Thursday evening the American radio stations carried stories telling of the action of the Ontario Legislature in passing a vote of censure on the federal government for the manner in which it is carrying out Canada's part in the war. Evidently its chief interest was that it seemed to indicate that the people of Canada were keener on the war than was the government of Canada. It was a gesture and an important one. Undoubtedly it reflects an opinion that is more or less general throughout the country. Possibly Prime Minister King's information department is not functioning as well as it might. It seems that the United States is keenly interested in Canada's attitude in the crisis.

SEVERE THREAT

When Premier Mitchell Hepburn placed his famous resolution of condemnation of the conduct of the war by the Federal government before the Ontario Legislature recently he did so accompanied by a threat that, if it was not accepted, he would resign as Premier, implying a possible election. It was a rather severe threat in that most members would not like to have to fight another election just now. Had half the members voted against the resolution possibly a number of the members would not have been returned to the next Legislature and those who did would have been put to great expense in fighting the election. The proviso greatly lessened the force of the resolution.

WHAT IS AN ANTI-CLIMAX?

The other night the C.C.F. held a party dinner at the Hotel Georgia in Vancouver. They had the usual run of rather fiery defiant speeches and when everybody was tired of the oratory and wishing to crawl into bed, a recitation was given, the whole of the famous Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam was inflicted on an unwilling audience. The C.C.F. has been subject to attacks at many times but none could have been as insidious and effective as this attack by one of its own members. The only consolation was the thought of "the jug of wine and thou" mentioned in the Rubaiyat.

PROMISE OF HELP

When the appeal was made by the Finns this week for help in holding the Russians from invading their country, the first to promise help were the British. They stated that they would see to it that the Finns had plenty of arms and ammunition. This is the sort of quick action the Finns like. If they had to wait for weeks of fine speeches and loose talk they might be driven out of their country before action could be effective. It shows what can be done in a really democratic country.

It's interesting to know when reading the Daily News that the people of the whole district are doing the same.

"HUNCHBACKS" OF FINLAND TERRIFY RUSSIAN TROOPS

Carrying their knapsacks under the white coveralls that make them almost indistinguishable from the surrounding snow, these hardy Finnish ski troops look like hunchbacks as they glide to their front-line posts on the Karelian front. These men have been the terror of the Soviet invaders, swooping down on isolated parties, pistol, machinegunning and knifing the bewildered invaders. Then fading away like wraiths, leaving confusion, terror and death in their wake.

Hospital Notes

To discuss the matter of rates for Indian patients, which like those for all others have been increased, and, if possible, reach some basis of compromise for reduction, Indian Agent James Gillett appeared before the board of directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital at its regular monthly meeting last night. Mr. Gillett assured the board he was anxious the best relations possible should exist between his department and the hospital. On account of the increased rates here, he had been asked to have Indian patients go to Port Simpson hospital instead of Prince Rupert. He was suggesting now the possibility of the board reconsidering the increased rates with a view to working out a compromise. Mr. Gillett mentioned the campaign which was being fought against tuberculosis among the Indians, something in which all were interested and might well assist. He suggested that the fees for Indian patients were "sure money" and a valuable source of revenue to the hospital. In reply, President G. P. Tinker pointed out that all hospital rates had been raised and there was no discrimination against the natives. H. W. Birch, managing secretary, stated that this matter had been taken up at the last convention of the British Columbia Hospitals Association. The view had been held that the federal government had no right to ask hospitals to care of Indians at less than cost. He cited instances where the Indian Department was paying more than the general rate in localities where hospital operating costs were higher. In Kamloops the rate was $3, the same as in Prince Rupert. In Atlin it was $3.25. After further discussion, the board agreed to give Mr. Gillett's suggestion further consideration.

The Department of Pensions and National Health had a letter before the board expressing willingness to pay $3 per day for hospitalization of soldiers inclusive of all charges except x-ray services and special medicines. The board seemed disposed to accept the offer which was referred to the finance committee.

The Department of National Defence offered the board 30c per film for processing of some 556 x-ray films in connection with medical examination of the local garrison. The offer was confirmed.

Managing Secretary H. W. Birch advised the board that he had taken up the matter of the military isolation hospital which the military authorities were seeking permission to erect on hospital property near the Nurses' Home. It was proposed to have a tar paper roof with slats. There appears to be still some doubt whether it will harmonize with the general atmosphere of the hospital buildings.

There was a lengthy letter from the Vancouver General Hospital reporting on a regional hospital conference which had dealt with many hospital problems including treatment contracts, costs, rates etc. The conference had gone on record as refusing to accept contracts at less than cost. The communication was filed.

Gifts Acknowledged

In her report for the month, Miss Jean Harrison R. N., the lady superintendent, advised the board that the hospital had not been so very busy since the Christmas season. Miss Harrison acknowledged a useful and much appreciated gift of some seventy hardwood window wedges from A. Ivarson. These were proving of much help in preventing window rattling. There had been Christmas donations for the hospital, Miss Harrison reported, from Chris Mill Bakery, Rupert Bakery, P. Burns Co., Sterling Meat Market, Bulkley Market, Rupert Butchers, Thomas McMeekin, S. C. Thomson, Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, Valentin Dairy, G. P. Tinker Co., Hill Sixty Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, Salvation Army. All gifts were ordered suitably acknowledged.

Frank Dibb, chairman of the building committee, reported that the matters of the elevator functioning, which was not altogether satisfactory, and window rattling etc. were being taken up with a representative of the contractors. Mr. Dibb also reported that Mitchell & Currie had completed the erection of an incinerator and had done a good job.

For the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. H. L. Landry reported that 1939 had been a very encouraging year. It had not been fully determined but it was estimated about $1000 had been raised by the Auxiliary.

The board authorized the installation of hat trees, clothing racks and an umbrella stand.

There was also discussion of the future of the x-ray technician service which has been conducted by Miss Purdy during the past six months. Decision was deferred pending a statement on the financial standing of the service since its inauguration.

Fire Chief H. T. Look, in his monthly report, found conditions at hospital and Nurses' Home satisfactory from his standpoint. Fire alarm systems, furnace rooms and housekeeping conditions were in good order.

Two Members Leave Board
Two soldier members of the board, W. M. Brown and G. V. Wilkinson, who enlisted immediately on the outbreak of the war and have not been able to give much attention to hospital work since that time, were present at last night's meeting and intimated that it had become necessary for them to sever their connection from the board at least temporarily. Mr. Brown had been a member of the board for fifteen years and Mr. Wilkinson for twelve years. The work, both said, had been a great pleasure to them and they hoped that some time in the future it might be possible for them to resume it. Meantime they hoped the old members of the board would carry on, President G. P. Tinker and other members of the board expressed regret at losing two such valuable members of the board.

A letter from Premier T. D. Pattullo enclosed a donation of $250 to the hospital building fund which the Premier had promised personally. A letter of thanks will be sent to Mr. Pattullo.

The Farmers' Institute of Terrace had a letter before the board suggesting that a note for $250 be accepted on account of a $319.35 indebtedness owed the hospital by the estate of the late W. J. Goodwin. It appears that the Institute owes this amount to the Goodwin estate which it is desired to settle. On recommendation of Mr. Fulton, the board decided to leave the account as it now stood.

Those present at the meeting were G. P. Tinker, president, G. V. Wilkinson, R. E. Benson, Frank Dibb, W. M. Brown and Mrs. H. L. Landry, directors; H. W. Birch, managing secretary, and Miss Jean Harrison R. N., lady superintendent.

Relief Problem Discussed By Public Meeting

At a meeting of the Prince Rupert unemployed in the Canadian Labor Defence League Hall Thursday night after a lively discussion regarding the cut in the relief...

animously decided to set up a protective association. The hall was well filled by an interested crowd. Reports were given that the various works now carried on have failed to absorb any great number of the unemployed. It was also reported that the relief rates, far from satisfactory, had been reduced to such a pittance in many cases that real starvation faces more especially those with large families. It was further reported that the cut in relief was of local nature, not provincial.

Lists for petitions to be circulated among the citizens were distributed. The next meeting will be held in the same hall Sunday.

H.M.S. Names Make Problem

Some Of Britain's Bigger Warships Named For French Fighters Of Years Ago

LONDON, Jan. 20. (CP)—Apart from actual conduct of the war at sea, the Admiralty has another problem—finding suitable names for the large number of vessels being constructed for conveying merchantmen, minesweeping and hunting submarines. The job nominally belongs to the First Lord but, because he is too busy it is generally delegated.

Various officers chose the names during the last war. The first 50 sloops were named after flowers in the garden of the Acting Admiralty and have been called the "herbaceous border" ever since. As far as possible the names are chosen so that ships of the same type have names from the same group—seaside towns, racehorses, naval heroes. Traditional naval names are divided among the heavier types of warship. The Admiralty is hampered in bestowing these "traditional names" by an order providing that names which entered the Navy List through capture from the French in wars of a century ago must be admitted. Often, a prize was added to the fleet with her name unaltered as a tribute to the resistance of her crew.

A fifty cent classified ad. will often make you many dollars.

ents and eyes gradually grew accustomed to it. The outline of the buildings opposite slowly took form. Farther up the street a crack of light appeared around a window. Immediately the shrill police whistle blacked it out. The only light was a pinpoint of blue marking an intersection at the corner and the intermittent streak of the policemen's flashlights as they went from house to house to see that the outside door to each basement shelter was open so any passer-by might enter.

They slipped like black shadows against a black background—back and forth—calling quietly to each shelter chief at the door to get the people into the basement and see that all regulations had been obeyed. The dark sky and slight mist gave the whole an unreal, theatrical effect. In five minutes all motion in the street seemed to have ceased. Not a sound to break the stillness except the soft padding of a dog as it slipped back into the building.

"You must go down, mademoiselle," said the chief.

In the basement only the corridors with their heavy cross beams and thick stone roofs were in use. Along each side chairs, boxes and folding canvas stools were in use. A dim electric bulb with a dash of blue on one side gave a ghostly pallor to the faces. Each carried a gasmask across the knees. All were fully dressed with a scarf or hairnet pulled hastily over uncombed hair. Complexions were natural and unadorned.

Over the door a wet blanket against poison gas hung dripping. It did not cover the sides and a draught rushed in, fluttering it merrily. Successive alerts and drenchings had made the wool shrink. "I can't help it," protested the concierge to the complaints. "If you want to have it changed take it up with the shelter chief."

Several women took out their knitting—another a book. The men isolated themselves at the end of the corridor (all of them were elderly) to discuss the last great war. The rest gossiped or did nothing.

How It Ended

Suddenly a long drawn scream from the siren—a scream which continued on the same note for two minutes without the stops, starts, coughs and sputters of the first alert. It announced "all clear." With that the shelter chief pulled back the curtain to say: "Well I guess they didn't get through this time." There was a rush for the door.

In the streets the sound of whistles began again. At the corner a small white light came on and pushed the gloom back another 10 inches. The bells of St. Etienne-du-Mont rang out as the clock struck six. The smell of coffee floated up from the apartment below.

In 13 seconds we were back in bed taking that nice peaceful dream about Canada and Macintosh apples and pumpkin pie—just where we left off.

Juniper and Hemlock Give Hand in Making Chum Salmon Eatable—General News Along Front

Hemlock sawdust and juniper leaves are helping canners find new markets for an unpopular species of British Columbia fish. The chum salmon, one of the principal food supplies of Pacific Coast Indians, becomes pale white or straw colored when canned and has very little consumer appeal. Research conducted at the Pacific Fisheries Experimental Station here has developed a new method of preparing canned smoked chum salmon which "compares favorably with canned smoked steelhead." The steelhead is one of the most popular species. A report on the process says hemlock sawdust was used for smoking. "It was found that the addition of a small amount of juniper improved the flavor considerably," it adds. "The juniper was added by spreading green twigs under the sawdust instead of other wood shavings when laying the fire."

Dr. Neal M. Carter, director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, who has been on a trip to Ottawa to attend the annual meeting of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada as well as other scientific fisheries gatherings, will be returning to the city on the Cardena Sunday night. He has been in Vancouver for the past week.

Norman Nelson, head of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd., is expected in the city in the course of the next week or so on business in connection with the new cannery project on the ocean dock here. Shortly after Mr. Nelson's visit it is expected that preparatory work in connection with the new project will be getting under way. Canning machinery such as retorts, vacuum machines and iron chinks are expected to be moved from old Massett cannery to the more central location in Prince Rupert.

Running many hours late, Union steamer Venture, Capt. John Boden is due in port at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the south and will sail soon after arrival on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

Expectation is that the British Columbia Packers Co., which has gone into the fresh and frozen fish business on this coast through acquisition of the fisheries concern of Edmunds & Walker, will be buying halibut on the Prince Rupert Fish Exchange this year under the name of Edmunds and Walker. The local report is that, to start with at least, the company will be buying only for freezing purposes.
