Responsibility for Food Shortage in Europe is Germany's Alone—Great Britain Stronger Than Ever But United States Aid Would Be Appreciated

LONDON, August 20: (CP)—Great Britain will offer the United States ninety-nine year leases on air and naval defence bases in Newfoundland and the British West Indies, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House of Commons today in a review of the war in which he said Great Britain must refuse all suggestions to lift the blockade of Europe in order to feed people of German-occupied countries.

ONE-THIRD REGISTERED

National Count in Prince Rupert Ahead of Schedule—2156 Yesterday

Well over one-third of the 5500 persons in Prince Rupert who are estimated to be required to register turned out for National Registration on the first day Monday. The count well ahead of schedule. The total for the day was 2156. After an early morning rush, everything went smoothly and with a flourish during the day at the various local registration stations. The work of registrars and assistant deputy registrars was praiseworthy. The final figures for the first day are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Location, Count. Includes City Hall (1075), Fish and Cold Storage (126), etc.

It is particularly desirable that as many as possible register today, Tuesday, so as to avoid a congestion on the third and final day, Wednesday. The services of interpreters have been of great assistance. Both the Chinese and the Japanese colonies have given help. Rev. J. H. Myrwing of the Lutheran Church and Mrs. Rotschy have also given valuable assistance, the former in connection with the Scandinavian elements and the latter with French and Swiss immigrants. Mrs. Sorrenti gave similar help with Italian immigrants.

READY FOR CARNIVAL

Final Preparations Well Under Way For Three Day Event Commencing Tomorrow Evening

With organization of the workers who will be in charge pretty well completed and the scene at the Exhibition Hall rapidly being put in shape with a great deal of preparatory effort on the part of the volunteer enthusiasts, Prince Rupert's fall carnival project will get under way on Wednesday night. As already announced, a fine program of varied character has been prepared and there is every reason to believe that the three-day undertaking will receive a wide measure of support.

The carnival proceedings will open tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock with a parade from the Court House grounds to Acropolis Hill followed by the formal opening at Exhibition Hall with an evening's entertainment including vaudeville, drawings dancing and many carnival attractions throughout the evening. Exhibition features will include flower show, photography contest and other novel displays.

Big feature events will include the crowning of the carnival queen on Thursday night and the Public Wedding Friday night. The committee in charge made an appeal this morning for volunteer workers with hammers to turn out tonight to assist the work of getting the hall in readiness.

Local Military Forces Are On Church Parade

The local garrison was in monthly church parade Sunday morning to First United Church, there being a muster of upwards of one hundred officers and men of the Irish Fusiliers, Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and Royal Army Service Corps who made a smart appearance.

The procession was from 102nd Armory to the church where the sermon was delivered by Rev. J. C. Jackson, the pastor. Mr. Jackson made candid remarks regarding the spiritual as well as the military duty of the forces and urged the importance of moral values in the face of temptation. The fellowship of Christ was also referred to. The Scripture was read by Lieut. Col. J. N. Burnett, officer commanding, Irish Fusiliers, Capt. R. C. H. Durnford, area chaplain, led in prayer.

Before the break-off of the procession, Col. Burnett took the salute on Third Avenue.

announced. British air attacks were also continued on Libya.

LONG RANGE GUNS LONDON—Duel of long-range guns, firing devastating, if inaccurate, barrages into the United Kingdom and German-held territory across the Channel, is considered possible. German artillery lobbed shells across the Channel last week, causing slight damage at three points along the southeast coast. Big British guns replied.

FINE YACHT IS VISITOR TO RUPERT

Southern Cross Here Yesterday One of Most Famous Craft to Visit Port

One of the largest and finest, and certainly one of the most famous yachts ever to enter Prince Rupert Harbor, the handsome 346-foot steam vessel Southern Cross arrived here at 2:30 yesterday afternoon in the course of a leisurely cruise along the British Columbia coast and left at 6 o'clock this morning for Stewart. During her stay, the Southern Cross rode at anchor in the stream where she was a source of admiration for all. On board are Ayl Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist and owner of the vessel, and small party.

The Southern Cross achieved her greatest fame on the opening day of the war last year when she figured in the rescue of passengers from the torpedoed steamer Athenia. A few days previous to that she had left Sweden and Norway. She proceeded to the rescue of the Athenia in response to "S.O.S." calls and did gallant work in picking up passengers from lifeboats and delivering them ashore.

Only last week the Southern Cross figured in a tragic marine epic when in Discovery Passage, just south of Seymour Narrows, a large Royal Canadian Air Force seaplane fell into the ocean before the eyes of those on board the yacht. The Southern Cross went immediately to the scene but all left were the floating pontoons, the plane having gone immediately to the bottom with those on board whose bodies have not yet been found. Describing this incident, one of the officers of the Southern Cross told how the plane circled around as if to make a landing. On reaching the surface, a wing hit the water and the machine tipped over in crash.

Built for Incheape

The Southern Cross was built in England ten years ago at the order of the late Lord Incheape. Later she was acquired by Howard Hughes, wealthy American newspaperman and flier, and then became the property of Mr. Wenner-Gren of Stockholm whose industrial enterprises include manufacture of cellulose products in Sweden and electrical goods in the United States. Ever since late August, Mr. Wenner-Gren has been cruising on the Southern Cross, having crossed the Atlantic, visited the West Indies, passed through the Panama Canal and came up the Mexican, United States, and British Columbia coasts. Just before coming into Prince Rupert, Gardner Canal was visited.

Stewart will be the northernmost point to be visited by the Southern Cross. There will be another call in Prince Rupert southbound as the vessel turns back towards Nassau, Bahama Islands, which is now to be made her headquarters although Panama is her port of registry.

The snowy white Southern Cross is a twin-screw oil burner and is splendidly equipped and luxurious a vessel in the interior as her beautiful lines from the exterior would suggest. She has a crew of forty under Capt. Rothman.

Mr. Wenner-Gren's party includes his wife, Miss Gauntier-Liget and Commander B. L. Johnson D.S.O. of Vancouver and Mrs. Johnson. Capt. Eric Lillie is acting as pilot on this coast.

Mrs. J. J. Townsend of Oak Bay, Victoria, who has been in the city for the past two days visiting her son Robert, who is in the office of the local Royal Canadian Engineers, is returning today aboard the steamer Catala. Another son is one of the managers of the Canadian Fishing Co.'s plant at Butedale.

French Soldier Now Working at Canadian Airport

REGINA, Aug. 20: (CP)—From the precarious task of detonating enemy land mines facing the Maginot Line, Julian Charles Durupt, honorably discharged French soldier, has returned to Canada and is now employed at the airport here. He suffered severe concussion and loss of four-fifths of his vision in a mine explosion, March 7. Durupt is confident France will rise again under General Charles de Gaulle and thinks the best protection England can now give France is to declare war on her.

TO VISIT IN NORTH

Olof Hanson Going to Tulsequah and Atlin—Tells of Happenings At Session

The session of Parliament recently concluded was devoted very largely to war problems, particularly war financing, according to Olof Hanson, member for Skeena, who arrived back with Mrs. Hanson at the week-end and who is planning to visit Atlin and Tulsequah this week, leaving on the Prince George for Juneau tomorrow, Mrs. Hanson accompanying him. One of the highlights of the session was the passing of the unemployment insurance bill under which the government of Canada will have to find another sixty million dollars as its share of the contribution to the fund. Mr. Hanson said. It is a very important measure and it should be ready to go into force by the beginning of next year.

Mr. Hanson says it was at times so hot in Ottawa that it was difficult to work. Often he and Mrs. Hanson wished for a fresh breeze from the Pacific.

Work of the session, according to the member, was carried on with a minimum of friction. The new leader of the Conservative party made a very good impression in the House.

EDITORIAL

CANADIANS UNITED

Canadians have never been so united as they are today, according to Olof Hanson, member of Parliament for Skeena, who is in the city following a long and arduous session. He says that the last two months has seen a very considerable change in the attitude of some of the members. The son of Justice Minister LaPointe recently enlisted for overseas service and the desire to help the war effort in every possible way is general in Quebec and Ontario as well as in all other provinces of Canada. This is a very satisfactory condition for the country and the British Empire.

FIGHTING FOR BRITISH

The British are killing a few Germans but malnutrition and other causes are bringing about thousands more deaths than the British. National health reports indicate that there has of late been a great increase in the number of deaths from diphtheria, scarlet fever, dysentery. While the death rate in other nations has had a downward trend the German death rate has increased by 80,000 a year.

The policy of guns instead of butter is largely blamed for the result indicated. The self-sufficiency efforts accumulating war stocks of food, the devotion of scientific effort to preparation of death-dealing gases and high explosives, are the causes which have probably brought about a condition which has resulted in the increased mortality.

SEE FOR THEMSELVES

American newspaper correspondents have been given exceptional opportunities to witness air battles over Great Britain recently so that all the German lying tales are discounted so far as these correspondents are concerned. Stationed at vantage points they have witnessed many an air struggle and in almost every case they have been able to see the Nazi planes shot down either by anti-aircraft guns or by British fighters. These correspondents compare notes and they know very well that the figures issued by the British air department are correct.

AFTER THE WAR

Anthony Eden has a dream of the world after the war, a somewhat similar dream to that he had several years ago when he used all his influence to bring about an active and smooth working League of Nations. Evidently he was a little ahead of his time. The statesmen of the nations concerned were not ready for it. The United States Senate torpedoed it when they refused to allow their country to join in spite of President Wilson's advocacy. Then the leaders funked when Japan formed the puppet state of Manchukuo. They funked again when Italy grabbed Abyssinia. They practically ended the life of the league for, from that time on, it gradually disintegrated. After the war there will be a new international organization, probably under a new name and, by that time, possibly the nations will have come to their senses and will be ready and willing to co-operate effectively.

There will also be many economic changes when the war is over. The era of extreme wealth and extreme poverty will end and that will end the agitation for revolutionary governmental changes. Britain will be much more democratic than ever before. Many of the castles in Britain will be turned over to the government to be kept as historical relics of an age that is past. Huge estates will undoubtedly be broken up and the whole mode of life of the people of the countryside will be changed.

In Canada and United States there will also be many changes but those are self-evident. Most of the changes will be brought about gradually although we must not expect heaven to arrive all at once.

SPORT CHAT

Earl McCready, Canadian wrestler who claimed the British Empire heavyweight wrestling title after defeating Jack Taylor in Canada in 1933, has at last lost his crown to John Katan after defending it successfully for seven years. In the meantime the Amulet, Sask. athlete has wrestled in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, England and South Africa and has never been defeated in a title bout. McCready was defeated in a match at Wellington, N.Z. by Katan who gained the only fall in a hard-fought contest. The new champion is a fellow-countryman, so that the title remains with Canada. He had four times challenged for the title in Canada and New Zealand, but had never before beaten McCready although he had a draw to his credit. He is a skillful, but not spectacular wrestler. He has successfully defended his title against several challengers already.

The Earl of Athlone recently was re-elected president of the Football Association in England and, a source close to the Governor-General said this is just one of about 500 honorary positions held by His Excellency. The Governor-General holds the title of patron, president or honorary president of hundreds of organizations, many of which are engaged in war work. But for the most part His Excellency's connection with them entails no responsibility. The Earl of Athlone has long been a sports fan and each morning enjoys a ride on horseback about the grounds of Rideau Hall and nearby bridle paths. His duties don't allow much time for witnessing sports events but a government house secretary said His Excellency might quite possibly witness some rugby football games in the capital this fall to see what the Canadian game is like. In England he took considerable interest in football.

HARD WORK AND WORRY Two Doubles For Men Are Played

These Are Impossible Combination, Said Walter P. Chrysler

NEW YORK, Aug. 20: (CP)—Experience with automobiles of Walter P. Chrysler, who died on Sunday, began in 1911 when he became production manager for the Buick Motor Company. He was president of that company when he resigned in 1920 to direct the affairs of the Willys-Overland Company. Later he went to the Maxwell-Chalmers Company and in 1924 became head of his own company, the Chrysler Corporation.

Chrysler has no set formula for success. He believed in courage, definite objectives and quick decisions. "If you don't have the courage of your convictions," he once said, "you worry. Hard work doesn't hurt anyone. But hard work and worry are impossible."

The huge Chrysler building in New York city is one of Chrysler's achievements. When he was born April 2, 1875, at Wamego, Kans., the site of the building was known to New Yorkers as the Lexington avenue goat farm.

Walter Perry Chrysler was the son of Henry Chrysler, a locomotive engineer, and Mary Brayman Chrysler. He was graduated from the high school at Ellis, Kans. and later took a business college course before starting a four-year apprenticeship in the shops of the Union Pacific Railway.

He was married at Ellis, June 4, 1901, to Della V. Forker. They had two daughters and two sons.

Chrysler died of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home in Great Neck, Long Island.

Jacket Protects Merchant Seamen

New Type of Life-Saving equipment Is Now in Use

LONDON, Aug. 20: (CP)—Britain's merchant seamen while working in dangerous areas must wear a new type of life-saving jacket made of cotton drill filled with kapok and tied with tapes at the waist. It can be worn without hindering their work and will keep the wearers floating for an indefinite period.

An official of the ministry of shipping, which made use of the vests compulsory, said experience had shown that in many cases there was not sufficient time for seamen to don lifejackets when a ship was torpedoed or mined.

registration for as many as at all possible to register at once. A review of the registration centres this forenoon reveals that registration is practically at a standstill. Unless people register at once there will be such a congestion Wednesday that it will be impossible to handle would-be registrants. Register at

A carload lot of British Columbia Red Cross supplies was shipped a few days ago from the Provincial Red Cross warehouse, Vancouver, to a distributing Red Cross centre in England. The shipment included 160 cases with a total weight of 13 tons. It represented less than a month's work of the approximate 25,000 voluntary Red Cross workers in the province. A major item was 26 cases of refugee garments of all types and for all ages—lay-ettes, children's and adults' clothing. Quilts, blankets, and crib covers were included. Other items of the shipment were:

- 11 cases sweaters, 2,298 articles.
- 15 cases socks, 7,356 pairs.
- 6 cases bed jackets, 411 articles.
- 4 cases pneumonia jackets, 801 articles.
- 12 cases pyjamas, 1,476 articles.
- 7 cases dressing gowns, 325 articles.
- 1 case helmets, 414 articles.
- 2 cases Hampton pads, 720 articles.
- 3 cases mattress pads, 492 articles.
- 17 cases sheets, 1,243 articles.
- 1 case triangular slings, 112 articles.
- 4 cases handkerchiefs, 13,296 articles.
- 1 case abdominal binders, 324 articles.
- 9 cases towels, 3,738 articles.
- 7 cases pillow cases, 3,053 articles.
- 6 cases surgeons' caps, 528 articles; and surgeons' gowns, 528 articles.

- 8 cases cotton bandages, 8,975 articles.
- 1 case face masks, 1,775 articles.

This was the first car-load lot of Red Cross supplies sent from British Columbia. Both national railways give free transportation. Although the car was shipped Canadian National Railways, 625 shipments have been made by the Canadian Pacific since February.

Canning Projects
In response to the lead taken by the B. C. Red Cross Division to conserve surplus food products of the province, eleven canning centres are now in full swing. The majority are under the co-operative direction of Red Cross branches and Women's Institutes. Canning kitchens have been established in Duncan, Summerland, Abbotsford, Pemberton, Salmon Arm, East Arrow Park, and Oliver. In Victoria, the project is being carried out by the Red Cross and Local Council of Women. In Vancouver, the Point Grey Women's Institute has organized it for the Red Cross. A canning centre has been established in the Jersey Farms kitchen, 2256 West Broadway. Members of the Institute will be pleased to process fruit sent to this centre by nearby farm women, who can contribute the fruit but who have not the time to process it themselves. The Kelowna Red Cross branch has had the offer of a local cannery to process 10,000 cans of tomatoes, the only cost of the project being that of the cans.

The National Registration
Members of Red Cross branches throughout the province have been instructed by Provincial Headquarters to give as much service as possible to the carrying out of the National Registration plan.

WEDS IN CALGARY

Miss Margaret McLeod Becomes Bride of Lieut. Cyril Nixon

CALGARY, August 26 — St. Stephen's Anglican Church was the setting for a pretty wedding at 7 p.m. on Saturday, August 10, when Margaret Adelaide, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis McLeod of Prince Rupert became the bride of Mr. Cyril C. Nixon, lieutenant in the Calgary Highlanders, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nixon of Abbotsford, B.C., Ven. Archdeacon Cecil Swanson officiated.

The bride was lovely in a gown of oyster satin, cut on princess lines and having a square neck trimmed with seed pearls. Her hand-made finger-tip-length veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book with streamers and sweetheart roses.

Miss Isabel Brannan of Prince Rupert, who accompanied the bride to Calgary, wore orchid chiffon with a small toning hat. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Franklin H. Bonnell, lieutenant in the Calgary Highlanders, was the groomsmen.

Mrs. Jarvis H. McLeod, mother of the bride, was smart in dusty rose chiffon with a lace jacket and a matching hat. She wore a fox fur and a corsage of roses. Mrs. James Griffiths of Seattle, aunt of the bride, who motored up for the wedding, was in rose lace with a black picture hat and a corsage of roses.

The bride entered the church on the arm of Arthur Ayres of Seattle, who gave her in marriage.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Brannan, 1316 First street N.W. The bride's table was covered with a lace table cloth and centred with the wedding cake and ivory tapers. Lieut. and Mrs. Nixon will reside in the Congress apartments. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. John Blackford and Mrs. Arthur Ayres of Seattle.

Nerves Shattered By War's Ordeals

Hypnotic Treatment Aided in Restoring Soldier and Sailor to Normal Health

LONDON, Aug. 20: (CP)—A British soldier who shot his mortally wounded brother to hasten his death on the sands at Dunkirk was a nervous wreck until hypnotic treatment revealed the reason for his strange nervous ailment, a writer disclosed in a recent issue of Lancet, British medical magazine.

The writer, Dr. William Sargent, psychiatric specialist, cited this and another case to show beneficial results of hypnotic treatment. The illness puzzled Dr. Sargent and inducing the soldier to describe the frightfulness on the beach also failed to provide a basis on which to formulate a cure.

Under hypnosis, however, the soldier gave Dr. Sargent a clear picture of his ordeal beside his brother. The incident had tortured the soldier's mind but he could not remember what he had done, except when hypnotized. After the doctor heard the story he was able to treat the man who quickly regained his health.

Another case was that of a tormented merchant seaman who confessed under hypnosis, that he felt responsible for the death of his best friend, who until he sank, had been swimming at his side.

When the sailor became conscious after the hypnotic treatment he was told the story and assured by the doctor that he had no cause for self-recrimination. His worries vanished.

paid by the British government for Australian meat is to be sought when the present contract expires in September.

Previously the Australian Meat Board had considered that the prices paid by Britain for mutton and second quality beef had been too low and it had been decided to ask for a premium on "Down" lamb in view of actual war developments. It has been decided that a revision of the contract on present prices will be acceptable.

A forecast by the British Ministry of Agriculture for a new national diet based on more fruit and vegetables and less meat, with particularly generous rations of potatoes, is recognized here as possibly meaning a revolution in Australian farming and the subject has been much discussed in the newspapers and agricultural circles.

A reduction of British meat eating habits which may well become permanent would mean a change-over in production in Australia.
