SEA-AIR POWER POTENT FACTOR FOR NEW DRIVE IN BRITISH-GERMAN WAR

British Observer Says Land Forces Relatively Less Important in Conflict's Present Phase

By MAJOR-GENERAL SIR CHARLES GWYNN

LONDON, August 3: (CP)—I shall try to set out some of the consequences of the surrender of European France and of the end of the fighting there. It is in the first place necessary to understand how completely the character of the war has been changed and how dissimilar it must now be from the course of the last war. Large-scale land fighting in Western Europe is over and it is not possible to see how it can restart until the situation fundamentally changes again. The normal destination of the British soldier on completing training will not be France. It will be the defence points of his homeland. Armies have become relatively less important, air forces and navies relatively more important. The future however—and the very immediate future—may allot different roles to both the British and the German armies.

BRITAIN ON OFFENSIVE IN RAIDING

Further Striking Successes in Attacks on Enemy Territory Reported—Island Fortress Visited by Enemy

LONDON, Aug. 3: (CP)—With the Air Ministry reporting further striking successes from Scandinavia to the Swiss border, the great Krupp munitions works at Essen, supply depots and airbases in northwest Germany and four synthetic oil plants were attacked by British bombers, the Air Ministry announced, as the Royal Air Force continued the initiative and maintained the upper hand over Germany in the war in the air. The Bremen radio station went off the air again last night, indicating more air raids. The renewed attacks on Germany and German-controlled territory followed yesterday's authoritative source statement that the German port of Hamburg is "now practically in ruins" and that the Royal Air Force during the last three months had, in some three thousand raids, bombed more than 100 German cities and towns, containing military objectives, irreparable damage having been inflicted on such places as Duisberg, Essen, Wesel, Bremen and Leipzig.

Meantime, Great Britain continued to bolster up its defences both along the coasts and inland in preparation for the Expected blitzkrieg which may come with next week's high tides.

German air raiders continued to harass the British Isles, visiting many parts of the country in England and Scotland late yesterday, during the night and again today but doing little material damage and causing relatively few casualties. However, there was some damage in the Bristol Channel area where the residential section of a town was bombed, a church and school being among the buildings hit last night. There were a few minor casualties. Shortly after midnight the German raiders were reported over northwest England around Liverpool.

A golf course was bombed in Scotland and players were thrown off their feet. This plane was later reported to have been shot down. One salvo on a southeast Scotland (Continued on Page Four)

Lord Beaverbrook Invited To Inner Circle Conducting War For Great Britain

LONDON, August 3: (CP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill has invited Lord Beaverbrook, Ontario-born minister of aircraft production, to join the inner war cabinet. The arrests are under the Defence of the Realm regulations following investigation of and drive against an extensive anti-British and spying activities with the roots in London and ramifications throughout the Empire.

People of nationalities other than Japanese are also being detained. British financial institutions are also reported to be withholding Japanese credits.

CONDEMNED TO DEATH General Charles de Gaulle, head of the continuing French forces, has been condemned to death by the Nazi-French government of France. If that government can get their hands on him he will be shot. That should be an extra incentive, if any were needed, to make the General do his level best to defeat the Nazis. It is easy to condemn him to death but the next thing is to go and get him. According to the laws of Nature we are all condemned to die and some say it was because Adam was too fond of apples. We are all condemned but the next thing is for the old man with the sickle to get us. So it is all very well for Laval and his bunch of pro-Nazi reactionaries to condemn deGaulle to death. It is simply an expression of what they would like to do to him.

LOOKING BACKWARD In April 1804 France was threatening to invade Great Britain. Realizing the serious situation, William Pitt the younger, Prime Minister of the country, addressed the House of Commons as follows: "I need not remind the House that we are come to a new era in the history of nations, that we are called to struggle for the destiny not of this country alone but of the civilized world. We must remember that we submit to unexampled privations. We have for ourselves the great duty of selfpreservation to perform but the duty of the people of England now is a nobler and higher order. We are, in the first place, to provide for our safety against a foe whose malignity to this country knows no bounds but this is not to close our views or our efforts in so sacred a cause. Amid the wreck and misery of nations it is our just boast that we have continued superior to all that ambition or despotism could effect and our still higher boast ought to be that we provide not only for our own safety but hold out a prospect to nations now bending under the iron yoke of tyranny of what the exertions of a free people can effect and that at least in this corner of the world the name of liberty is still cherished and sanctified."

BOX CARS TAKEN UP Prairie Farmers Will Have Problem To Store Grain During Coming Winter WINNIPEG, Aug. 3:—There are no further old box cars available for grain storage on the western region of the Canadian National Railways, according to an official announcement. A short time ago suggestion was made that old railway box cars would be of great assistance in the storage of farmers' grain but even at that time the number of available cars on the C. N. R. was small. Since the announcement was first made the Canadian National Railways has been almost submerged with applications from farmers throughout the west seeking assistance in their grain storage problems. A careful check of the box car situation revealed today that every car that had been marked out of active service has been disposed of and there will be few, if any, eliminations for some time to come. Since the start of the year a large number of these old cars have been turned over to the farmers in the west for farm purposes and every effort has been made by the C. N. R. to help as much as possible in the present emergency. A fifty cent classified ad. will often make you many dollars.

SEA-AIR POWER POTENT FACTOR FOR NEW DRIVE

(Continued from Page One) porary defensive while she trains and mechanizes her army, doubles and quadruples her air force, augments her navy. Then will come the offensive in which the army will play its classic part. With his immense coastline, his vast territories, his dispersed resources, his sullen slave populations, Hitler will not be immeasurably difficult to hit.

Help From Dominions All the time Britain's land might increases and her own man power is reinforced by contingents from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

The Air I turn to the air. Here there is concrete-hard encouragement. When the war began, general opinion was that the Allies could hold the Nazis by land, but might be forced into hard-pressed corners in the air. The contrary has happened.

The Allies have lost on the land in France. But in the air the Royal Air Force has demonstrated its qualitative superiority in every aspect. It has reconnoitered better. It has flown better. It has bombed better. It has fought better. It needs only more planes—more planes not only absolutely but relatively to German strength in numbers.

Up To The Navy Now for the sea. If Britain loses the assistance of the French Navy (since this was written Britain has either taken over or destroyed most of the French Navy) the pressure of the blockade will be more difficult to maintain, at any rate until a great program of new naval construction yields increased results.

The countries overrun will for a short time contribute food supplies to the enemy, though eventually in this respect they may prove a burden rather than a source of relief.

The critical question may be whether Germany's air power can, in co-operation with her limited sea power, secure such decisive successes over the British Navy as would make the blockade ineffective.

Meanwhile, Britannia rules the waves. As long as she does, the Empire stands. The Empire will stand.

Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Funston and family are sailing this afternoon on the Prince George for Vancouver.

PRESERVING EASIER

American Halibut Landings Higher—
Canadians Down—Naval Men Are Home on Leave

The grand total of halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1946 season up to and including yesterday was 11,795,619 pounds as compared with 11,571,200 pounds at a corresponding date last year. Canadian landings have reached a total of 4,973,019 pounds in comparison with 5,408,900 pounds in 1939 while the American handy and headed for the bear. The bear did some nice work getting away and it kept just out of reach of the Captain and his club (that is except his vital parts out of reach). The Captain is a noble runner and he made a noble effort, but he could not reach the bear's snout. He did the next best thing and flailed the other end mightily. But when the bear began to laugh the Old Tar gave up in disgust, but he bets that bear won't sit down for a while.

Delayed by having heavy freights for various waypoints including canneries, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, is due in port at 3:30 this afternoon from the south and will sail later in the afternoon on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

With a good-sized list of passengers including quite a number of round trip tourists, C.P.R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. William Hughes, arrived in port at 3:30 yesterday afternoon from the south and sailed at 10 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

John Dahl, Len Rapp and Martin Arnet, all of whom are with the Fishermen's Reserve out of Esquimalt, arrived home on the Princess Adelaide yesterday afternoon, being here on leave from their naval duties. Also arriving on leave yesterday afternoon from Victoria was Walter Smith of the local unit of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, Jack Bremner, who arrived yesterday morning on the Prince George, has been given his discharge from the naval service.

Its History Has Been Struggle Against Adversity

The Diocese of Caledonia has a history of struggle against adversity unequalled, probably, by any other diocese of the Church of England in Canada, says a report recently issued by the Missionary Society of the Church of England.

The diocese, which embraces the northern portion of British Columbia, was established in 1879. The appointment of a Bishop was followed almost immediately by a difference of opinion between him and the missionary who had done the pioneer work in the territory with the result that the latter left the church and established an independent mission of his own in Alaska, taking most of his followers with him.

Undaunted by this defection, the Bishop succeeded in establishing missions along the Skeena, Naas and Stikine Rivers and on the coast and islands of the North Pacific. To do this he had to become a navigator as well as a cleric for all his travelling was done by boat and more than once he barely escaped shipwreck and drowning.

During the 25 years which followed, the diocese became firmly established but scarcely had the Bishop resigned in 1904 and his successor been appointed than a trans-continental railway was projected which would run through the centre of the diocese. Its building brought in a flood of not always desirable whites and the work of the new appointee was trebled.

Notwithstanding this, a coast mission was started and two new boats were added to the original nucleus of a fleet.

Then, in 1924, on the death of Dr. F. H. DuVernet, Archbishop of Caledonia and Metropolitan of British Columbia, a serious difficulty arose. The Church Missionary Society, which had appointed him as Bishop and was responsible for his income, had withdrawn its support for Canadian work so that Caledonia found itself without a Bishop and without an endowment for the support of one. For four years Archdeacon G. A. Rix was administrator and the episcopal duties were attended to by the Archbishop of New Westminster.

During that time a campaign to raise an adequate endowment was carried on. It was no easy task but eventually $10,000

World Famous Violinist, Jascha Heifetz, Plays Part in "They Shall Have Music"

Jascha Heifetz, world renowned violinist, is featured in "They Shall Have Music," a tense and actionful human interest story, which is brought to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here for tonight only. The principal romantic roles are played by Andrea Leeds and Joel McCrea while important supporting parts are taken by Walter Brennan, Gene Reynolds, Tommy Kelly and Archie Mayo.

With characters and plot drawn from New York's East Side, the story of "They Shall Have Music" revolves around a music teacher and his ragged youngster pupils, some of whom are prodigies. Into this colony comes a boy, inheriting a talent for the violin from his dead father, has run away from home to escape the hate of his stepfather. The boy is taken in tow by the professor and becomes a fine musician. How he tries to repay his debt and lures the great Heifetz to the aid of a bankrupt school provides the climax to the story.

As may be expected, some splendid music is introduced as the picture proceeds including playing by Jascha Heifetz, symphony music by the orchestra of youthful prodigies and singing by the nine-year old opera singer, Jacqueline Nash.

MAYOR IS ASSAILED

Conservative Leader Asks What Government Proposes to Do Following Houde's Defiance of Registration

OTTAWA, Aug. 3: (CP)—Conservative Leader R. B. Hanson called attention of the House of Commons today to a statement reported to have been made by Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal advising people to disregard the law requiring all citizens to register in national registration.

Mr. Hanson read a statement into the House records and said that the mayor had openly defied the law of Canada and asked what the government proposed to do.

The Conservative leader criticized action of the press censors in ordering suppression of an edition of the Montreal Gazette reporting the mayor's statement and containing an editorial criticizing the mayor's position.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King proposed to the House today that Parliament adjourn, and not prorogue, at the conclusion of business of the present session until November 5, to be called earlier if necessary. He moved a resolution to this effect.

Tony and the Bear

The Okanagan Herald says that as usual the bears are enjoying the holiday season at Lakelse Lake and also, as usual, they have found the food caches of the holiday folk. One morning the best part of ten pounds of butter, some bacon and other edibles had disappeared from the caches sunk in the lake and creek bottoms. That brings up the tale of Capt. Tony Martinson who hails from Prince Rupert and is prominent in the halibut fishing business. He does not like any wild thing getting away from him once he has taken up its trail. When Capt. Tony got up a morning recently he saw a bear out in his yard examining the contents of the Martinson cache. The skipper acted instinctively—in the halibut business if a fish comes up alive the fisherman wields a hefty club and soon quips is restored. Tony acted true to type. He grabbed the first club that came

In an attack on conveyed shipping off Southeast England last German bombers were reported down.

Further particulars of Thursday night and early Friday morning bombing activity by the enemy reveal that German bombers visited scattered points in Wales, Eastern Scotland and East Anglia, dropping bombs and leaflets containing extracts from Hitler's recent Reichstag speech. Damage as a result of raids at that time was slight. One bomber was believed shot down at sea.
